MAYOR YOUNG SIGNS LESBIAN/GAY PROCLAMATION

On Monday, June 13, Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young said in a letter to City Council President Marvin S. Arrington that he supports a resolution setting aside Saturday, June 25th, 1983 as "Gay/Lesbian Civil Rights Day."

The Atlanta City Council adopted the resolution on June 6th.

"I have signed that resolution and support it," Young said. "I support it because its focus is consistent with my view of the role of government: That is, the focus is placed on protecting civil rights and eliminating discrimination against citizens of Atlanta, regardless of sex or sexual orientation."

Mayor Young's letter to Arrington continued, "As I indicated in my letter of June 16th, 1982, on this same subject, I believe that sexual orientation is not a subject for government certification or intervention. It must, however, be the role of government to protect the rights of its citizens and to prevent discrimination. My administration is committed to that end."

In closing, the letter said, "It is always a pleasure for the City of Atlanta to express its appreciation for the contributions of all of its citizens, whatever their lifestyles."

SHIRLEY FRANKLIN SPEAKS AT ATLANTA GAY CENTER

About 40 men and women representing over a dozen lesbian/gay organizations met with Shirley Franklin at the Atlanta Gay Center (AGC) on Tuesday, June 7th.

Ms. Franklin, who, as Chief Administrative Officer of the city of Atlanta is unofficially the second highest ranking city official, came to the AGC at the invitation of the First Tuesday Association and the 1983 Pride Week Committee.

Among the groups represented at the meeting were: The Board of the AGC, the AGC Alcoholism Project, AID Atlanta, Black and White Men Together, The Atlanta Business and Professional Guild, Cruise Newsmagazine, the Human Rights Campaign Fund, the Lesbian/Gay Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union of Georgia, the Lesbian/Gay Interfaith Alliance, The Mr. America Pageant and at least one gay city employee. Georgians Opposed to Archaic Laws (GOAL), which is raising a challenge to the Georgia Sodomy Statute, was also represented. The audience included veteran activists and interested newcomers to the city. The meeting was orchestrated by First Tuesday and Pride Week to bring the various groups together and to generate cooperation and understanding.

Much of the dialogue during the evening included exchanges between members of the groups.

When someone asked why Mayor Andrew Young did not mention the gay community in his May 26th proclamation of AIDS Awareness Day, Graham Bruton, President of AID Atlanta said, "We did not want it stated that way."

Michele Clad and Adam Allgood, Co-Chairs of the Pride Week Committee, gave a brief update on the status of Pride Week 1983. Several Pride Committee members had to leave the meeting early to attend a fundraiser at the Saint.

Members of AID Atlanta asked for support from the city to help them in their growing workload.

"We are being overwhelmed," said one. "We are the only organization of our kind in the Southeast. We get over 30 calls a day from North Carolina to Florida. We are all volunteers but we are working people, too. We need help."

BENEFIT SOFTBALL GAME POSTPONED

Hotlanta Softball League Commissioner Frank Saccocio announced that a benefit game with a team from the Atlanta Police Department originally scheduled for this Sunday has been postponed to Sunday, June 26th.

"This Sunday is Father's Day and the consensus was that they wanted to spend the time with their kids," Saccocio explained.

At 4:30pm, June 26th, at the home of the Hotlanta Softball League, a team of Atlanta's finest will meet the Hotlanta All-Stars to raise funds for the Police Athletic League. The Police Athletic League provides instruction and equipment for the youth of Atlanta. Donations will be collected during the game.

A by-product of similar joint ventures between police departments and gay communities in cities around the country is a new-found respect and understanding. A charity ballgame called "Pigs vs. Puffs" attracted several hundred mellow spectators in New Orleans last year. Other such games have been reported in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The schedule for Sunday, June 26th is as follows.

Noon - Cove vs. Backstreet

3pm - Pharr Library vs. Texas
4:30pm - All-Stars vs. Atlanta P.D.

Texas Drillers 5-2 2½ back
Redoubt 3-3 3 back
Armory 3-4 4½ back
Cove 1-6 6 back

OOOOOOHH, LOVE TO LOVE YOU, BABY....

We all need love and an accepting community, but unfortunately, the world presents few opportunities for such support. Alternative support systems have been created and are expanding. Perhaps you've heard of one: the 'faeries.'

They were real people (pre-1400's) who created freer lives away from the manias of society-at-large. Their name means 'enchanted.'

In 1979, the tradition was strongly received by gay men and spaces have been created to help us open up to each other. (For a detailed history, see my article, The Story of 'F,' in RFD A Country Journal For Gay Men And Our Friends Everywhere— issue number 33.

Anyone can be enchanted—a faerie—and there have been gatherings of dykes, and ones for all. Running Water Farm is a space for such sharing and we invite you to come and play with us!

These gatherings are envisioned like 'seminars' with each individual sharing his/her experiences, talents and interests. (Except for the weekend of Aug. 26th, these gatherings will focus on strengthening gay men's interconnections.) We question the value of 'experts' and 'authorities' and consider participants to be our best resource people and teachers. The focuses offered are for only those interested and are only suggestions, at that. We encourage you to plan 'circles' on your needs and interests.

Our facilities here are quite primitive. We have no 'indoor plumbing.' You will need to provide your own shelter (tent) and eating utensils. We will furnish (vegetarian gourmet!) food, but will expect everyone to participate with preparation and cleanup. We feel this not only keeps the cost low, but also encourages the sharing of group experience.

The suggested donation on the registration form reflects our estimated costs for food and a small fee to help compensate our time for preparations. These funds will eventually improve our facilities here, and we can always use more! No one, however, will be turned away because of inability to pay.

June 17-19—CELEBRATING WITH THE ARTS This is a time for sharing our arts. Bring your poetry, costumes, make-up—WHATEVER! to play with. Saturday evening we'll have a show!

July 1-4—HEALTH INDEPENDENCE This four day weekend will be a time for sharing (y)our healing knowledge and skills for attaining optimal health...body/mind exploration (diet, yoga, massage, polarity, humor, sweats...).

July 18-22—ADVENTURES IN FAERIE CONSCIOUSNESS This five-day event provides an opportunity to explore (with) our brothers more deeply in a supportive environment. Suggested circle-topics: Monday— Morning opening orientation circle and an afternoon circle on "What is Faerie Consciousness?" Tuesday— "Demystifying Magic" Wednesday— "Personal Empowerment" Thursday— "Integrating Sex, Politics and Spirituality" Friday— Full Moon Lunacy!

August 5-7— GARDENING This weekend will focus on sharing our resources and techniques for organic and wholistic gardening and 'doing it' with Mother Earth.

August 27-28— A GATHERING FOR GENTLE FOLK This weekend we will be celebrating and integrating our feminine and masculine identities. We invite our brothers and sisters (of any orientation) to explore and play.

September 9-11 EXPANDING RELATIONSHIPS AND RELATING This weekend we will share our past, enrich our present and create our future relationships through discussion, play and experiential (but fun!) exercises.

Hope to see you there!

The Atlanta Lesbian and Gay Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union of Georgia cordially invites you to a reception for Susan McGreivy, Esq. of the National Lesbian and Gay Rights Project and the Southern California Lesbian and Gay Rights Project. A two dollar donation is requested.

AIDS BENEFIT FEATURES ALL-STAR CAST

There has been an overwhelming response from local entertainers to the AIDS benefit scheduled for June 20 at the Sportspace. Says P.R. spokesperson Susan Martin, "Our diverse community is showing tremendous unity and support on the issue."

The evening will feature local entertainment, dancing, an auction, door prizes and some "added surprises."

Entertainers include Mickey Day, The Atlanta Gay Men's Chorus, Lily White, Village Virgins, Pici, R.C. Cola, Toni de

Marco, Vicki Lawrence, Zippity-Do-Da The Homecoming Queen of the 1982 Atlanta Falcons, Sharon (as Michael Jackson), Chena Black, Renee Ross, Michelle Ray, Amber Richards, The Cast of Onyx II, Nancy & Chris (of Alan Gold's of Chattanooga, TN), Rhonda Lee, and Darryl Daniels.

In addition to all the activities, AIDS T-shirts and bumper stickers will be sold.

Demonstrate your support by attending the AIDS Benefit at the Sportspace, June 20th. Show starts at 8 pm. $3.00 donation at the door and all proceeds from door, auction and T-shirt/ bumper stickers will go to AIDS research. For further information call 636-7517 or 223-5183.

ATLANTA'S ENTERTAINERS MAKE BENEFIT A SUCCESS

Entertainers from Illusions, Onyx II, Poodles, and Sportspace combined their talents at Saint Atlanta on June 7 to raise $1,132 in two shows billed as a "Galaxy of Stars." The benefit was sponsored by Black and White Men Together, with half of the proceeds to go to the '83 Pride Committee.

Thanks go to the cast which included Erica Adams, Lisa Alexander, Lisa Angelique, Yetteva Antoinette, Chena Black, Charlie Brown, R.C. Cola, Dina Jacobs, Ray Kaymon, the Ladies of the '80s (Debbie, Robin, Suzanne, and J.T. and Company), Vickie Lawrence, Rhonda Leigh, Steve Margrave, Ashley Nicole, Portia Reibrieck, Anthony Sean, Paula Sinclair, Shannon Starr, Lisa Tremont, and Christina Vanderbilt; to DJ's Bob Bridges, Joey Messina and David Ramsey; to lighting technicians Billy, Larry, and Scott; to Fred Brown for backstage help; and to the management, bartenders, waiters, and staff of Saint Atlanta. They demonstrated once again that Atlanta's entertainers and bars are willing to come forward to help the entire lesbian and gay community. Despite backstage confusion, they gave of their time, talent, and money to triumph over all obstacles to make the benefit a success.

The Pride Committee will use the money raised to help sponsor Pride Week activities, which culminate in a Parade on Saturday, June 25. The parade organizes at 12:30 pm. at Ralph McGill Blvd. across from the Civic Center, and proceeds up Peachtree to the block between 10th and 11th for a rally with speakers, entertainment, dancing, and booths representing many of Atlanta's lesbian and gay organizations and businesses.

GAYARD SALE FOR CONFERENCE DEBTS

If you're looking for that piece of jewelry to finish off your ensemble, or a piece of furniture to complete your apartment, you may want to stop by Poodles' parking lot at 1055 Peachtree Street on Saturday, June 18. From 10 am to 6 pm, the 1983 Southeastern Conference for Lesbians and Gay Men Steering Committee will be holding a GAYARD SALE to raise fund to pay off the debts incurred by the Committee.

The 1983 Southeastern Conference was held April 28 through May 1 at the Stadium Hotel. Virginia Apuzzo, Armistead Maupin, Rita Mae Brown, and the performers of the

EDITORIAL

Pride is defined in the dictionary as a high or inordinate opinion of one's own dignity, importance, merit, or superiority, whether as cherished in the mind or as displayed in bearing, conduct, etc.

Pride week '83 begins this Saturday, June 18th and continues through Saturday, June 25th with our Pride Parade beginning at 12:30 pm. This is your chance to show Atlanta just how proud you are.

The parade this year will meet on Ralph McGill Boulevard across from the Civic Center and proceed up Ralph McGill to Peachtree, and up Peachtree Street to 10th Street. Between 10th and 11th Streets we'll gather for featured speaker Susan McGrievy, of the Southern California Gay/Lesbian Project of the ACLU. We will also hear the City Council Proclamation and the Mayor's resolution concerning Gay/Lesbian Civil Rights Day. The Buffalo Chips will be performing and there will be booths sponsored by organizations and businesses in the Gay Community.

Everyone is urged to participate in the week of activities and especially urged to be in the parade. It is not a march or a demonstration. It is a parade to show Atlanta that we are here and represent a large part of the population. We are demonstrating our dignity, importance, merit and our pride. We are only asking Atlanta for a chance to enjoy the rights and freedoms that everyone in America is entitled to.

Other activities planned for Pride Week include the following: Saturday, June 18th - United in Song! The Atlanta Gay Men's Chorus in concert at St. Luke's Episcopal Church, 8 pm; Sunday, June 19th - Picnic at Piedmont Park hosted by MCC, Candlelight Vigil sponsored by Atlanta Lesbian Feminist Alliance, Community Pot Luck Dinner hosted by the Midtown Protestant Church at the Gay Center; Monday, June 20th - "T-Shirts" and "My Blue Heaven" at Redoubt through the 25th; Tuesday, June 21st - Interreligious Service at Gay Center at 7:30 pm; Wednesday, June 22nd - Lesbian/Gay Rights Chapter of the ACLU at Gay Center at 8 pm, Stress Management for Men and Women at Women's Commerce Club 634-2439 for info; Thursday, June 23rd - An In-Touch Evening on Positive Interaction, sponsored by ABPG; Friday, June 24th - Sweet Honey in the Rock, sponsored by The Black Women's Health Project, 8 pm, Sisters Chapel at Spelman College.

Please support all these activities and the people who have worked so hard to make them possible. See you at the parade on Saturday, June 25th at 12:30 pm sharp! Don't forget to bring your Pride!

Saturday Night Benefit highlighted the weekend which also included over 35 workshops on topics of concern to lesbians and gay men.

Over 300 participated in the Conference activities. "However, we needed an additional hundred people to register to break even," says Conference Assistant Coordinator, Lainey Richardson. To help raise the nearly $2,500 debt incurred by the Committee in hotel and speakers' fees, several benefits will be held in the next month, including a car wash. "These benefits will also hopefully assist the 1984 Southeastern Conference Committee in Birmingham, the site of next year's Conference," Ron Wudarsky, Conference Coordinator indicated. "We learned how much time and money is needed to hold a Conference of this size. Seed money is very important in the planning," Ron concludes, "and, we hope to be able to assist in the 84 Conference."

There will be items from earrings to rockers... something for everyone. Be at Poodles' parking lot on Saturday and help the Southeastern Conference.

GUILD PARTY TO BENEFIT HUMAN RIGHTS FOUNDATION

JUNE 13 ATLANTA A widely diverse crowd is hoped for at a Midtown bash scheduled for June 26. Blue jeans, sequins, overalls, sportswear, pinstripes—organizers of the party don't care what people wear as long as a lot of them show up, stay and have a good time. The party will be hosted by the Atlanta Business and Professional Guild and the Human Rights Foundation. The party will be royally lavish— even fit for a queen—with a combination of theatrical performances, an erotic art show and an all-day indoor/outdoor cocktail party. Tickets will cost only $8.

The event will start "around 12:30 with Bloody Marys and Harvey Wallbangers" at The Bar On Peachtree next door to the Theatrical Outfit in the blossoming entertainment district on Peachtree Street. A Tennessee Williams One-Act Festival will be held at the Theatrical Outfit with shows at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. A cocktail party and erotic art show will continue throughout the day at both locations.

The Tennessee Williams One-Act Festival includes THE LADY OF LARKSPUR LOTION, 27 WAGONS OF COTTON, and THIS PROPERTY IS CONDEMNED. "A retrospective glance by an aging prostitute and an alcoholic writer," THE LADY OF LARKSPUR LOTION reviews "the delusions of grandeur upon which their existence depends." 27 WAGONS OF COTTON is "a post Freudian Canterbury Tales spun on the Mississippi." And in THIS PROPERTY IS CONDEMNED "the disposable children of another generation face the paths of life with ignorance and innocence."

The Bar On Peachtree will provide hors d'oeuvres and refreshments between performances. A guest entertainer will appear courtesy of the Hotel York.

The erotic art show, titled OBJECTS OF DESIRE, is sponsored by the Form and Function Gallery of One Rhodes Center North. OBJECTS OF DESIRE will feature an exhibition of figurative photographs by internationally-known artist Marcus Leatherdale and Marlys Cox along with drawings by Zade Ramsey and Scott Robinson. The works will be on display in the lobby of the Theatrical Outfit and throughout The Bar On Peachtree. Marcus Leatherdale of NYC has been named by ARTS MAGAZINE and INTERVIEW as "the most exciting photographer around." His work includes portraits of Andy Warhol, Tommy Tune, and weightlifter Lisa Lyons. Marlys Cox is a local woman photographer, whose work has "an exciting sensitivity" and, according to Form and Function Gallery, "shows immense promise."

The work of Zade Ramsey and Scott Robinson, two young Gallery discoveries, "is sensual without being pornographic."

The Theatrical Outfit's Tennessee Williams One-Act Festival and Form and Function Gallery's Objects of Desire will continue at the Theatrical Outfit and The Bar On Peachtree through the end of July. The Form and Function Gallery will donate twenty-five percent of their gross sales through June 26 to the Human Rights Foundation and the Atlanta Business and Professional Guild. Thereafter, they will donate ten percent of purchases made by persons identifying themselves as supporting the foundation or the guild for the run of the exhibit.

The Atlanta Business and Professional Guild was formed about four years ago. Guild parties traditionally draw a crowd that is friendly and vivacious, yet well-heeled and sophisticated. The guild recently hosted "The Garden Party," their first annual Spring membership party and business fair at the Atlanta Botanical Gardens in Piedmont Park. Last year the guild co-sponsored Judy Chicago's "The Dinner Party" at The Fox Theater and also brought the film Taxi Zum Klo to the Buckhead Cinema 'N Drafthouse.

Tickets for the benefit performance of the Theatrical Outfit's Tennessee Williams One-Act Festival are available now. Please make all checks payable to the ABPG and send mail orders to Box 52785, Atlanta, Georgia 30305.

NATIONAL NEWS

CRANSTON ON GAY RIGHTS

In 15 years as Senator from California, Alan Cranston consistently and forthrightly has championed the rights of gay men and lesbians. His record on gay/lesbian issues is long and distinguished—a record no other presidential contender has even approached.

Senator Cranston sponsored the first gay rights-related measure ever introduced in the U.S. Senate, a bill to grant a visa to a Filipino lesbian who had been denied admittance to the United States on the ground of sexual orientation. He is sponsor of legislation to amend U.S. immigration laws to repeal anti-gay provisions on admission of aliens.

Senator Cranston is the only announced presidential candidate to become a cosponsor of the National Gay Rights Bill, a measure which would prohibit employment discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation. The Senator also consistently has opposed efforts to add provisions to Legal Services Corporation law which would deny legal services to gays and gay organizations.

In the past few months, Senator Cranston has become a Senate leader in efforts to increase federal research support for AIDS. He is an original cosponsor of bills to create a public health emergency fund at the National Institutes of Health and to expedite the research process. The two measures have become a part of the authorizing legislation for the National Institutes of Health. A third bill—authored by Senator Cranston—would provide $40 million in additional research monies for epidemiology. Senator Cranston also has joined other Senators in asking HHS Secretary Margaret Heckler to do all she can to expedite NIH research on AIDS, and he has intervened with the Social Security Administration in cases where AIDS victims have been denied benefits.

Senator Cranston is the first U.S. Senator to employ openly gay staffers, both in his Washington and San Francisco offices. Openly gay staffers also are employed by his presidential campaign committee.

In the State of California, Alan Cranston was active in the NO ON 6 campaign—working to defeat the 1978 state ballot initiative that would have barred gays and lesbians from teaching. He has made numerous gay/lesbian appointments to Democratic Party offices.

Throughout his Senate career, Alan Cranston has spoken out on the issues of importance to gay men and lesbians. Since the beginning of his presidential campaign, he has addressed the Human Rights Campaign Fund dinner in Philadelphia, spoken to a breakfast meeting of the Metropolitan Elections Commission in Los Angeles, delivered the keynote address to the Gertrude Stein Democratic Club's annual dinner in Washington, D.C., and met with numerous gay/lesbian political caucuses. In April, 1983, he appeared on the nationally televised "ABC Nightline" program in defense of gay rights.

"On this important week," said Cranston in an official statement in recognition of Gay Pride Week, "for our nation's Gay Community, I renew my commitment to opposing all forms of discrimination."

"In 15 years as Senator from California, I have consistently fought for legislation that would guarantee the civil rights of Gay Men and Lesbians."

"as the only announce Presidential candidate to become a cosponsor of the National Gay Rights Bill and as a leader in the effort to increase federal support for research concerning AIDS. I am continuing to work for legislation aimed at prohibiting discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation."

PRESIDENTIAL POLITICS SENATOR HART TO VISIT

Georgians With Hart will sponsor a luncheon and free forum discussion with Democratic Presidential candidate Senator Gary Hart soon. The luncheon and open forum will take place at the Garden Room of the Georgian Plaza Park Tuesday, June 28, from 12 noon to 2:00 p.m.

CRANSTON NOT COMING YET

The Atlanta Journal-Constitution recently reported that Democratic Presidential candidate Senator Alan Cranston would meet with the gay community of Atlanta in a scheduled campaign trip. That information is false, according to Tom Chorlton, executive director of the National Association of Gay Lesbian Democratic Clubs. "He has no plans to even travel to Atlanta, let alone meet with the gay community, at the moment," Chorlton said. "If in fact he does come it will be with full notification to all interested organizations and individuals," he added. Chorlton is in a position to act as liaison for the gay/lesbian community to all national Democratic candidates. His organization is based on Washington, D.C.

GPA TO BENEFIT FROM SAN FRANCISCO PARTY

by Steve Warren

The Media Fund for Human Rights, the charitable and educational arm of the Gay Press Association, will be one of the beneficiaries of a giant Gay Freedom Day benefit party in San Francisco on June 26.

Dick Collier, Jr., owner of the popular dance club Trocadero Transfer, has rented Brooks Hall, located directly underneath the Civic Center, site of the post-parade celebration, for the event he has dubbed "Metropolis."

"There's never been a party where the parade actually culminates," says Collier, who has lined up Grace Jones and Technique to provide entertainment. A multimedia presentation will recall parties of previous decades, and a light show by Laserium will feature the first indoor use of a 22-watt krypton laser.

Metropolis was conceived as a non-profit party, but Collier's application came too late to clear the bureaucratic hurdles. Instead he's offering a portion of the profits, mostly to the fight against AIDS and to the Lesbian/Gay Freedom Day Parade Committee, but to a number of other civic and community projects as well, including the Media Fund for Human Rights.

The party will begin at 3 pm and last until at 11. Tickets, including in-and-out privileges, will cost $15 in advance and $18 at the door.

FORMER CONGRESSMAN TO HEAD GRNL'S SPECIAL AIDS LOBBY

WASHINGTON, DC—The Gay Rights National Lobby has announced that former Congressman Jim Corman will head a special AIDS Lobbying Task Force. The task force is expected to significantly assist the short-staffed Lobby in dealing with the many AIDS-related measures on Capitol Hill, as well as bringing considerable extra clout to GRNL's AIDS lobbying efforts. Joining former Rep. Corman are Judy Goldsmith, the President of the National Organization for Women (NOW) and Dan Bradley, former President of the national Legal Services Corporation. Allan Jones, the former President of the American Cancer Society, has agreed to serve as a Special Advisor to GRNL on its AIDS efforts. GRNL's Executive Director, Steven Endean, indicated that other prominent community leaders may also soon join the AIDS Task Force.

Rep. Corman, who represented the San Fernando (CA) Valley for 20 years, can be expected to substantially enhance GRNL's Capitol Hill AIDS efforts. During his time in Congress, Corman was a leading advocate of both Civil Rights and national health insurance. During his last four years in Congress, he served as Chair of the influential Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee (the House Democrat's campaign funding group). Since leaving Congress, he has become a partner in the law firm of Charles Manatt (Chair of the Democratic National Party) and now spends extensive time lobbying Capitol Hill.

"We are extremely fortunate to have someone of Congressman Corman's stature, experience, and ability playing a leading lobbying role for us on AIDS," commented Steve Endean. Former Members of Congress are often the most sought-after lobbyists because of the relationships they build while in Congress and because of their knowledge of the Hill. "We're extraordinarily blessed that his commitment to this issue has led him to play this key role," said Endean.

The Nation Organization for Women (NOW) has agreed to put its full clout into the AIDS fight with their national President, Judy Goldsmith serving on GRNL's special AIDS Task Force. With their strong grassroots constituency and important political involvement, NOW's support and participation is seen by many as being very important.

Joining Corman and Goldsmith is Dan Bradley, the former President of the Legal Services Corporation, who has come out publicly as a gay man. When he headed the embattled Legal Services program, he masterminded one of the strongest lobbying efforts in recent memory to save legal aid for the poor against attacks by the Reagan Administration and the New Right. The contacts he made in the successful effort are expected to help a great deal on GRNL's Capitol Hill AIDS lobbying campaign.

The special AIDS Task Force is expected to complement the work of GRNL's staff through its ongoing AIDS Project. Endean stressed the special AIDS Task Force very likely will be expanded to include other notable people.

NOW PLEDGES ASSISTANCE TO GRNL

WASHINGTON, DC — In a concerted effort to strengthen the voice of this nation's gay and lesbian citizens, the National Organization for Women (NOW) has pledged to assist Gay Rights National Lobby (GRNL) with its lobbying program on Capitol Hill.

Steven Endean, Executive Director of GRNL, and Judy Goldsmith, President of NOW, agreed that NOW will focus attention on 12-15 designated members of Congress and will work closely with GRNL's lobbyists. In addition, NOW will mobilize its constituents to pressure their Congressional legislators prior to key votes on Capitol Hill.

NOW's lobbying efforts will cover a variety of concerns to the gay and lesbian community, including building co-sponsorship of the Federal Gay and Lesbian Civil Rights Bill, increasing research funding for AIDS, and preventing the passage of anti-gay bills and amendments.

Endean expressed optimism about this new arrangement, stating "I am delighted to see that GRNL's solid relationship with NOW has led to more concrete efforts on behalf of lesbians and gay men. We must continue to work closely with allied organizations on issues of mutual concern."

Goldsmith echoed Endean's feelings and said, "NOW is pleased to be expanding our working relationship with the Gay Rights National Lobby as part of our ongoing commitment to lesbian and gay rights. In the present repressive political environment of the Reagan Administration, it is more critical than ever that we strengthen our alliance and work together to fight the intolerable discrimination against lesbians and gay men."

FRANKLIN (from Cover Story)

When someone asked why Mayor Andrew Young did not mention the gay community in his May 26th proclamation of AIDS Awareness Day, Graham Bruton, President of AID Atlanta said, "We did not want it stated that way."

According to Bruton the march was not intended to emphasize the gay involvement in the AIDS crisis, but to raise the general perception that a national health crisis actually exists. Ms. Franklin said that AID Atlanta has the full support of City Hall and that steps will be taken to find even greater support. She also indicated support of the effort to document racial discrimination in the gay community, a project sponsored by members of Black and White Men Together.

Ms. Franklin was introduced by First Tuesday President Frank Scheuren, who said, "When the Mayor is out of town, Shirley is, in effect, the Mayor."

She covered a wide range of topics before settling down to a one-hour question and answer session. She said that Mayor Young believes that he can best serve the city of Atlanta by using his international contacts to stimulate new trade. "He could stay at home and fix the potholes and the city would be no better. His international contacts are an asset that most mayors don't have," she explained. Young has built up substantial good will in Congress, where he campaigned for 40-45 national officeholders, and that good will is useful bargaining chip in trying to get greater funding for the completion of the MARTA mass transit system project. Franklin described Young as "a man who listens to both sides of an issue and who may change his mind based on the information before him. That might be unsettling for some people, but I think that is admirable in an elected official."

Several people in the audience were carrying green balloons indicating opposition to the Great Park Freeway project. A public forum on that project was held about an hour before at the Civic Center. Franklin said Young is interested in jazzing up the image of downtown Atlanta with unusual public functions like street festivals and huge cocktail parties which bring various groups together.

Speaking about the Gay/Lesbian Civil Rights Proclamation signed by City Council last week, Franklin said, "The Mayor has no problem with it but has not said that he would sign it. He indicated he would study it and/or write something else about human rights. I think that what you will find is that he is going to make a statement that I will read at the Gay Pride Rally."

Ms. Franklin continued, "He wants to be represented, and he wants to be represented in his own words."

One participant observed that, "The issue of the 80's is Gay Civil Rights — the most unfulfilled civil rights movement in this country. He also observed that the common thread between the success of Women, Blacks and Jews is the ability of a movement to channel anger into organization and persistence."

Toward that end the First Tuesday Association has launched a voter registration drive and is seeking volunteers to train to become deputy voter registrars.

Ms. Franklin promised that the current city administration will continue to have an "open door." Cruise Newsmagazine asked Ms. Franklin why Mayor Young did not respond to "off-the-wall" comments by Congressperson Larry McDonald about "taxing AIDS victims" to fund medical research. "Everyone knows Larry McDonald is off-the-wall on most issues," Franklin answered, "but it would be useless to start a public debate with him. Responding to those remarks would only bring those people closer together." Although agreeing that it would be nice to point out "the bad guys," Franklin said that it would be more positive to "methodically and systematically" go about fighting that type of ideology. "That's more Andy's style."

PETRONIUS DINES AT THE GALLUS

by Alexander Wallace

Well, shame on me! I haven't been to the GALLUS RESTAURANT since the day AFTER New Years Day, 1980, when I had a very fine meal there. Now, any restaurant that can find a cook and a waiter and turn out a meal on January 2nd deserves more attention than that! I'm glad I got the chance to go again and report back to you!

Thank you, Paine-Webber!

Thank you, Bob Swinden!

Of course, the reaction to an experience is the effect caused by the sum total of all the parts — and a restaurant critic seeks that "Hotel Paradiso" where the surroundings, roundings, ambiance, service, food, wine, price — are all equal and all equally perfect. That is how we can continue to eat some perfectly deadly meals, which never got reported on — revenge is below the gourmand's lips — because we know that out there, somewhere, waiting — is that perfect gastronomic experience. Occasionally, however, one element will outshine the rest, without overshadowing the whole and that is very much the case with Service at the GALLUS. I've had out-of-town friends ask to see "The Big Rock — giggle, giggle," and that "restaurant-with-the-smudged - blackboard - menus - where - every - waiter - on - the - floor - introduces - himself - whether - he's - cute - or - not," and I just groan. I've also had to defrost some servile help in town with a verbal blowtorch-to-the-groin and I do not appreciate either extreme.

Service at the GALLUS, in the person of Peter, was polite, punctual, professional — let me say that again: P-R-O-F-E-S-S-I-O-N-A-L, as in trained and experienced — and, trustworthy. Perhaps not an Eagle Scout, but definitely First Class. I felt Peter was pleased to see us, to advise and serve us and he made us feel confident and at ease. He ought to run a school! His fellow waiters seemed equally capable.

This dining out experience is very similar to going to see a Broadway Show you've anticipated. You want it to be right, you don't know quite what to expect, almost anything could spoil the magic. Then, it's 8:30, CURTAIN! And the next thing you know it's midnight and you've had a sim -ply wonderful evening!

Thank you, Peter!

Thank you, GALLUS!

We had an aperitif in the front bar — the Bar Maid jovial and eager, the distinguished Maitre D' escorted us to a table at the cross-roads of three busy, handsome dining rooms — very glamorous. Another cocktail and then the Menu. It's extensive, listing 3 soups, 4 appetizier, 8 beef, 6 chicken, 4 veal, 2 lamb and port, 5 fish and 2 Vegetarian main course selections. Forget it! Ask the advice of your Servitor. We did and Peter guided us thoughtfully. His suggestions were correct. All Menu items were not available and he knew what was best.

Shrimp Remoulade (iced shrimp with a mustard, paprika and shallot sauce of Creole origin) was adequate and tasty if perhaps too mayonnaise-y ($4.95). Chefs tend to over-cook crustacea here in Atlanta, but Escargot Stuffed in Mushroom Caps was a novel, pungent and exquisite appetizer ($3.95). The tender little devils were enthroned in large, fresh, grilled caps and liberally bathed in a beefy garlic and oil sauce so tangy it demanded to be eaten to the last drop! Delicious hot bread and rolls played their parts perfectly.

Tossed salads included an abundance of greens, with juliened carrots and home-made dressings: one, the "House," a sweet and sour white French and the other — a blue cheese. A Mushroom Salad that somehow slipped by me is also offered, a la carte ($3.50), with Dinner, and extra $1.75.

Peter advised against this-and-that on the menu and finally perceived what we really wanted. My Dining Date sought some plain, grilled, "down home" Pork Chops with Apple Sauce — and he got them just the way he ordered: juicy, tender and very flavorful ($9.95) — First Class again and grilling isn't as easy as the briquette ads imply! I am a Beef Wellington freak and the GALLUS serves the best I've had this side of the Oak Room at the Bonaventure in Montreal where the dish costs zillions! At the GALLUS this difficult creation was perfectly prepared and utterly mouth-watering. The Puff pastry surround was as flaky as Mom's if she just happened to be Julia Child, the inner coating of Pate' was delicate and fluid, not over-powering and the Filet was, miracle-of-miracles, pink tender all the way through, juicy, sweet and as big as my fist! ($15.95) Superb!

Both entrees were as good as any I've tasted in Atlanta — the baked potato was okay — the string beans were — canned! Horrors! Almost spoiled a perfect meal — almost: I can still taste the Beef Wellington!

We chose a Joseph Drouhin Beaujolais-Villages, 1981 for our wine, which was fresh, delicate and fruity and only $11.00. Other wines were similarly modest in price (Gay restaurants here do not rip you off on wines as some other restaurants try to do!)

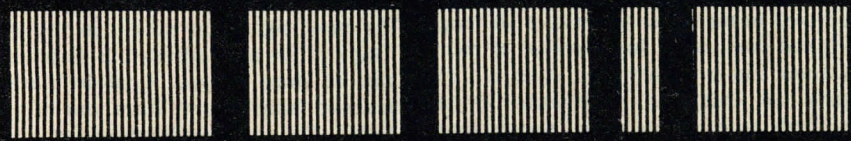

A Deserte Carte offers pastries from the Maison Gourmet bakery, liquored "Ice Cream Cocktails," ($3.75) and a variety of after-dinner Specials, all $2.75. The Peach Melba and Mocha Cappuccino cakes were sinfully delicious — silken cream and rich pastry combined: heaven!

A more than elegant dinner and a "9H" on the Experience Scale! And columns! AND columns! Oh, I love the regal, beautifully proportioned fluted Corinthian columns that abound and delineate the dining areas! The GALLUS must have been a truly elegant home in its time — and, contrary to what I wrote recently, a Wedgwood Blue room could be romantic and grande! I wish the GALLUS Management would retire the confusing wall-papers and out-of-date mylar. The GALLUS should be restored — with pale blue and cream walls, gold leaf and mirrored accents and glistening white enamel on those columns — it could be utterly gorgeous! We have a premium restaurant experience in the GALLUS, one we all can be proud of and should patronize.

The GALLUS RESTAURANT is located at 49 6th Street, telephone: 892-8983, Entrees run $5-17, parking is limited, reservations might be a good idea, ambiance is casual AND grande, hours are: Dinner - 6-12, 7 days a week, Brunch, Sundays - 12:30 - 4 and THE GALLUS accepts MC, V, and AE.

MUSIC

by Annex 3 DJ Al Tillman

The record companies continue to turn out a bumper crop of hot summer releass. Most of the material is by new artists but in the coming days/weeks look for some of the "biggies" (i.e. Diana Ross, Donna Summer, the BeeGees) to grab hold of your turntable.

By press time your favorite DJ should have the June Disconet release with the remix of "I'M ALIVE" by American Fade which was reworked in part by former Cove DJ David Benoy. Now a New York City resident, David reports that the Big Apple's dance floors are going mad over St. Tropez "Morning Music," Diva adn Menage versions of "Memories" and Hazel Dean "Searchin'."

The rock group Toto will collaborate/produce on the long overdue album by The Jacksons (with Michael) which should give this group a fresh, new direction.

"Maniac" from the movie "Flashdance" is getting the re-mix treatment at Casablanca Record/Filmworks adn will be available on a 12". Let's hope it gets a faster release than Irene Cara's "What a Feeling" remix received from that same label.

The new Line III album is out. Musically the duo has taken a positive turn in a progressive vein. However, I personally find the vocals disappointing in comparison to their past efforts.

Look for Backstreet and Saint to pull out all the stops in order to get top draw entertainment into town for July 4th weekend. Also look for a major party that same weekend at Annex 3.

Outstanding article and tribute to the late musical innovator Patrick Cowley ("Manergy, Megatron Man") in a recent Advocate article. Next time your in a record store pick up a copy of Patrick's "Megamedley." All profit from the sale of the records go to AIDS research and education. Cowley succumbed to AIDS in late 1982.

Answer to the question none of you ask ("Who's my favorite DJ?") — San Francisco's Tommy Williams, LA's Vitirreti, New York's Sharon White and Robbie Leslie, Atlanta's _____ you must be kidding — All of them!

Diamond Lil!

A NEW BUD AND A VINTAGE ROSE

On a Tuesday morning in the month of June, Miss Diamond decided to jump into her ol' Chevy and head for the nostalgic, seaport town of Savannah to attend high school graduation exercises for her younger 19-year-old brother. Indeed, this was one of the more unusual reasons for the actress to head toward the seashore for, believe me, in the past she's had more reasons and more excuses than Carter has pills to take this jaunt Eastward.

Being a little tardy in her departure, Miss Diamond had to use a little extra acceleration, which she's been known to do on occasion, against a monstrous monsoon coming in from the Florida peninsula. Still, a five-o'clock commencement service would be coming early, and she felt it imperative to be on time in meeting her kin for seating purposes, since she had a certain fear of buildings built after the turn of the century anyway.

Just a few short years ago, it would not have been an unusual thing for Miss Diamond to be rushing towards the sea to rescue an old, "sauced" flame — to try once again to make a "doomed marriage" work. Ignorance and youth is a partnership that "seems to work" for a while, until maturity, if ever, is gained to dissolve such a fallacy. Miss Diamond, being a Southern "lady" and a hopeless romantic, had definitely been swayed by an early Civil War notion that it certainly wasn't "fittin'" for a young lady to be alone in the world without a husband to protect her. Such was the case in the pursuit of a hot, rambunctious rebel — who never could find a cause for himself, or anyone else — not to mention poor Miss Diamond.

The commencement exercises of the Sol C. Johnson High School were to be held in the Savannah Civic Center, a columned edifice built in the '60's supposedly in keeping with "period" architecture, and promptly at 5:00 p.m. — indeed, somewhat early for an actress to be up and about. Nonetheless, Miss Diamond was punctual and sat with the immediate family of the spritely, graduating youngster. She was sharply shaken when she mentally calculated the number of years that had passed since her own graduation. Also, the presence of an enormous number of blacks taking part in this exercise made her reluctantly cognizant that the times had changed; and the old South wasn't quite what it used to be in previous years. Alas, she snorted some smelling salts from a miniature vial to regain composure, but suffered a slight relapse when the valedictorian delivered the farewell address at the ceremony — for she remembered losing this particular honor to another who had a small .03 larger average than she, in addition to being a politically more favored student, not to mention being a very-hushed, suspected Lesbian, to boot.

During the Advanced Chorus' deliverance of the American Folk Trilogy — a "Glory, Glory Hallelujah" and "Hush Little Baby, Don't You Cry" kind of thing, Miss Diamond's cheeks became somewhat moist; and an Irish linen handkerchief was used to blot away the dampness. Shortly thereafter, the 6'1" lanky lad received his diploma; and the linen handkerchief was required once more. Then, suddenly after an hour and a half, the entire ceremony was completed; and Miss Diamond exited with other family members into the lobby for some social exchange and congratulations. Still is a semi-state of shock from this very different kind of activity, the famous actress was delivered to the house trailer of a life-long, girlhood companion for a period of recuperation and necessary rest. After all, it's rarely an every-day occurrence to be involved with what some might term "ordinary people"; and certain "restorations" have to be made with exotic flowers of a more delicate nature.

After a day or two of collapse and general decline, Miss Diamond managed to pull herself away from the day bed, unlock her traveling companion — an old steamer trunk she'd owned from earlier tours, and lay out an original cotton-print frock, she thought suitable for an afternoon stroll by the river for meditation and regenerative purposes. She'd remembered the early wharf and the flailing of a chiffon scarf to welcome in seafaring sailors and such when, at this point, the silence was broken by a very common, primitive voice in a 1960's Nash automobile yelling, "Three-dollar bill!" After this abrasive interruption in solitude, Miss Diamond concluded that although the Chatham County School System had made some obvious changes in its teachers and pupils, the streets remained the same, lacking any upgrade. The grande dame, having her feathers slightly ruffled, departed the river-front scene. Besides, she hated the revolting architecture of some new albatross called the Hyatt-Regency Hotel invading the sacred grounds of 18th-century building — not only was this mental cruelty, as well as an eyesore, it was historical rape and pillage! She pondered over a 1920's wicker desk for sale at a nearby flea bag, but dismissed its purchase, having remembered seven dust-collecting desks at home — none of which you could get to write a damn thing, courtesy of an insurmountable degree of debris and clutter. She squinted and scurried away acknowledging defeat.

It required some additional thought and time for the grandiose, histrionic Southern belle to reach a decision to return to the Capital City. Alone once again, she pumped the gas toward the giant metropolis and reminisced the graduation scenario, her dimpled brother's smiling face, struggling parents growing older, the life-long friend's open hospitality and cookery, the uncouth bellowing at the river. A cloud of sadness hovered over Miss Diamond for a spell; but then as the twilight set in, the fresh dew, combined with the dust from open-plowed fields set in amongst the pines, invigorated the soul of the dowager queen; and a renewed resurgence of life pressed even harder on the gas pedal.

(Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)

Meeting the man of your dreams could become a reality this weekend. Use him for sexual purposes and then dump him before the 20th when it becomes more than apparent that fairy tales don't always come true. On the 21st domestic issues with friends are favored. Relax in career matters after the 22nd and pay closer attention to some neglected loved ones. That's where all advantages exist now. Hustle any outstanding business concerns on the 24th. Big profits can be expected.

LIBRA

(Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)

Family pressures may consume more of your time and thoughts than you're willing to give this entire week. Love and travel mix poorly over the weekend. On the 20th emotional upsets at work might be mysterious. Mind your own business and all will be well. After the 21st, however, career should soar upward. New jobs and positions are likely to be offered. Male friends might be most advantageous at this time. Watch for new loves and definite marriage material on the 23rd and the 24th.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 23 - Nov. 21)

Temporary confusion in career matters over the weekend may come to an abrupt halt on the 20th. Don't push any issues and you'll be OK. On the 22nd domestic legal affairs bring profit, pleasure and smiles. Expect disrupting family news after the 23rd. They may be full of surprises!! Sexual energy will run near fever pitch on the 24th so all of you who have had designs on Texas' Steve Adams get ready. He'll be ready!!!

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)

Surprises this week come from unexpected visitors or your own impromptu desire to travel. Short trips involve romance and look great. On the 20th keep your damn mouth shut. Everyone appears to bruise easily that day. Partnership finances after the 21st couldn't be better. Ask for loans and look for roommates. Both should be easy to obtain.

Investments on the 24th should be counted with your many blessings.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 - Jan. 20)

Money and career matters might not be to your liking over the weekend. Things should calm down soon ... honest! On the 20th friends and lovers mix poorly. Jealousy runs high that day. Romance returns in existing marriages after the 21st. Excellent time to renew bonds. For those of you who are unmarried the next three weeks may just change that. Happy hunting! Career positions atop the heap can be retrieved on the 23rd and 24th.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)

Love, friend and pleasure take on a rather bizarre blend this weekend. Don't overbook yourself. On the 20th domestic concerns may outweigh career matters. New loves after the 21st come from place of employment. Relations with co-workers should improve as you become the boss' favorite. Recognition and praise on the 22nd is well deserved. Take advantage of valuable connections made on the 23rd and 24th for further career advancement.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 - March 20)

If you're trying to make someone feel guilty this week it won't work. Why don't you grow up?

ARIES

(March 21 - April 19)

Money and travel due to career matters looks great all week. Career is on a definite upswing if you let go of nagging self-doubts. Love life has seen better days. Separations possible. Until the 20th relations with others involving domestic issues might be stressful. After the 21st expect the opposite. Some happy days return on the homefront for at least three weeks. Best days for new sexual adventures and romance are on the 23rd and the 24th.

TAURUS

(April 20 - May 20)

Over this weekend chaos on the homefront may be alleviated by damn good friends. Great business aspects exist all week. Get up early and stay up late. There is money to be made. On the 20th moodiness in partnership matters may very well be your own doing. On the 21st enjoy sex. Good day to kiss and make up if you have to. After the 22nd short trips and travel may consume most of your energy and thoughts. Investments of all kinds are favored on the 23rd and 24th.

GEMINI

(May 21 - June 21)

Sudden attractions possible all weekend. Love at first sight may be more than likely on the 18th. Travel plans could be cancelled or prove disappointing until the 20th. Financial disputes in career matters should be avoided on the 21st. Career recognition may be easy to come by after the 22nd when travel, communication or design works bring in added dollars. Work overtime in these areas. You won't be sorry. On the 23rd and 24th marriage lurks for those that want it.
