The Foods and Wines of Warpwood

by Bernice Cross Tarbuns
(Of the Decatur by-the-sea Tarbuns)

I am ruined! I am a social outcast of epic proportions and I must try and make amends for a breach of etiquette that even transcends the time my best friend, Priscilla Upright (the piano heiress) drank a bottle of cherry codeine cough syrup and tried to grope the Pope at a private audience.

It all started last week when the Fanny Hill and Dale Home for the Senile and Disturbed asked me to head up a fund-raising event for restoration on the Catatonic Wing. After considering everything from Celebrity Sack Races to Bowling for Quaaludes, the ladies club arrived at what seemed to us to be an obvious conclusion. Since hot weather was about to set in, I suggested that it should be an out-of-doors event. (My ancestral home, Warpwood, was eliminated as a festive site because it is not air-conditioned. We're too far from the dam.). But I digress.

Further, I suggested that since fox hunting season is about to cessate, we should stage the last hunt of the 1982 season. It would undoubtedly attract the participation of the landed gentry and subsequently raise the much needed funds for the Home. Everyone was delighted with the idea and the vote was unanimous (except for Frania Skelton who wouldn't mace a quail). We would stage the Humane Hunt and Masquerade Ball for the Handicapped. (Let me warn you right off! Never tango with a paranoid schizophrenic. They think they're being followed and can get nasty.) But I digress.

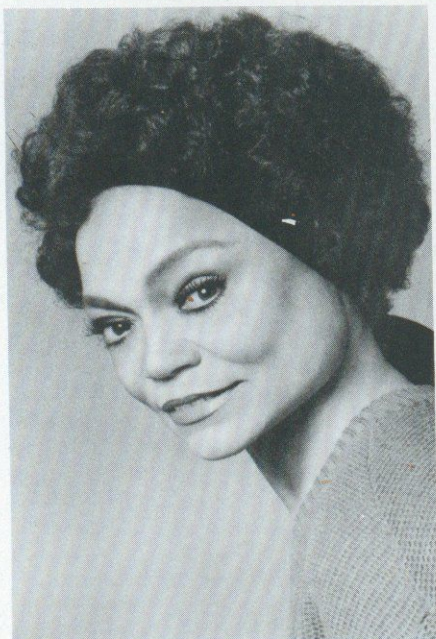

Posters for the event went up all over town, and it was announced at Rotary, Lions and every pulpit in the county. Reservations were pouring in for the $150 a couple fox hunt (and you got to keep the couple for a week). But I digress.

EARTHA KITT RETURNS TO PLUSH ROOM

By popular demand Eartha Kitt is returning to The Plush Room of The Hotel York on June 15th.

One of the world's most exotic singers, Eartha Kitt seems to have found in Atlanta the intimate audience she has been seeking in her long career. Asn international star of theater, films, nightclubs, television and recordings, she opened The Plush Room in February. Her electrifying, magnetic style left her audience mesmerized, and her Atlanta fans requested a return engagement.

Ms. Kitt played for twenty-five consecutive weeks at The Blue Angel in New York where the producer for "New Faces of 1952" saw and cast her for the show. Her performance of "Monotonous" stopped the show for a year on Broadway, and a national tour and a Twentieth Century Fox film followed. She returned to Broadway to receive a Tony Award nomination in "Mrs. Peterson." Ms. Kitt received an Oscar nomination for her film "Anna Lucasta" and an Emmy award nomination for her TV guest appearance in "I Spy."

Among her recent triumphs were a concert at Carnegie Hall, an international night club tour, two London stage successes and a best-selling autobiography, "Alone With Me." During her brilliant career, she performed before royalty and heads-of-state throughout the world, in 103 countries.

Eartha Kitt will be performing at The Plush Room of The Hotel York June 15th - 27th. Showtimes Tuesday - Thursday and Sunday at 9:00 and 10:30pm. Friday and Saturday at 9:30 and 11:30pm. Please call 874-9200 for reservations.

CRUISING THE WORLD'S FAIR WITH ARDY

The 1982 World's Fair in Knoxville, Tennessee has quickly caught on with gays. Having visited the International Exposition at least sixteen times, thus far, Ardy, your Knoxville Cruise reporter, is proud to say that cruising is excellent.

With energy as the theme of the summer event, the World's Fair offers a varied menu of cultural exhibits and down-home entertainment. Daily attendance is easily surpassing official projections, but has caused virtually no traffic or lodging congestion. On the average day, 75,000 visitors tour the 72 acre World's Fair site. On Saturdays, 95,000-105,000 eager tourists flood the grounds, causing some long lines, but also creating some fantastic crotch watching.

To leisurely explore the entire fair, plan on at least two days. One day admission is priced at $9.95 with season passes going for about $100.

busline for those of you who prefer to ride. Rooms are air-conditioned. Rates start at $28.50 a night. For more information and reservations, call 615 523-5831. F.R.)

Excellent dining away from the fair site is yours at Zeke and Dan's, the Union Cafe, and Lord Lindsay. But for the queen with cash or plastic, venture into REGAS' at Gay Street, THE HALF SHELL, or THE ORANGERY.

Knoxville is home of the French Broad River, Gay Street, and Metlers' Erection Service. Ardy discovered that Metlers is into construction work and not hand-jobs. However, the City of Knoxville keeps a watchful eye on the gay community. Cruising is limited, but check out Tyson Park at Cumberland Avenue and 24th Street. The hustlers seem to gather outside the Post Office at Main and Walnut (one block from jail).

Three bars are currently in operation, each very hospitable to visitors. Most require membership fees or cover charges.

EUROPA is located at Gay and Main, under the Gateway (straight) Bookstore. From preppy to butch, Europa is the cross section of the gay community.

UPSTAGE 54 (formerly the Carousel), at White Avenue and 15th Street tends to be home for the Knoxville lesbians. But all are welcome to enjoy the featured drag shows and other occasional entertainment. (Wednesdays are lesbian nites here. Otherwise, we were informed that the crowd has become very mixed between non-gays and gays, even tending toward a more non-gay crowd. F.R.)

BADLANDS is the newest bar in town. As the name implies, the clientele tends toward Western/Levi. This is the bar to show your macho side. Visiting cowboys should head for Gay Street near Magnolia for man-sized action. (This bar reminded us a little of Texas or Bulldog's when they first opened, and it seems to have a great potential for becoming the hottest spot in Knoxville. F.R.)

Political and religious factions have apparently kept bookstore operators at a distance from the downtown business section. Bookstores are located at: TOWN AND COUNTRY, 7011 Clinton Hwy; WEST KNOXVILLE NEWS, 5005 Kingston Pike; and THE PALACE, Chapman Hwy near Nixon Road. Another bookstore on Clinton Hwy, and one on Magnolia Avenue have been reported, but not confirmed by Ardy. Ardy has to have a day off also.

Finally, Ardy suggests you purchase the $5 official World's Fair Guidebook, to make your visit more enjoyable, and so you don't overlook anything. They're available all over the site from cute little vendors. (If you don't want to spend that much, the local paper prints a small less detailed map every day. We used that to get around with and had no trouble finding what we wanted to see. F.R.) Cruise and enjoy the fair. don't forget your camera for those candid crotch shots.

(One last little note. Don't expect the same type of nightlife in Knoxville that exists in Atlanta. It can happen but Knoxville is still a small Appalachian town and its gay population is just beginning to make an appearance. Also, be prepared for some very long lines and perhaps some disappointment in a few of the exhibits at the fair. For the most part, however, the Knoxville World's Fair is well worth the effort, the long lines, and the money. F.R.)

"PEACHES ON PARADE" A SUCCESS STORY

Atlanta - Officials of Atlanta's 1982 Lesbian/Gay/Transperson (LGT) Pride Committee released final audited figures today from their May 25th benefit at Illusions. After payment of advertising ($340) and sound and light expenses ($150), the Committee's net profit was revealed as $1,297.

According to Ron Greer, a spokesperson for the Committee, "The benefit proves that our community can come together, unite around a worthy cause, and celebrate our varying lifestyles together." The benefit, reported Greer, was extremely well-staged and smoothly run, and featured the largest cast of Atlanta lesbian and gay entertainers ever to assemble for a benefit performance. "We owe a great deal to producers Terry Douglas and Harriet Green," said Greer, "along with all of the participating entertainers, and a special thanks to Ted Binkley and the staff of Illusions."

On hand for the benefit, noted Greer, were City Councilpersons Carolyn Long Banks, Archie Byron and Robb Pitts. "Each indicated a willingness to support a Pride Day Proclamation," said Greer, "and we hope the positive image the benefit provided can help to ensure that support."

Pondering the financial and psychological successes of the benefit, an excited Greer said: "We simply cannot thank the community enough — from the entertainers who donated their time and talent, the producers who responded to our last-minute call for assistance, the management of The Answer, Illusions, and The Sportspace, and all of the community who came out. We'll stage a great Pride Week as thanks to all."

ATLANTA HOMOSEXUALS ANNOUNCE 1982 PRIDE WEEK CELEBRATION

Atlanta - Officials of the Lesbian/Gay/Transperson (LGT) Pride Committee announced plans today for the 1982 LGT Pride Week Celebration for the city of Atlanta. Various events are scheduled for the week of June 19th, with the annual LGT Pride March set for June 26th.

"Pride Week is one of the most important events for Atlanta's LGT Community," said Darrell Cole, Co-Chair of the 1982 Committee. "The recognition we receive each year is responsible for raising the level of public interest in the LGT Community, as is evidenced in recent films and various political campaigns around the country." Citing the attention of most candidates in the 1981 city elections to the LGT Community, Cole noted that LGT Pride Week was essential in breaking the political ice for Atlanta homosexuals.

Pride Week is reportedly also extremely beneficial to Atlanta's LGT Community.

"The sense of common purpose instilled by the week of celebration helps to carry us through the remainder of the year, when very often our concerns and issues are swept aside as too controversial or too minority-oriented," reported Regina Heimbruch, LGT Committee Co-Chair. "LGT Pride helps to raise the consciousness of our community, confronting many homosexuals with minority issues they might otherwise choose to ignore."

Our particular concern to LGT leaders are issues of minority rights within the LGT community. Racism and sexism, among others, are reportedly as prevalent in that community as in the society as a whole. "We look like fools if we don't make every effort to improve our own track record with equal rights issues," said Heimbruch, "but we must stress the positive during our celebration. It's LGT Pride Week, not shame week, after all."

Among other works currently in progress, Cole reported, the Committee is looking to Atlanta leaders for good faith gestures regarding this year's march. Both the City Council and the Mayor's Office have been solicited for Pride Day proclamations. "The Mayor advised that he was not fond of proclamations," Cole stated, "just a few days before proclaiming Braves Appreciation Day. We've taken the proclamation to the council because we had to. The Mayor is not real clear on homosexual issues." Cole noted that last-minute efforts with the Mayor's Office are still underway, with the assistance of LGT Community friends on City Council.

DIAMOND LIL RETURNS

Diamond Lil, female impersonist extraordinaire, returns to the Atlanta music scene, appearing with the all-new DIAMOND LIL BAND - sometimes referred to as the "Love Generators" - at The Bistro New Wave Club (1102 West Peachtree St. between 12th & 14th Streets, telephone 885-9145) this Saturday night, June 12th for one night only.

You've enjoyed Diamond's rock & roll classic, "Smooth Operator" and "As Long As I'm Movin'" and thrilled to her disco release, "Love Generator." Now, hear in concert the introduction of her newest songs, "Silver Grill," "Queen of Diamonds," "Jailhouse Jezebel," "Hello, Mr. Hertz," "My Sexual I.D.," and, of course, the song that made her famous in the South, "It Must Be Him!"

With the hottest act that has hit Atlanta since Sherman, Diamond Lil once again proves she is truly "The Queen of All Glamour & Grease!"

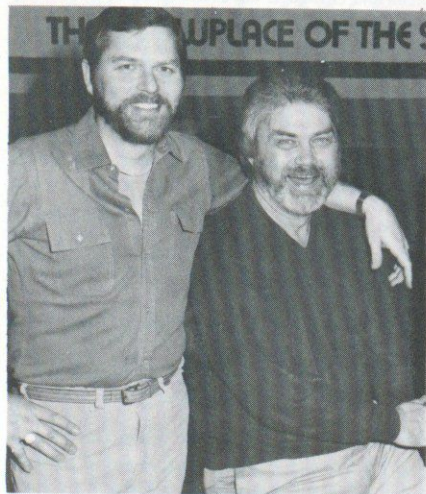

The Showtimes are at 11pm & 1am.

BACK FROM THE GATES OF GRACELAND

Atlanta's own Now Explosion is finally back! After a successful major tour of the Southern States, which included stops at Graceland, Elvis Presley Plaza, the Lorraine Motel in Memphis (where they caught a glimpse of Coretta's platform shoes), and the exquisite Parthenon in Nashville, this city's most popular musical quintet is back to entertain the troops in Atlanta. As you no doubt remember, the Now Explosion is Atlanta's leading authority on FUNK and FUN — they're funkier than neckbones!

Being on the road wasn't all fun and games for the Now Explosion, though. Clare and Elouise desperately missed each and everyone of their loyal Atlanta fans and are promising to really put out this Saturday night at TV Dinner in their first local appearance in some time. So, get yo' funky stuff down to TVD and be sure to catch a piece of their action. Showtime is Saturday, June 12 at 11:30pm with a late show following. Of course, TV Dinner is located at 1028 Peachtree Street — the home of the old Aquarius Lounge.

THE HISTORY OF CRAZY RAY'Z

Ray Ferris, the owner of Crazy Ray'z and Illusions came to our fair city of Atlanta in 1976. Ray is a yankee from the Washington, DC area. He was transferred down here due to a sizable job promotion. At that time, as Ray remembers it, he was not at all excited about living in Atlanta. "As quickly as I can," he said, "I will return to the North."

Being Regional Sales Manager for an international food company kept Ray very busy as he traveled thirteen of our Southern States. He was soon overwhelmed by "Southern Hospitality" and quickly adjusted to Southern living; On special occasions this is quite evident by the wide brimmed flowered hat and hooped skirt he wears. He now loves Atlanta dearly and intends to die here, hopefully with plenty of cornbread under his belt.

In 1980 Ray put his Decatur home up for sale on a lark ... and it sold. Profits from the sale of his home enabled Ray to open what he thought was going to be a simple neighborhood bar and restaurant operation. The intention was to create a little place where could manage part-time, tend bar part-time and play in the kitchen when he felt like it. To his surprise his business has mushroomed and Crazy Ray'z now employs a staff of twenty-two people.

A major consideration in selecting the bar's location was Ray's belief in gay people being able to enter through the front door. He wanted and opened a legitimate gay business, not one where its patrons entered from a back alley or side street.

The entire bar took two months from the birth of the idea to the opening. The interior was done by Ray himself with the help of some good friends. Crazy Ray'z opened its doors on March 17, 1980, but not without its own unique problems. All the furniture ordered for the place arrived a week late, so I guess technically we could say that Crazy Ray'z was Atlanta's first "stand up bar." None of the kitchen equipment had arrived either and Ray remembers well how he and his crew cooked an entire Sunday buffet over small cans of sterno.

Today Crazy Ray'z does have all their kitchen equipment and serves fine lunches and dinners seven days a week. For those of you who love the great outdoors, you can enjoy your meals outside on the patio. Rumor has it that, when trains go by out there, shots of schnapps are sold for a mere fifty cents.

Ray feels he's been very fortunate in attracting good employees and perhaps one of the reasons he keeps them is due to the tremendous benefits offered. Not many service oriented people in Atlanta are entitled to complete health and life insurance programs or paid vacations. At the moment Ray is working out the details with the Midtown Credit Union offering employees at both his places a new profit sharing plan.

Ray feels that one of the luckiest breaks he's had in the short history of Crazy

Ray'z was when he met Ted Binkley. It seems that Ted was one of Crazy Ray'z best customers and, as fate would have it, came along at just the right time. Ray, very pleased with the success of the bar, but exhausted from the mounting responsibilities and hours required of him, hired Ted on a part-time basis as manager. This association worked out so well, that Ted quickly went to full-time manager. Ted, today, is part owner of Crazy Ray'z and is general manager of both Illusions and Crazy Ray'z.

Crazy Ray'z motto when they opened was "Where The Mix Is Perfect," and this pretty much still holds true. The bar philosophy is that anyone is welcome, gay or straight, as long as everyone behaves themselves. It is not uncommon for the crew of the television show PM Magazine to be seen dining here. Even Mayor Andrew Young has been a guest here when First Tuesday invited him to Crazy Ray'z to discuss his views on gay rights.

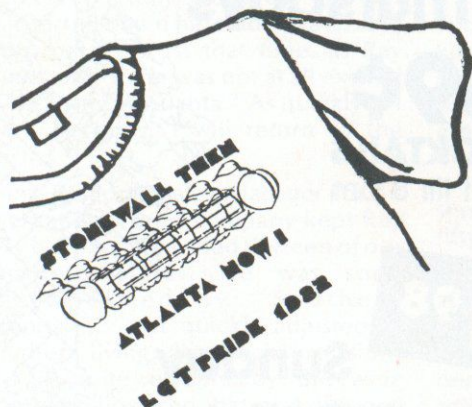

Crazy Ray'z does not offer an annual Mr. Crazy Ray'z title as yet but has been known to throw some wild pajama parties, uniform parties and, on Easter, features a hat parade. Crazy Ray'z does have an annual Halloween contest which is always held the day after Halloween, because Crazy Ray'z can't seem to get it together in time. A free buffet is offered on Thanksgiving and Christmas every year, for those of you who might be alone for the holidays.

One of the most recent, but more successful endeavors is that of "The Dating Game." The Dating Game is run exactly like the popular TV Show of the 60's ... commercials and all.

When Ray Ferris came to Atlanta six years ago, I'm sure, like many of us who arrive from up north, he was told the difference between a yankee and a damn yankee. A yankee just visits, but a damn yankee stays ... and we're glad he did.
