Birthday for Gem coming soon

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Impatience can be your downfall this week, Ari. Newcomer may try to intimidate you. Fat chance. However, if you control your temper, your blood pressure will take care of itself. Week ends on key of C, for chaos and compromise.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): This week is hereby designated official Be-Kind-To-Taurus Week. And why not? After all, Taurus, if you can't be kind to yourself, you certainly can't be kind to others. Week of decision ends on note of intrigue. Hummm.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Happy Birthday Gem! Quick and questioning, you are the innovator extraordinaire. You are demanding, discriminating and dogmatic. You are also prone to dissipation. Ah, but in bed you are absolutely divine! Another Gem plays key role this year and September will be significant month. Your universe (as well as your mind) expands.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You're moody and you know it, Moonbaby. This week you may want to hug your cares to yourself, but you'd be wiser to confide in one you trust. After all, what are friends for? Besides, you've certainly paid your dues (Heaven knows!) to The Wailing Wall Club. This week use club privileges.

LEO (July 23-August 22): Merge your dreams into the common tide of those you love, Leo. Not a simple task, but one that will be most rewarding. You'll see. Would Olga kid around with a big pussycat like you, Leo? Never. Well, hardly ever.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22): Vibrant individual may try to communicate, and you, my venturesome Virgo, will certainly want to respond. Oh yes. This relationship is not necessarily a fling-type thing we're talking about. But you, of course, will call the shots. As usual.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22): Try to put yourself into sandals of loved one. This may be a difficult and uncomfortable task, but understanding is pivotal to future of relationship. Do this, Libra, and by last day long-hidden truth ZAPS you right in the chops.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21): Desire strong to go meandering in search of the new, the novel, the exciting, and your fantasy forest is so inviting. Go if you must, Scorp, but scatter a trail of breadcrumbs in your wake. You just may want to backtrack at a moments notice.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21): Freedom you have enjoyed may be curbed to some degree. You chafe at restriction of any kind, Sag, but somehow you manage to muddle through. Message arrives before last day which puts you in a jolly mood. Your daily associates heave a collective sigh of relief.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19): One who has seemed rather remote suddenly makes friendly overture. Accept gracefully and make no reference to the past. Dispatch token of affection to one at a distance. Summer is breathing down your pretty neck, Cap. Lay plans.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18): Open your heart to love, Aquari, for it is sure to surround you. And remember, if you do not love, you do not live. What more can one say?

PISCES (February 19-March 20): Now see here, Pisces, certain matters exist which simply must be faced. "Spring fever" is an excuse you can use only so long. Partner/mate is reaching end of tether. Week ends on key of G, for goad. And that's good!

Government holds first of follow-up meetings with gay rights activists

The first of a series of follow-up meetings between the National Gay Task Force and agencies of the Federal government was held at the Justice Dept. in Washington April 28.

The meetings, which covered the areas of Immigration and Naturalization, Federal Prison, and civil-rights legislation, was arranged by Margaret Costanza of the White House staff subsequent to the meeting with N.G.T.F. she chaired March 26.

Chairing the Justice Dept. session was Patricia Wald, Assistant Attorney General for Legislative Affairs. Also present were David Crossland, newly appointed General Counsel to the Immigration and Naturalization Service; and Marilyn Haft, Ms. Costanza's assistant.

In addition to Jean O'Leary and Bruce Voeller, N.G.T.F. Co-Executive Directors, those presenting the case on behalf of the lesbian and gay male communities were N.G.T.F. board member Charlotte Bunch and A.C.L.U. general counsel David Carliner (Immigration); Fortune Society Executive Director David Rothenburg (Prisons); and Gary Aldridge, legislative aide to Sen. Alan Cranston, and Ronni B. Smith, board member of the Gay Rights National Lobby (Legislation).

Two major points were made by Bunch and Carliner in discussing the Immigration issue: the I.N.S. has the power to stop discriminating against gay immigrants and aliens right now; and legislation is needed to eliminate all sorts of archaically moralistic bars to immigration.

In addition to requesting immediate changes in Prisons regulations barring gay publications and ministers, Rothberg made the point that a general review is necessary of the whole structure of prison violence, in which gay people are commonly victims.

Smith explained the working of HR 2998, which would amend the 1964 civil rights law to include discrimination on the basis of sexual preference, and be enforced via the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission; and Aldridge outlined the Senate bill which Cranston will introduce shortly, focusing on employment and enforcement via the courts and the Justice Dept. itself.

Commenting on the meeting, O'Leary and Voeller said, "Our impression was that the Justice Dept. was most receptive to our arguments. As expected, this was largely an educative session to acquaint the people at the top with our grievances and legal position, so that the groundwork will be laid for the meetings we'll be having soon with the people who work directly in specific areas. Meetings with Leonel J. Castillo, incoming Commissioner of the I.N.S. (and former City Comptroller for the City of Houston); and Norman A. Carlson, Director of the Bureau of Prisons, and expected to be scheduled in the near future.

ABC's Paul Harvey chides fellow news reporters

Nationally prominent, conservative ABC Radio News commentator Paul Harvey was recently praised by the National Gay Task Force for his remarks over use of the word "homosexual."

For some time now N.G.T.F. has been trying to explain to the press and broadcasters that "homosexual" when used as an adjective of terms like "child molestation," "murder," "torture," or "rape," is inaccurate, offensive and harmful to the vast majority of lesbians and gay men, who are no more likely to engage in such crimes than heterosexuals.

N.G.T.F. has pointed to the fact that "heterosexual" is never used as an adjective when similar crimes occur. The group said it believes that Harvey's apt comments come at an appropriate time.

In a letter of thanks to Harvey, N.G.T.F. Media Director Ginny Vida said, "We have a long way to go in getting our point across to many members of the broadcasting industry and the press. We are therefore particularly grateful to you for your statement on this matter."

Following is a partial transcript of Harvey's April 15th broadcast:

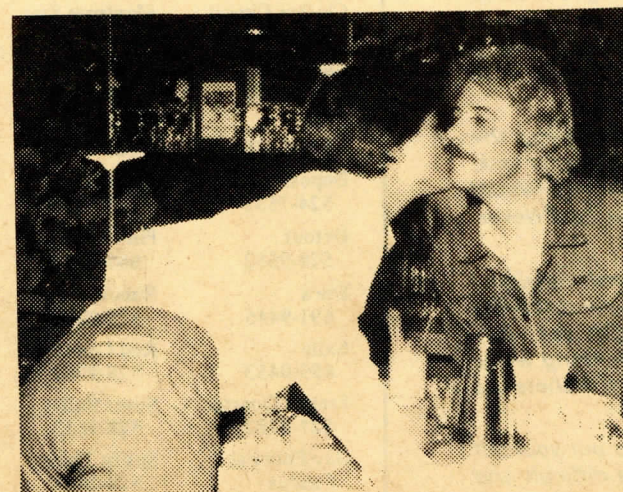

"That misleader of Boy Scouts in New Orleans — who recruited boys to satisfy his own weird sex appetite — guilty, 11 counts.

"Raymond Woodall could be sentenced to prison for 165 years.

"The word 'homosexual' is misused in this case. Without taking sides in the several squabbles now raging relating to this subject, we of the media need properly to reflect the fact that the waylaying of small boys, is sodomy. It is heterosexual, not homosexual. To males who prefer males, the difference is as significant as the difference between love and rape."

'Well, I've got to work somewhere!'

Editorial

Some Houston policemen have wrong attitude about their responsibilities

The chickens have come home to roost, finally. Mayor Hofheinz, in a press conference, spoke of an "illness in our community" that permits the police force to act as though they were above the law. The police chief is finally forced to forego pious maunderings and fire five police officers involved in the heinous and brutal murder of a suspect in their custody.

Organized protesters march angrily outside the police station in downtown Houston, and lawmakers in the state's capitol form committees to probe police brutality in the Houston Police Department.

Throughout all of this, the police officers leaders lash out at their critics, and express amazement at their statements. Not once is there ever a scintilla of doubt on the part of the police as to their own correctness or righteousness.

Recently, we have been treated to a replay of former President Nixon's attitudes and rationalizations of his criminal activity. He, too, never doubted for a moment his own infallibility. His smugness and arrogance knew no bounds.

The attitudes of the Houston police are strikingly similar to those that led to the downfall of Richard Nixon.

There are a couple of aphorisms here that seem awfully appropriate. The one, attributed to Abraham Lincoln, about not being able to fool all of the people all of the time, seems quite apt. The other roughly translated from the Latin, goes something like "... thus it was ever the way of tyrants."

The Houston Police Department has become the tyrants of the Bayou City. It is time to destroy the monument of arrogance and indifference to community needs that they have erected.

'3 Women' will be the talk of the industry

Robert Altman may or may not be today's most accomplished writer, director, producer. But to work for a man so very flexible must be an actor's dream.

He doesn't appear to really direct but rather to instruct the actors how properly to direct themselves.

His current film, "Three Women," is a masterpiece of implausible reality. The characters are so real.

The three women are prototypes of our society's misplaced social values. The complexity of their interchangeable relationships would be near impossible to evaluate. To be honest, 50% of it went by me.

Possibly Altman had a dream, as many of us do, and he awoke to think how real it seemed in sleep, but now awake realized it just could not happen that way. Or could it?

Sissy Spacek, who garnished the National Society of Film Critics best actress of the year award as well as an Oscar nomination in her role in Brian de Palma's gothic thriller, "Carrie," is fantastic in her portrayal of an east Texas transient searching for an identity — which she finds. Her name is Pinky Rose and she finds her transposed identity in the person of one Millie Lammoreaux, who is a co-worker at a health retreat for the elderly.

Millie, played to perfection by Shelly Duval (who was a way out grooie in Alman's "Nashville") is a tragic figure whose fantasies of sophistication and popularity override any sense of taste or tact.

The two become roommates and after a suicide attempt by Pinky begin to swap personalities.

Janice Rule is the third woman, a pregnant artist with a wandering redneck husband.

This movie doesn't have near the commercial appeal that "Nashville" did. It's way too psychologically deep — no broad base of appeal.

But the acting is so refined that it overcomes the sequences that seem to get bogged down.

"Three Women" may bore you from beginning to end but consider it if you can a course in cinemagraphic art and go see it anyway. It will no doubt be the talk of the industry for some time.

Entertainer Dick Cavett was entertained at New Orleans gay club

Dick Cavett and his wife, actress Carrie Nye, were the guests of honor at a special drag show at the Post Office Lounge in New Orleans, Tuesday, May 10.

Cavett, in town to gather material for a new TV show, expressed a desire to see a drag show. Within hours, "Ginger Snapp," local drag queen, had made all the arrangements, and by 11:00 p.m. that same night, the Post Office Lounge was packed to the rafters awaiting the arrival of Cavett and Miss Nye.

Phil Esteve, owner of the Post Office, was somewhat apprehensive as he had not met Cavett and was footing the bill for the show purely on "Ginger Snapp's" word that Cavett would show.

Promptly at 11:00, Cavett and party entered, and the show went on as scheduled.

The show consisted of 23 numbers put on by twelve of the better drag performers in the city, such as "Brandy Lynn," Miss Post Office '76, and "Ricki Lane."

Cavett and Miss Nye apparently enjoyed the show greatly and tried to melt into the audience like any other spectator.

Backstage, before the show, Cavett suggested to the cast that they play it as if he and his wife were not in the audience. They did, and did not play up to the celebrity at their table.

After the show, Cavett and Carrie Nye got up on the stage and answered questions, one of which had to do with Anita Bryant.

"I thought she was here — I thought I saw her throwing oranges," quipped Cavett, as the audience howled.

Cavett did say, in a serious moment, that he thought that the entertainment industry had more or less fallen out of love with Miss Bryant because of her stand on the gay issue.

Bryant is scheduled to appear with the Summer Pops in New Orleans in a few weeks.

After the questions were over, and Cavett and his party were leaving, he turned to Phil Esteve, the host, and said, "I came to see a show but I didn't expect to be entertained."

Cavett is expected to return later this summer to New Orleans to complete the research for the upcoming television show.

Activists file suit against U.S. prisons

The National Gay Task Force, joined by a federal prisoner and three publications which have been banned from U.S. Prisons, has filed suit in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia against Norman A. Carlson in his official capacity as Director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

The basis of the suit is a regulation issued by Carlson in December of 1976 barring all federal prisoners from access to publications which "advocate or support homosexuality," including N.G.T.F.'s monthly newsletter, "It's Time."

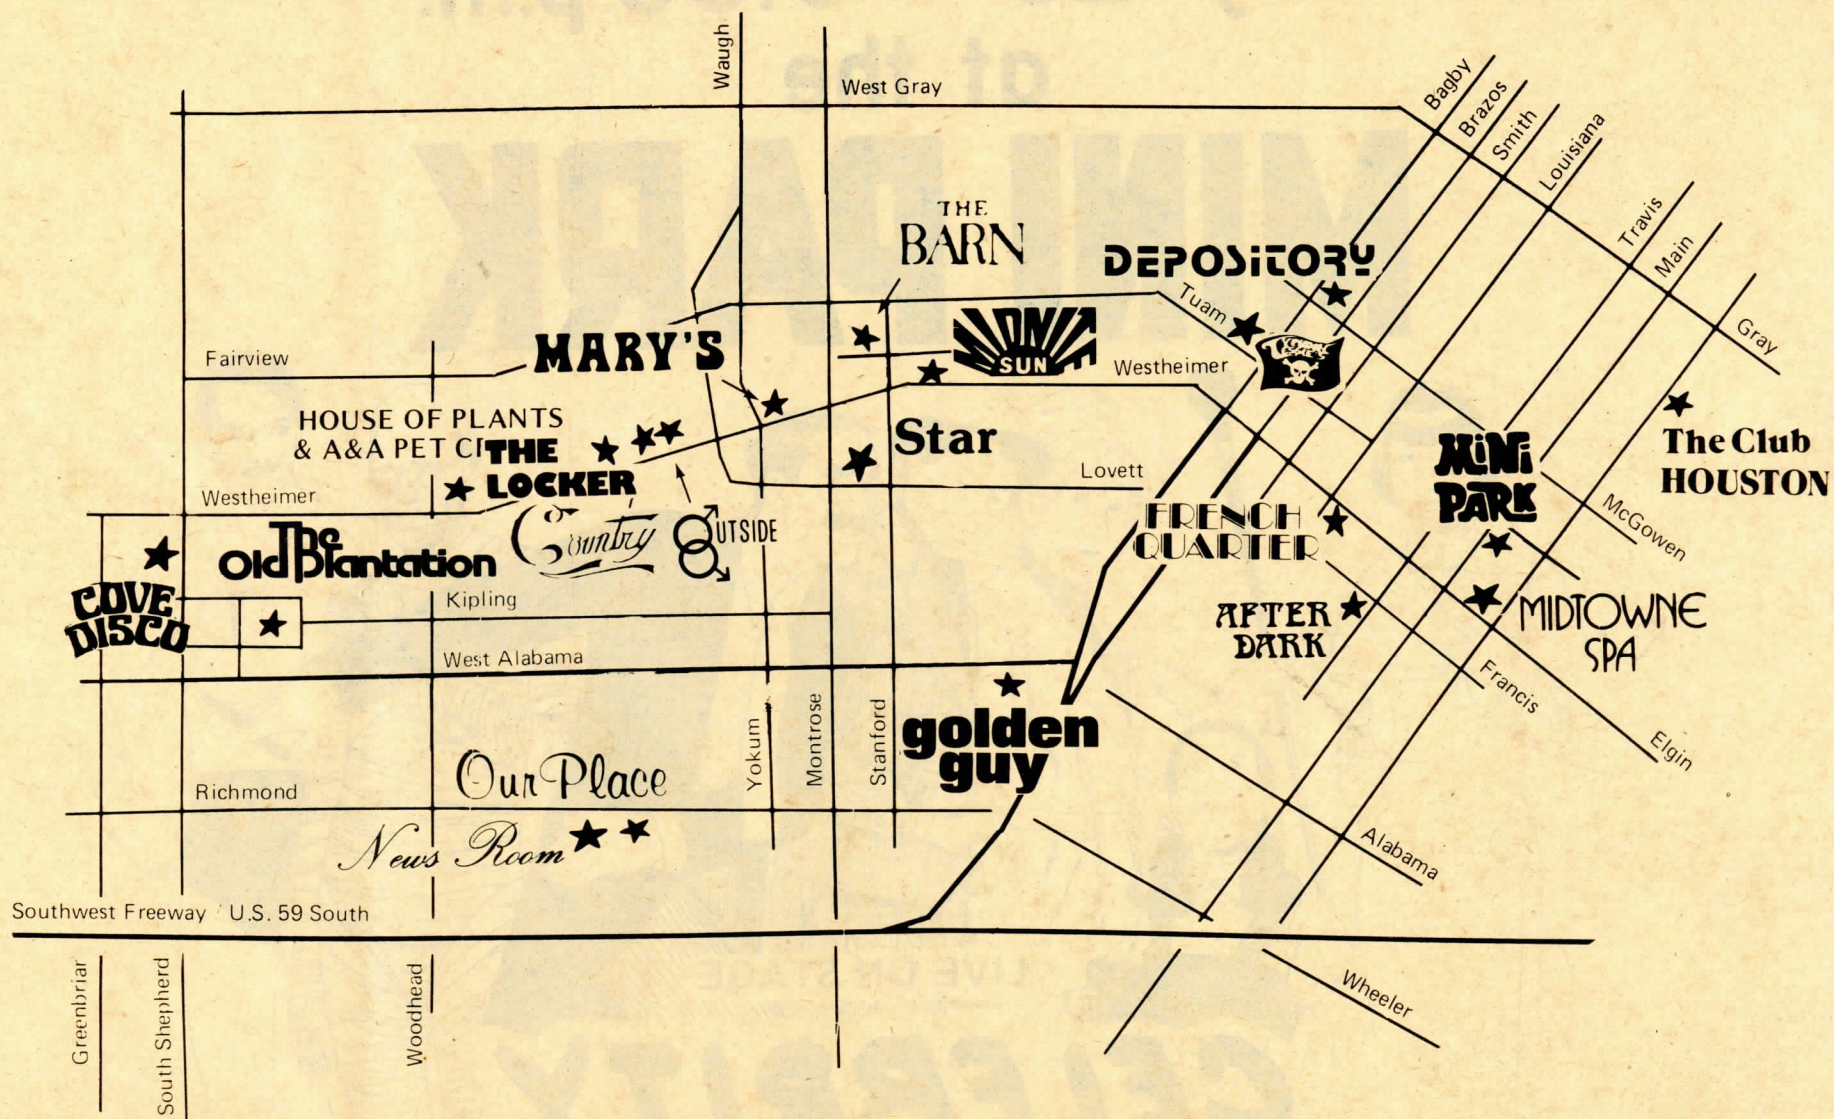

Carlson's rationale for the regulation has been that it is necessary for the "security, discipline and good order" of the prison system since "publications which call attention or identify inmates who accept homosexuality can be detrimental to their safety as well as the safety of others."

In the suit, filed on behalf of N.G.T.F. and the other plaintiffs by the Lambda Legal Defense and Education Fund, Inc., it is charged that denial of access to materials relating to homosexuality constitutes an unwarranted abridgement of both prisoners' and publishers' First Amendment rights to freedom of speech and association; violates a Bureau of Prisons regulation which states that a decision to bar a publication "should not be based solely on its religion, political, social, or sexual views"; violates the Federal Administrative Procedure Act, since no opportunity for public comment was provided prior to issuance; and is an arbitrary and capricious ruling violative of the Fifth Amendment right to due process.

Plaintiffs, in addition to N.G.T.F., are Calvin Keach, a prisoner in the Federal Correctional Facility at El Reno, Okla.; and the publishers of "Off Our Backs," a feminist monthly published in Washington, D.C.; "Gay - Community News" of Boston; and "Join Hands," a gay prisoners publication in San Francisco.
