Classical CD for Gay Men Doesn't Play it Straight

LOS ANGELES -- A CD from a major recording company explicitly being marketed to gay men has been launched by Warner Classics - and Beethoven will never be quite the same.

Described as "75 minutes of musical passion for men," the CD is called "Sensual Classics Too," following up on the title of an earlier - and heterosexual-oriented - popular disk Warner released in 1992 and that is still on the classical music charts.

Making it even clearer who the intended audience for the disk is, the cover shows two hairy-armed men half-undressed and tenderly holding each other. It's enough to get your classical motor running - which is exactly what Warner wants.

Fast HIV Test Found

BRUSSELS -- Belgian scientists say that they have developed an HIV test that can directly detect the presence of HIV in just a few days of being infected instead of the usual months-long wait required before current tests are effective at detecting antibodies produced by the body.

"Usually you have to wait about 3 months after exposure before knowing whether you are HIV-positive," said Prof. Jose Remacle of Namur University. "But with this one we can detect the virus a day or so later." The new test differs from others in that it checks specifically for HIV, rather than antibodies which can only be detected several months following infection.

Killer: Swedish Hockey Star Gay

STOCKHOLM -- When Swedish authorities announced that a neo-Nazi skinhead had confessed to the Mar. 11 brutal stabbing death of ice hockey star Peter Karlsson, one of the reasons given by the 19-year-old for killing Karlsson was that the 29-year-old hockey pro had made sexual advances to him.

Police say Karlsson was stabbed more than 60 times in nearby Vasteras after he had left a local discotheque to go home. It is the 2nd brutal slaying of a gay man in the Stockholm area in the past few months.

Setback in AIDS Vaccine Research

WASHINGTON -- An experimental AIDS vaccine that appeared to work in adult monkeys kills newborn monkeys, scientists report in the current issue of the journal Science. Earlier studies with adult monkeys were encouraging to researchers who thought a weakened version of HIV itself could be used in the vaccine. But the study - which used a weakened form of the virus in monkeys - suggests that such a strategy could actually lead to infection instead. "This approach to an AIDS vaccine is full of hidden danger," said Dr. Ruth Ruprecht of Harvard University and the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute. Ruprecht's team administered a vaccine of HIV with key genes removed to 4 newborn monkeys. Although none were exposed to full HIV, 2 of the monkeys died of the disease and 2 now have severe immune deficiency.

Federal Judge Says Sailor Can Stay in Navy During Appeal

SEATTLE -- U.S. District Court Judge William Dwyer, who earlier in March "reluctantly" upheld the Navy's right to discharge openly gay sailor Mark A. Philips, delayed the actual discharge a week to allow Philips' attorney time to file an appeal with the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco. The Navy had been prepared to boot Philips out of the Navy almost immediately after Judge Dwyer first ruled against the gay sailor in mid-March. The judge granted the delay in the discharge, however, agreeing that Philips' case could suffer irreparable damage if he is discharged without appealing the case. If the federal appeals court agrees to hear the case, Philips would be allowed to remain in the Navy during his appeal.

Partner Benefit Plan at CalTech/JPL Stirs Rancor

PASADENA, Calif. -- A number of major U.S. universities - including Harvard, Stanford, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology - have extended domestic partner benefits to their gay and lesbian relationships as the same as heterosexual marriage and they are telling members of Congress that they don't want federal tax money that goes to CalTech and JPL used to provide benefits to homosexual partners. "Our institutions should, in whatever way possible, help maintain heterosexual marriage as an ideal," one anti-gay critic of the benefits package said recently.

Lawmakers Rethink Police Registration of Gays & Lesbians

HELENA, Mont. -- The Montana state Senate gave in to a popular outcry and stripped a provision from a sex-offender measure that would have forced anyone convicted of homosexual acts to register with police officials for the remainder of their lives.

A voice vote to remove the provision without further debate followed an outpouring from constituents furious about the proposed legislation. The measure would have placed consenting gay and lesbian adults in the same category as murderers and rapists.

The bill had initially been approved by the Senate on only the day before by a stunning vote of 41 to 8, even though both supporters and opponents of the measure agreed that it probably would have had no actual impact. Although same-sex sex - even among consenting adults - is a felony under Montana law, there are no indications anyone has ever been convicted in the state under the statutes.

The proposed measure created a furor after state Senator Al Bishop said homosexual acts are "even worse than a violent sexual act." Hundreds of people flooded the Capitol and the governor's office with phone calls, faxes and letters denouncing the bill.

Despite its dramatic about-face, the state Senate nevertheless rejected an

LOS ANGELES -- Rap star Eazy-E of the group N.W.A. has died of complications related to AIDS at the Los Angeles hospital he checked into in February. Eazy-E, whose real name was Eric Wright, announced his condition in mid-March. He was 31 years old.

Federal Judge Declares Pentagon Policy Unconstitutional

NEW YORK -- The Clinton administration's compromise "don't ask, don't tell" military policy on gays and lesbians in the armed forces has been declared unconstitutional by a federal district court judge who ruled the policy violates the free speech and due process rights of homosexuals in the country's military services.

Federal Judge Eugene Nickerson of U.S. District Court in Brooklyn ruled that the 1993 policy that Congress forced the administration to adopt violates the freedom of speech of the six gay and lesbian military personnel who brought the suit and discriminates against homosexuals. Government attorneys had argued that the unique demands of the nation's armed forces require special rules. But Judge Nickerson agreed with lawyers for the six that they were in effect being forced to live a lie in order to serve their country.

Judge Nickerson ruled that "the policy ... is not only inherently deceptive, it also offers powerful inducements to homosexuals to lie." He added that the current policy "amply sought to avoid

Shoplifting Drag Queen 'Ring' Broken

LAS VEGAS -- Police in Las Vegas have charged two transvestites with stealing clothing from the Rare Breed store, and said the 2 are part of a ring of drag queen thieves who authorities believe have stolen thousands of dollars worth of women's clothes and jewelry. Police said the 2, whom they refused to identify because of their on-going investigation, were involved with up to 5 other transvestites who shoplifted merchandise from local stores that they later sold in order to buy drugs.

Chicago Museum Opens AIDS Exhibit

CHICAGO -- Chicago's Museum of Science & Industry has opened the first permanent AIDS exhibition, "AIDS: The War Within," aimed at educating youngsters about the disease.

Among the exhibit's displays are depictions of physicians and researchers who are fighting the epidemic as superheroes, a video game called "Be An Epidemiologist" that guides children through ways the virus is transmitted, and "Roll the Dice," which illustrates increased risk factors involving various behaviors.

'Breakthrough' Case of Infant HIV Remission

LOS ANGELES -- According to a report in the New England Journal of Medicine, the white blood cells of a baby apparently have succeeded where every drug and potential vaccine against HIV have so far failed.

According to researchers reporting in the journal, the unidentified infant has become the first thoroughly documented case of an individual whose own natural body defense may have

Partner Benefit Plan at CalTech/JPL Stirs Rancor

PASADENA, Calif. -- A number of major U.S. universities - including Harvard, Stanford, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology - have extended domestic partner benefits to their gay and lesbian staffers with little or no controversy.

But plans by the California Institute of Technology (CalTech) to begin offering same-sex partner benefits beginning May 1 may set off a firestorm. The plan would extend health insurance benefits to the same-sex partners of the school's staff and faculty, although opposite-sex couples would be not be eligible because the university says such couples have the option of legally marrying.

The controversy over the plan, however, is arising largely because CalTech, along with its best-known facility, the Jet Propulsion Laboratories, are the largest employers in the region and because JPL is heavily involved in both government-related research and the public school system. Conservative anti-gay critics of the move have been bombarding members of Congress in an effort to derail the benefit proposal.

Opponents say they don't want school children in the area to see gay and lesbian the proposed legislation. The measure would have placed consenting gay and lesbian adults in the same category as murderers and rapists.

The bill had initially been approved by the Senate on only the day before by a stunning vote of 41 to 8, even though both supporters and opponents of the measure agreed that it probably would have had no actual impact. The proposed measure created a furor after state Senator Al Bishop said homosexual acts are "even worse than a violent sexual act." Hundreds of people flooded the Capitol and the governor's office with phone calls, faxes and letters denouncing the bill.

Despite its dramatic about-face, the state Senate nevertheless rejected an opportunity at the same time to suspend the floor rules and debate repealing the state's deviate sexual conduct statute, one of the country's most draconian anti-gay laws, carrying a possible 10-year prison sentence and fines of up to $50,000.

But Judge Nickerson agreed with lawyers for the six that they were in effect being forced to live a lie in order to serve their country.

Judge Nickerson ruled that "the policy ... is not only inherently deceptive, it also offers powerful inducements to homosexuals to lie." He added that the current policy "craftily sought to avoid the First Amendment" and "twisted the English language in ways that are nothing less than Orwellian." In rejecting the government's arguments, Judge Nickerson wrote: "Even if defendants do believe that heterosexual service members will be so upset by a co-worker's mere statement of homosexuality as not to work co-operatively in the unit, such a belief does not justify a discriminatory policy."

Pentagon spokesman Ken Bacon said after the decision that the government would appeal the ruling. "We believe our policy is constitutional and we intend to defend the policy," he said. "The Department [of Defense] has told the Department of Justice that we want them to appeal the policy." Despite the unequivocal nature of Judge Nickerson's ruling, it only applies to the six plaintiffs in the case itself and does not keep the military from continuing to discharge other gays and lesbians who come out.

Among the exhibit's displays are depictions of physicians and researchers who are fighting the epidemic as superheroes, a video game called "Be An Epidemiologist" that guides children through ways the virus is transmitted, and "Roll the Dice," which illustrates increased risk factors involving various behaviors.

'Breakthrough' Case of Infant HIV Remission

LOS ANGELES -- According to a report in the New England Journal of Medicine, the white blood cells of a baby apparently have succeeded where every drug and potential vaccine against HIV have so far failed. According to researchers reporting in the journal, the unidentified infant has become the first thoroughly documented case of an individual whose own natural body defense may have fought off the infection.

Dr. Yvonne Bryson of the UCLA AIDS Institute said, "It used to seem like heresy to say that you could potentially even eliminate the virus. And now I think that we can say that that is a possibility."

The report says the baby got the virus from his infected mother and examinations after birth confirmed that he was infected. Retesting again at age two months, the baby still tested positive for the virus. But tests at age 13 months revealed that the virus had disappeared. The infant is now five years old and he continues, the scientists say, to show no signs of HIV and is thriving.

Researchers said they were initially skeptical of the test results and suspected a clinical error. But they retrieved all the child's original blood samples and did extensive double-checking. They found no mistakes, and no virus in the little boy.

What are you doing in Louisiana?

I am sitting in the rain visiting with friends.

The most asked question about Fem 2 Fem is about the cast changes, many think that the entire cast is new.

Oh no, just one is new. There's LD, Christina, myself and LaLa, who is new.

Tell us about LaLa.

She's amazing. She has a great voice, stage presence and a great, great ass.

Can I say that?

La La!

BUT YOU CAN SEE HER LIVE AT HEAVEN!

Yes.

How is Fem 2 Fem different a year later?

We are completely jaded. I think that we would grow even if we weren't touring, but touring you go through a lot. I feel more in touch with myself because there are a lot of times that you have to deal with a lot of crap and you have to be around a lot of people that you don't want to be around. You are forced to detach yourself and go inside of yourself. You are forced to be comfortable alone in a crowd of people if you can understand that. It's very hard to tour; you get homesick a lot and that's why people like you, Scott, are great.

Tell me about the new album.

It's great. This album is so much better than the last album. I'm not minimizing the power of the last album, because it carried a great message and the music was fun, but this new album, the music is so much deeper. You know we have all been touring for a long time and our experiences were put into this album. It's a lot more meaningful to us and I think you'll see that. This album is the story of a woman named Jane who was abandoned at birth then goes through many changes in her life. It's pretty much all of our experiences put

It has been a year since we all clamored to the dance floor the moment that we hear the word "Switch" and a lot has changed for the group who found overnight celebrity with their first single. Fem 2 Fem watched as the single that was taking America's dance floors by storm could only find radio play on three stations in the US. They watched as mainstream America screamed that they were trying to recruit children into the lifestyle that had helped to make them famous. Then they watched as their record label gave in to mainstream pressures and shelved "Woman to Woman" the natural follow up to "Switch" in an attempt to secure radio play for the group. The more palatable single "Obsession" was released and major market radio play became a reality for the group. Then America's favorite Lesbians began to have problems within. Relations with one group member grew so tense that they were only relieved when she agreed to no longer tour. When asked about these tensions, one Femmer was quoted as saying, "Can you imagine all of us with PMS at the same time?" Point taken. A year later we find three of four original group members on the road promoting the release of their new full length CD "Animus." I caught up with Lynn Pompei in New Orleans where she was vacationing after doing five concerts in a row in London.

Yes.

This album is the story of a woman named Jane who was abandoned at birth then goes through many changes in her life. It's pretty much all of our experiences put together into one woman. It's really a great story line. She encounters some evil things as we have, as you know.

The new album is called "Animus." What does that mean?

It's the male side of the female psyche, which all of us have. In your case, it's the female side of your male psyche.

Tell me about performing in London.

Well you know, because you've seen the show so many times, it's like 30 minutes long. These shows were over an hour. We did 16 songs and it was a lot different from what we are used to doing. It was amazing.

You were found to be quite scandalous over there, your show was even censored.

(Laughs) It started on our first night there. We went on a show called "The Word" and I told the host to get screwed on live TV.

Psst. H-E-Y Ghurfriend...Did you ever read the book "Winning Friends and Influencing People?"

And then?

We had to do a show privately for the Westminster Council before we did any public shows. Westminster, you have to understand, is very prudish. We were all under the impression that Europe was much more open minded than America. So we get there and do this no holes barred show with naked women wearing strap-ons.

Naked wearing strap-ons?

There is a song called "Worship" on the album. It's polytheistic and about sacrificing. In the old pagan days, they would do rituals where the women would wear strap-ons and the men would actually sever their penises off. It was kind of like a re-enactment of that. It was very beautiful if you listen to the story, but these politicians that need to get laid really badly were sitting there trying to hide their erections and censoring our show. We had to completely change our show, which caused quite a controversy.

You know that you are one of the acts signed to play a free concert at the end of the Gay Pride Parade here in Houston in June. It was in the paper a few weeks ago.

I'm so excited, I'm so happy you're telling me what I'm doing, I didn't know. That's wonderful, it's about time we got to play Pride.

You'll even be riding in the parade.

Do you know what I'm going to be wearing?

What's the best thing about coming here?

When we come to Texas, it's like coming home. The people and their support is amazing. We did the BBC in London and they asked how we are accepted in America and Texas was the first place we talked about. Texas is our family. In the middle of a long tour it's like a break to perform there. It's so easy, we can just be ourselves.

Thanks for taking time out of your vacation to talk to me. I look forward to seeing you when you get here.

Mr. Man,

For as long as I can remember I've had feelings of inadequacy about the size of my weenie. I'm too embarrassed to strip for a communal shower and I'd never have the guts to appear naked on a nudist beach. When I'm going with a new partner for the first time I'm terrified that he's going to rebuff me as soon as he sees my equipment.

I don't know why I should feel so up-tight about it because I know I'm well within the average range when I've got a hard-on. I have a good 6 1/2 inches and I'm quite thick. I think it's because when I seem to shrivel to nothing when I'm soft and I don't show anything when I wear clothes that reveal my crotch-line. It makes me feel so unmanly and even in a non-sexual social situation I constantly imagine everyone is looking at my "basket" and thinking what a wimp I am. Consequently I don't mix well with others and tend to sit in the corner by myself.

I know I'm stuck with what I've got, but surely there's something that can be done to improve my self esteem.

Uncomfortable

Dear Uncomfortable,

For as long as I can remember, I've been insecure about the size of my weenie. I'm too embarrassed to strip for a communal shower and I'd never have the guts to appear naked on a nudist beach. When I'm going with a new partner for the first time I'm terrified that he's going to rebuff me as soon as he sees my equipment.

I don't know why I should feel so up-tight about it because I know I'm well within the average range when I've got a hard-on. I have a good 6 1/2 inches and I'm quite thick. I think it's because when I seem to shrivel to nothing when I'm soft and I don't show anything when I wear clothes that reveal my crotch-line. It makes me feel so unmanly and even in a non-sexual social situation I constantly imagine everyone is looking at my "basket" and thinking what a wimp I am. Consequently I don't mix well with others and tend to sit in the corner by myself.

I know I'm stuck with what I've got, but surely there's something that can be done to improve my self esteem. Uncomfortable

Dear Uncomfortable,

I suspect that your embarrassment and hang-ups about social nudity and new sex partners have probably nothing to do with the size of your weenie. You've grabbed onto that issue because it's an easy way of rationalizing the general social inadequacy you may be suffering from. You've put yourself into that "if only" trap: "If only I had a bigger dick then everything would be OK."

Life isn't like that. You'd probably feel just as embarrassed and apprehensive if your dick was twice the size it is. You already stated that your weenie is comfortably average and that's why you can't understand your emotional feelings.

It doesn't really matter what the actual size of your dick is. It's your perception of it that counts. Some guys with 5" are totally happy with what they have and others with 7" or more are totally crushed.

I think your problems lie more deeply and I suspect that you need more intensive self-image boosting counseling than is possible through the pages of this magazine. It's your lack of confidence in yourself that is the problem, not the size of your willy.

A visit to the NAMES Project Quilt.

A time to remember, a time for solace, a time for reflection. My lover and I spent about 5 hours Saturday, April 1, at the George R. Brown Convention Center where NAMES Project - Houston was hosting a partial display of the NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt.

The Houston display held 3072 panels mostly of people from Texas, although there were a few from other parts of the country and the world. Two of the most internationally recognizable names that I saw were those panels for Dr. Tom Waddell, Olympic athlete and driving force behind the Gay Games, and Freddie "Mercury" Bulsara, lead singer of the rock group Queen. There may have been other internationally known names, we just didn't spot them. We also stopped to gaze again and read all the signatures that are still visible on the panel for James "Fanny" Farmer, late owner of "Mary's Naturally." When walking among the 1000's of panels, one can not help but feel the loss of those memorialized. One also notes the love, joy, sorrow, heartache and rage of the person who made the panel. Some of the panels are quite ornate, others are simple, just a piece of cloth with a name drawn or spray painted on. Each states who, and at times what, the person memorialized was. The loving care put into the panels by the maker shows some of the thought that went into them.

Panels are made up of a number of different items. Some of those items are: a 100 year old quilt, afghans, Barbie dolls, bubble-wrap, burlap, buttons, car keys, carpet, champagne glasses, condoms, corduroy, corsets, cowboy boots, club patches, cremation ashes, credit cards, curtains, dresses, feather boas, first-place ribbons, fishnet hose, flags, fur, gloves, hats, human hair, jeans, jewelry, jockstraps, lace, lame', leather, love letters, Mardi Gras masks, merit badges, mink, motorcycle jackets, needlepoint, paintings, pearls, photographs, pics, plastic, quartz crystals, racing silks, records, rhinestones, sequins, shirts, silk flowers, studs, stuffed animals, suede, taffeta, tennis shoes, vinyl, and wedding rings.

The NAMES Project Quilt currently has approximately 29,000 panels. These are "official" numbers that they were given to the press, but the official number was as of February 1, 1995 and the Quilt has had several displays since then and each display brings in more and more. At the closing ceremonies on Sunday, April 3, NAMES Project - Houston received into the NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt another 78 panels. The Houston display had just over 10% of the entire NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt. The entire Quilt represents only 12% of all U.S. AIDS deaths.

The official statistics on the AIDS memorial Quilt as of February 1, 1995, are:

Funds Raised for Direct Services for People with Aids: $1,484,147 (US)

Number of Visitors to Quilt: 5,421,700

Number of Panels: 28,972

(Each panel measures 3 feet by 6 feet or 90x180cm.)

Number of Football Fields:

11 football fields without walkways between sections.

17 football fields with walkways

Number of Acres:

12 acres without walkways

19 acres with walkways

Total Weight:

34 tons without walkways

39 tons with walkways

The NAMES Project Quilt has grown so large that it's complete display is difficult. The Washington, D.C. displays of October 1987, 1988, 1989 and 1992 are the only ones to have featured the Quilt in its entirety. Plans are underway to display the entire NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt together again in Washington, D.C. over Columbus Day weekend in 1996. The NAMES Project estimates that by that time, the Quilt will include as many as 50,000 panels and cover more than 32 acres.

In January, 1993, The NAMES Project was invited to march in President Clinton's inaugural parade. Over 200 volunteers, including representatives of national AIDS organizations and Leanza Comet, Miss American 1993, carried Quilt panels down Pennsylvania Avenue in the parade.

In 1989, the Quilt was nominated for a Nobel Peace Prize, and Common Threads: Stories From The Quilt won the Academy Award as the best feature-length documentary film.

STARGAZING

ARIES: Your libido is going to be driving you into some hot and heavy action. Make sure you get enough rest and eat something nourishing every now and then or the sex drive will wain.

TAURUS: Sex, Sex, Sex. That's all that is going to be on your mind for the near future. You'll be thinking about it, but that's about all you'll get.

GEMINI: You are going to have a difficult time making up your mind over which of several hot choices you have. You will finally be able to make that choice, but you'll still not be sure you made the right one.

CANCER: Your love life is about to take a nose dive. Watch out for those little things you have been taking for granted. One of them will be what trips you up.

LEO: A more aggressive approach will be needed in the very short future. However, this newer aggressions will lead to some very interesting experiences.

VIRGO: You are entering into another of your phases where you could care less if you get laid or not. This will be unnerving to some of your acquaintences, but they will learn to live with this attitude.

LIBRA: You will meet someone who will tip your scales in your direction. Get ready for some real hot and heavy action that will last for quite some time.

SCORPIO: You are going to be surprised at how quickly you can switch positions. You will be doing a lot of rolling and enjoying it. Something about so many men, so little time!

SAGITTARIUS: That BIG one you've always been looking for is headed your way. Don't waste any time on trying to figure out where it came from. Just enjoy!

CAPRICORN: The love of your life is going to surprise you with a scene you never thought they'd be interested in. Take this opportunity to explore this new territory and you may find it a major part of your sexual diet in the future.

AQUARIUS: Someone is going to get you into some kind of water sport. This one may seem a big kinky, but it's just what your libido needs at the moment. Sorry to say, but the water may still be a bit chilly.

PISCES: You are going to be kept swimming in both directions. Two of your best partners are both going to want you and you won't be able to make up your mind. Have both, maybe at the same time, and see how things end up.

Dear Mr. Man:

I personally believe that the barriers standing between us and a successful and lasting cure for AIDS is that there is too much research money to be given up, and that the RIGHT people have not been infected.

This is not a black, white, or brown problem. It is not a Gay or Straight problem, nor is it a Man or Woman problem. It is a serious problem! It is taking out too many people and it must be stopped!

- Michelle

CALL FOR PAPERS

Special Issue: Lesbians, Gays, Bisexuals, Transgendered People, and Education

The Harvard Educational Review is a journal of opinion and research in the field of education. We are planning a special issue devoted to exploring the lives and experiences of gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgendered students and educators. In light of a growing climate of homophobia, we feel it is particularly important to provide a forum that gives voice to the lives and experiences of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgendered young people, teachers, and others who have positive regard and concern for members of these communities. We want papers that explore the day-to-day experiences of lesbians, gays, bisexual and transgendered students, parents, teachers, administrators, and counselors in schools and other educational setting. Our hope is that we can provide a forum to portray the realities of their experiences and the ways in which their learning, teaching, and work in education is affected by their experiences as lesbian, gay, bisexual, or transgendered. We are particularly interested in papers that explore issues where race, class, gender and sexual orientation intersect. We are also seeking papers that describe current research and innovative programs and practices dealing with related issues of sexual/gender identity development, race, culture and sexual orientation, lesbian/gay parenting issues, harassment and homophobic violence, gay/straight alliances, gay youth and HIV, lesbian/gay studies, policy issues and organizing for school change.

Papers can range from 10 to 30 pages, but should not exceed 35 pages of text, double-spaced. Reviews of books that address these issues are also welcome. Book reviews (if one book) typically run 5-8 pages, essay reviews (if two or more related books) typically run 8-12 pages. The author(s) of all submissions should be identified only on the title page. 3 copies of each manuscript, double-spaced, and accompanied by a one-page abstract, should be sent to the Harvard Educational Review, attention: Vitka Eisen/Irene Hall, Special Issue Editors, Gutman Library Suite 349, 6 Appian Way, Cambridge, MA 02138. Our phone number is (617) 495-3432. Manuscripts must be postmarked by September 1, 1995.

We are offering an optional proposal process in order to assist authors who may want feedback on their ideas. The purpose of the proposal process is facilitative, rather than evaluative. Proposals should be no longer than 3 double-spaced pages and should include a description of the planned submission. All proposals will receive a response by July 1, 1995. Response to a proposal, however, should not be viewed as a guarantee of publication. All proposals must be postmarked by May 1, 1995.

April showers bring May flowers." That's what my mom always said. Well I say water them with a garden hose and hold off on the rain! I should not complain because we have had some beautiful days over the past couple of weeks, and what a lovely couple of weeks it has been.

Were you able to watch the Miss Houston pageant? What a great event for this annual event. There were eight contestants competing for the title, but at the end of the evening the crown went to Houston's own Black Velvet. First runner up was Wanda Jackson. Second runner up was Celine Crawford. It was a great event. Who said drag was dead in Houston?

The following evening I went bar hopping in the Pacific Street area making the rounds. I ended the night at Ripcord. It was a fun evening!

Friday I stayed home and wanted to be rested for Saturday Night's Diana Awards. Congratulations to the Diana Foundation for a successful show. After the show we went to Rich's for really cute guys in boxes or should I have had some really cute guys dancing with boxes. They had over 800 votes, was a lot. Unfortunately I had to go early to go to the Miss Gay International Pageant. It was wonderful. Perry of Austin. Everette of Corpus Christi runner up and Portia Houston was second up. After that we went to Attica for the Attica you know Mothers. We had a great time as we were visiting from San Antonio and Austin.

Monday was usual, bowling. Four Non Blondes won first place in our contest. We may change our name to Four Blonde Beauties. What do you think?

Wednesday was a skate night. We had done this in a long time. I used to be on Monday but it interfered with our work. So I talked some people into going. The skating rink is Dairy Ashford bet

Thursday night went to see D Claiborne, it was a movie, at least I like Kathy Bates is a great Saturday evening I entertain a old school who was visiting from York. We started evening at Cafe Adobe it was off to JR's who had a few cocktail checked out the dancers and other cut in the bar. Then we w to Rich's for some d it was quite crowded and afterward we stopped by the Ripcord for after hours. It's always nice to see old friends.

Sunday afternoon I went to see the NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt at the George R. Brown Convention Center. Later that evening, I went to Inergy to see Dyan Michaels farewell show, as she is off to Tennessee to work at Country La Cage. Good Luck Dyan. I'm sure you will do well. We will miss you!

After that, we went to Pacific Street for a few drinks. It was not very crowded but we had a good time. Thus, the end of another weekend in this roving reporter's life.

Just a little note. It has been brought to my attention that there is talk that I only patronize certain clubs.

Looks like she's "out" now!

Let's make a train! I had to sit this one out.

Trust me I go everywhere. At first I did not want people to know who Ivanna Starr was, just in case she was short lived. But now I will make myself more visible. No this does not mean I'll be running around in pumps and big wigs (only on special occasions). But I will start wearing a Press Pass or maybe just a big sign to let them know Ivanna Starr was here. It's like coming out of the closet all over again.

Don't forget Fem 2 Fem will be performing at Heaven this weekend Saturday, April 8th. Be sure to check it out. Next weekend is Easter and I have to start work on my Easter Bonnet. It has to be better than last years' bunny pinata hat. So hard trying to out-do oneself year after year.

"The Wonder Bra Gets Gumped"

If life is like a box of chocolates, Tom Hanks is the new CEO of Godiva. I just wonder when poor Tom will come out of the closet. With being so sensitive and talented to boot, I know there's a pair of Cha Cha heels somewhere in that closet of his.... His beautiful wife was probably wearing them that night. He should've loaned them to Andie McDowell because she LOOKED pregnant and no doubt barefoot. Jodi Foster, on the other hand, had goddess written all over her. I just want to know which queen talked Oprah into something that finally complemented her look. With so much criticism on what the stars wear to the Oscars it was refreshing to only see a few bow-wows this year. From the look of most of the low cut evening gowns, I bet you couldn't find a wonder bra in a 74 mile radius of Los Angeles. Speaking of wonder bra's, what was the deal with channel 4's new flash of a bra slasher on the loose in the malls in Dallas? How did they know who it was to go to the mans house for an interview? I just know it had to be Mike Doocy's botched boob job that caused him to do it. He probably got to Clarice's bra and she exposed him in retaliation. I was so excited to see Gold Medalist Greg Louganis at Crossroads Market last Sunday. Talk about a swimmers build! This was the first time Ida's actually seen one. You know you never can rely on those personal ads, but with Greg, it's all real. If you ever get a chance to meet him, go and see for yourself. The coverboy contest is in full swing every Wednesday at Backstreet with the last one April 12th, for our Easter issue featuring Union Jack clothing. Michael T's keeping Backstreet hot with boys, men and Trella Thomas.

That's not the only person keeping things hot at Backstreet. Seems as though latest homewrecker Stormy Knightz has been the welcome wagon to her new straight next door neighbors. Only thing is the woman of the house wasn't present when Stormy gave a tour of her trailer. Hmmmm..... I wonder if she brought cookies?

I'VE FALLEN AND I CAN'T GET UP! ☹️

ARE WE AT THE TAVERN
GUILD MEETING? ☹️

Across the street at the Brick last week, Ida's camera popped adult video star Blade Thompson.

GUILD MEETING? ☹

A LITTLE TUNA! ☹

I PROMISE I'VE HAD ONLY ONE OF THESE! ☹

Across the street at the Brick last week, Ida's camera popped adult video star Blade Thompson. If you missed the show that's OK, there'll be more guys coming throughout the summer according to Lori Pomara. Moby Dick was the place to be on Oscar night with Bartenders in Briefs every Monday night. The leather community of Dallas is coming together (or binding together) for one of the biggest leather events of the year. Mr. Headquarters is on Sunday, April 9, a preliminary to Mr. Gulf Coast Drummer. While I'm speaking of big events, the Round-Up Saloon's annual Easter Bonnet Contest on Easter Sunday afternoon will pack in the crowd this year with proceeds going to local charities.

On the fundraiser issue and the Round-Up Saloon. I met Joe Sears there last week of Greater Tuna. They had a fundraiser for the Turtle Creek Chorale on April 6, at the Anatole's Little Tuna Theatre. Joe and I were looking for Dee Dee and found her moonlighting as the bouncer at the VFW Hall! The Mr. Round-Up contest is in the works, so go by and see your favorite bartender for an application.

Will the Round-Up Saloon play host to Miss Gay Texas this year? I don't know yet, but I'll let you know was the information transforms! Just when you thought Sally Struthers was busy feeding hungry foreign kids, she comes to Dallas to Fair Park to star in the performance of Grease on April 11, thru 16. I'm still looking forahum...a meat head. Yes once again Ida's free and single again! I just heard the bar managers groan! HA! Well, as Ida has already started Spring cleaning, I also urge you to do the same and bring all your unwanted shoes, clothing and unwanted items to the Ida Poppter's Spring Cleaning drop off on Sunday, April 30. These items will be sold in a rummage sale in May, with proceeds benefiting Pet Pals with the Aids Resource Center. Pet

Pals is a program that helps PWA's pets stay vaccinated, fed and healthy while keeping them in the persons home. It's a wonderful program that often gets overlooked. How many of your friends have a pet? Please help us with this wonderful fundraiser. For drop-off information please call the Dallas office at 698-8947. If you haven't been by Club Regency lately, I suggest you drop by for a cocktail or two. The owner of this fine establishment, Tony, has really done a remarkable job on the renovation. That's where we found the who's who of Dallas last Friday, enjoying the Love Goddess Tour featuring Jimmy James. My longtime friend Alan Gellman was on hand, along with Howard Okon and the fine lady herself, Jan Barton. Check out Club Regency's new concert series brought to you by Tony and Staff. The Houston performers were here in full force last weekend with Catia Lee Love performing at Backstreet and Kofi at the Village Station. While in the Village last weekend, I found a crew of transplants from Texarkana. Two of my friends, Scott and Mike, were found sniffing around the cute boy section. I am awaiting the outcome of that night. Speaking of cute boys, I can't seem to get a hold of Bobby from John L's. Rumor has it that Miami was so festive that Bobby has forgotten where Dallas is on the maps. If he comes home in a banana boat, that'll explain everything. The new bar that's connected to John L's is called STEEL. I stand corrected, but I kind of liked my name for it....DICK BAR. This weekend, you'll find comedian extraordinaire Mark Davis. Not only is he cute, he's funny too, so check it out! There's a new bar about to open in the old Millennium space! Eagle Dallas will be opening soon and will be a Levi/Leather bar. Watch for the opening date in my column! Ida's been over to Shades of Grey looking for a new little something to wear, with "little" being the operative word! Moving on over to Fitshugh, Ida Crewsed Inn to see a benefit show for Cindy Birdsong last week. I caught up with Miss Gay Texas Celeste Martinez only to discover that her chauffeur was also actually her driver....ha, ha. We met her new thang anxiously awaiting to whisk her to Ft. Worth for a booking. You go fish! Sounds like a Roseanne story to me! Before I close, I want to introduce our new professional photography staff in Dallas. The company is called Omni 2000 Productions. Check out the cover and their ad if you're interested in professional photography. Just look what they did with me? It's a miracle! Also, don't forget the last coverboy for a Spring cover, sponsored by Union Jack, Backstreet, and Maleman is April 12. Call me at 698-8947 if you're interested! Well kids, until I see you again, keep looking for those swimmers builds and something that rhymes with Louganis.

HOMORodStiffner's LOVERS

April 7 - Rent the hottest, sexiest movie in town. At times the erotica of the screen can entice even the most disinterested. Enjoy the scenes as they unfold before both of you. Use this time to explore new horizons and possibilities. You will find that visual explorations can be fun.

April 8 - Spring is here, and providing the weather is good, spend the day in the sun and surf. Head for your nearest beach or pool and spend the day just relaxing in each others company. Take time to talk about things that have happened over the past winter. Use the time to get closer together.

April 9 - Palm Sunday Find yourselves a quiet place under some trees, palms will do, and have a picnic. Take along some cheese and bread and a bottle of fine wine. These romantic outings can bring out the best in anyone.

April 10 - Prolonged contact is the idea for tonight. Tonight you will need to prolong the foreplay for as long as you can possibly stand. The continual contact of body against body can be just as rewarding and sexually arousing as your usual style.

April 11 - With the weather finally warming up, you'll start spending a lot of time at the beach or pool. You've probably already gone swimming and you noticed how some of the newer swimsuit look. Take the day and go shopping for new swim wear that will show off that body you have worked so hard to sculpt. With the help of your partner pick out just the right swimsuit, one that shows off your best attributes.

April 12 - Challenge your partner to a sexual game of "Beat the Clock." Set a time limit of about 2 minutes and use an alarm clock to enforce it. Give your partner the first turn as they attempt, using whatever means they desire, to bring you to climax before the time limit expires. Then reset the timer and see if you can do it before your time runs out. Set a sexual penalty for each failure, and soon the two of you will be having far too much fun to bother resetting the clock.

April 13 - Does it excite you to imagine yourself greedily lapping wine or other drink from the recesses of your partners body? Or having the same done to you? Well, you are not alone. Take a bottle of wine and two glasses to bed with you, wait until your partner is relaxed, then playfully pour a few drops onto their body and lick them away. Repeat this, moving all over your partners body. Let your partner respond in the same fashion. You might even need to have a second bottle handy.

April 14 - Good Friday Ask your partner to direct your lovemaking, and see how erotic it can be. Tell your partner that you have always secretly dreamed of having them make sexual demands on you. Say that you find it exciting to think of being directed in your lovemaking, then ask your partner to do just that, including each kiss and fondle, each technique an position, even the place. Just the discussion should be enough to arouse. Don't be surprised to learn that your partner has desires you never suspected, for this will surely bring them into the open. Satisfy them.

April 15 - Passover - Fantasy plays a part in the sex life of every person and you can greatly increase your sexual pleasure by encouraging your partner to fantasize with you. Fantasy can be from thought to actual games and costumes. Discuss with your partner the kind of fantasy you'd like to fulfill and then act them out. See how enticing such a fantasy scene can be.

April 16 - Easter Sunday - Color some hard boiled eggs some bright and festive colors. Hide them and then ask your partner to find them. Tell him that if he finds to right ones you'll have a surprise for him. Don't be surprised if you have to go back and get the hard boiled eggs that you hid. OK, we'll say it.... Go ahead F_CK Like rabbits!!! (Sorry, no cussing on such a holy day!)

April 17 - Use your tongue to bring your partner to orgasm. Lick and lap over your partners body, hitting all those erogenous zones, behind the ears, nipples, neck, navel, toes, fingers, all those other places. However, the difficult part is gong to be not putting anything into your mouth. You need only use your tongue. Let your partner see how erotic and arousing this can be.

April 18 - Moonlight means romance, and what could be more romantic than making love by moonlight? If you have a patio, terrace or balcony that is hidden from the view of others, then you are especially fortunate and now is the time to put it to use; if not, a bed or sofa beside open windows so the soft light bathes your moving bodies while the cool night air flows around you will do almost as well. You will soon see why moonlight is considered romantic.

April 19 - Any form of sex is proper as long as both partners enjoy it, yet all of us have certain inhibitions. The best way to help overcome any inhibition is to discuss them calmly and objectively, and the best time to do this is after you have finished making love; not before, as this may lead your partner to believe you are trying to talk them into performing an act they might not like. Wait until after your lovemaking, when you are both relaxed and then raise the subject. Ask about any sexual subject that might be "taboo." Your questions will surely get you both to thinking and talking, and sometime in very near future you may be happily surprised to discover that your partners inhibitions are a thing of the past.

April 20 - Few will tolerate a person who allows themselves to grow fat and sloppy, and obesity is something you should not tolerate in yourself. So take a long objective look at your physical condition and, if it is called for, begin a program of exercises designed to remove any excess fat. It requires only a few minutes a day to keep your body trim, and your efforts will be rewarded by the renewed interest your partner will show when it is time to make love.

THE LEATHER CORNER

Real Possibilities

More than once I have been questioned about the calculating and unspontaneous negotiation that takes place before "play" in the Leather/SM community. For some, all of the talk and setup removes the excitement of the "scene" about to take place. But for others this negotiation can be part of the sexual foreplay that leads to a safe, rewarding exchange of power and trust.

How do you convey to your chosen partner your needs or wants with no prior discussion? How are you able to back away from an uncomfortable situation if no prior signal has been determined? Or is the fear of the unknown what excites the moment, and if so, how much is enough?

encounters. They are able to fall into sequence more readily because of known parameters, or set boundaries from previous "scenes."

In cases where the Top does not want the bottom to speak at all, a gag, or hood may be used. This form of communication deprivation requires other signals that are known and understood. Making a fist for instance, is not a good signal to be used. Reflexes may be involuntary, and a fist would signal the scene to stop, when the bottom may well want things to progress. Something as simple as placing the hands in a flat praying position requires concentration from the bottom and is easily observed by the Top should this position be broken.

I found a quote in the book Leathersex - A Guide for the Curious Outsider and the Serious Player, by Joseph W. Bean that I think applies to the negotiation process:

Rule One: Understand that Leathermen have explored and gone beyond the personal ground of accepting their homosexuality.

Rule Two: Be prepared to be honest. This will keep you out of trouble emotionally and sexually.

"People
Lie, or are dishonest about

should be understood as part of the Leatherman's sexual language, not necessarily his every-night needs.

Also don't assume your own messages have been understood, as sterile as it sounds, clarify your intentions, and reassure your prospective partner of your intentions, needs and expectations. But most of all, play safe, sane, and consensual. Everything is possible and can be renegotiated at any time during play - if you need clarification - ask, don't assume your partner can read your mind. After all, the scene may be so exciting and the moment right to expand into other areas of play that were not discussed.

Play Safe!

How do you convey to your chosen partner your needs or wants with no prior discussion? How are you able to back away from an uncomfortable situation if no prior signal has been determined? Or is the fear of the unknown what excites the moment, and if so, how much is enough?

Safe, sane, and consensual sex or S/M is your responsibility whether you are the "Top" or the "bottom." People lie, or are dishonest about everyday life situations, such as their status or work, how much money they make, or "the Porche is in the shop." But deceptive experience about S/M will quickly be rumored about the community.

Verbal communication is not always necessary, and sometimes is not wanted or warranted. Body language and hand signals can often be more powerful without breaking the silence of the scene, as long as both partners understand each others signals. This form of communication usually happens with partners who know each other well, or after several Rule Two: Be prepared to be honest. This will keep you out of trouble emotionally and sexually.

"People Lie, or are dishonest about everyday situations,...."

Rule Three: Realize that you are playing a role and wearing a costume. Learn to adjust to your roles for maximum effectiveness, to get what you want. The difference that matters most here is that Leathersex roles don't evaporate under the street lights outside the bar. In a sense, this "What you see is who I am" posture is REAL, the only relevant reality.

Rule Four: Don't disturb the scene! Men are doing the work of who they need to be at that time. Leathermen wear communication, try not to get trapped by mistaking interests for requirements. Most signals

One Down - Nine to Go!

On Sunday, April 2, the Montrose Softball League (MSL) kicked off its 16th year of play at Tim Hearne Field (corner Memorial & Jackson Hill). Opening ceremonies were led by State Representative Debra Danburg who read the proclamations from the City of Houston and the State of Texas. All of this year's participating teams were introduced, including our two new members the Montrose Inn and the Montrose Counseling Center.

Following Opening Ceremonies the 1995 season was in full swing with the Competitive Division starting things off. In the first game, the Briar Patch defeated the Montrose Inn 14-6. Russel Garrison was the first play of the season to knock a ball over the fence. He also led the team in runs scored with three. Way to go Russel!! In the second game, the Mining Company Texans and the Houston Voice fought down to the wire in a nailbiter. In the end, though, the Mining Company won 5-3.

In the Recreational Division, J.R.'s Fighting Flamingos defeated Rich's Prime 5-1. Pacific Street held on to an early lead to beat The Traveler's 10-7. Play continued with Positively BRB defeating Chez E.J.'s 10-4. In the finale, the Gentry GAPS defeated the Montrose Counseling Center's Auntie Depressants 10-4.

Next Sunday's action is being held at Memorial Park Fields #4 and #5 for doubleheaders as follows:

12:00	Rich's Prime vs. Traveler's	J.R.'s vs. Pacific Street
1 pm	Pacific Street vs. Rich's Prime	Traveler's vs. J.R.'s
2 pm	Gentry vs. BRB	E.J.'s vs. MCC
3 pm	Montrose Inn vs. Houston Voice	Briar Patch vs. Mining Co.
4 pm	Mining Co. vs. Montrose Inn	Houston Voice vs. Briar Patch

TODAY, HE'D BE BUSTED

...his assets seized, and unless Martha had a DAMN good lawyer, she'd wind up in the slammer too.
Why? Because like most farmers of his time, George Washington grew cannabis hemp, AKA Marijuana.

IT'S NOT ABOUT GETTING HIGH. It's about a government waging war on its own people to protect the economic interest of oil companies, timber companies, and half a dozen other industries that don't want to compete openly with something that grows in a ditch.

Come see for yourself. We got the
