Greetings, gang.

Mad Dog Merlin, the mysterious magician and astrologer who prepares our Starscope column each week just left the office. We'd asked him up for a special seance to find out if Life With Vera is in TWT's future. Is Vera gone for good, or just on vacation?

Well, he pondered the problem for a while, produced a long stick from the fabric folds of his Wizard's Shroud, drew big circles and triangles in the shag carpet, shot flames from his eyes, started speaking in tongues, and accidentally burned down the better portion of a drafting table. All to no avail. When it came time to give us the answer he turned beet-red, jumped in and out of the trash cans, began twirling an imaginary boa, and screamed "AAAAAAA-HHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH!" Could this be a clue?

Actually, it is you who must decide Vera's fate. The best way to find out if a particular column or series in TWT is popular, is to drop it from the schedule and see if hell breaks loose. This magazine is for ya'll. If you want Vera back, let us know. If no response is forthcoming, well, sorry Vera, "wave your little hand and whisper so long, dearie!" (Incidentally, after three year's worth of weekly Life With Vera episodes, we're toying around with the idea of putting them all together into a paperback book. The Complete Life With Vera. Just for you. And a couple of bucks per copy for us. Interested?

Also, we present the first in our series of Gay Heritage articles. You'll see them popping up from time to time, in alternation — rotation with Fantasy and the Just How Gay Are You, Anyway? quizzes.

And, of course, keep your cards and letters coming. Comment letter or regular letter, drop us a line. Drop us a hook. Drop us a sinker. Drop us dope.

Peace and heat,
Here's number 167.

LIFESTYLE EYEWEAR BY RALPH LAUREN.

Ralph Lauren is a leading designer of men's fashions because he's realistic. "I don't believe in one rigid lifestyle, so I certainly don't believe in just one look for clothes... or eyewear. A man should have a variety of well designed accessories so he can vary his image as often as his mood or activity changes."

Ralph Lauren proves his point with Polo Lifestyle Eyewear, the most distinctive, original (yet masculine) frames ever designed for men.

Some of the styles feature classic, refined lines — the quiet, good-look that's ideal for business hours. Other selections are definitely bolder and more rugged in appearance, in perfect harmony with the great outdoors.

Colors range from crystal clear — to tortoise — all the way to deep-tone striated effects. No matter which styles you choose, Polo Lifestyle Eyewear makes the good life — and you — look so much better.

WEEK OF JUNE 10 - 16

FOR ALL SIGNS: With the adverse Saturn-Mars conjunction of June 4th behind us, life should be settling down, making more sense. The Moon is in Leo Friday and Saturday; in Virgo Sunday, Monday, & Tuesday; and in Libra next Wednesday and Thursday, favoring those signs on those days. Meanwhile, Venus can be seen pulling away from Jupiter, low in the western sky after sunset.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 21): The tenth is an excellent day for romance. You will feel very vibrant. But, this is followed by a rather confusing Sunday. Your ruling planet, Mercury, makes a quick passage through Gemini between June 3rd and 17th, making your intellect sharper and more convincing.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23): Your ruler, the Moon, makes an ideal conjunction with Saturn on the eleventh, favoring jointly held money and any other partnership situation. June 17th will be ideal for romance, so get ready. This week, meanwhile, is better for job endeavors.

LEO (July 24 - August 23): Your ruler is the Sun, which is now in Gemini, placing it in your eleventh house of hopes, wishes, and friendships. Next Tuesday will be fine for any new ideas to spawn a worthwhile plan. And, be sure to watch your money and investments mid-week.

VIRGO (August 24 - September 23): Your ruling planet, Mercury, is speeding through intellectual and communicative Gemini between June 3rd to 17th, making a passage through your career sector. It should be a promising period for job, advancement, sales, and promotion. Avoid decisions this weekend.

LIBRA (September 24 - October 23): Your ruling planet, Venus, remains in the last degrees of home-loving Cancer until the 16th, when it moves over into Leo. This sign shift will bring out Leo qualities of entertainment, leadership, and ego. And, you may feel more independent in the weeks to come.

SCORPIO (October 24 - November 22): Mars which is the ruling planet of your sign, has now begun to move away from that malific Saturn conjunction of this past June 4th. If some new career has just begun, it was earned rather than handed to you, and it will be hard for someone to take away from you.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 - December 22): Your ruling planet, Jupiter, is now beginning to separate from Venus, as can be seen in the western sky near the horizon just after sunset. But, good aspects with other planets, keep the good luck of Jupiter from separating you from your love.

CAPRICORN (December 23 - January 19): Your ruling planet Saturn made a nasty conjunction with Mars on June 4th. Now that it has passed, any objective on which you've set goal can be more easily attained. Mars will have moved into your 9th house of travel by June 13th, increasing the urge to roam.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 19): Your ruling planet, Uranus, is still in your tenth house of career, causing those unusual and unexpected things to happen in your job. But, with lucky Jupiter in your 6th house of co-workers, you'll find others helping you gather a windfall. Don't force love issues.

PISCES (February 20 - March 20): Your ruling planet Neptune is still in your tenth house of career, where it has been for several years and where it will remain for some time. Neptune moves ever so slowly and throws a smokescreen over facts, rules the underground, and keeps things fluid. Although this seems to interfere, it really doesn't.

ARIES (March 21 - April 20): Your ruling planet Mars is still in your fifth house of romance, increasing your sex drive. On June 13th, Mars moves into your sixth house, which rules job and health, two areas which can be vulnerable to unexpected problems.

TAURUS (April 21 - May 20): Your ruling planet, Venus, remains in home-loving Cancer for one more week, until the 17th, when she moves into Leo. You will then feel the urge to be entertained, to be a leader, to be upfront, and to feel your oats. Venus can be seen in the western sky after sunset, near the horizon, pulling away from lucky Jupiter nightly.

Television: Last season it was Roots, this season, Holocaust. The miniseries, originally considered a gamble by the networks, has proven to be a good bet in the ratings race. The upcoming fall season will feature more than 60 hours of miniseries on the major networks, with at least 100 hours more in the planning stages for future seasons. NBC, the last to try miniseries to boost ratings, kept itself afloat this season because of them.

In the fall, NBC's schedule will be more mini-, than regular, series. Already completed for the fall are Beggarmen, Thief, a continuation of Rich Man, Poor Man, the miniseries based on Irwin Shaw's bestseller; and Brave New World, based on Aldous Huxley's futuristic sci-fi hit, which will star Bud Cort and Keir Dullea. Additionally, NBC is at work on a sequel to last season's 79 Park Avenue, with Lesley Ann Warren reprising her role as a high price call girl; Women in White, a miniseries detailing the lives of nurses; a miniseries based on folk hero Buck Rogers; and an adaptation of Louisa May Alcott's Little Women, with Susan Dey, Meredith Baxter Birney and Eve Plumb in the title roles, along with Robert Young and Greer Garson. CBS has in the works a miniseries adaptation of Taylor Caldwell's Glory and the Lightning, as well as 10 hours of miniseries based on comic-book superheroes. ABC has begun production on an additional project based on the invasion of Pearl Harbor. Pearl will star Angie Dickinson, Dennis Weaver, Robert Wagner, and Lesley Ann Warren.

Independent producers who have grouped together in a project called Operation Prime Time have two miniseries projects in the works as well. One is titled The Immigrants; the other, Evening at Byzantium, is based on the Irwin Shaw novel and will star Glenn Ford, Shirley Jones and Eddie Albert. With the forecasted slim picking of the networks' scheduled regular series, the miniseries may be all there is worth watching come September.

An off-Broadway production of a play based on the locally-famous fight between a locally-known TV muck-raker and a sheriff in a town called LaGrange concerning a whorehouse has opened to overwhelmingly good reviews. Titled The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas, it features some local talent and is rumored to be moving to Broadway in the near future.

Residents of Houston's famed Montrose may be startled to learn that that area's Tower theatre has been sold for the purposes of converting it to a house for live theatre presentations. The new owners are spending upwards of $200,000 on the new facility.

NAME THAT TUNE,
NAME THAT COCKSUCKER

INTELLECTUAL CROSSES THAT
STRAIGHTS CAN HARDLY BEAR

Nothing seems to stick more fiercely in the heterosexual craw than knowledge that many of the major "movers and shakers" of our civilization were gay. When a church choir performs the Messiah, a literature class studies the works of Walt Whitman, or a father reads his child a fairy tale by Hans Christian Anderson, they are treading on gay turf.

The straights steadfastly refuse to acknowledge such realities. They'll often deny it to the point of fisticuffs. They can't abide the reality that the knack for academic or creative excellence usually co-exists with the knack to suck cock. Straights lack the knack for any such endeavors and are painfully aware of that truth.

In some ways, it's perhaps rude and cruel to keep shoving the names of famous gays down the throats of straights. That's why we encourage the practice. This week we begin our Gay Heritage series, so you might have the ammo at your disposal to rub in hetero noses. This week, its Name that Tune, Name that Cocksucker.

George Frideric Handel (1685 - 1759): That's right. The composer of the oft-performed Messiah was a member of our fraternity. Just real gay. His first lover was Johann Matheson, a tenor in Reinhard Keiser's opera company. The relationship flourished until jealousy set in. They had a big fight, with swords no less, and Handel would have been killed were it not for a strategically placed waistcoat button that broke Matheson's sword. They parted. Not the best of friends. Handel went on to have scores of other lovers. Matheson took additional lessons in swordfighting.

Ludwig van Beethoven (1770 - 1827): A woman hater of the highest calibre. Much of his music, such as the last Piano Sonata, Opus III, is a musical expression of his desire to rid the world of vaginas and languish forever amid huge cocks. With plates of balls on a sidecar, perhaps.

Franz Schubert (1791 - 1828): Diary writings indicate he sucked his first cock at age 11, when chorister with the Vienna court chapel. He became quite a pro, specializing in chicken and affairs with wealthy actors.

Frederick Francois Chopin (1810 - 1849): Couldn't shake the guilt that he associated with dick eating, but did the best he could, nevertheless. For appearance sake, he hung around with female writer Aurore Dudevant, pseudonym George Sand, who alternated between spending her time seeking the muse and smoking big cigars.

Richard Wagner (1813 - 1883): One of the most inspired, heroic, and beautiful love stories of all time was that between Wagner and King Ludwig II of Bavaria, known as "Mad King Ludwig." Wagner evidently found Ludwig far from mad, but delightfully ingratiating at all times. They got it on hot and heavy for two years, but then split over a turbulent tiff.

Piotr Ilyich Tchaikowsky (1840 - 1893): Prided himself on making it with most of his male music students. His proudest bedside manner achievement was giving Vassily Sapellnikoff such reknowned blow jobs that the latter climaxed as one of the finest pianists of the period.

Maurice Ravel (1875 - 1937): Spent his entire sex life in a three-way with pianist Ricardo Vines and composer Manuel de Falla. All three reportedly had a lovely time. For decades.

George Gershwin (1898 - 1937): This is the one that heterosexuals deny most vehemently. But it's true. History proves it beyond the shadow of a doubt. He was in poor health much of the time, with male nurses providing solace.

Stephen Foster (1826 - 1864): Famous American folksy composer. Oh Susanna was not only one of his hits, but also his drag name.

Cole Porter (1893 - 1964): A lot of big popular hits. As far as Cole was concerned, Anything Goes. When it came to putting his lips around the really big dongs, the man who wrote Can-Can demonstrated that he Could-Could.

One of life's first self-acquired skills is the ability to pick out plot clues from movie dialogue. The secret signals that tell you things are really going to get good. When Bette Davis heads up that stairway muttering fasten your seatbelts, it's going to be a bumpy night, you know it is not the time to hit the snack bar for that second Coke, or hit the bathroom to piss away the first one. The action is about to pick up.

In mysteries and horror stories, they often try to sneak the pertinent plot dialogue past you, so at the end of the movie, after the cat has been let out of the bag (mutilated and stuffed, probably), they can say "Nhanh-nhanh, told you so!" The truly observant viewer, however, can still manage to stay ahead of the plot, despite smokescreen tactics. Prime examples of red herring dialogue include It's alive I tell you — it's alive! . . . Don't be silly, George. Aunt Margret wouldn't hurt a fly . . . The escaped killer couldn't possibly be around here . . . and, Oh my God! It's a Red Herring!

Then, there's the ever-popular The natives are restless. That was a biggie in jungle movies. No way in a jungle movie was the shit going to hit the fan until the natives got restless. That was a rule. Many a Hollywood scriptwriter starved for inability to get his natives appropriately agitated.

I bring all this up as preface to an elaboration on an observation. It seems the natives really are getting restless. Out of hand. Out of control. Stand warned.

The "natives" I'm speaking of are the heterosexuals, the Breeders. What's got into those Breeders! They suddenly seem awfully damned uppity for a group of lowly Missionary Positioners. For the life of me, I can't understand what qualifies the Breeders to possess any semblance of pride, pomposness, or arrogance.

In leaderless herds, the ignorant Breeders cover the American terrain from coast-to-coast, blindly indulging in their propagation rites at the drop of a hat or a tampon. Millions of scrawly, scraggly old tobacco chewin' roosters and a comparable number of plump over-ripe hens just waiting to pop open the oven and add another statistic to the population explosion. Disgusting!

And what happens? After the old rooster has passed out all his cigars and the hen is back to buying Kotex, they both realize they've got a real problem. Namely, they're ass-deep in offspring. And the offspring are idiots.

Absolute idiots! Tragic mutants created by spending formative years in direct contact with plywood paneling, Campbell's vegetable soup, shotguns, and The Nancy Ames Show.

The Breeders, in a rare display of wisdom, immediately decide they had better send their little darlin's off to school for some "culchur." Each September, the adult Breeders rush down to Montgomery Ward with the old man's two-week paycheck and spend an outlandish $31.05 for each offspring's fall wardrobe. They then throw the clothes on the kid, throw the kid on the bus, throw lunch money in the direction of the school, and tell the principal to call them when Sonny Boy has graduated! That's the American Educational Process.

Through it all, the Gay Elite taxpayer has been forced to shell out the big bucks to sponsor public education for those Breeder Passion Products. Being a rather noble lot, however, we have complained little.

But now, the Breeders are getting restless. They still want the Gay Elite to help pay for the education of their fertilized eggs, but they don't want members of the Elite to teach within the school!

WELL! To that — I say FINE! A BIG, FAT FINE!

For a member of the Gay Elite to have stooped so low as to mingle with Breeder Offspring was true testimony to the compassion and dedication within our ranks. It was tough, hard, dirty, nasty work. Nevertheless, millions of our Elitists answered the call, gritted their teeth, lowered their station in life, and entered the school — all in hopes of alleviating the educational plight and blight of the Lower Masses. But did the Breeders appreciate it? No! Fuck, no. They want the Gay Elite OUT!

WELL, FINE AND DANDY! Let's get out. Let's turn the schools completely over to the Breeders and see how they do. Let's just sit back and prepare to have the last laugh as America's hopes for the future fall into the hands of Breeder Mentality!

Given their way, I'm certain that in no time at all, the Breeders will have all the female teachers looking like June Leave It To Beaver Cleaver, the woman who taught the world that you CAN clean house in a party dress, heels, and earrings. Learning that will be a crucial part of the curriculum. The hetero male teachers, on the other hand, will be asked to heighten their already disgusting resemblance to David Hartman and put special emphasis on acne as subject matter. Add the Breeders propensity for wall-to-wall Bible and you have the mix that will form the scholars of the future.

Breeder-run schools?

...fasten your seatbelts...

It's going to be a VERY bumpy night.

comment

Dear Editor:

I use this letter to comment personally on the subject of the Adolph Coors Company, mentioned in the Comment section of TWT recently.

I am a member of Dallas Gay Political Caucus and we overwhelmingly voted again, May 8, to continue and support a boycott of the Adolph Coors Company and its product, alligning against the company's mandatory use of lie detectors to screen job applicants (and present employees being considered for promotion) and the use of company's profits to finance and to support America's most ultra-conservative new right-wing, repressive movement. Millions of dollars in Coors' financial contributions have been funneled through Richard A. Viguerie.

Mr. Viguerie is a Houston-born Texas native operating from Tidewater, Virginia, where he personally controls the financing of new ultra-right conservative organizations and computerized mailing lists of "good hard-core conservatives." Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), and The Committee for the Survival of a Free Congress, Howard Phillips of The Conservative Caucus have acknowledged and listed Adolph Coors Company as a major contributor.

In exchange for the list of member's names of Gun Owners of America, Mr. Viguerie pours campaign monies into Mr. Edward Davis' gubernatorial campaign and allows Mr. Davis the use of California conservative's names for mass mailings.

We hear continuously about our political clout and economic power. Buying Coors beer enriches those who send dollars to groups and persons who, in turn, send money to other groups and persons who send the money to anti-ERA, anti-Gay causes. It ends with Coors profits fighting women and Gay rights. Widespread boycott support has come from the Black and Chicano communities and the women's movement, where Coors' discriminatory practices are well known.

Using the figure of 120,000 Gay Dallasites buying 1 bottle of beer a day, the total consumed in 1 year is 43.8 million bottles of beer, or 438 million bottles bought and consumed, using 1.2 million Gay Texans - enough to make or break any one company alone, multiplying 75 cents a bottle. Coors knows it, and, even without a solid boycott in California and Texas, Coors sales have been reduced by over 20 percent and are slowing down in Dallas.

Coors management, stunned by the toll of the boycott and overwhelming pro-union sentiments of its workers, agreed to end its queries of applicants' sexual preference. A very commendable gesture, but until a union contract is ratified and signed, Coors is not bound by its agreement to stop prying into people's sex lives. No such union contract has yet been ratified and signed. Eliminating certain sexually-oriented questions is not enough.

Coors lie detector practices as an employment condition violates the fundamental rights of privacy as an affront to human dignity. Nor are lie detector results in any way conclusive. There is no justification for such a requirement. The Coors strike and its issues go beyond a labor-management dispute over higher wages. Striking workers are asking Coors management to recognize its union and its right to collective bargaining and to end its degrading employment practices. The Gay community has well-founded doubts and concern where Coors' profits are used to finance, support repressive anti-Gay causes. Coors management is sensitive only to increased profit losses from a continued boycott, and nothing short of the boycott has brought Coors management to the side of struggling workers and the Gay community.

I strongly urge your readers to support the Coors boycott and ask the Houston Gay Political Caucus to reassess its formal termination and withdrawal from the Coors boycott.

Thank you for a well-done magazine.

Sincerely,
M. Stevenson

NUMBERS opened last Thursday June 8th as a Houston disco theater. The countdown is over for Numbers to do a number with their new flying saucer light show. Under the UFO (photo above) are the numbers who work at Numbers. The club will open nightly at 8pm, with a Sunday buffet starting at 7pm, and with morning call (after hours) Friday and Saturday nights. 300 Westheimer is the number for Numbers, where Bev Wren had the Million Dollar City Dump . . . And, ETC Boutique is upstairs in the multi-level bar. Best wishes for a successful grand opening.

SISSY FARENTHOLD has been booked as the keynote speaker of Town Meeting I, which is shaping up to be an overwhelming event at Astroarena. Buy a ticket early at one of the bar registration parties as TM-I does not anticipate any of the 7,000 seats to be left open. Houston's gay business people are lining up in total support. And thanks to our "friends" on commissioners court, Town Meeting has received $1,000 worth of free publicity.

ELECTION VICTORY: Mickey Leeland won easily Houston's run off election last Saturday with solid Montrose support. Anne Greene won in a close race against a moderate conservative incumbent, Burke. Gays also won all of the original county judges — the ones you're likely to see if you're picked up by the vice. GPC is exuberant that no enemies to gays were elected. Gay Power!

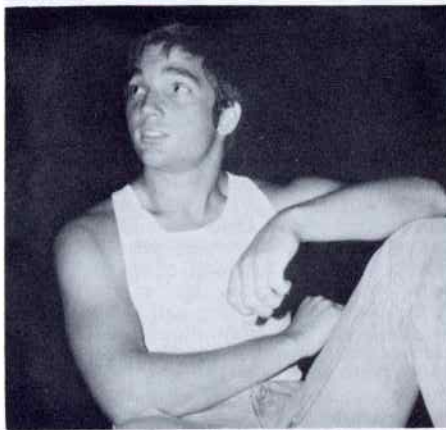

SHARON McNIGHT was a cabaret hit at Solxante Quinze last week. Sounding like Bette Midler and looking a bit like Marilyn Monroe, the blonde sonstress and her piano man gave us a San Francisco treat. Sharon hugged Bill West (photo above) backstage between performances for bringing her to Texas. Bill, who is manager of After Dark, discovered Sharon on a recent west coast trip and as booking agent, brought her to Houston. Miss McNight is very talented, writes her own songs, and may come back to the Bayou City soon.

DALLAS NEWSLINE: The Maidenhead celebrated their first anniversary last Thursday . . . Encore II will open in July . . . And a new women's bar, The Boot Camp II, has opened.

INSTANT TEA: Burgandy Woods got four call backs last Sunday at the Midnite Sun, where Darla Child does her farewell show this Sunday . . . A patio carnival for young and old will be held at Ms. Take II June 24th, benefiting TM-I. Volunteers for the egg toss, bake table, apple bob, etc., are needed, so see Velvet or LaDonna . . . Carmen Del Rio is returning from Las Vegas to guest at the OP and Midnite Sun June 18th . . . And the OP has caught those River Oaks Lamar highschoolers who have been beating up gays with 20 lb. flashlights and lead pipes. Plus extra security guards have been added to the parking area . . . And the uncut Channel Z version of the Bette Midler TV concert rolls this Sunday at 4pm at the Briar Patch.

HOUSTON HOTLINE: Martha Turner headlines the I/O outdoor theater this Sunday from 5-9pm . . . Ms. Take II is now open on Sundays and the newly opened ladies patio is in full swing daily . . . Cheree & Co. will do two shows this Sunday: 6-9pm at the I/O, and 10:30pm at the OP . . . Robert Jones is now at Dirty Sally's . . . Champagne guests this Sunday at the Midnite Sun . . . The Gal-elon is into beer busts all weekend, Saturday and Sunday, 'til 10pm . . . And the OP is not for sale and is not closing as rumored. In fact the OP is not even half way through their long term lease says management.

THE FARMHOUSE in Beaumont continues to be the gay hub of the Golden Triangle gay scene. One of the reasons is the disco music programmed by a young Virgo, 19-year-old Beaumont native, Mark Mauboules (photo below), an all American lad who works on a nearby ranch by day and spins the hot disco wax by night. Mark reports the top five: 1) Last Dance/Donna Summer, 2) Get Off/Foxy, 3) Oh Happy Day/Roberta Kelley, 4) You Really Got Me/Eclipse, and 5) If My Friends Could See Me Now/Linda Clifford. Most requested album at the FH is TGIF.
