NEWS

MARDI GRAS FAT TUESDAY

NEW ORLEANS — Mardi Gras in New Orleans' French Quarter comes to a climax next Tuesday, February 23. The big day has become known as Fat Tuesday as it is the last "fat day of pleasure" before Lent begins on Ash Wednesday.

Texas will be saluted during the Edd Smith Mardi Gras Awards which will begin at noon on Fat Tuesday. This year, the annual award presentations will unfold in front of the Bourbon Pub, 801 Bourbon Street at St. Ann. Balcony tickets are available, Smith told TWT NEWS.

When Mardi Gras ends, thousands of revelers, who are not poised to stop partying, will journey to Houston for the annual post-Mardi Gras celebration which is known as "Let Us Entertain You Weekend."

LET US ENTERTAIN

HOUSTON — Next weekend, eight clubs will present their annual "Let Us Entertain You Weekend," the traditional follow-up to Mardi Gras. "Mardi Gras is coming again to Houston," TWT NEWS was told.

The post-Mardi Gras activities will begin on Friday, February 26 when the Colt 45's present a registration beer bust at the Brazos River Bottom from 9:00pm until midnight.

The next day, Saturday, February 27, the American Leathermen will present a continental breakfast at the Different Drum from 11:00am until 1:00pm.

The Sundance Cattle Company will host a cocktail party at The Barn from 2:00 until 4:00pm. At 5:00pm, the Houston Club Scene Magazine will present a buffet at the Different Drum. Saturday's events will culminate at Mary's as the Texas Riders become the late night hosts.

On Sunday, February 28, the Houston Motorcycle Club will host a cocktail party at Mary's until 2:00pm. It will be followed by a Sunday brunch at The Barn beginning at 2:00pm.

As always, the Houston bike, levi, leather and western clubs have planned three days of non-stop programming for post-Mardi Gras revelers.

SAN ANTONIO FIESTA HOTELS

SAN ANTONIO — It has become certain that two San Antonio hotels do not want any gay business at this year's Fiesta during late April. TWT NEWS has learned that both the Menger Hotel and El Tropicano are cross-checking this year's reservation lists with last year's to discourage any further inroads by gay travelers.

The annual Christmas In July pool party was unable to rebook El Tropicano. An inside source at the hotel told a representative of Christmas In July group that the hotel was under new management and indicated they were carefully screening all reservations for the weekend of April 23-25.

A similar situation began to develop last year at the Menger Hotel when the hotel had closed its popular Roosevelt Bar during Fiesta. TWT NEWS had learned that the hotel did not want its main bar to again become a gay haven as it had during past Fiestas.

This year, the Menger has taken the anti-gay matter one step further by informing those who planned to reserve a room that they would not be welcome, especially if they had planned on having a large gay party in their hotel room.

The decision appears to have been forced upon The Menger by the Order of the Alamo, whose very select membership is composed of San Antonio's social elite. The Order has always held their annual Queen's Ball on the same night as the Fiesta Flambeau parade. The Order has informed the Menger that they will move their society function to another hotel if The Menger continues to rent rooms to gays who intend to hold open-invitation gay parties. Clearly, The Menger does not wish to lose its long-standing booking on this long-standing prestigious function of Fiesta.

While these two hotels are discouraging gays, two other hotels have reached agreement with gays to book large blocks of rooms. As reported last week by TWT NEWS, The Crockett Hotel's entire poolside wing has been booked by two Dallas gay men for Fiesta.

Houston men of the Christmas In July collective have told TWT NEWS they have officially moved their traditional pool party from El Tropicano to the Alamo Holiday Inn on Durango Street where a block of 15 poolside rooms have been reserved. A party room and bar have also been rented.

"We'll simply take our business and gay bucks where they are appreciated," a Fiesta traveler told TWT NEWS. "After all, during this economic recession, the gay economy remains undaunted."

SAN ANTONIO GAY ALLIANCE AWARDS

SAN ANTONIO — Last Sunday, February 14, the San Antonio Gay Alliance (SAGA), held its first annual community service awards. The ceremony was emceed by the co-chairs of SAGA, Lollie Johnson and John Downum.

Prior to the ceremony, Bett Butler provided entertainment. The keynote speech was delivered by gay activist and author Toby Johnson.

The event was held at Los Patios, 2015 N.E. Loop 410, reported SAGA coordinator, Michael Stevens to TWT NEWS.

Recipients of SAGA awards included: Iren Eppenauer and Glenn Clark for their participation in the National Gay Rodeo, Mary Ellen Mitchell for long and Five organizational awards were also presented. The San Antonio Gay Switchboard, Dignity/San Antonio, Lambda for gay alcoholics, MCCSA, and Las Mujeres Women's Cultural Collective were among the recipients of awards. The ceremony was sponsored by 28 local businesses including TWT NEWS.

STILL NO VERDICT
ON 21.06 TRIAL

DALLAS — It has been six months since the 21.06 trial of June, 1981, concluded in this city, and still no verdict has come from the bench. At the conclusion of last summer's trial, the judge announced that he would reach a decision and make an adjudication within sixty days, recalls TWT NEWS.

Yet, no decision! Meanwhile, Texas waits!

The trial case was known as Baker vs Wade. It concerned itself with the 21.06 section of Texas' penal code. The trial was the first constitutional challenge to the "homosexual conduct" statute.

The plaintiff, Don Baker, president of the Dallas Gay Alliance (DGA), recalled that, "The trial was planned to serve the dual purpose of attacking the statute and educating the general public. Evidence presented at the trial included testimony of Judd Marmor, past president of The American Psychiatric Association, and William Simon, noted sociologist, and others to the effect that sexual orientation is not a disease but a valid alternative life style. I am confident that we mounted a sound legal challenge and began a sustained educational process," said Baker.

M. Robert Schwab, president of the Texas Human Rights Foundation (THRF), which sponsored the litigation, told TWT NEWS, "As part of our ongoing educational process, we have contacted a number of major employers around the state, provided them with material relative to employment concerns of gay workers, and have questioned them as to their own employment practices. We will continue to expand our activities in this area. We have also begun examining collateral attacks on Penal Code Section 21.06 via In Re: Longstaff, a naturalization case involving a local clothier, Richard Longstaff, and other vehicles. We still remain optimistic about a favorable verdict in Baker vs Wade."

THRF is a non-profit, tax-exempt corporation, reminds TWT NEWS. You can direct inquiries or donations to 3128 Common Ave. East #304, Dallas, Texas 75204.

GAY AMERICAN ARTS FESTIVAL

HOUSTON — Russ Glidden, Artistic Director for the Gay/Lesbian Arts Alliance, will be in Houston from February 19 through February 27. He will be seeking artists of all types for the Third Annual Gay American Arts Festival, to be held this year in Chicago. The previous two years the festival was hosted by The Glines in New York, and this time it is more centrally located.

GLAA was founded in the fall of 1981 to "establish, support and maintain arts programs of all kinds which are reflective of the Gay/Lesbian experience." The festival, to be held the last two weeks in September, will in-

MALE PROSTITUTES ENJOY THEIR WORK

WASHINGTON D.C. — Unlike their female counterparts who usually dislike their work, male prostitutes indicate they enjoy hustling, including its sexual aspects, reports a study by Urban and Rural Systems Associates.

Enjoyment of their work is listed as one reason for the rise in male prostitution. The gay liberation movement is also listed as a further reason for the increasing number of male prostitutes on the streets of American cities.

The study found that the typical adolescent male hustler is over 16, is homosexual, and not the stereotype child who was lured into pornography.

Most male prostitutes are runaways or were thrown out of their families after revealing their homosexuality. Most adolescent male prostitutes are "gay identified," the report explained. "Most are between 16 and 22. It is extremely rare for a youth under 16 to be involved in prostitution or be involved in a child pornography ring," the report stated.

The report, "A Hustler Profile," was based on interviews with 79 adolescent male prostitutes in seven cities. TWT

Black & White

Dear TWT:

As the newly elected president of the Houston chapter of Black & White Men Together (BWMT), I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself and state a few of our organization's objectives for 1982.

I am a native of Chicago, residing in Houston for the past 16 years. I am an executive with a large awards company in Houston, and a homeowner. I have been actively involved in social planning and reform for many years in Chicago as well as Houston, and have helped to develop our BWMT-Houston chapter since its beginning.

The organization's goals for 1982 are challenging and encouraging. Some items being planned are: several fundraising events in conjunction with a membership drive; developing our own sports team and a cycling club; community service activities designed to assist less fortunate people in any way we can; and the list goes on. In conjunction with our regular schedule of activities, 1982 looks to be a positive and busy year for all concerned.

We hope to keep the lines of communication open between our organization and you, coupled with our best wishes for your continued success and growth. If we may be of service to you or the community, please feel free to call upon us to assist. We will do as much as is possible to benefit a worthwhile cause.

With the hopes of a continued rapport between us.

New GPC Logo

Dear TWT:

As the outgoing president of the Houston Gay Political Caucus (GPC), I want to acknowledge several persons who contributed to a GPC face-lifting program I commissioned several months ago. That program included installation of a different telephone system and a more easily remembered number (521-1000), and remodeling the GPC offices at 4600 Main.

The remodeling and money raised for it was directed by Billy Francis & Associates. Mr. Francis donated the services of Joe Shaffer and Michael Ewin for design, and Harold Pirvonka, owner of a carpentry and woodworking shop, donated his construction time.

With the final phase of the program now completed, I want to present the official public display of our new logo.

GAY POLITICAL CAUCUS

Gregory Catlow, Landscape Architects, donated the services of its talented staff member, Gary Smith, who has done an outstanding job. I emphasized to Gary that the logo should exemplify a clean, sharp look, suitable for media reproduction and public recall, and that it should also be strong in design. We got it all. All non-gay media and politicians have repeatedly said the letters "GPC" were synonymous with gay power in Houston. Gary utilized them very effectively.

When reproduced in color, the area in the center of the "G" is a brilliant red. Marion Coleman, owner of high quality House of Coleman printing, has offered to print at a reduced cost any items that may need the new logo incorporated.

The gay community is well known for responding to community needs. Thanks to all of you who have helped.

Belo Below Par

Editor—The following letter was sent to KZEW-FM, the FCC, and the Dallas Gay Alliance (DGA).

Dear Sirs:

On Friday morning, January 15, 1982, at approximately 8:50am, the disc jockeys on KZEW-FM were reporting that Bell Telephone Company had been ordered to divide itself into smaller, more local companies. One of the DJs said that the Oak Lawn company should be called "Tinker Bell."

I feel this comment was in bad taste and I was offended by the remark. I have contacted Mr. Ward Huey, and have already spoken to the FCC. I also intend to send a copy of this letter to the FCC in Washington, D.C., to be put in KZEW's file. A third copy will also be sent to the DGA, so they may take any action they feel necessary.

I know that your company ownership and management are conservatives and are not likely to embrace a positive attitude toward gay rights, however, I do feel that they would wish to avoid any undue embarrassment. I would appreciate a response in writing on Belo [Broadcasting] letterhead.

W.B. Todd, III

On "Pray TV"

Editor—Times haven't changed! Back in the '30s when Orson Wells presented his radio program, War Of the Worlds, many listeners actually thought Martians had invaded New Jersey. Now, fifty decades later, audiences are still having difficulty distinguishing between fiction and reality.

On February 1, ABC-TV presented the movie, Pray TV, about an electronic evangelist who passed the proverbial collection plate by showing an 800-toll-free telephone number on the screen. ABC-TV reported that over 15,000 viewers tried to call the non-working number.

Dear TWT:

I was not surprised to learn that some 15,000 people sought spiritual help and guidance as a result of the televised drama, Pray TV. I, myself, was at one time of that same need.

Since I've found a new life in Christ for myself, maybe my letter and prayer will help any of the 15,000 people who reached a "number not in service."

Thank you, dear God
For all you have given me,
For all you have taken away from me,
For all you have left me.

Dear God,

I have no idea where I am going. I do not see the road ahead of me. I cannot know for certain where it will end. Nor do I really know myself, and the fact that I think that I am following your will does not mean that I am actually doing so. But I believe this. I believe that the desire to please you does in fact please you. I hope I have that desire in everything I do. I hope I never do anything apart from that desire. And I know that if I do this you will lead me by that right road though I may not know anything about it at the time. Therefore I will trust you always, for though I may seem to be lost, and in the shadow of death, I will not be afraid because I know you will never leave me to face my troubles all alone.

SPECIAL REPORT

BY BILL SCOTT, M.S.W.
AND LEE HARRINGTON

THE GAYS AND THE POLICE

Law enforcement is an area of authority intriguing to analyze. Police, like many in other powerful agencies, are jealous of their prerogative in power. They don't like to be interfered with. They often operate in mystery—the Internal Affairs Department, how an arrest is consummated, etc. They are very invisible. According to one police chief, the secret agenda of most police officials is, "If you are an asshole, you are suspect."

Ironically, the true test of a qualified police officer should be how well they respond to behavior and lifestyles they are most uncomfortable with. In order to keep the system of democracy from breaking down, even a member of the Klu Klux Klan must get fair protection.

Unfortunately, in Houston, the history of the Police Department is scarred with incidences of discrimination and even criminal activity. The U.S. Civil Rights Commission regularly calls the GPC for reports of police misconduct. The watchdog activities of gay activist Ray Hill have also been informative.

What little hope there was for understanding from Mayor McConn's 1980 gay-opposed appointment of B.K. Johnson as chief soon dimmed. Personally threatened by the gay issue, he eventually would not even return the phone calls from GPC president Lee Harrington, and particularly so when he learned that Anthony Bouza, Minneapolis' police chief and one of the country's most progressive, had been scheduled by Harrington to address the rally at the end of Gay Pride Week 1981. Incensed by the official snub of Bouza, and prior lack of cooperation, Harrington wrote a blistering attack on Johnson and the system to city council members. The Rev. Chuck Larsen, MCCR Pastor, had also spoken before council about training curriculum deficiency.

With much research, including talking with the police chief or another official, and with one or more members of the gay community, in 16 U.S. cities, and after considerable help from several council members, Harrington had the 1980-81 City Council poised to pass a resolution calling on Johnson to begin cooperating and to enact changes in officer training.

On October 19, 1981, councilpersons Mancuso and Goyen (both unopposed) told Harrington that if he would wait until after the November elections, they would deliver, regardless of the mayoral outcome, a statement-making unanimous vote on the resolution. Harrington agreed.

The 1981 Houston municipal elections are history. They created a new attitude toward equality for gays and lesbians here. With Johnson's resignation, the police academy was ready to cooperate—no city council action was necessary.

Bill Scott, M.S.W, founder of the Montrose Counseling Center, and Harrington have teamed on several occasions to gain constructive dialogue with the police. Therefore, Harrington asked Scott to join him in his effort to effect curriculum changes.

After more negotiation, on February 8 they shook hands with police officials on a five-point package: 1) a four-hour course for new cadets; 2) in-depth curriculum on the gay lifestyle; 3) field training; 4) training for officers already on the force; 5) classroom presentations from qualified members of the gay community (Harrington and Scott were hired to teach the course).

Acting Police Chief Bales approved the package. Even before this, however, when informed of gay concerns about harassment, he called, on January 18, in councilperson George Greanias' office, a meeting of Montrose leaders. Only a few months ago all of this would have seemed impossible.

These changes result in a new image for both the police and the gay community. In order for there to be a constructive relationship, accountability is needed from both parties. This is going to take time and patience.

A pragmatic approach to these issues, instead of a defensive one, seems to be producing results. We must be determined, but we must also be reasonable. In a one hour and fifteen minute meeting Mayor Kathy Whitmire and Lee Harrington had on February 13, she told Harrington the top priority she is giving police department effectiveness.

It seems that a mature response to these initial HPD concessions would be, first, an awareness that progress has been made; second, that reason needs to prevail in further negotiations; and third, that we now produce an outstanding course to sensitize police to the gay lifestyle. W

ASSIGNMENT: HEALTH

Part III of a continuing weekly series of narrative features on health and hygiene.

IN FITNESS AND IN HEALTH

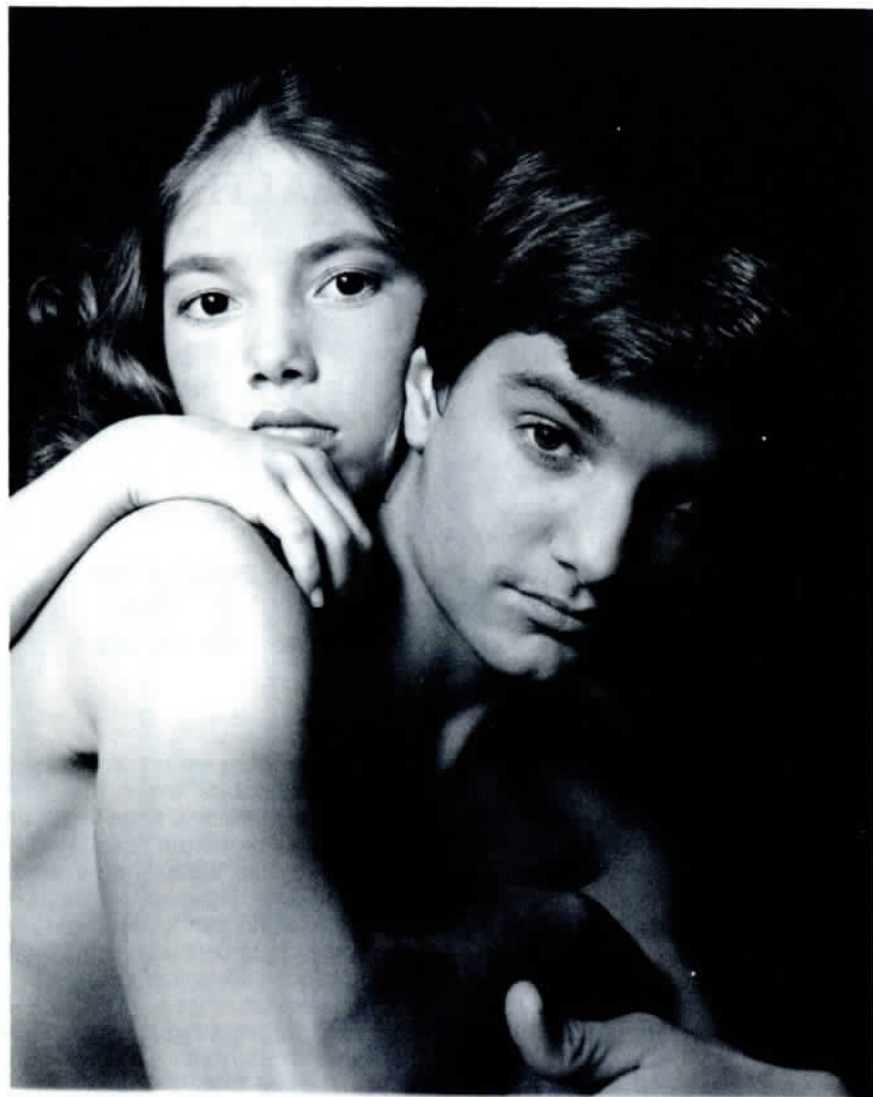

by Craig Rowland

We are at the mercy of a civilization that has become increasingly sedentary. Many lifestyle factors insidiously hinder our general health, especially in urban areas like Houston, where even walking is practically extinct, and McDonald's is convenient and time-efficient during the hectic work day. Rarely does one's occupation include enough exercise, and heavy schedules frequently result in settling for "fast" food, perhaps along with a fancy vitamin pill, meals skipped altogether, or lack of adequate rest. Since the basic formula for good health is a consistent combination of good nutrition, exercise and rest, many of us are in trouble. Multiple reasons and excuses prevent us from adhering to healthy living habits, and the inevitable consequence is mediocre or poor physical condition, or worse.

Even under ideal circumstances for taking care of these needs, many are not adequately informed. Families often unwittingly suffer from ignorance about health and fitness issues, and children acquire bad habits which they carry throughout adulthood. Even those who are well-informed often "can't find the time" to spend leisure hours after a draining work day buying everything needed to avoid the "gay refrigerator" syndrome of poppers and beer, plus fitting in regular exercise. Dining out at the better restaurants is no guaranteed route to proper eating, either. Good nutrition is often sacrificed for taste, appearance of food, and a swanky atmosphere at ludicrous prices.

If one's lifestyle were that of, say, Tarzan, we might be excused from consistent fitness programs and still count on good health as much as anyone can realistically count on anything. But, after about the twenty-first year, unless you have the genetic make-up of Superman, the typical male body begins to deteriorate and becomes more prone to infection, disease and other health problems. Chests sink to stomachs and biceps turn to jelly.

Whether the motivation to be fit stems only from a narcissistic desire to look good while dancing shirtless at your favorite bar, or from a more serious interest in developing and/or maintaining a sound body, a complete program of good nutrition, exercise and rest is imperative. Hunky chests and wash-board stomachs may get you more dates, but in addition to that, a fitness program can lead to better general health, which, in turn, can increase the ability to fight off disease and other health problems.

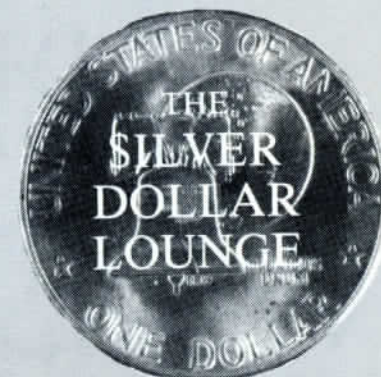

In the end, if being fit is a priority, there really is no way around it: It is the individual's responsibility to find the time to acquire conscientious health habits and incorporate them into daily activity.

But how does one decide how to accomplish this? The fitness craze of the 70s has been hyped by the media and has unleashed the invention of hundreds of different types of diets, exercise equipment, health clubs, gyms, vitamins and other fads. It's confusing. Get-health-quick schemes include pills filled with promises, electric corsets that trim inches off waists in minutes and the do-it-yourself-at-home type kits like the ones you can order from the inside back covers of Batman comic books. These "programs" are not necessarily well-structured, do not always include adequate instruction, and can be unsafe, if not downright dangerous.

Fortunately, in addition to the products of charlatans after fast bucks, there are some safe and scientifically-advanced fitness programs available. Since there are as many exercise programs as there are people interested in them, TWT's "Assignment: Health" series will in future issues cover some of the most credible and popular programs available. Among topics to be discussed are the Nautilus system, conventional free weights, aerobic exercise, and other essential components of health, including nutrition, mental health, and the effects of recreational drugs and alcohol. TWT

The Movie Lover, by Richard Friedel, 304pp., Coward, McCann & Geoghegan Publishers, 200 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10016, hardbound $12.95

Reviewed by James Marvin

Richard Friedel has made a tremendously entertaining, inspiring and moving literary debut with his first novel, The Movie Lover.

Burton Raider, the hero of this novel, received his early inspirations in life from the MGM family of stars, via the silver screen. He, like many of us at a very early age, "always had a tenuous relationship with real life," and "never quite belonged, never quite fit in."

Later, discovering his sexual drives were focused on boys, and not girls, he could not "understand why being attracted to your own sex creates such a hubbub among those not so inclined. Physically, two arms, two legs, etc., are involved. A genital difference here, a gland difference there. What's the fuss? Sexual orientation is only one aspect of homosexuality, which is really a personality, a sensitivity. A spirit. It cannot be ignored like a pimple or repressed like the urge to eat a chocolate-covered cherry; it cannot be isolated from one's personality. It is an inexorable part of what makes one an individual."

"Burton is independent, critical, loving, self-reliant, intelligent, humane, hilarious; his lifelong goal is to reestab-

He loves, he loses, he survives, he thrives, he knows what he wants and keeps after it, he wins. A faded star of the 40s gets a second chance because of him. The Moral Majority is thwarted by him.

Fortunately, I started reading The Movie Lover on Sunday. I could not/ would not put it down until reaching the last word on the last page. I sincerely hope this is the first of many novels by Richard Friedel. Bravo! Encore!

An Asian Minor/The True Story of Ganymede, by Felice Picano, Illustrations by David Martin, 124pp., The Sea Horse Press, Box 509, Village Station, New York, N.Y. 10014, softcover $6.95

Reviewed by David Fields

Felice Picano has written a whimsical revision of the mythic beginnings of Ganymede, the most beautiful boy in the world who became immortal at the pleasure of the gods. Ganymede tells his own story, meant to clarify all the rumors and outright fabrications spread by gods such as Hermes (the wing-footed messenger of the gods), who conspired to win his love and failed.

As Ganymede tells it, almost all the gods have the hots for this boy who has been fated by Zeus to be beautiful. As even Zeus says, "Hera and I haven't slept together in eons." The intrigue and deceptions of the various gods as they try to seduce him are sometimes comical to read. The pencil sketches by David Martin show how beautiful he is, and provide an indication of how much they want him (a reason by itself to read the book).

Picano tells us what the book is about in the Prologue as he has Ganymede say, "... to give the current crop of good-looking young guys what I hope are a few hints as to how to get themselves a sugar daddy who really counts, rather than settling for whomever comes along." The "sugar daddies" who come down to earth to seduce him are Apollo, as a blind musician; Ares (god of war), as a great warrior from a distant land; Hermes, as a famed mathematician; and finally Zeus himself, as an old shepherd. Each in their own way dazzled him with love, riches, and knowledge in an effort to win his devotion.

The author provides us with accurate, or at least believable, history and geography to set the backdrop for the story. The book is light reading, much different from Picano's other poetry and novels. Ganyমে speaks as a modern day person, familiar with current thought as well to further show his immortal status. The original story was that Zeus became enamored by Ganyমে and swooped down as an eagle to take him up to Olympus. This is a more entertaining version and though it does not deal with the great issues of the day, it is worth the purchase, if only for the drawings.

THE BORDER

Dissatisfied with his life, Charlie (JACK NICHOLSON) moves to Texas to join the border patrol.

Reviewed by Art Tomaszewski

The Border is a film that is long overdue for a couple of reasons.

Firstly, The Border returns Jack Nicholson to the screen in a leading role that is tailor-made for his talents. Secondly and more importantly, this is the first major film to my knowledge that deals with the subject of illegal Mexican immigrants to this country.

Nicholson portrays a man who leaves the Immigration Service in Los Angeles to join the Border Patrol in El Paso. He hopes to renew his life but finds instead that his new job and lifestyle are not at all what he wants. He comes to realize that there is a built-in frustration in being a Border Cop. He must enforce a law that nobody seems to want enforced, including the U.S. Government.

He becomes infatuated with a young Mexican girl who is trying to get across the border. Then the change comes in his life although it is different than he had ever imagined.

This is the type of "Man against the System" role that Nicholson is best at, and his performance alone makes the film worthwhile.

Director Tony Richardson, who established his reputation making "Angry Young Men" films in the 60s (Look Back in Anger, A Taste of Honey) shows great sensitivity in the handling of the subject. This is the first major studio film to have all the Mexicans portrayed in the film actually played by Mexicans or Mexican-Americans.

The film has a fine supporting cast. Valerie Perrine as Nicholson's wife, Harvey Keitel as his fellow cop and neighbor, and Warren Oates as Nicholson's boss.

The film introduces Mexican actress Elpidia Carrillo to American audiences. Although she does not speak English during the film she communicates magnificently on screen.

The Border is a rarity, a message film that is also an exciting, entertaining movie.

Cannery Row shows how Hollywood loves to bring back tried and true formulas. This film recalls the movies of the '40s where America is down on its luck, and the guilt-ridden hero reluctantly goes through trials and tribulations in order to find some satisfaction. But instead of the movie becoming morose, it is spiced up by the use of screwball comedy. This was more than a case of seeing something like it before, it was more like a genuine case of deja vu; two movies come to mind when I think of Cannery Row: Raiders of the Lost Ark and Popeye. It is not like Raiders in terms of action, but in the fire-and-acid relationship between the hero and heroine. They go as far as to make the hero, Doc (Nick Nolte), look like Indiana Jones. As for the crew of loonies who inhabit the row, it is like Popeye. While the characters were plainly weird, the characters in Cannery Row seem to inhabit an area between the real world and the Twilight Zone.

NICK NOLTE stars as Doc, an independent marine biologist with a mysterious past in MGM's Cannery Row.

Suzy (DEBRA WINGER) is forced by hard luck to accept a job (as a prostitute in a colorful bordello) from the flashy "housemother," Fauna (AUDRA LINDLEY).

As an adaptation of a work by John Steinbeck, it does not seem to be a strict interpretation. It never becomes a sad picture of the America that failed, but is more like the wit of Mark Twain taken to the screen. The plot contains such widely divergent elements as a woman living in an abandoned steam boiler, a black man who breaks Doc's arm because he believes he is going to become President, a rowdy frog hunt, and a beer milkshake. Odd? Yes. Confusing? Definitely not. This and more is placed in the film with a decidedly methodical pacing that never breaks the feeling of spontaneity. Maybe twice the pace slackened a bit, but never to the point that it ever made a disruptive break in the flow of the movie.

The characters in the improbable world are endearing as is the narration by John Huston. He speaks to us in a sane, fatherly tone while the events unfold on the screen. And in even those places where we know what is going to happen, something fresh or odd is added. I feel that this is why I liked this movie; though we have all seen love stories in comedic wrappings, this one is normal looking in appearance, but it is so funky and off the wall that it seems new. Don't go looking for heavy meaning here, go for the entertainment.

The Amateur

Reviewed by Harry Deutsch

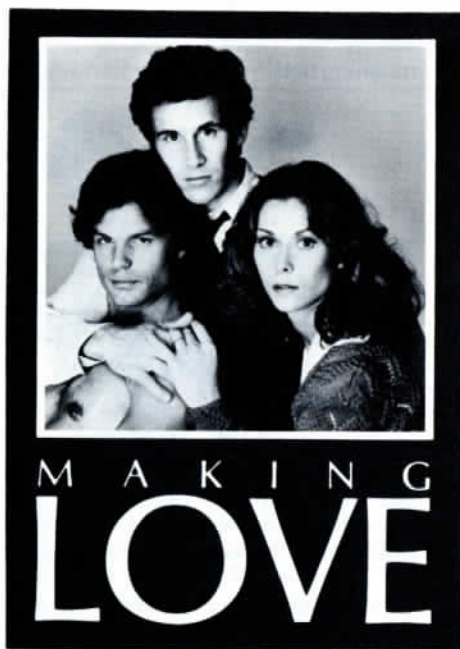

Check out the following: Do you like the suspense of John Le Carre's novels? Did you go for those Charles Bronson flicks where he took brutal revenge against just about everything/everybody? Ever dreamed of going through the CIA's horrendous basic training to be turned into a superspy? If you answered yes at least twice, you are bound to get off to The Amateur. It's the story of a computer wizard (John Savage) who works as a decoder for the almighty CIA. What blows his quite peaceful little world apart is a terrorist showdown in Europe during which his fiancée happens to be picked as the hapless hostage who is dramatically shot dead on live TV. From this moment on Savage is bitter-faced and incapable of producing anything near to a smile. All that's on his mind is to get even with the teutonic terrorists and blow their heads off. He cleverly blackmails the Agency into letting him take part in a CIA crash course and then into sending him off on his executioner's mission behind the Iron Curtain where the villains are hiding. Savage systematically and graphically goes about his dirty job of a blood-thirst avenger. He is aided by Marthe Keller whose talents are wasted in yet another typecast part as an unemotional, dangerous broad from abroad who is entangled in an underworld network of agents, double-agents and anarchists.

Overall, The Amateur is a quite professionally made suspense thriller, and its plot is halfway logical. There's no way, however, that you will really care for any of the yarn's main characters. But that was probably never intended.

RAUCOUS LAUGHTER — Fabulous Phyllis Diller, whose career seems to have covered everything from stand-up comedy to the concert piano stage, is scheduled to star in a lavish Broadway musical called Murder At the Vanities. It's a murder mystery which recalls the Ziegfield Follies, and is probably taken from a bizarre 1934 film of the same title which included a tune called "Sweet Marijuana." The new show is being written by James Kirkwood, librettist of A Chorus Line.

RAUCOUS LAUGHTER + TEARS DEPT — If you loved the "Family" sketches on Carol Burnett's TV series, then you'll be ecstatic about a two-hour movie that will appear on CBS on March 15. Eunice reunites the family clan, with Burnett as Eunice, Harvey Korman as Ed, and, of course, Vickie Lawrence as Mama. The four-act film covers time from the 50's to the present and provides a few tears along with the laughs.

CELLULOID TIDBITS — One of the hottest film hits in France is about to raise a few sparks in the States as well.

Quest for Fire

The name of it is Quest For Fire and it is a caveman epic that is supposed to do for the Stone Age what 2001: A Space Odyssey did for the Space Age... Several new films have stars or supporting players who have been critic favorites for years, but never moved into superstar status in spite of the enormity of their talents: Paul Le Mat, who scored in American Graffiti, Melvin and Howard, and the cult flick Citizen's Band (aka Handle With Care), is the star of a new suspense drama called Death Valley. His costar is Catherine Hicks who recently appeared in the TV remake of Valley of the Dolls. Janice Rule, who's had a devoted following for years, and the extremely talented Melanie Mayron each have supporting roles in Costa-Gravas' new thriller, Missing. Harvey Keitel adds to his long list of finely etched characters in the new Jack Nicholson starrer The Border. Karen Allen, who was terrific as Al Pacino's girlfriend in the otherwise silly Cruising, and as female lead in Raiders of the Lost Ark, is Albert Finney's mistress in the new Shoot The Moon.

WOOFERS AND TWEETERS — Dolly Parton's new single, the tragicomic "Single Women," originated as a Saturday Night Live sketch and was written by Michael (Mr. Mike) O'Donoghue, one of the show's main writers. Dolly has been visiting Australia while recuperating from the rigors of Best Little Whorehouse filming. She'll soon be back on the tour boards. Meanwhile, sister Stella Parton is back with her first album in a couple of years. The disc was produced by Milan Williams of the Commodores... Ronnie Dyson scored a few pop hits in the early 70's, notably "If You Let Me Make Love To You, Why Can't I Touch You," among others. You may also remember him from the Broadway cast album of Hair, where he sang "Aquarius." In recent years, his career has been handicapped by a drug habit, but he's now recovered and back with a new album... Chubby Checker's The Change Has Come is his first album in about 15 years... Barbra Streisand's new single, "Memory," easily her best in years, is a tune from the Andrew Lloyd Webber musical Cats, currently the hottest show in London. Is Barbra warming up for Evita?... Janis Joplin is back on the album charts with Farewell Song... Bonnie Raitt's new album is Green Light and Judy Collins is back with The Times of Our Lives... A soundtrack has been released for the 11-part British-produced Brideshead Revisited series... Sissy Spacek has signed a recording contract with Atlantic Records... A new group called Marilyn and the Movie Stars is getting some attention for an EP entitled So Disgraceful.

MAKING PROGRESS DEPT — In its first three days of release, 20th Century-Fox Films' Making Love earned $3 million playing on 363 screens nationwide. It's interesting to compare that to the recent Christmas hit, Taps, which took a week to earn just under $3 million playing on 455 screens. W

DALLAS MAN — On our cover this week is young and blonde, Jim Hardgrave; filmed at the provocative Club Dallas by TWT's Robert Araya of the Mimoso Studio.

DALLAS MEN — The good ol' boys of The Round-Up have won first place in last weekend's TROT III bowling tournament (photos next week) ... Gayline will soon be able to afford a new metro telephone number thanks to the capacity crowd who attended the benefit showing of Taxi Zum Klo at The Inwood Theatre; over $1,000 was raised ... and Lakewood Station's Leather and Lace theme party held at the new Oak Lawn Transfer last Saturday not only attracted a horde of hot men but also raised about $4,000 for dj Doug Williams who, HOT TEA understands, is just back from San Francisco where he bought new wax for this weekend's construction party.

STIRRING TEA — "Go Texan!" That's the theme of this year's Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo which has saddled up for February 24 through March 7. The trail ride arrives in Houston this Saturday.

CHURNING TEA — Too thick to simply stir! Contrary to the Houston rumor mill, both Badlands and the Truck Stop are still open, reports owner Jim Pruett. Truck Stop is weekend disco; Badlands is everyday cruising. "No, we are not closed!"

HOT TEA

MARDI GRAS MADNESS — Once a year, the planets conspire as the elements combine to produce for the peoples of Earth one night of divine madness known as Mardi Gras Madness. The ancient elements of fire and ice will mingle at the summit of the Mountains of Madness. Thus, the stage is set for the seventh annual MGM all night eruption of Saturday, February 27. Get set for the perfect passion and fierce heat of electric fire to mingle with an icy-wet, cold-blooded basic beastial beat. Save $10.00 by purchasing tickets by this February 20—one week in advance.

THE SOURCE — Miss Gay America, Jennifer Foxx, has booked her first Texas tour through RJ Productions into six Lone Star cities in March ... Jerry Harper has won the Pink Elephant's Queen of Hearts cupid contest ... and four big regional contests for Johnny Maddox's Miss Texas Entertainment are slated this spring: The first regional competition will be for Dallas/Fort Worth at The Landing on March 2; the next will be on April 20 at The Copa for the Houston/Galveston/Beaumont regionals; then in May at Sunset Boulevard for the Austin/San Antonio/Waco regionals; and lastly will be West Texas.

(713) 528-CARE — Dial the Montrose Patrol to volunteer for office work, a patrol beat, or dispatching. Houston's Montrose Patrol "needs a few good men," reports spokesperson Anne Mayes.

HOUSTON HOTLINE — Linda Clifford this Friday and Tiffany Arrieagas this Sunday are the alpha and the zeta attractions for the Copa's three-day third anniversary ... anyone with a ticket stub from The Cars February 25 concert, can get into Number's Nu-Wave night next Thursday free, says dj Bruce ... next Wednesday E.J.'s presents a worthwhile benefit for the ailing pianist, the popular Marguarite ... popular P-town entertainers Linda Gerard and Diane Marchal play Just Marion and Lynn's this weekend ... and when Claude Sacha pulled Copa customer Chris, Donna Day and Tiffany Jones out of the audience last Friday to perform Goin' to the Chapel of Love, the tips flowed and the energy peaked—hot show, Claude!

TEXAS TELETYPE — Coco brings "The Wiz" to Astraptes in College Station March 6 ... the incomparable Sadji comes to Tex's in Austin March 2 ... Captivating Donna Day journeys to The Answer in Atlanta February 26 ... Mr. Tiffany Jones brings "A Touch of Class" to The Landing in Dallas this Friday, February 19 ... Roxie Starr took her act back to her Copa roots in Beaumont last Sunday and pulled out all the ol' stops ... Maryanne Mahoney's Mata Hari band continues to pack Houston's Lamp Post every weekend ... and Galveston's newest club, the Silver Dollar, opens atop the Kon-Tiki this Friday.

DRAG GAG — Andy Mills in a dress? John Pegram in full face? Hank Swanson in gown and wig? Mother Ruth without a needle? Yes, folks ... all this and more this Sunday afternoon at the Midnite Sun's benefit show for Peaches.

SAN ANTONIO — A new bar next to Snuffy's Saloon will open soon to be known as the San Pedro Mining Company which will be under the ownership of Harry "Paris News" Grief and managed by daughter Annie ... "hardhitting and extremely funny at the same time" describes Streamers, said the New York Daily News; Streamers by David Rabe and directed by Jerry Pilato plays next Friday night, February 26 at Bonham Exchange ... and, at the Alice Phallus January amateur contest at Sunset Boulevard, TWT photographer J. French focused the CRUISE CAMERA on the winners (left to right) Fifi Tits La Petite who was a runner-up, Dolli Madison who was the winner, and Danielle Michaels who was also a runner-up.

AUSTIN TEA — The all new ambience of The Boathouse grand opens next Wednesday night with a cozy new dance floor situated within a metallic wrap-around second level cruise ramp—and all under the strong guidance of stalwart former pro football star, Jerry Smith ... 'tis the season suddenly for jocks to open Austin clubs as TV wrestling star, The hulky Turk, is converting the 900 Red River Club into the new Stud Lounge—the building will become L-shaped with a patio garden and rear entrance ... speaking of rear entrances, Texas #1 News Stand has opened their new hidden door allowing secretive rear entries ... it's 6 cent sale time at Mr. Peepers in honor of being on 6th Street for 6 years ... and, Border and Charly have opened their fine new downtown Video Barn at Stallion Bookstore—very tasteful.

AUSTIN MEMOS — Bunch Brittan of the Apartment Lounge will play the role of Abe in the Zachary Scott Theatre production of The Ritz which opens March 12 and continues through April 4—other notables include Kermit who plays the flaming queen and Tony LaCivita who plays Carmine ... meanwhile, the play Tiny Boas, described as a tad ahead of the state of the art, continues on Sunday nights with an 8:00pm performance at Esther's Follies ... last Sunday, the Tex US Band played Red River Crossing in an MCCA fund raiser which netted over $1000—incidentally, the MCCA is looking for another location since the church at 5500 Ave. G won't be vacant because they've decided not to move out ... look for Wild Bill's Bookstore on Research Boulevard to likely close this Fall due to a lease renewal snafu ... and, the future of the downtown Fortress Bookstore is also doubtful.

NAME DROPPER — Remember Big Skinny Brown who played Pauline in Women Behind Bars? Well his real name is William Harvey Brown. He married Miss Jillian Mary Hingle at Palmer Memorial Episcopal Church. In attendance as ladies in waiting were Alicia "Guadalupe", Ed "Neon Woman" Muth, Steve O'Kane, Scott Hagler, Fred "Louise" Hinton, David Travino, Mary "Cherri" Hooper, Natalie "Gloria" Roberts, Tom "costuming" Dornbusch, and Gary "abolish the treasurer" Van Ootegham. An assorted assemblage at a sorta-gay wedding!

TATTLE TALE — A new preliminary survey by the Dallas Gay Alliance indicates that most lesbians would prefer to be called gay women ... last week several roosters sprouting vice fuzz rather than feathers raided Houston's Chicken Coop; but, undaunted, the Coop remains open and just in time for their first year jubilee this weekend ... and, Houston's Fitness Exchange has just installed their third set of chest and shoulder Nautilus machines to quicken workouts.

DALLAS WOMEN — graham's CRUISE CAMERA presents Ray Martin (see above photo) with just three of the many beautiful women of Big D who helped Ray's High Country celebrate its first anniversary recently; most festive occasion ... the Dallas Women's Motorcycle Club will crown a new king and queen during this Sunday's Mardi Gras tea dance at The Landing and also award prizes for bizarre Mardi Gras costumes ... HOT TEA invites you to watch for Dena Kaye's next Wild Crowd wild show as she is a terrific entertainer ... and, last but certainly not lesbian, are the talented thespians who starred in the recent infamous Jugglet's Review (see CRUISE CAMERA photo below). Sickness never ceases to amaze the multitudes.

FORT WORTH — The Valentine showing of the movie Making Love sponsored by the 651 Club and The Lumber Company as expected was a smash bash ... Miss Gay Fort Worth is set for next month at the OP where the annual Miss Gay Other Place pageant is booked for next Wednesday ... also next Wednesday, Butchella and the Adam's Inn male dancers take it off at The Lumber Company ... also next Wednesday, February 24, the Moral Majority's Jerry Falwell will be at Will Rogers Auditorium at 7:00pm for an open to the public Baptist Bible Fellowship ... HOT TEA joins Norman Lear in hoping this self-styled censor continues to suffer from sagging attendance, plummeting TV ratings, and sluggish donations.

FW DATELINE — Billy Ray has opened a new bar for women, The Come Along Inn, in the downtown gay cluster ... Orv is the new bartender at the Krazy Cowboy where male dancers have taken over Tuesdays ... more male dancers are needed by Corral owner, Gordon ... and, no sooner had the 651 Club graduated their first C&W dance class of '82, than they were already registering a new freshman class.

DALLAS DIRT — You must taste test all the yummy sweets at the Eighth Day candy store where there's Black Betty for those into chocolate, there's White A.C. for those into divinity, and now there's Renee for those into dark chocolate ... more black and white together HOT TEA from Sue Ellen at JR's where on Valentine's Day Brandi West and Naomi Sims did perhaps the finest performances of their careers; so good, in fact, that they've been invited back to JR's for a shamrock encore on Saint Patrick's Day ... and, next Tuesday night, talented Dione Martell will crown the new Miss Fraternity House. W

as told to Alan Gellman

Dear TWT and Readers:

I feel that it is my duty as a transexual and torrid sex kitten to finally tell the world my life story. I mean, I have read some boring (I'm talking yawn) stories before, but my life has been full of so many exciting and gorgeous experiences that I want to share them with you.

How exactly is your name pronounced, anyway?

A good question and one that has needed answering for quite some time.

My name is pronounced "Zsh-ah-nah." Play like you're going to say "Zsa-Zsa" Gabor but instead of the second "Zsa" act like you're going to sneeze and say "Nah." * * * * *

Interview with a Torrid Sex Kitten

photography by jim hamilton

Alan — Jahonau, being as incredibly gorgeous as you are, how do you maintain such a perfect and humble personality?

Jahonau — Well (pause for suspense), I feel like the world deserves at least one beautiful friend who used to be a boy. Someone they can look up to and point out in malls, restaurants and other public places and say, "There goes Jahonau, she used to be a he. Can you believe it? She's my friend." But when I turn my back, they have to tell everyone the "tea."

Many people consider you freakish or offensive to the community. What are your thoughts?

Simply this: I am, of course, a sex symbol to most. But to the few that feel they have been put on earth to judge others, I say, "Who the fuck are you to tell me how I should or shouldn't live? I look, feel and act how is natural to me, and if you expect unity in the gay community, you'd better start accepting all of your gay brothers and sisters. If you can't accept every facet of the gay lifestyle, then how the fuck can you expect the heteros to?"

That was an inspiration!

What can I say? Thanks.

You sing "live" on stage, but obviously maintain a heavy drug/alcohol and smoking habit. Doesn't that affect your voice?

Well (pause as tears well up in eyes—very dramatic), I have had a rough life between the phenomenal publicity I receive, not to mention the fans that flock to my side wherever I go.

You didn't answer the question.

Oh, I must be fucked up—what was the question?

Forget it. You just amaze me—beauty, talent, personality—why haven't you hit the big lights in Hollywood or Broadway?

My hair has a lot to do with it. As soon as it's long enough to caress my breasts and wear in a chignon, I'll follow "the dream."

Tell us Jahonau, what is that dream?

Actually, it's quite simple. I want to be the biggest recording artist-high fashion model-actress billionaire who is married to a bodybuilder who is richer than me, has ten luxury sports cars, dresses in designer clothes and loves Lhaphsa-Apsos.

You're so demure. You give so much yet ask so little in return.

And have lots of fur coats and diamonds and estates with guards everywhere, a butler, lots of maids and an Eunuch.

Thank you, Jahonau, it's time for you to catch the bus for your next drag show.

This has been a brief but vital interview with torrid sex kitten Jahonau Reis—may she live till she gets wrinkles. W

The Week of February 19 - 25

STARGAZER: If you are awake prior to sunrise this Saturday, February 20, you will see the morning star, Venus, a little to the north of a thin crescent Moon which is waning smaller nightly. A beautiful sight.

FOR ALL SIGNS: The Sun left Aquarius and entered Pisces on February 18. This month's New Moon occurs at 3:13pm, next Wednesday, February 23, offering you the opportunity to launch a new goal. However, lucky Jupiter becomes less lucky when it begins backward motion on the same day.

PISCES: The Sun is now in your zodiac sign, which is a big boost for all matters which are vital to you personally. Any personal goals you wish to realize can be successfully reached under the lucky spell of next Tuesday's New Moon, which will fortunately occur in your sign. This once-a-year Pisces New Moon is your best opportunity of the year to begin a new you. Take full advantage of this very personal lunar vibration.

ARIES: Next Tuesday's Pisces New Moon falls in your twelfth house, creating a fine opportunity for you to launch any secretive goals. Private matters and quiet endeavors can be successfully attained under this lunar vibration. If you have just secretly fled a situation, return, as your private worry and fear was based on twelfth house illusion.

TAURUS: Next Tuesday's New Moon comes to rest in your eleventh house, offering you a splendid opportunity to attain any social goals. It is also a good period to begin a trustworthy new friendship and realize your fondest hopes and wishes.

GEMINI: Next Tuesday's New Moon sheds its lunar light on your tenth house of career. This New Moon is your best time of the year to launch any career aims, to seek a promotion, to interview for a job, or to push any employment ideas into the receptive minds of your employer and coworkers. Do not miss these once-a-year career opportunities.

GANGER: Next Tuesday's New Moon sheds its lunar light on your ninth house of travel and learning. Taking a trip is favored. Beginning any long distance business deals or negotiations are blessed. Teaching, learning and studying also receive a lunar boost. This New Moon is additionally favorable for beginning any legal proceedings.

LEO: Next Tuesday's New Moon is ideal for starting any matters dealing with other people's money. Pertinent to this are goals such as partnership spending or making money from other people. This New Moon also signals a red-letter period for computing your income tax to avoid loss or an audit.

VIRGO: Next Tuesday's New Moon is splendid for marriage. This is your best time of the year to get married, to renew vows with your lover, to find a mate, and to launch partnerships whether they be of a legal or personal nature. If you cherish marriage, pursue your goal now for the best results of this year.

LIBRA: Next Tuesday's New Moon is the best time of the year to handle any health matters. Now is an intelligent time to see your doctor, dentist, or counselor, as the prescribed diagnosis and treatment will not only be correct and precise, but the treatment will also be successful. The New Moon urges you to make your health a high priority. Diet and exercise plans launched now also are blessed for supreme results.

SCORPIO: Next Tuesday's New Moon sheds its light on your fifth house of love affairs, speculation and entertainment. Any of these areas of your life can now be successfully and happily placed into motion. Dating is accentuated. Admirers are more easily magnetized by your charm. Investing can lead to monetary results.

SAGITTARIUS: Next Tuesday's New Moon sheds its light on your fourth house of the home. Now is your best time of the year to deal in real estate. Buying and selling a home is encouraged. Redecorating and moving to a new address can also produce future contentment. Domestic matters are to be blessed by the February New Moon.

GAPRIGORN: Next Tuesday's New Moon sheds its light of opportunity upon your third house, which means that now is the best time of the year for you to sign an important contract, to plan a trip, to deal successfully with any long distance matters, and to communicate rapidly with others, whether it be to sell an idea or to convince others that your way is most logical. All matters which are mental are blessed by the February New Moon, so take advantage of this upbeat mind-over-matter cycle.

AQUARIUS: Next Tuesday's New Moon sheds its lunar light of opportunity upon your house of money. Even during this repressed financial period, you can still advance monetarily if you act now. Spending, investing, saving and budgeting, if begun now, afford opportunity. This is your most fortunate period of the year to deal rewardingly with money.

Coming next week—Mars spends 7 1/2 months in one sign.
