HPD CHIEF ON MONTROSE CRIME

HOUSTON — Last Wednesday, July 21, a group of concerned business persons of Montrose conducted an urgent meeting at Liberty Bank to discuss crime and how it affects business and customers.

Those suggestions have been conveyed to HPD Chief Brown, who will speak at a special meeting of the Neartown Association next Tuesday, July 27. Chief Brown wishes to become familiar with the specific crime problems of Montrose in order to target ways of dealing with it, Betty Ray, president of Neartown told TWT NEWS.

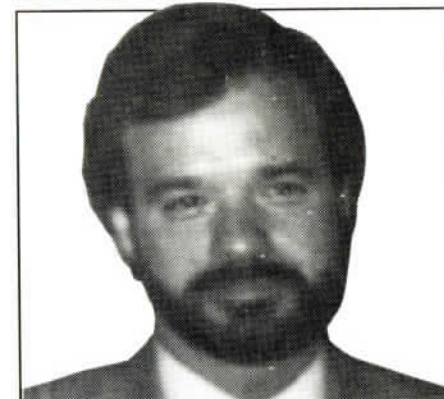

At next Tuesday evening's meeting, business leaders will discuss with Chief Brown violent street crime, vice, murder, burglary and robbery. During the meeting, recent studies of Montrose by the U of H Urban Studies Department will be discussed. Resident business persons of Montrose and Neartown are asked to bring questions for Chief Brown to address.

GAY MURDERS STILL UNSOLVED

HOUSTON — The December murders of John Patrick and Ben LeDoux remain unsolved a half year after their brutal occurrence. Although the LeDoux case was featured on TV's Crime Stoppers last winter, no new leads have developed. The Patrick murder appeared to have dead-ended on the day it happened.

Such unfortunate developments fit the pattern of the latest crime statistics for Texas' largest city. The FBI last week noted that in Houston, only one crime in ten is solved. This is five times below the national average of solving half the cases.

Furthermore, it was learned in a new crime report made available to TWT NEWS, that Houston's ability to solve crimes hasn't been on target with the national average since 1977, as it has consistently fallen in the past half decade. Being understaffed and strapped by a fast-growing city population have stacked the odds against Houston's homicide department.

VICTIM'S RIGHT SIDE LIMITED

HOUSTON — Darrell W. New, 28, who was shot on Mary's patio by a passing sniper on July 11, remains hospitalized at Methodist Hospital where he was moved last week after initial treatment at Ben Taub. New's condition has improved as he was talking, moving his right leg and gaining strength, TWT NEWS learned.

The bullet, which remains lodged in his brain, has affected his right eye. "I don't have peripheral vision in my right eye," New told roommate Maurice Pflieder, who was with New when the shooting occurred. His "side" vision has been limited by the injury and he still can't move his right arm, Pflieder informed TWT NEWS.

New will remain hospitalized in Houston until medically able to be transferred to a rehabilitation center. His parents may move him to their home in Cincinnati, Ohio, or wherever the best treatment is available.

Although no visitors have been requested, those wishing to send cards of encouragement may write to New's home address, 1636½ Branard, Houston 77006.

Blood donors should continue to use New's donor number, 101-94-22-9.

At press time, HPD still had no leads on the snipers who were believed to be two Anglo teenagers in a black pick-up truck, perhaps a Ford. A $2,000 reward is being offered by Mary's, Chases and TWT.

GAY LUTHERAN CONVENTION

HOUSTON — Gay Lutherans from all over North America will convene in Houston, July 29-August 1, for Assembly '82, the third biennial convention of Lutherans Concerned/North America: A Christian Ministry for Lesbian/Gay Understanding. The theme for the Assembly is "Extending the Light," focusing on ministry to self, one another, the church and the world. The Assembly will take place at Grace Lutheran Church, 2515 Waugh Drive at Missouri.

A variety of speakers have been chosen to challenge the Assembly participants. Among the speakers announced to TWT NEWS by spokesperson James L. Brown are: John McNeil, S.J., Roman Catholic Jesuit priest from New York, who is most noted for being silenced by his superiors in Rome after publishing his book The Church and The Homosexual; Tom Horner, Episcopal priest and New Orleans bookstore owner and author of numerous books and publications including Jonathan Loved David; Mary Pellauer, Ph.D., professor of Women in Ministry, Union Theological Seminary, New York; Ray Hill, Houston gay activist and media personality; Rev. Linda Leinen, pastor of Hosanna Lutheran Church, Houston;

Rev. Fred Shilling, Assistant to the Bishop of the Texas-Louisiana Synod of the Lutheran Church in America; and Kent Naasz, Houston gay activist, Lutheran seminary graduate and co-author of the book Now What?.

Business will be conducted at two sessions during the Assembly. The rest of the time will be devoted to workshops on a wide variety of topics, creative worship events and opportunities for fellowship.

McNeill will address the Assembly at its banquet on Saturday, July 31 at 8:00pm at Grace Church. Tickets for the banquet and McNeill's speech are available for $15 to the local public. All other events of the Assembly except meals are open to the public free of charge. For tickets and other information call David Ogren at (713) 461-8787 or 493-0858.

DGA HOSTS CONFERENCE

DALLAS — The Dallas Gay Alliance (DGA) will host a national leadership conference August 13-15 at the Grenelefe Hotel. The stated purpose of the conference is to educate, inform and share with women and men from other organizations, the experiences, goals and expectations of the human rights movement for homosexuals.

It has been the subject of several discussions within DGA that, "although we consider ourselves a part of a vital national movement, we are insufficiently acquainted with the leadership of the hundreds of groups such as our own throughout the country." Since Dallas is a centrally located city with a significant homosexual community, it was decided that it would be appropriate for DGA to organize and sponsor this national conference at which the leadership of the gay movement might come together, TWT NEWS was told.

The Alliance feels that it would be especially valuable for the leaders of coastal organizations to meet and socialize with the leadership of the central part of the U.S.

Planning began in September 1981 and significant energy has been expended to date. Hotel and meeting space arrangements are firmly established and the agenda and workshop programs are finalized.

M*A*S*H STAR DOES PRO-GAY VIDEO

WASHINGTON, DC — Actor Mike Farrell, who plays B.J. Hunnicutt on the popular CBS series *M*A*S*H*, has made a twenty-minute video presentation for the Human Rights Campaign Fund, the new pro-gay civil rights/privacy rights political action committee.

According to Steve Endean, the Campaign Fund treasurer and chief executive officer, who is also executive director of the Gay Rights National Lobby, the video presentation that Farrell made is to be used by the Campaign Fund's city committees at cocktail parties and meetings and in major donor solicitations. The Campaign Fund is raising monies for pro-gay civil rights Congressional candidates, supplementing already good intentions with solid political muscle.

Farrell's impressive video presentation, coupled with a direct mail appeal by playwright Tennessee Williams and an extraordinary advisory committee, which includes a number of mayors and bishops, marks a significant departure from previous efforts, both in terms of professionalism and outreach to mainstream America, Endean told TWT NEWS.

CBS FIRES FOSTER "TOO DYKISH"

NEW YORK — On June 12, TV Guide Magazine reported that CBS-TV had decided to fire Meg Foster of the Cagney & Lacey TV detective series and modify the program because CBS researchers perceived her character was "too dykish, too tough, too hard and not feminine." She was to be replaced "by someone deemed less threatening," a high-ranking CBS official had said.

One month later, CBS is "embarrassed because gay groups have now questioned both the network and the production company about the firing of Foster," Frank Swertlow of TV Guide explained. Letters to the editor have flooded both network and publication.

One man from Maine wrote, "I wonder whether it was necessary for the unnamed CBS programmer to use the word 'dykes' in describing how that network feels the public sees the title characters of Cagney & Lacey. I also wonder if it was necessary for the series producer, Richard Rosenbloom, to include the words 'fags' and 'homos' in his rebuttal."

A female viewer in Hawaii compared the series with Starsky and Hutch, saying, "Males, apparently, can be tough with criminals and tender with each other without arousing comment. But if women do these things, they are seen as unfeminine and possibly gay. A male friend of mine has a t-shirt that says, 'A man of quality is not threatened by a woman of equality.'"

Nevertheless, CBS has stuck by its decision to replace Foster with a "less threatening" Sharon Gleess. Lucia Valeska of the National Gay Task Force has noted in a formal protest to CBS several grounds for objection.

HEPATITIS-B VACCINE AVAILABLE

HOUSTON — A vaccine against Hepatitis-B is now available, as reported earlier by TWT NEWS. Last week, TWT NEWS reporter Art Tomaszewski attended a press conference held at KUHT-TV by the drug's manufacturer. It was broadcast live from New York to over 100 cities, including Houston.

The conference, which was poorly attended by Houston's non-gay media, was intended to inform the public about the new vaccine which is now available on a first come-first serve basis. One prominent Houston doctor told TWT NEWS his supply was overly plentiful. Dr. Maurice R. Hilleman of Merck Sharp & Dohme, the drug's manufacturer, said, however, "There may be some spot shortages in some locations, but we are confident we can meet the demand for the vaccine."

Initially, the vaccine is targeted for high-risk groups such as health-care workers, military personnel, sexually-active persons, especially gay males, and those who use "recreational" drugs.

The vaccination is a series of three injections—two in the first month followed by a third six months later. The cost of the injections is approximately $100 for all three, not including any doctor's fees, according to Hilleman.

The drug has been thoroughly tested and more than 12,000 people have received the vaccination without any serious side-effects, according to Dr. Jules Dienstag, Associate Professor at Harvard Medical School.

Sexually active gay males risk an 80% chance of being exposed to Hepatitis-B, considered the most serious type of hepatitis. At this time there are no plans by the government to provide the vaccine. One should contact their personal physician if interested in the vaccine, TWT NEWS learned.

ANOTHER GAY HEALTH DISEASE

ATLANTA — TWT NEWS has recently learned of yet another health problem that attacks gay males. The disease, known as lymphadenopathy, causes fatigue, night sweats, fever and weight loss, reported the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

The condition has occurred in non-gay men, but two things mark it as different in gay males: it lasts much longer in the gay population. 44% of the homosexual men who developed Kaposi's Sarcoma, a lethal cancer in male homosexuals, had experienced the viral infection before the cancer onset.

Evidence gathered so far indicates that there is some dysfunction of the immune system in patients in which the viral infection lingers, a factor that may have a role in allowing the cancer to develop, the CDC said. W

TWT City Maps

Dear TWT:

The Community Resource Center/Gayline of Dallas would like permission to reproduce the maps of Dallas, Houston and Austin originally printed in the July 2-8, 1982 issue of TWT.

Our Gayline counselors frequently are asked for specific locations and/or directions to bars in these cities. Your maps provide a clear overview of the gay community areas and have been quite valuable to those counselors who have access to copies of TWT. For those counselors who may not have gotten a copy of this use, it would be beneficial for both counselor and callers if we could provide copies of your maps....

Sher Harnish, President
CRC/Gayline
Dallas, Texas

Permission is hereby granted by TWT for any non-profit organization to reproduce, reprint and distribute any of the city maps published in TWT as long as the TWT logo and copyright "slug" are left intact and as long as maps are not altered.

To all those who have asked for maps, the following should be noted. Reproduction should be taken directly from the pages of TWT, as each map is intricately assembled at our printer, interlacing several overlays and screens. Do not ask TWT to provide this original artwork, as it is too involved for suitable reproduction. For best and quickest results, simply tear the map page from TWT and have a local "quick-type" printer roll his/her press for you.

Gay Pride Wrap-up

Dear TWT:

This Sunday, July 25 at 2:30pm, at Kindred Spirits on Buffalo Speedway, we will be saying good-bye to Gay Pride Week '82. This will be the last meeting of the GPW committee and we invite all of those who participated in the organizing of GPW '82 to participate in our last meeting and celebration.

Also, let me take this opportunity to thank all of you in our community for making GPW the best ever. For the first time we have money to begin planning for the 1983 celebration. It has been a pleasure and an honor for me to have chaired GPW in 1981 and 1982.

Hippy Hollow Dump

Dear TWT:

Recently, after the July 4, 1982 holiday weekend, a voluntary group of gay friends in Austin had to clean up the Hippy Hollow area around the lake. It took time and dedicated labor to clean up the trash that had accumulated.

This is a letter to the Houstonites, Dallasites, the Austin community and the surrounding Texas cities to try to take the trash they bring into all lake areas back home after they finish their day of festivities.

I thank each person who helped in the clean-up and I thank each person who will try to clean up as we go on throughout each summer season....

Fun Together

Dear TWT:

I have a couple of statements to make about the unity, or lack of it, in the gay communities of Dallas and Houston. A year ago, I moved from Fort Worth to Dallas. At that time, I thought that a gay part of a city would help with the growth of unity, but I have since changed my mind.

In the past year, I have heard gay men complain about women in "their" bars, gay women complain about being ignored by the leadership in the community; I've read about bars in Houston that want to create a clientele of only stereotyped "men."

Due to a number of reasons, I've recently had to move back to Fort Worth and I've noticed real unity in this city. When I go to the bars here, I see all kinds of people—gay and straight, butch and femme, men and women—all having fun together. Fort Worth has a family-type attitude toward each member of the community. A friend came to visit from Dallas last weekend and he noticed (totally on his own) the closeness of the people here.

I hope that someday the larger and more organized cities in Texas can also learn the true meaning of "Progress Through Unity," because the small city of Fort Worth is way ahead in this respect. Bill Todd

Miss Gay Southwest

Dear TWT:

What ever happened to originality and professionalism in regional pageants? I am speaking of the so-called Miss Gay Southwest pageant (not to be confused with R.J. Productions' Miss Southwest of America), where most rules were set aside.

The deadline for entries was to be Friday, July 2, although I watched at least three contestants register the afternoon of the contest. The application asked for a second choice of songs in case an entrant's selection was already being done, although six, yes, six, contestants ended up doing the very same number.

There was no male interview or sportswear category, and official judging consisted of evening wear and talent only. The head judge was to be Naomi Sims, but was replaced by Corpus Christi's Monica Layne.

The last straw was when an error was found in the addition of final scores, changing the outcome from first runner-up right on down the line.

It is said you learn from your mistakes, and if this is true, the show directors of this contest have learned plenty.

Gene Paul Pack
Dallas, Texas

Dear TWT:

This letter concerns our production of the Miss Gay Southwest Pageant . . .

Michelle Lee, my co-director, and I are much wiser now, but we all should be anytime a meaningful experience takes place.

First of all, we never claimed there would be male interviews or sportswear competition. The categories were given on the applications, by phone, advertising and by request.

Second, no one entered after the deadline, other than those that had already contacted us by phone that they were entering before the deadline. This same courtesy would have been extended to anyone who had contacted us previously.

Monica Layne, our head judge, is not a resident of Corpus Christi; as most people know, she is a resident of San Antonio. . . .

Due to an error in tallying that was caused by a disturbance from someone in no way involved with the pageant, our runner-up finalists were announced incorrectly. The error was discovered immediately after the pageant and we wanted to make sure all finalists were recognized so we announced the correction that night. . . . By making the correction, we were able to recognize two other of our fine contestants. . . . The attitude of one or two should not detract from the professionalism of the others.

Again, we congratulate Lisa King, Miss Gay Southwest 1982, our finalists Pauletta Leigh, Venesa Myles, Takish Moye, Abby, Stacy Renee and thank you to the others who have extended their love and understanding to us. Charles, Show Director

Mr. Abilene

Dear TWT:

The Mr. Gay Abilene contest, held July 4 at the Walnut Street Pub, was grandly received by a near-capacity crowd of excited well-wishers. All of the hunky contestants displayed their masculinity to the pleasure of the audience and presented the judges with the difficult task of having to choose the one winner of the coveted Mr. Gay Abilene title. With the contestants sexily displayed in their swimsuits, Sissy Van Dyke, Miss Gay Abilene, performed an electrifying number. The beautiful and extremely talented Eartha Kitt stunned the crowd with several performances, exhibiting her true professionalism. With Dan Reed, Mr. Abilene 1981, Eartha presented second runner-up to Mr. Mike Lujano, first runner-up to Mr. Mike Walden and Mr. Abilene '82 to Mr. Roland Maldenado. . . . Phillip M. Baird

A WOMAN'S PLACE

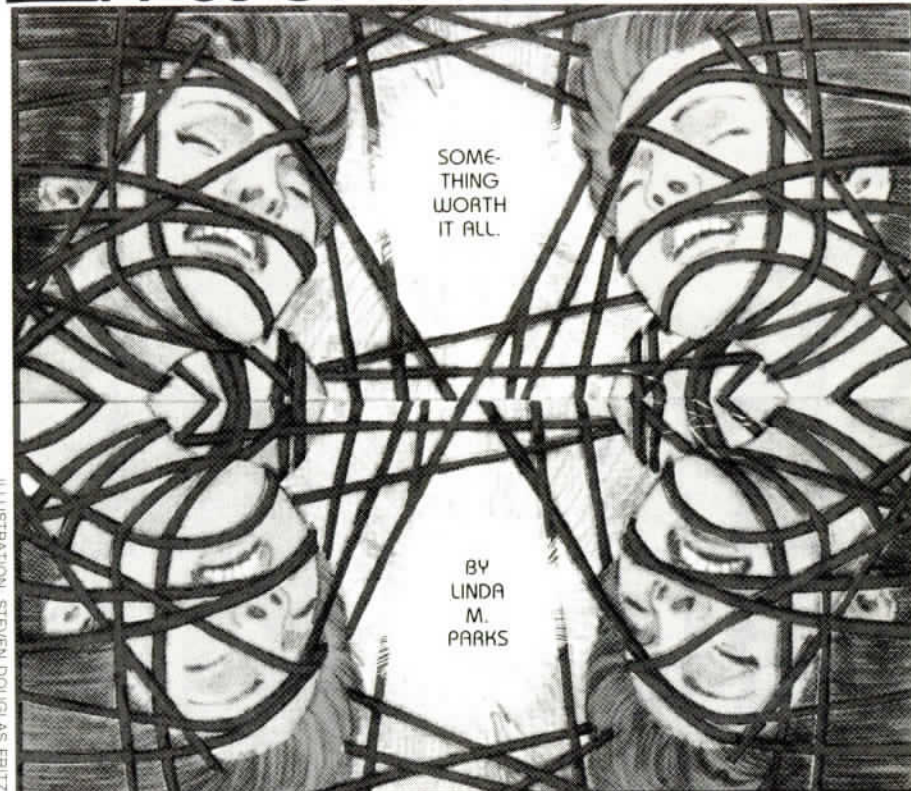

ILLUSTRATION: STEVEN DOUGLAS FRITZ

When Lynn and I were married, we could not announce it publicly, and in the 15 years since that day, we have lived and loved secretly, hiding our relationship. Although we have had some wonderful times, I often regret our not being able to enjoy all of the rights and privileges that any other married couple do. We have been expected to work and pay taxes to support the laws that have helped make us the exiles from society that we are.

I've often wondered what terrible crime we are guilty of that keeps us from being able to tell the world that we love each other. I've wondered what disease keeps us in the shadows. The crime and the disease are both the same—we were born women. Two women can't love each other—it's called sinful, disgraceful, ugly and perverted by those who themselves engage in the real sinful, disgraceful, ugly and perverted ways of life, but by using the word "normal" they condone their own pattern of life. They call us "abnormal" and by tacking on that label, they try to turn something good into something tainted. They attack, and often, they destroy. I feel lucky that Lynn and I have survived so far under the siege, although at times our feelings have been wounded almost beyond repair.

We started out together with all the usual problems that any two women in love with each other face—family, neighbors, friends and the community all in a tight conspiracy against us. We were breaking the rules, so we had to at least try to hide the fact we were living in a relationship that was totally unacceptable to society. Especially since I had a baby daughter by a former marriage—an acceptable marriage, as I had married very young and had chosen the person that my parents felt was suitable—a young man. That was a tragedy. But what is truly a remarkable thing is that, to this day, I think my parents would have preferred my remaining married to a worthless man than to see me happy and successful with a woman. That's the way society teaches thinking. It is better to be miserable and "normal" than to be happy and "abnormal." That in itself challenges the meanings of the words themselves, as I do not know what normal is, if it is to cause trouble and heartaches for others. And I do not want to live as normal if it means putting up with a drunkard and having to live with a man who beats me, treats me like a servant and who leaves me cold emotionally and unfulfilled sexually. If the fact he was a man created some special role for him, and made his way normal and the way I now live abnormal, then thank God, I am glad to be abnormal.

Something else quite remarkable is the fact that simply because he sired our child, he is called our daughter's father. That is simply not true. To me a father figure is that person who is strong enough to be in control of a family, gentle enough to understand even the smallest problem of a child, and fair enough to listen to a child's ideas. That figure in our daughter's life is Lynn. It was Lynn who was there on the nights when my daughter needed someone to take her temperature and rock her to sleep. It was Lynn who provided the home, the welfare, the security that helped our daughter to go through school and graduate from high school with honors. It was Lynn who went to bat for her when situations came up. It was Lynn who put together all those many Christmas toys throughout these 15 years. Now it is Lynn who is doing the same things for our granddaughter.

And all this without benefit of any recognition outside of our own home and small circle of friends. She has never been able to claim us on her tax returns, which is unfair. She has never been able to be called mother or father or grandparent. She has been introduced in all walks of our life as "my friend."

Our daughter has introduced her often as "my mother's friend." In our family's acceptance of us, finally after so many years, they still do not truly realize that our existence, our way of life, is no different from theirs. We have a home, we have a garden, we go to the store for groceries, we pay insurance premiums, we wash our clothes, we go to the doctor and to the dentist—we are as human as anyone else. We are just kept in some mystery world created by weird minds, making us seem less than what we truly are.

When I was sick once and in the hospital, Lynn was not permitted to visit. The doctor had said, "Family only." We had not realized that such a practice could exist; now we have prepared for future events. At a funeral once, my own family didn't think it was proper for Lynn to be in our family pew. I won't go into what this did to our feelings. Once, my own sister said that I could come visit, but not to bring Lynn with me to a family get-together. I didn't go either. It is things like this that cause me to feel so hurt. We are as much a family as any other—perhaps closer than most, as we have to stick together more than most to survive the hurts of just living our own lives.

So, recently I was telling Lynn how I really felt, that it made me feel bad to know that I at least had some recognition; I was mother, and now I'm grandma. I told her it burned me up that she did all the work, had been through such hell for me, and still, if anything happened to me, she wouldn't even be allowed to make any decisions about my funeral or probably would even be permitted to keep my things. So, we went to an attorney and have made legal provisions for future events. We have no rights as a lesbian couple, but we went around the law to make sure that certain things are done in case of either of our deaths. I think it is a wise decision, and I strongly recommend it for any lesbians who have not yet been involved in any legal problems about children, income, bank accounts, property and personal belongings.

After we had settled all this legal business, we sighed a small breath of relief. Then we reflected back upon our 15 years together. And we decided that in spite of not being able to tell the world that we do love each other, in spite of all the lies we've had to tell and the narrow escapes we've had in the past avoiding disclosure of our "sordid" life, it's all been worth it. We've decided we have something worth it all. We knew going into this that it would not be easy; it has been a lot harder than we ever imagined. But, we have proven that we have what it takes to stick together through all the bad times, and we did it because we wanted to. We've battled prejudice and bigotry, ignorance and pressures of varying degrees. We've had to move a couple of times when our "secret" was out and neighbors literally sicked their children on us. They made our daughter's life at school pure hell—simply because some little brat had suspected that we loved each other. Once, neighbor's children killed our dog, just because someone had said we were "gay." Yes, we've been through a lot. I'm sure we will have more problems, but so what, that's life. No one and nothing can drive us apart; it's all been tried.

Our daughter knows how much she owes to Lynn. She has grown up loving Lynn and respecting her. That says a lot. Now, with our grandchild, things are really great. One of our friends was joking with Lynn and asked her, "What's she going to call you when she starts talking? Pa?" Lynn just smiled in that way she has and replied, "No, I'm not her pa. I'm her Lynn." Now that our grandbaby is talking, one of her first words was "Linna." That's what she calls Lynn now. Me, I'm "Maw-Maw." So, as we continue our venture out into this ol' world, now there are four of us, who have a close, understanding relationship. As far as I'm concerned, if anyone wants to call Lynn anything at all, thy can just call her "wonderful." That's what she is!

BOOKS

and other stories
RON HARVIE

Reviewed by David Fields

The Voltaire Smile and other stories, by Ron Harvie; 196pp.; The Gay Presses of New York, P.O. Box 294, New York, N.Y. 10014-0294; softcover, $6.95.

This book is much like a box of chocolates—each piece has its own unique flavor, and the impact of each is achieved with different ingredients that are sure to intrigue and entertain. There are seventeen short stories of varying lengths in The Voltaire Smile by Ron Harvie, and the title story is second in order in the book. Some stories, like Medvedy, are downright eccentric. Medvedy searches for love and, in his innocence, is taken advantage of and abused by those in whom he searches for love. But the style of the writing is abstract, the characters painted with broad brush strokes, and names, locales and year are not given. Only the beautiful boy and the injustices he experiences stand out.

Many stories are lighthearted and whimsical. The warmth of human love and devotion is intermingled with situational humor. Love, and also antipathy, are modeled here for the reader's enjoyment. Raffadalli concerns a pair of lovers apart, and most of the narrative is about Raffadalli's first encounter at the back door of his future lover on that rainy night, in which Raffadalli was hiking. Their meeting was full of hostility, but Claude finally reached through and obtained Raffadalli's love. In a final note of hope on another rainy night in May, Claude anticipates Raffadalli's return.

Other stories concern men's struggles to deny that part of themselves that they fear. Harvie illustrates the sadness and poignant rejection of these feelings for other men—men who have buried their feelings in the non-gay life of marriage to a woman. And still other men in other stories exist, The Advertising Man for one, who are willing to speak out and stop the abuse of a teen by his father when the father discovers his son's "cock magazines."

The stories are to the point, the characters in them comment almost directly to the reader as the story begins. Harvie is quite successful in getting the reader's attention this way, and more importantly, he is able to hold it throughout each story.

One of the saddest, and most probably true, examples of intolerance and prejudice occurs in The Voltaire Smile, the book's title story. A young boy is sent by his family to learn French from his uncle each Sunday afternoon. Uncle Charles was asked to do this by the boy's mother, who later stops them for fear of Charles' gayness and its effect on the boy. But, in the meantime, the boy has come to love Charles, to love the stories Charles told him to teach the boy French. When the lessons are no more, the boy is now a man, he meets Charles' lover for the first time when Charles himself is dying. The man now realizes what Charles gave him; he longs for those happy childhood times to exist again, and to have known Charles better in the interim. This is only part of the story, for Charles gave him more than memories.

There are other stories of lovers, the longest and funniest possibly at the end. The Corporation Men describes two gay vice-presidents, Banner and Bryan with a "y", and their campaign to forever prevent a company homophobe from uttering one disparaging remark against gays. The first part recounts their meeting with each other. The second part concerns their plot when they see the company homophobe on TV, exhibiting his ignorance. They plan not to harm him physically, but to terrorize him with an experience he will not be able to forget.

Harvie is Canadian and the places of his stories are European and/or intercontinental in name. Houston is named in two or three different stories. Other themes and experiences are repeated. Suede is used to describe non-bikers as "the suede trade." In two other stories, suede is used to describe a man's body. It seems to be a favorite word of his. Another recurring theme is the appearance of a man's hand as the focus of a character's interest. This is also in two or three stories.

Ron Havie writes of love, desire, denial, humor, loss and hope—all emotions of human beings attempting to be, despite the fear and ignorance that surrounds them. Everyone can be entertained in The Voltaire Smile, for they will find it in themselves and/or ones they love. W

THE WORLD ACCORDING TO

Extraordinary People by Jack Varsi

One of the greatest gifts a person can possess is an awareness of being surrounded by extraordinary people. Obviously, John Irving has that gift, otherwise he could not have written his 1976 best-selling novel, The World According to Garp, which has sold over five million copies and which has a fanatic cult following in addition to hordes of more level-headed devotees. This episodic and screamingly funny novel is filled to the bursting point with complex characters, ranging from simple to bizarre, and the situations, which are sometimes tragic and outrageous, are laced with Irving's insightful observations about human nature. Somehow the book never resorts to parody, but remains consistently believable and moving.

Garp was said to be unfilmable and many of us who loved the book tended to agree, even though we secretly hoped. So it is something of a shock that the movie version is not merely good—it's GREAT, and maybe even brilliant! And it comes at a time when we need a classic movie with a humanistic vision rather than mind blowing special effects. Directed by George Roy Hill and scripted by Steven Tesich, Garp has come to the screen with its major characters and events intact. I expect that some people, particularly those who have only recently read the novel, will complain that much material has been omitted and some added. Well, maybe the book was unfilmable. At any rate, Hill and Tesich, and a marvelous cast, have created a beautiful, thoroughly entertaining movie that is remarkably faithful in spirit to the novel.

Because of its episodic structure, The World According to Garp is difficult to synopsise. Basically, it is the life story of T.S. Garp, who was born because his mother, a lust-hating nurse named Jenny Fields, "raped" a dying soldier whose chief characteristic was a perpetual erection. Jenny wanted a child without the bother of a husband. T.S. Garp grows up to be a natural at only two things—wrestling and having a family. He decides to become a writer, but Jenny beats him to it by publishing a bitter autobiography which becomes a sort of manifesto for militant feminists. Jenny is lionized by damaged and misfit women, among them a cult of tongueless women who have mutilated themselves in protest of what happened to a child named Ellen James. Garp marries Helen, has children, and becomes famous as "the bastard son of Jenny Fields." One of Jenny's followers, a transsexual named Roberta Muldoon, was once a major league football player—as a woman she becomes a close friend to the Garp family. These are the main characters. Revealing any more about the incidents they are involved in would ruin the movie for those unfamiliar with the book.

The cast is incredible, with Robin Williams surprisingly right for the role of T.S. Garp, the loving husband, father and keen observer of humanity. His performance may seem to contain a few flashes of Mork and Popeye, but I think we may actually be witnessing the early stages in the development of a unique style.

Mary Beth Hurt (as Helen) and Glenn Close (as Jenny Fields) give two of the best performances I've seen in a couple of years—I wish I could rave unreservedly about them for several pages, but space doesn't permit. Another pleasant surprise is the treatment of Roberta, the transsexual. Brilliantly portrayed by 6'4" actor, John Lithgow—who wears women's clothes throughout the movie—the performance has not a trace of swish or parody. Other standouts, in much smaller roles, are Jessica Tandy and Hume Cronyn as Jenny's parents; Swoosie Kurtz, almost unrecognizable as a hooker; and Amanda Plummer, real-life daughter of Christopher Plummer and Tammy Grimes, appearing in a brief bit as Ellen James.

Garp probably isn't for everyone, but give it a chance if you love movies.

Hackers unite! Access these copyrights! Disney is back with a bang! Friends, it's time to key-in to Tron. If you're not yet burnt out on science fiction, futurism or fantasy films, then return once more into the breach. Join Kirk Flynn, computer whiz and video game inventor extraordinaire (as played by Jeff Bridges), in his adventures inside the multifaceted world controlled by Master Control Program. Instead of wasting space detailing the plot of the film, I will have to assume that the reader has had access to one (or more) of the many magazine articles doing just that.

I will mention that this is a redressing, in computer-age trappings, of the eternal archetypal adventure tale. There are superficial resemblances to Star Wars and a number of other genre films. Ladies and gentlemen, in this corner two handsome young men, a fair damsel and a wise and kindly old man. Meanwhile, representing evil, a mysterious omnipotent being and its lackey, a twisted gamesmaster. Additionally, there are similarities to the Wizard of Oz and Alice in Wonderland. We open our story in the "real" world and from there proceed to a realm of the fantastic. This dichotomy creates character development in the former situation which allows us concern for the characters of the latter.

Those with a penchant for pickiness will point out two-dimensional personalities and contrived situations. To them I reply, "Rez-up or de-rez!" The same criticism was leveled at Star Wars and others. Yet that did not diminish the pleasure of the experience. In the long run it may have added to it.

Tron is to modern animation techniques, in this decade, what Star Wars was to special effects in the last one. It's like Fantasia goes Star Wars in about 1990. This is the future alright, but it's really only next year's model, so to speak.

For those not among the leagues of "hackers" (computer freaks) or "arcade-ophiles" (video game addicts), there is an initial language barrier that is soon overcome through saturation. The movie is ultimately designed for repeated viewing and serves as a primer in "comspeak." This "verbal shorthand" is already somewhat prevalent; Tron will merely accelerate the integration process and common usage. The movie makes it fun!

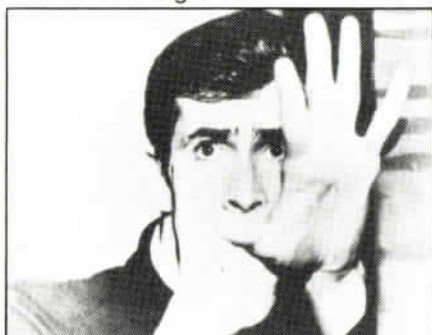

The music of Wendy Carlos fits so well into the whole that it often goes completely unnoticed. It never intrudes. The viewer is usually too busy being carried along from scene to scene, from game to game, and from one locale to the next to dwell long on a single detail. Each game sequence is short and no game is repeated. Flynn, having designed the games, is quickly as proficient at each as their ultimate champion, Tron. No time is wasted on condescending explanations to the audience. We are expected to catch on to the rules, and if we're as smart as we think we are, we do.

Tron fulfills multiple purposes. It resurrects Walt Disney Studios, provides kids (like me!) with this summer's alternative to E.T., and makes full use of the potential inherent in rotoscoping, backlighting, standard animation, live action and computer graphic simulations. If you know what's good for you, you'll see this extraordinary recipe cook on the screen in 70mm and Dolby stereo.

SHOWBIZ

by Jack Varsi

SHOOTING STARS — I think most people will agree that Richard Gere is one of the hottest men in movies (if you get my drift). Still, although he has appeared in several important films—Looking For Mr. Goodbar, Days of Heaven, Yanks and American Gigolo—the actor has yet to appear in a big box office smash and none of his roles have made him a threat to Travolta, Redford and Eastwood. His stage credits are fairly impressive: several years ago he played the lead in Broadway's Grease and he returned in 1980 to star in Bent. He has done Shakespeare in New York and London. In his latest film, An Officer and a Gentleman, he has his best role to date. He plays a street-wise loner trying to survive 13 weeks of intensive and sometimes cruel training at Naval Aviation Officer Candidate School. Gere's costars are Debra Winger and David Keith, two other fine performers in need of a big break.

Anthony Perkins as Norman Bates in Psycho

VARSIS BELIEVE IT OR NOT — Here are a few SHOWBIZ tidbits that may have a slight ring of improbability, but I'll swear to their validity on a stack of old issues of Variety. . . . Production has already begun on Psycho II, a long overdue sequel to Alfred Hitchcock's 1960 classic film, Psycho. The new film reunites original cast members Anthony Perkins and Vera Miles,

Vera Miles recoils in terror in Psycho presumably in their original roles. Would anyone care to speculate on what the new plot might be? . . . America, the soft-rock group who gave us "Horse With No Name," "I Need You" and "Tin Man," among several others, has a new album called View (From the Ground), and three of the songs on the album were written by none other than Billy Mumy, the former child actor who appeared with James Stewart and Brigitte Bardot in Dear Brigitte (1965), and who is best remembered for his role as Will Robinson on Lost In Space.

James Stewart, Billy Mumy, Brigitte Bardot in Dear Brigitte

Richard Beymer and Natalie Wood in West Side Story

. . . In the late fifties and early sixties, Richard Beymer appeared in a series of big movies including Diary of Anne Frank (1959), West Side Story (1961) and Hemingway's Adventures of a Young Man (1962), not to mention countless small movies, but his acting never really impressed anybody and he finally faded into oblivion. God knows where he's been for the last couple of decades, but he is now back in front of the cameras in a production called Cross-Country. . . I suppose it was inevitable that someone would come up with an answer to Frank and Moon Zappa's Valley Girls, which is just now starting to climb the charts. The answer is Valley Dudes by the Straight A's. . . According to Billboard magazine, Jermaine Jackson's new single, "Let Me Tickle Your Fancy," is a vocal collaboration with Devo. Oh, come on! . . . Last, and probably least: If you are a fan of amplified industrial sounds, groaning pipes, hissing steam, furnace noises and Fats Waller organ music, then you'll be happy as a pig in shit to hear that there is finally a soundtrack available for the cult film Eraserhead, which has to be the most offensive and tasteless film ever made (and one of my particular favorites, of course). Eraserhead was the first film of David Lynch, director of The Elephant Man. The album contains a photograph of "the baby." Suitable for framing?

THE BEAT GOES ON DEPT — We will finally get to hear producer George Martin's side of the Beatles story when his new memoir, All You Need Is Ears, is published next month. . . . David Johansen has a cult following left over from his days as a member of the New York Dolls. His latest single, an Animal's medley consisting of "We Gotta Get Out of This Place," "Don't Bring Me Down" and "It's My Life," is from a new live album called Live It Up, which shows him in true party form. . . . Brenda Lee's latest album, Country's Greatest Hits is a sampler of her work from the last decade. . . . Glen Campbell's record career may get a needed boost now that he has signed with Atlantic Records. That label also signed Sissy Spacek to a record deal not long ago. Campbell, meanwhile, will be returning to TV this fall as star of a new show on NBC. . . . Due to the untimely death of Led Zeppelin drummer, John Bonham, that group will probably never reform, according to lead singer Robert Plant, whose new solo album, Pictures at Eleven, is tearing up the charts. . . . Brenda Lee????? . . . Nicolette Larson's new single, "I Only Want to Be With You," was produced by her husband, Andrew Gold. That tune has been recorded by everyone from Dusty Springfield to the Bay City Rollers. Give it a rest! . . . A tune which hasn't been recorded enough, in my opinion, is Jackie DeShannon's "When You Walk In the Room," which Jackie BOMBED with early in 1964. Later that same year, the Searchers had a minor hit with it. Numerous other artists have recorded the song, but it has never really been big by anyone. Steve Forbert is the latest to record it, with a production similar to the pseudo-Spector sound of the original. Trivia Question #8,792: Steve Forbert's one and only hit, "Romeo's Tune," from a couple of years ago, was dedicated to what dearly departed lady singer? Give up? Answer: Florence Ballard of the Supremes. w

A Texas Celebration in Honor of an Old Friend

Gloria Steinem feels that Houston is indeed a feminist capital, and that is why she made Houston one of her three stops on her national tour to celebrate the 10th anniversary of Ms. Magazine. She is currently an editor and writer for Ms., which she helped to found in 1972.

On June 28, 1982, Matrix Magazine and the Women's Lobby Alliance sponsored A Texas Celebration in Honor of an Old Friend saluting the anniversary. The celebration consisted of a bar-becue dinner, a celebrity roast of Steinem and the keynote speech made by Steinem.

Participants in the roast included Tom Bass, Trudy Berger, Molly Ivins, Frances "Sissy" Farenthold, Ann Richards and Dr. Nikki Van Hightower. The welcoming speech was given by Eleanor Tinsley with the entertainment provided by Lyra—Kat Graham and Linda Rhyne. Mayor Kathy Whitmire made a brief appearance. Councilmember Dan Gorczynski was also in attendance.

Most of the people present were concerned with the future of feminism, and probably the most often asked question was, "Where do we go from here?". Although the Equal Rights Amendment was not successfully ratified by the required number of states, it will be reintroduced the latter part of July and the whole process undertaken once more.

Feminists acknowledge the fact that currently there are not enough votes to get it out of Congress and before the State Legislators. However, the strategy is to get a floor vote on it before the November elections. The purpose behind this is to key in on those who will support equality for all and those who prefer to deny basic, essential human rights. Then those representatives will be targeted for either reelection or defeat.

I feel that one of the strongest factors of the current women's movement is the fact that the people involved have been forced rather painfully to learn the political process, and they plan to use that knowledge to their benefit.

Getting involved in one's local and state politics was the biggest message given. With the advent of President Reagan's new federalism which increases state power and diminishes federal government involvement, it is crucially important for voters to know who their state and local representatives are and their positions on critical issues such as gay, equal and civil rights.

Houston's Mayor, Kathy Whitmire (l) and Gloria Steinem.

Steinem feels that if the equality forces had been able to raise the kind of money they currently are raising 10 years ago, then it would have been possible to have had the Equal Rights Amendment successfully ratified. Currently, the National Organization for Women is raising more money per month than the Democratic Party. Already this year, the ERA campaign has raised more money than the Right Wing Political Action Committee did last year.

According to Steinem, "I think first of all we should not let the country or the press blame the victim. It may be hard for women to fight that because we are so used to culturally saying, 'It's my fault.' But it isn't! We aren't saying we didn't make tactical errors. We did, and we are learning from them. But the major point is over 60% of Americans support the Equal Rights Amendment. It is not the fault of the pro-equality men and women. It is the fault of the state legislators. Unless we get that lesson across, we just won't benefit from this.

Singing duo, Lyra—Linda Rhyne (l) and Kat Graham.

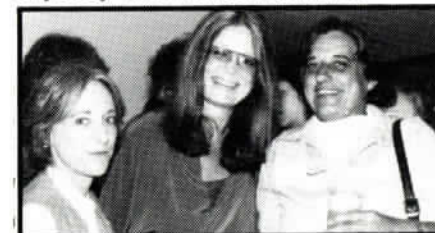

Could it be ratified again by the Texas legislature? Only you can answer that question. I can't. If not, there's something wrong with the Texas legislature that needs to be corrected."

Dombroski—It has been said that a major problem with the organizations such as NOW was that they concentrated too heavily on the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment and not other issues.

Steinem—I don't know. We are alternately accused of having too many issues and not enough, so I think NOW became the lead organization with the most money and the most troops on the ERA, but at no time did NOW fail to take strong positions on the Human Life Amendment, welfare, gay rights, etc.

Would you comment on how the gay movement and the women's movement are intertwined?

From a cultural point of view, women and men are showing that you don't have to be half of a person to have a relationship. Two whole people can love each other, and the gay rights movement is on the forefront of that battle by showing that it's healthy and possible. In addition to that, whatever our lives may be like as long as the word lesbian or homosexual carries a sting with it and can keep you from getting a job or housing, it will be used against anybody who nonconforms.

INTERVIEW WITH ROBERT GOGUEN

a.k.a. GRANNY

BY CHUCK PATRICK PHOTOS BY BLASE DISTEFANO

This summer marks the thirtieth anniversary for Granny's Christmas in July benefit which has consistently been the most successful state-wide benefit in the history of the Texas gay community, from its base of operation in Galveston to Houston, Beaumont, Austin, San Antonio and Dallas. TWT talked with Granny, whose real name is Robert Goguen, and asked:

TWT—Granny, how did Christmas in July start?

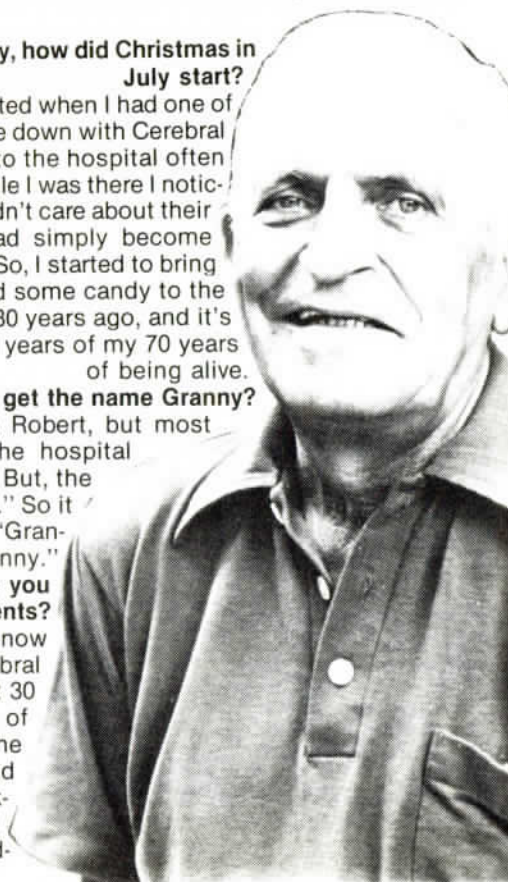

Granny—It started when I had one of my own sons come down with Cerebral Palsy. I would go to the hospital often to visit him and while I was there I noticed many families didn't care about their kids. Their kids had simply become wards of the state. So, I started to bring gifts to my kid and some candy to the others. This was 30 years ago, and it's been the best 30 years of my 70 years of being alive.

How did you get the name Granny?

My real name is Robert, but most everyone back then at the hospital thought my name was Randy. But, the kids had trouble saying "Randy." So it came out "Grandy" and usually "Granny." So ever since I've been "Granny."

Where was the hospital where you took those presents?

Most of it back then and even now goes to the Moody School for Cerebral Palsy in Galveston. But in the past 30 years, I've donated money to most of the cerebral palsy schools across the country. It all started in Galveston and it just started getting bigger. I first asked some of the people in Houston to help me, and Dirty Sally's and the Midnite Sun helped out. Then, the Crew in San Antonio wanted to help. Now, I'm going to Austin (Red River Crossing), Beaumont (Copa) and Dallas (Landing). Even Las Cruces, New Mexico, Tulsa, Oklahoma, New Orleans and Lafayette, Louisiana. It's very easy to receive help because when you're 70 years old, you start to wear out. I would like to find a group of people who could help me keep Christmas in July going.

When you started this in 1952, did you have any idea Christmas in July would go this long, or did you think it was just a one-shot, one-year benefit?

I thought it would just be wherever I worked or whichever bar I owned. But, every year since, more people kept coming by and wanted to help. They would say, "Granny, can we help, can we hold a benefit in our club?" Of course, I said yes.

You were 40 then?

I certainly was.

And now you are 70. Happy birthday from TWT during this, your birthday month.

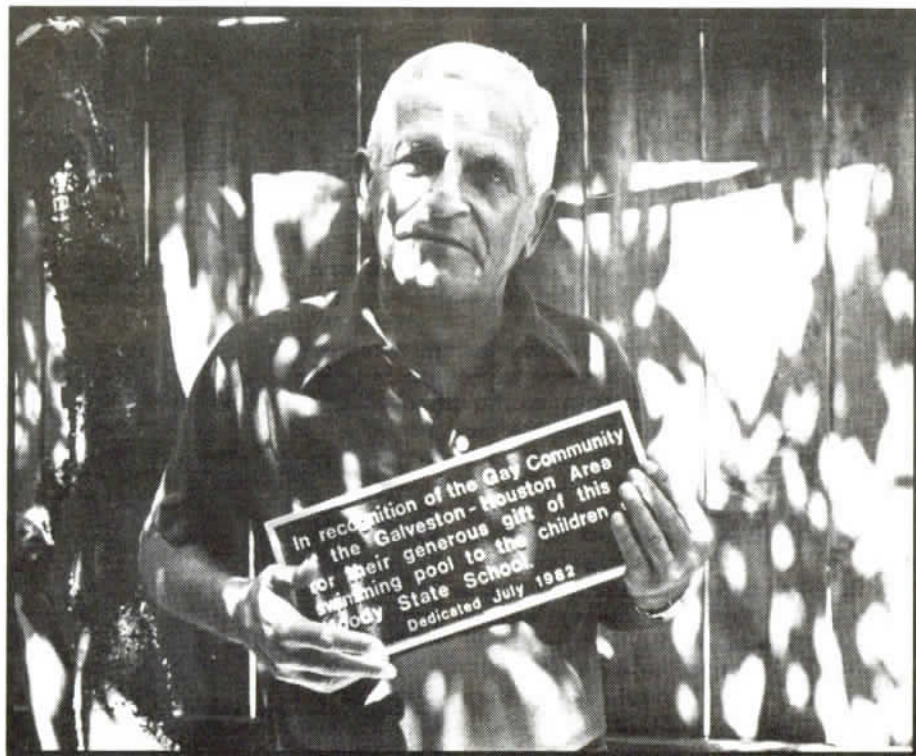

Yes, I was 70 on July 8.

You are to be commended for your energy and devotion—and for looking so good at 70! You are an inspiration to the gay community. Over these 30 years, how much money have you raised?

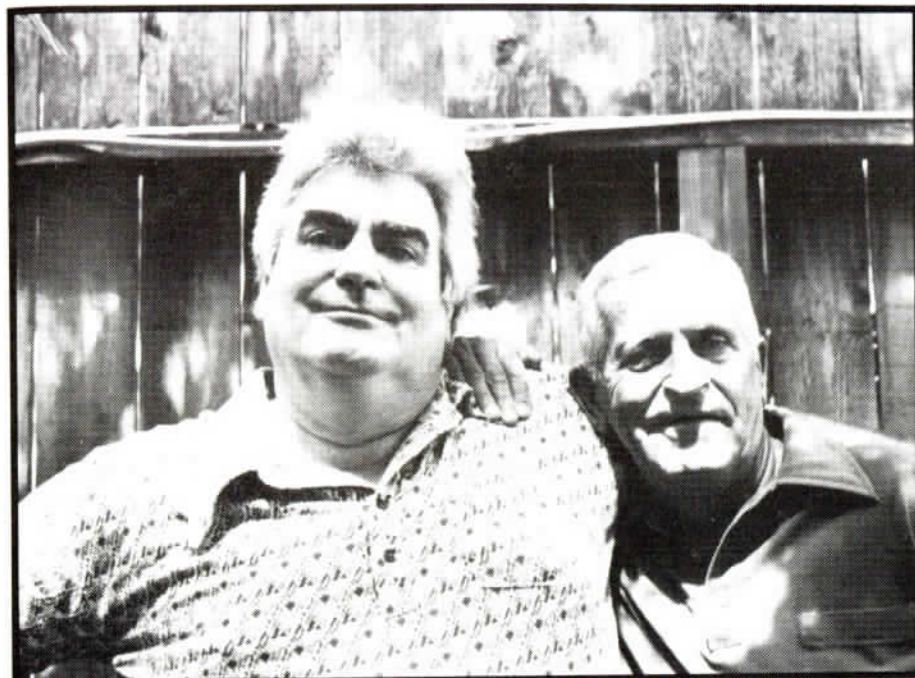

I would venture a wild guess of well over two million dollars.

What was your record year?

Last year. We raised $230,000 during one month, July of 1981. Often we have done as much as $130,000. For instance, last year I inherited $250,000 and it was either give the government over $100,000 in taxes or give much of it as a donation for tax purposes. Both cerebral palsy and I were ahead by giving it as a donation.

Granny with plaque received from Moody State School for swimming pool gift.

TWT understands that last year, a new whirlpool was the major accomplishment.

Yes, and we hope to build the hospital an extra 30 rooms. We've built them a playground, an olympic-size swimming pool with all the harnesses so the kids can have one-on-one water therapy. We've also built them an exercise room where they can work their muscles. Everyone is welcome to come down to Galveston and see what your money has helped buy.

You are on our TWT cover this week because Christmas in July is once again upon us; July 25, 1982—this Sunday.

For everyone who has donated, we have our big Christmas dinner, which this year will be at Walter's Silver Palace in Galveston, this Sunday, July 25. And on Christmas eve, July 24, we invite everyone by for eggnog and to sing Christmas carols at my bar in Galveston, Mary's II. We're all decorated for Christmas all month long. On Christmas Day, we take off with the trucks full of presents and money—police escort, too—and the kids get one of the finest Christmases they've ever seen. Then, on New Year's Eve, July 31, we thank everyone who has helped by having champagne fountains and holiday cheer at Mary's II.

Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without Santa Claus. Granny, who is Santa?

That's Big Mama, Jim "mother" Breeden, from the Midnite Sun.

How long has "mother" been donning the white whiskers and red outfit?

He's been my Santa in Houston for the last five years.

Granny, you have indeed taken Christmas out of December and put it firmly in mid-summer. From the entire gay community of Texas, TWT expresses sincere thanks for thirty years of warm devotion.

Thank you very much. But, it's been my pleasure. The kids love you all. Be kind to them. Thank you, and merry Christmas.

RENO GAY RODEO — In just one week, hundreds of Texas cowboys and cowgirls will be off to the seventh annual gay rodeo in Reno to be held at the Nevada State Fairgrounds on July 30, 31 and August 1. As announced before, Joan Rivers and Rose Maddox are this year's grand marshals. Prior to departure, Terry and Walter of the Barn, who always flagship the Texas contingency, proudly posed for the CRUISE CAMERA with last year's two national winners from Texas: Irene (left) and Maggie (second from right) who were judged Ms. and Miss national winners. HOT TEA is expecting Texas to again bring home the winner's bacon this year!

KAPOSI DINNER — Over $5000 was raised last Monday night at Houston's Tropicana Swim Club at a $50 a plate benefit dinner for Kaposi's Sarcoma which was hosted by Dan McIver and Alan Lipkin, the publishers of Club Scene Magazine and coordinated by the KS Committee. Guest speakers included Richard Ewing, Jr., who authored "Towards a Healthier Gay Lifestyle,"; Michael MacAdory who is chair of the KS committee; Dr. Guy Newell, M.D., who is director of Cancer Prevention at UT System Cancer Center at M.D. Anderson Hospital. It was indeed a proud night for the gay community.

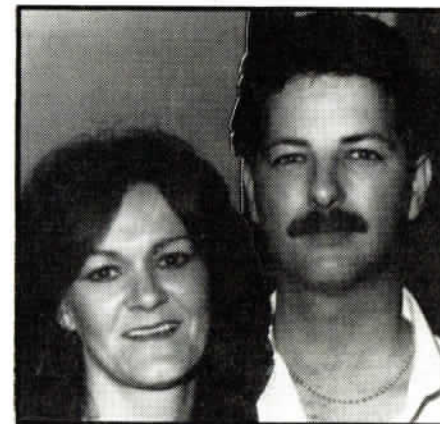

HIT & RUN — Early July 11, the same night as the Mary's shooting, Neal Stevens' white Datsun 240Z was totalled while parked in the Exxon station near the Dock & Drum while Stevens was in the clubs. Witnesses said his car was totalled by a late model silver Audi. The license plate left by the shatter at the scene was tagged California 1AHZ431. Call (713) 627-9011 if you have further information on this senseless Houston mishap.

FW AWARDS — The Silver Eagle Court de Fort Worth and Arlington presented their sixth annual Longhorn bar awards July 16 at the Blackstone Hotel. Out of 25 award recipients, key winners were: bartender—Mother Don of Krazy Cowboy, bar manager—Bever of Downtowner, bar owner—Vicky of Downtowner, bar of year—Downtowner, all around entertainer of year—Tasha Kohl, and best news publication—TWT. Thanx from HOT TEA for our nice plaque.

FORT WORTH — This was a busy week for the Silver Eagle Court as last Saturday, July 17, the 4th annual coronation was held in the grand ballroom of the Hyatt Regency Hotel in downtown Fort Worth. New Emperor IV is Jack Guthrie and new Empress IV is Carlotta. A generous turnout from out of town boosted the crowd past the 300 mark . . . Although the two talented impersonators tied for the winner's spot, the traditional tie-breaker (talent score) edged ahead Dione who had performed her familiar bubbling Sweet Georgia Brown production medley. Second runner-up was (right) Leigh Shannon. 17 contestants vied for the city-title as former Miss Gay America, Jimmie Dee, emceed at The Landing. CRUISE CAMERA photo by TWT's graham.

MS. GAY DALLAS — Very gorgeous, very talented! That describes the new Ms. Gay Dallas (middle) Shai Carrington who sang live to the enthusiastic crowd. Shai will be showcased on next week's TWT cover. Meanwhile, Pat Hanson (left) was first runner-up and Robin Bowen (right) was second runner-up. Beautiful women in big and beautiful Big D. CRUISE CAMERA photo by TWT's graham.

INWOOD/DGA — Next Thursday, July 29, the Dallas Gay Alliance presents two showings at 8 & 10pm of "Happy Birthday Gemini" as a DGA benefit at the Inwood Theatre, 5458 Lovers Lane. Tickets are $5 at the theatre or Butler's Pantry Too.

DALLAS ASSAULT — Neiman Marcus is to be commended for offering $10,000 reward money to be paid to the person providing information leading to the arrest and indictment of two black males who were responsible for the early morning vicious assault on one of their female employees on July 5. The incident happened in the Cedar Springs River Oaks Condominiums. The assailants left the scene of the crime in the woman's '79 tan Chevette but later abandoned it in the 2600 block of Anderson Street. Call DPD investigator, Russell Graves (214) 670-5146.

CRC TO TLT — The Community Resource Center (CRC) of Dallas has announced their new monthly meeting place, (TLT) Travel Lodge Tower at 4500 Harry Hines Blvd. at Industrial. At the July 18 meeting, gay parents presented an informal program on their Dallas organization. New referral books are now available.

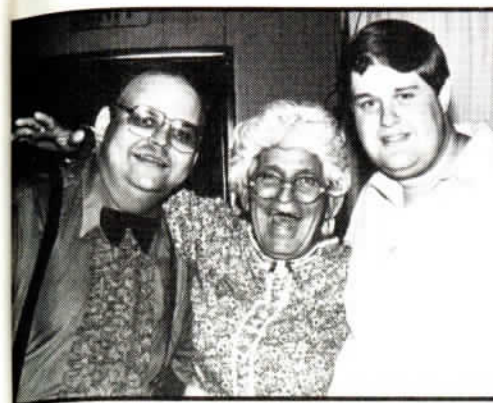

METROPLEX MAYHEM — Last weekend, the lights went out on the Fitzhugh strip but the music of Dena Kaye continued at the Wild Crowd—amid gospel sing-along and moan-along, or so HOT TEA heard . . . TEXAS TELETYPE — Texas' oldest gay bar, the Pink Elephant of Houston, becomes even older—46th anniversary—July 31 . . . the largest and most technically advanced laser computer ever built by Laser Media, which was introduced at last Saturday's Tropical Nights Party, is now permanently housed at Numbers . . . CJ Harrington and Jerry Bird have formed a new production company called HE & SHE Productions and the HOT TEA is that it's not limited to pageants . . . Black dog has at last found his way back to The Hole after being stolen . . . And, in Dallas, Coors beer has set a new record of 31 kegs of beer guzzled during the 4th of July beer bust at Tex's Ranch where 2000 drum sticks were also consumed.

ALAMO ACTION — Dateline San Antonio: Congratulations to the best damn little disco in Texas, Faces, on celebrating its third anniversary next Thursday, July 29 . . . Although owner Lollie is set to face a big fourth year at Faces, she is not ready to face Natasha who mysteriously disappeared on a $75 spree de tour . . . If you've been trying to solve the shadowed mystery of where that new bar, The Shadows, is located, forget about owner Gene's I-10 coverup . . . Shadows is actually on I-90 at the Kelly AFB entrance . . . Worth probing into . . . And, there was a tie at Daddy's amateur contest for the winner between Marilyn Monroe and Melissa DeMoore with Steve Hood dancing his way into the runner-up slot . . . But, Steve came back to win Bonham's contest last Sunday.

SOFTBALL PLAYOFFS

HOUSTON — The 1982 MSA Softball Championship Playoff Series is scheduled to begin at 6:00pm this Sunday, July 25, with four games. The playoffs will continue over the next two weekends, with the winner earning the right to represent Houston at this year's Gay Softball World Series in San Francisco.

The first two games slated for this Sunday are qualifying round games and the two winners will be included in a six-team double elimination tournament to determine the league champions. The teams which have already qualified for the championship playoffs are: Galleon, South Division champions; Dirty Sally's, North Division champions; Jim's Gym, South Division runner-up; and Montrose Mining Co., North Division runner-up.

Unless rain further delays the season or playoffs, the championship series will continue with games on Saturday, July 31, and Sunday August 1, with the championship finals on Saturday, August 7.

Last Saturday, all games were postponed due to rain. However, last Sunday's games were completed with the Galleon squeaking by Jim's Gym 9-9. The Galleon had trailed most of the game, but was propelled into the victory column by a key homerun delivered by the one and only Arthur Castillo in the bottom of the fifth.

In other games last Sunday, the Voice won over A&K 6-3, Mine over Barn 15-6, and BRB edged by Mary's 9-7.

MSA BOWLING

SUNDAY'S GAY RUN

SAN FRANCISCO — GayRun '82, the gay-sponsored national footrace, will be held this Sunday, July 25, in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park.

The third annual 5K and 10K races are co-sponsored by the Advocate and Frontrunners, the San Francisco running club for gays. The races are sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Association (AAU).

Nearly 800 runners competed in last year's event, doubling the field that had run in the premiere 1980 race. Entrants were drawn from ten states and several foreign countries, including large contingents from Frontrunners New York and Los Angeles. Approximately one-third of the runners were women. In February of this year, TWT SPORTS had learned that GayRun '81 was awarded San Francisco's prestigious Cable Car Award as the outstanding gay athletic event of 1981.

"We are planning for an exciting and well-run event," said Race Director Bob Plantz, a veteran Frontrunner, "and I'm hoping we can see some even faster times turned in this year." Times for last year's 10K event were 32:46 and 38:20 in the male and female divisions respectively.

CORPUS GUTTER

CORPUS CHRISTI — In the Texas Gutter League, here are the top five standings as released to TWT SPORTS by Bob Wicox.

1—Texas Boys (8-0) & Cruisers (7-1), 3—Neck Ups (6-2), 4—Hidden Door (3-5), and 5—Hot Box Lunches (1-7) and Gutter Sluts (1-7).

High game was won by Steve Falgout's 221, who also won high series with 534.

MOM ON SUNDAY

HOUSTON — In the Men of Montrose (MOM) Sunday Morning Friendship League at Gulfgate Lanes, scores again ran high as Steve Wallace bowled a 625, Joe Anthony with a 244 high game and a 598 series, Mike Anthony with a 205 game and 585 series, and Dennis with a 569 series.

Openings are still available for the fall league, which begins in September on Monday nights at 6:30pm. Contact Wallace, (713) 643-5729 or Anthony, 522-6178 for entry.

OAK LAWN BOWLING

DALLAS — Here are the July 19 standings in the OLBA as released to TWT SPORTS.

Division C: 1) Cocktail Kids; 2) Bobbie Pins; and 3) You Never Know.

Lonnie Martin won both high game and series in Division A with scores of 237 and 587. Greg Crosby's 209 and 569 won both honors in Division B. In Division C, Gary Berreier's 223 won high game and Steve Black's 532 won high series.

FORMER LOVER SUED

MALIBU BEACH — Billie Jean's husband has announced he will sue Billie Jean's former woman companion and lover.

Larry King, husband of Billie Jean King, has filed a $57.5 million lawsuit against Marilyn Barnett and her lawyer, charging malicious prosecution.

Miss Barnett had sued Billie Jean, claiming the tennis star promised to support her for the rest of her life and said she could live rent-free in the King's Malibu beach house.

A judge decided for Miss King and called Miss Barnett's action close to "attempted extortion."

TRANSSEXUAL TENNIS

PARIS — Tennis star Martina Navratilova, who beat Andrea Jaeger on June 5 in the French Open tennis tournament, 7-6 and 6-1, was accused by Jaeger of having unfair help from the stands.

The 17-year-old Jaeger, from the Chicago suburb of Lincolnshire, claimed after losing the world's most prestigious clay-court tournament that Navratilova received instructions and signals from her coach, the once-controversial transsexual Renee Richards, and her roommate, Nancy Lieberman.

At the time Navratilova moved in with Lieberman, Lieberman said she was going to help her friend overcome the pressures of an ill-fated affair with writer Rita Mae Brown.

"It's not really that fair," said Jaeger of the alleged off-court coaching. "It's difficult to be playing three people at once." Navratilova responded, "All Renee and Nancy were doing was giving me encouragement, saying things like, 'Come on, come on.' ... I had no need for coaching during the match. ... If she can't be a gracious loser, then thank you, Andrea."

DELTA AQUARID METEOR SHOWER: You can see about twenty shooting stars (meteors) an hour from July 27-30. The meteor showers will peak in the southeast sky each night after midnight. The best time to view this meteor shower is after midnight, when the rotation of the Earth will be in the opposite direction to the motion of the meteor; i.e., when the meteors are colliding head-on with our Earth's rotating atmosphere.

STARGAZER: Next Monday night, July 26, the Moon, which is growing larger nightly, will pass by red Mars and blue Saturn. The following night, July 27, the Moon will be in its first quarter as it passes just to the south of large, bright and white Jupiter.

MILKY WAY EXPLOSION: About 9,000 light-years away from Earth is the most massive star in the Milky Way. It's called Eta Carinae and it is about one hundred times the mass of our own Sun. Astronomers have observed recent nuclear reactions on Eta Carinae spewing out gas and dust and they feel that this massive star is about ready to blow up and emit its remaining nitrogen. When this happens, Eta Carinae will end its 2-million-year lifespan in a super explosion—a supernova! This supernova will be seen by the naked eye on Earth as a bright point of light which will even be visible during the daytime. The supernova will be brighter than all the combined billions of other stars in our Milky Way. Extremely bright, it could happen soon—a once-in-a-lifetime astronomical event! NASA satellites coupled with our telescopic observatories in Chile and the U.S. are monitoring this big star under the direction of astronomer Nolan Walborn.

GANGER: With Venus, the planet of love, sex and romance now in your own sign, this should be a banner cycle for affairs of the heart. Gancers, known affectionately as loving moon children, are now extra-affectionate. Your charm is at its peak. This is one of your best periods of 1982 for magnetizing admirers into your romantic web.

LEO: With Venus, the planet of love, sex and romance now in your twelfth house of the inner self, you will likely find yourself involved in some sort of clandestine affair of the heart. A secret romance: an affair under wraps; love behind the scenes. These are the earmarks of this Venus cycle which Leo is thrust into.

VIRGO: With Venus, the planet of love, sex and romance now in your eleventh house of friendships, this should be a very social cycle. Romance can blossom at a party or some other type of social gathering. Group activities can easily lead to heart throbs. You could even become romantically involved with a friend.

LIBRA: With Venus, the planet of love, sex and romance now traveling through your tenth house of career, don't become too surprised if you find yourself attracted to someone at work. A coworker can interest your sensuality. Furthermore, Venus will bestow favors on you in your job. Your superiors find favor in you.

SCORPIO: With Venus, the planet of love, sex and romance now traveling through your ninth house of travel, this would be an excellent time for a summer vacation. Romance can be found along the way. A long distance affair is strongly indicated. Furthermore, educational and learning pursuits such as registering for school are blessed.

SAGITTARIUS: With Venus, the planet of love, sex and romance now traveling through your eighth house of sex, you can expect this mid-summer period to be heated with lust. Hot affairs, quick affairs, sexual encounters in unusual places. These are the expectations of this Venus passage through your house of sensuality.

CAPRICORN: With Venus, the planet of love, sex and romance now traveling through your seventh house of marriage, don't be too surprised if a serious romance doesn't develop. Single Capricorns are in the mood for wedding bells. Married Capricorns will find renewed interest in their mate. Romance can deepen and strengthen. Partnerships are now blessed by a mid-summer Venus.

AQUARIUS: With Venus, the planet of love, sex and romance now traveling through your sixth house you can expect blessings in both health and job areas. Your health will improve as Venus protects you from any serious illness. In fact, mid-summer is an ideal time for a visit to your doctor, dentist or counselor for an accurate diagnosis and prescribed treatment plan. Venus also blesses your job environment. Love can sneak up on you while at work in a place least expected or suspected.

PISCES: With Venus, the planet of love, sex and romance now traveling through your fifth house of love affairs, you can fully expect dating to maximize. Admirers seek you out. You are very popular. You give off romantic vibrations which are quickly received by others. Romance is high on the mid-summer agenda thanks to Venus.

ARIES: With Venus, the planet of love, sex and romance now traveling through your fourth house of the home, don't be too surprised if you find yourself painting, redecorating or looking for a new address. Venus is urging you onward into matters dealing with where you live. You may even begin to feel like staying home more.

TAURUS: With Venus, the planet of love, sex and romance now traveling through your third house of communication, you can expect phone calls, letters and short trips to increase. Such matters should prove favorable and positive since Venus adds its blessing. Mid-summer would be an excellent time for a brief and quick summer vacation. Romance could even sneak up on you while traveling when you least expect it.

GEMINI: With Venus, the planet of love, sex and romance now traveling through your second house of money, you should have little trouble with finances. Now is a good time to invest, speculate or take a chance, as Venus will guide your gambling into successful areas of financial achievement. Mid-summer is also a splendid time for making wise purchases as Venus will help you make the right decision when shopping. Be careful though not to spend foolishly in the name of love. ♀

Sometimes you get more than you're itching for.

Intimate moments can make for pleasant memories, but occasionally, something a lot less pleasant lingers as well—crabs, for example. Now there's RID,[®] a liquid treatment that kills crabs in 10 minutes and provides rapid relief of itching. RID contains a safe, medically proven natural ingredient at almost twice the concentration of the leading non-prescription product. Each package also includes an instruction brochure and fine-tooth comb for lice and nit removal. You can buy RID at your pharmacy without a prescription and begin treatment at once.

But remember, 38% of the people with crabs have been found to have something worse, like VD. So if you think you may have been exposed to something more than crabs, see a doctor.

treatment for crabs.
