FIESTA BEGINS IN ALAMO CITY

SAN ANTONIO — One of the biggest events of the year in the State of Texas, Fiesta '84, has begun in the state's second largest city, San Antonio. The annual Fiesta celebration is expected to draw record crowds this year.

The gay community of Texas long ago adopted the annual event for its own version of Mardi Gras and thus, as in the past, thousands of gay men and lesbians are expected to converge on the Alamo City to join in the festivities.

Although the city is feeling the impact of many gay travelers this week, the big push of visitors is traditionally not expected until the final weekend. One of the highlights has always been the Fiesta Flambeau nighttime parade, which begins at 6:30pm on Saturday, April 28. Most gay men and women will view the parade from in front of the Menger Hotel, across the street from the historic Alamo.

Visitors looking for last-minute hotel accommodations will experience "no vacancy" responses from hoteliers, Tim Ramm of TWT NEWS/San Antonio said, as most accommodations have been reserved since winter. In fact, many Fiesta frolickers reserve their rooms a year in advance, as has been customary.

AHRC SAN ANTONIO GAY ENDORSEMENTS

SAN ANTONIO — This city's Alamo Human Rights Committee has announced their endorsements for the May 5 Texas Primary. All endorsements are for Democrats, save one. For Sheriff of Bexar County, AHRC has endorsed Harlan Copeland on the Republican ticket. No endorsement was made in the Democratic Sheriff's race.

In the U.S. Senate race, AHRC, as anticipated, lined up for Lloyd Doggett.

Although the committee had met with Bob Krueger, Doggett's opponent, he never responded to AHRC's questionnaire, a spokesperson explained to Tim Ramm of TWT NEWS/San Antonio.

In the U.S. Representative races, AHRC endorsed Henry B. Gonzalez for District 20 and Albert G. Bustamante for District 23.

Three endorsements were made for State Representatives: Orlando L. Garcia in District 115; Ciro D. Rodriguez in District 116; and Joe L. Hernandez for District 124.

For chief justice of the State Supreme Court, AHRC endorsed John Hill, as had Houston's GPC. However, Dallas' GPC had abstained in the Hill race.

For Bexar County Commissioner, Precinct 4, Ronald Walters got the AHRC nod. Marilyn Jones won AHRC's backing for Bexar County Chairwoman.

ALAMO MURDERER CAUGHT IN BRYAN

SAN ANTONIO — Muscular and tattooed, Richard Allen Copeland, Jr., 25, formerly of New York, was caught in Bryan, Texas earlier this month and charged with capital murder in the death of Robert Cruz, 47, the San Antonio man with whom he had lived at 505 Koehler Court for five months.

Copeland was stopped by Bryan police for driving while intoxicated. Police later became suspicious when they became aware he was driving Cruz's car. Consequently, BPD questioned him about the murder of the man, whose car he was driving.

After eventually admitting to the killing, Copeland was returned to San Antonio on April 5 and charged with the death of his roommate.

Cruz had been found tied up with his feet bound to his hands. Death had been ruled as a homicide, due to asphyxiation.

TIME RUNNING OUT FOR OAK LAWN BAND

DALLAS — Time is running out for the Oak Lawn Symphonic Band to raise the needed money to attend the Gay Pride Week music festival in the Hollywood Bowl in Los Angeles. "Unless $9,000 is raised by April 28, the Dallas band will be unable to go to LA to represent our city in the LA music festival," chairwoman and board member Judith Jones told Alan Gellman of TWT NEWS/Dallas.

Jones further reminded that if the Dallas band is unable to attend, only Houston's Montrose Symphonic Band would be representing the Lone Star State. "While the Houston band is a quality music act, it hurts that Dallas will have no say-so in this activity. After all, Dallas is Texas!" she exclaimed.

The Oak Lawn band is currently selling $100 raffle tickets with a grand prize of $2,500 in cash to be won. "If you can be of any financial help, please call me at (214) 351-6697, and we'll do Dallas proud," Jones pleaded.

NABC PRESIDENT URGES "BUY GAY"

HOUSTON — In his first visit to this city since the founding meeting of the National Association of Business Councils, held here on May 17, 1980, Werner Kuhn, the new president-elect, appeared on March 28 for a special dinner meeting held in his honor by the Greater Montrose Business Guild at the Whitehall Hotel.

Kuhn outlined many of the past accomplishments of the NABC, including the filing of an amicus brief in the New York Supreme Court in 1983, and the establishment of a National Members Discount program, which allows members from various groups around the country to receive discounts while visiting other member cities, Greg Havigan of TWT NEWS/Houston reported.

The main topic of the evening concerned the "gay ethnic community," which Kuhn described as "a community that interacts not only sexually, but socially, religiously, economically and politically."

Kuhn's final point concerned the topic of "buying gay." He encouraged all in attendance to evaluate the products and services of various gay businesses, and if equal or better, to buy from a gay person or from someone who actively supports the gay community.

GLSSO FINALLY WINS SMU APPROVAL

DALLAS — After being denied official recognition three times—once as recently as last February—the Gay and Lesbian Student Support Organization of Southern Methodist University has finally won its battle. In a 21 to 3 vote, the faculty senate has passed the awaited resolution to approve recognition of GLSSO.

Complicating matters still, however, is SMU president Donald Shields who, after learning of the faculty senate vote, said he was still not in favor of recognizing the gay student campus group.

The resolution which the faculty senate approved reminded that the role of SMU is "to help in shaping the position of the church in matters of debate and controversy." Recognition of GLSSO has certainly been both debatable and controversial, TWT NEWS/Dallas recalled.

The faculty senate, which represents SMU's nearly 500 faculty members, concluded that it found GLSSO's goals and purposes to be consistent with the goals and purposes of SMU.

GAY REPUBLICAN PRIMARY SOCIAL

HOUSTON — The Republican Committee of the Houston Gay Political Caucus will sponsor a pre-primary social for Republicans interested in meeting their GPC-endorsed Republican candidates. The event, scheduled for next Wednesday, April 25 at 7:30pm, will be held at 4119 Graustark in the heart of Montrose.

Among the featured guests will be Dr. Joseph Agris, endorsed candidate for U.S. Representative, 22nd Congressional District—the position being vacated by Dr. Ron Paul in his bid for U.S. Senate.

Also in attendance will be Judge Sharolyn Wood, endorsed candidate for 127th Civil District Court. Wood has previously been endorsed by the GPC and has long been an advocate of rights of privacy, the committee said.

It is expected that a large number of Republican candidates will be screening with the GPC this fall. "The Republican Committee has formed to help interested Republicans get involved in the Republican Party, and to increase Republican participation generally within the GPC," Gregg Russell, Republican Committee chair, told TWT NEWS/Houston.

REAGAN AND HART WIN MONTROSE POLL

HOUSTON — President Ronald Reagan won a presidential popularity poll conducted by TWT NEWS/Houston during last weekend's Westheimer Colony Art Festival. However, Senator Gary Hart was a close runner-up piling up two-thirds of the Democratic tally. The "straw poll" was to sample public opinion in the gay community prior to the May 5 Texas primary.

The results reflect primarily a gay vote, since nearly 90% of those voting were gay. The poll likely has a 6% margin of error.

From the TWT NEWS presidential poll, these are the raw vote totals in percentages: Reagan (Rep) 37.68%, Hart (Dem)

32.81%, Walter Mondale (Dem) 12.89%, and Jesse Jackson (Dem) 7.45%. About one voter in ten (9.17%) said they were still undecided.

On the Democratic ticket, Hart was a clear-cut winner over Mondale and Jackson. Since the combined total of the three Democratic contenders was about 15% greater than the total Republican vote, it would appear likely that Hart would have the best chance in next November's election of beating Reagan in Montrose, had the Democratic vote not been split three ways.

The Reagan victory was somewhat surprising since the gay vote has been usually believed to be primarily Democratic. However, the Reagan win does confirm what many politicians have long suspected—that there are more gay Republicans than has been historically estimated.

HALL & HILL WIN GPC BOARD SEATS

HOUSTON — At its monthly meeting held April 4, this city's GPC put out a call for volunteers to work in gay-endorsed races. GPC also gave its endorsement to Barbara Stanely for her election bid for chair of the Harris County Democratic Party. In her speech, she had warned GPC of hard work ahead if they should hop aboard her campaign wagon.

GPC also held two board elections—Position 8 and Ray Hill's old position. Hill, in fact, nominated himself and won his seat back, uncontested, David Fields of TWT NEWS/Houston reported.

In the Position 8 campaign, it was a four-way race, with Tim Hall winning over Dale Lowenstein, Joe Thornton and Greg Russell. Only Lowenstein declined to boast of himself.

Afterward, the chairs of both the Republican and Democratic task forces of GPC updated political progress. Russell, the Republican chair, said his group had planned a fundraiser for April 24-25. Lee Harrington, the Democratic chair, told of planning an outreach to precincts outside Loop 610.

STUDENT COALITION MEETS IN DENTON

DENTON — The Texas Gay and Lesbian Student Organization Coalition, which formed in February 1983, met in this city the weekend of April 6 for their spring trimestral board of representatives conference.

One of the problems facing the TGLSOC before the conference was communications, founder and communications coordinator Jay Cherin explained to TWT NEWS. "Texas is such a large and diverse area that communications over the great distances separating member organizations has made it necessary to find a better communications structure than we are presently using," he said.

To alleviate the situation, Cherin, Rios and co-chair Ruth Sathre of the Rice Gay/Lesbian Support Group presented a bill, which passed unanimously, to create regional communications districts, which will be supervised by the communications coordinator. Each district—North, Central and Western, Eastern, and Southern and Coastal areas—will be represented by one regional coordinator.

TGLSOC also created a committee on anti-discrimination which will help any individual or organization at a Texas college or university in matters dealing with discrimination based on a person's sexual orientation. The committee will accept grievances and then decide on whether or not to take action on it. Most importantly, the committee can aid organizations which face problems with their school's administration.

A new executive board was elected at the conference. The new co-chairs are Angie Adams of Denton and Alan Weiser of San Angelo. Barry Burns of U of H was elected treasurer, Joe Blurton, also of U of H, as communications coordinator, and Johnny Mooney of San Angelo as internal secretary.

The summer trimestral conference will be sponsored by the Gay and Lesbian Students' Association at UT-Austin.

The Male Couple

Dear TWT:

I have read with continuing interest various reviews and commentaries on The Male Couple, by Drs. McWhirter and Mattison [reviewed in TWT, Vol. 9, No. 49]. Two issues seem to recur: The generalizability of the study, and the arbitrary imposition of stage theory on the development of relationships. From the standpoint of research, some comments on these issues are warranted.

McWhirter and Mattison have done a disservice to themselves and the data which they have gathered and presented. . . . The frequent disclaimers about the generalizability of their data are unnecessary. . . . The Male Couple is . . . a descriptive study. The purpose of descriptive studies is not the generalization of findings from a sample to a larger population. . . . Descriptive studies are meant to describe. Finding patterns within descriptive data is to be expected; inferring these patterns to any other population is not. . . .

A major pitfall of descriptive research is that the framework for analysis of the collected data is most commonly conceived . . . after the fact. . . . The "discovery" of developmental stages within a relationship from this post hoc analysis perspective is almost predictable. . . . The "eureka" reaction which they experienced when they "discovered" relationship stages was probably no more than thankful relief that they had, at last, found a way to organize the data in a fashion which made use of their own knowledge and biases about developmental processes.

. . . The greatest danger with any pioneering work is that it biases future research work. I think McWhirter and Mattison would be the first to warn that these relationship stages are not "written in stone." There is much work to be done in validating their study and perhaps suggesting other ways to look at relationships. They must be applauded, however, for undertaking such a project and increasing our understanding of the richness and complexity of human relationships.

Richard Amory's

Song of the Loon

A Shocking and Enchanting Underground Best-seller!

Song of the Loon, by Richard Amory; 191 pp.; fiction; Greenleaf Classics, Inc., 7525 Raytheon Road, San Diego, California 92111; paperback, $2.95.

Reviewed by David Fields

For such a simple story, Song of the Loon by Richard Amory draws upon many literary genres and includes many new versions of historical (if somewhat fabled) events. Inside, on the title page, Amory has designated this a gay pastoral, a gay version of the pastoral genre. What the reader finds then is "a mystical blend of elements from Hudson's Green Mansions, J.F. Cooper's Leatherstocking Tales and the works of Jean Genet."

Amory writes of Ephraim MacIver, on his journey of self-discovery, self-acceptance and wisdom as he discovers his potential to love other men. Set in the wilderness forest in the northern United States, Ephraim takes his journey. He goes to Bear-who-dreams, the wise man of a tribe of men who carry the sign of the loon. Ephraim has just left a poisoned, unhappy ex-lover, Montgomery, in Astoria, and wishes to receive spiritual and emotional healing from Bear-who-dreams.

The Indians who carry the sign of the loon love men. As Ephraim travels, he meets other Indians who practice the Way of the Loon. He learns to love fully, completely and comprehensively. He learns not to confine his love and deep caring to one. He finds the practitioners of the Way have their own traditions, customs and needs, foreign to the practice of the love between men in the frontier towns of "civilization."

As I said at the beginning, Song of the Loon is a simple story, packed with things reminiscent of other times. The Theban Band of Warrior-Lovers is strongly suggested here. The mystical qualities of romantic love, combined with the vision quest of the Indian culture are other elements. The Berdaches of historical Indian culture, wiped out by the Catholic and Christian missionaries, is also referred to.

Song of the Loon also reminds us of the wild, unsettled frontier where there were few women companions who could survive the extremes of temperature, deprivation, hostile Indians, etc. These men alone without the comfort of a caring touch turned to other men, and Song of the Loon gives a fuller treatment and expression of what went on then. A photograph in the book Gay American History by Jonathan Katz shows men dancing together, taken in the late 1800s, a concrete expression of the needs these men felt.

Read today, some parts (many parts) may "sound hokey" to the sophisticated reader of the 80s, but when we realize the seriousness of their need, the truth of homosexual love in the frontier as an expression of a basic human need, we can appreciate the thoughts and words of romantic love exchanged in Song of the Loon.

The book is an enjoyable fantasy, filled with poems and songs composed by the Indians and Ephraim. As Amory admits in a proviso at the beginning of the book, "[I] have, unfortunately, never known or heard of a single Indian even remotely resembling, for instance, Singing Heron or Tlasohkah or Bear-who-dreams. [I] have taken certain very European characters from the novels of Jorge de Montemayor and Gaspar Gil Polo, painted them a gay aesthetic red, and transplanted them to the American wilderness."

HISTORIAN AND FOUNDER OF GAY ARCHIVES IN DALLAS

PHIL JOHNSON

The Dallas Gay Archives contains a complete set of TWT, including the first issue shown here with Phil Johnson.

Phil Johnson of Dallas joined the gay movement in the early 1950s by becoming a member of One, Inc. and the Mattachine Society. He was one of the founders of the Circle of Friends, the first gay organization in Texas (1965), and is one of the founding members of the Dallas Gay Political Caucus (1976), now the Dallas Gay Alliance. Mr. Johnson has been collecting gay memorabilia for 40 years.

TWT — Mr. Johnson, welcome to TWT. I hope you don't mind, but how old are you?

Johnson — I'll soon be 59.

TWT — Well, you're a youthful 59. How long have you been gay?

Johnson — I was born gay.

TWT — Have you ever been married?

Johnson — No, but I've had heterosexual relations.

TWT — Recently?

Johnson — About 10 years ago.

TWT — Tell us of the origins of your pet project, the Dallas Gay Historical Archives.

Johnson — I started collecting things in my youth. Through the years, lesbians and gays have contributed to the collection. Some of the articles pre-date World War II.

TWT — Then you must have been a gay teenager during the war?

Johnson — My first acquaintance with gay life occurred in the Army. I was stationed at Fort Ord [California] in Headquarters & Headquarters Company, which was almost exclusively gay. It didn't take me long to realize that despite what I had been taught, gay people did not have to lead lonely lives. We were happy, productive and an asset to the Army and our country.

TWT — Mr. Johnson, back in those days, were homosexual men and women more subject to ridicule than today?

Johnson — I don't think so, because most straights were unaware of the existence of homosexuals. We weren't as visible. You understand, it wasn't until 1939 that Clark Gable was given special permission to say, "Frankly, my dear, I don't give a damn." So you can imagine that sex and homosexuality were almost never mentioned in polite conversation. As a result, most gay boys and girls grew up lonely, afraid and thinking "they were the only one."

TWT — Do you think the gay rights movement has brought homosexuality out to the public, and if so, do you think that is a good thing?

Johnson — I sure as hell do. Gay people now know they have some recourse to entrapment. We don't have to serve 15-year prison terms for consensual sex between adults in private. We have a fighting chance to retain custody of our children. There are no more castrations and lobotomies. An army of gays and lesbians has put in a lot of hard work that is paying off. So I get furious when I hear someone say, "It was better in the old days. You could always pick up a trick in the last row of the balcony." They so quickly forget you could also be sent to prison by merely being accused [of being homosexual]. And I for one am: not willing to trade my civil rights just to suck off a stranger, furtively in the dark.

TWT — Well, you seem to be happy with what you do. But suppose a 15-year-old person came to you and said, "Phil, I'm on the borderline. I could go either way, gay or straight." What would you recommend? What would you say?

Johnson — You must understand that a 15-year-old person is exactly the person I could not speak to. All I need is for some parent to accuse me of molesting a child. Guilty or not, I could be sent to prison. It would be a very effective way to put a gay activist out of commission. Consequently, those kids that need us the most are the very ones we can help the least. Now, if the person were 18, I would suggest, "Well, don't die wondering! Try everything. Not just sexual, but everything that isn't harmful. But understand one thing: No one chooses their affectional orientation—not gays, not straights."

TWT — Is there any advice you would say to bisexuals?

Johnson — You and others may disagree, but I believe that most people—if they were truly honest with themselves—would have to admit to being bisexual to a greater or lesser degree. It's not what you do with your genitals; it's what you feel in your heart. So make the most of life whatever you are.

TWT — In the foreseeable future, will homosexuals be allowed to marry, file joint income tax returns and adopt children?

Johnson — Yes, I think we could do that if we all worked and pulled together. But right now, I'm afraid of a backlash as a result of AIDS. There are bigots very anxious to turn a medical problem [AIDS] into a political scythe. If we aren't vigilant and resolute, we could lose everything we've worked so hard to gain. It's happened before. If we do not learn from history, will it not happen again?

TWT — Do you feel there is any single segment of the gay community that does the movement a disservice by the way we present ourselves to straights—drag queens and those into leather? Those who flaunt their sexuality?

Johnson — I spoke to a man who was an eyewitness to the Stonewall riots. He pointed out that it was the drag queens, the nelly fairies, who led the fight. So I don't look down my nose at anyone—drag queens, leather, what have you. Are we to play into the hands of bigots by fighting among ourselves? As to flaunting, I will tell straights, "When you stop flaunting your sexuality, we'll do likewise. In the meantime, the pot is in no position to call the kettle black."

TWT — A lot of people have heard of Stonewall, but are not completely familiar with exactly what happened. What was Stonewall?

Johnson — This was to have been just another routine raid. Raids had been going on for years. As a matter of fact, during the New York World's Fair, every gay bar in New York had been closed. But Stonewall was the straw that broke the camel's back. According to an eyewitness: On the last Friday of June 1969, police entered the bar and started shoving patrons. One policeman dangled handcuffs and demanded, "All you queers stand against the wall." When one man didn't move fast enough, the policeman hit him in the stomach as hard as he could. A few gay patrons tried to come to his defense and a fight ensued. Gays were then pushed out onto the sidewalk, so they barricaded the police inside. Someone threatened to burn the bar.

When police reinforcements arrived, they were met with a barrage of stones, bricks and bottles. Heavy objects were pushed from rooftops onto squad cars below. Others were overturned. Two were set ablaze. When the police took a prisoner, the nellys would scream, "Save our sister," and charged the police lines. The riots lasted off and on for three nights. Fortunately, no one was killed, and to gay credit, there was no looting.

TWT — Is that why we celebrate Gay Pride Week?

Johnson — Yes. Traditionally, Gay Pride Week is celebrated the last week in June. The first gay pride parade was organized by Christopher Street West in Los Angeles the following year. Now gay pride is celebrated in some manner in every major city in the nation and in many parts of the world. The first gay pride parade in Texas was organized by the Circle of Friends in 1972.

TWT — It seems like the center of gay life revolves around Cedar Springs and Oak Lawn. Has that always been the case?

Johnson — No. Since the days of vaudeville until fairly recently, gay life centered around Theatre Row on the north side of Elm in downtown Dallas. In those days, we had "gay Thursdays," which was the night first-run theatres changed their bill o' fare, and gays enjoyed being first-nighters. After the show, gays headed for Club Reno, Zila's Band Box or the Blue Bonnet room, to mention a few early gay bars. Afterward, there was Maggie's Corner.

TWT — Do you have recollections of Lee and Reveron parks in the late 60s or early 70s?

Johnson — I have recollections of those parks in the early 40s. Fair Park, too, was a cruise area, especially during World War II. There was a cruise area in the Texas Centennial of 1936. But that's another story.

TWT — Although there are more gays in Houston than Dallas, do you think Dallas has taken a backseat to Houston?

Johnson — I don't think so. The first gay organization was in Dallas. The first MCC outside of California was in Dallas. The first gay pride parade was in Dallas. Houston had the first gay publication, The Albatros, and the first gay bookstore, Wilde & Stein. Both cities claim the first gay bar. Fort Worth had the first Texas Gay Conference. Denton has been in the forefront. I think all cities have their own personalities and complement each other.

TWT — Mr. Johnson, tell us more about the roots of gays in early Dallas.

Johnson — Straights have a hard time understanding this, but the fact remains: Homosexuality has existed in every age and culture in which there are records. According to Professor Paul Brandt of Leipzig University, the oldest written reference dates back 4,500 years. An Egyptian papyrus showed that homosexuality was widespread at that time. So it's not surprising that early French and Spanish explorers found homosexuals among the American Indians. The French called them "berdache." Although it cannot be documented, surely it is reasonable to assume that there were berdache among the Kadohadacho Indians living in the area that is now Dallas.

And what can be said of the affectional preferences of the early traders and the "Peter's Colony" settlers of Dallas? We were there of course. But considering the penalties for homosexuality at that time—death or castration for men, a hole in the cartilage of the nose or worse for women—is it any wonder our history is unrecorded and lost?

But that is the very purpose of the Community Center Gay Research Library: to reconstruct, as best we can, our past and to record and preserve documents for future generations. Gays and lesbians of previous generations grew up thinking they were "the only one." We assumed we had no past. Are we to allow future generations to grow up alone and afraid, thinking they too have no roots? From the rooftops, if necessary, I will shout, "Hell no! Never again. That crap has ended forever."

TWT — What about early Dallas theatre?

Johnson — Dallas was a popular vaudeville town. The Washington, the Jefferson, the Hope, the Hippodrome, the Queen—names unfamiliar with young people today were dear to lesbians and gays who eagerly attended the performances and the lavish parties given for the vaudeville stars of the late teens and early twenties. Of course, the theatre has always been in the forefront of acceptance. It had to be. Gays were a major part of theatre on both sides of the footlights.

TWT — What about the Depression years, the 1930s?

Johnson — When the flying red horse, as it was called in those days, never Pegasus, was added to the Magnolia Petroleum Building in the early 30s, the northeast corner of Commerce and Akard became known as "Maggie's Corner," and was a popular meeting place. At that time, there were no gay bars in all of Texas, but a table in the back of the Adolphus Bar became gay. If one hadn't made out by closing time, he walked across the street to Maggie's Corner. It was the forerunner of the now defunct Oak Lawn cruise route.

TWT — Where was the first gay bar in early Texas?

Johnson — Houston claims the honor, but so does Dallas. Perhaps the first one was here in Dallas, called "Lena's the Blue Goose." During World War II, Texas was dotted with training camps. Many a GI came to Dallas on a three-day pass, left the train depot, crossed Houston Street and entered Lena's bar. The queens followed. Few service men returned to camp disappointed. You see, Alan, Texas was always known for its friendliness.

Or was the first Texas gay bar the Reno Cocktail Lounge at 316 S. Ervay? I remember it as a sleazy bar with real swinging doors, like you see in western movies. It too was popular with service men and the gay crowd: Tiger Lil, Peahole Anderson, Gardenia, Foxy, Sister Jean, Mr. Michael and all.

TWT — Tell us about your project—the Community Center Gay Research Library. Is it the only one in Texas?

Johnson — Our Community Center Gay Research Library houses the Dallas Gay Historic Archives and the Dallas Gay Alliance Library, and is located at 3920 Cedar Springs. There are books, magazines, newspaper clippings, video cassettes, photos, t-shirts, buttons, posters, programs, artwork—memorabilia of all kinds. There is also a splendid archives in Houston, housed in the Wilde & Stein Bookstore.

TWT — Have you any closing words to say to young gays?

Johnson — You're damn right. I want them to understand that we have been burned at the stake (hence the word faggots), beheaded, murdered, imprisoned, dishonorably discharged from the [military] service despite our good records. We have been beaten and castrated. We have had our children taken from us and have lost our jobs. We have been entrapped, and forced to submit to electric and chemical shock brutality.

They called it therapy, and said it was for our own good. We were even subjected to lobotomies. We were in German concentration camps, alongside Jews, Slavs and political prisoners.

I want them to know our history and the names of our heroes and heroines. Despite all the hatred and brutality, we have survived. Therefore, I want young gays and lesbians to be strong, vigilant and resolute. We must not become complacent and lose everything others gained for us.

Goldie Hawn portrays Kay Walsh, who goes from devoted wife to warplane assembly-line worker during World War II.

SWING SHIFT

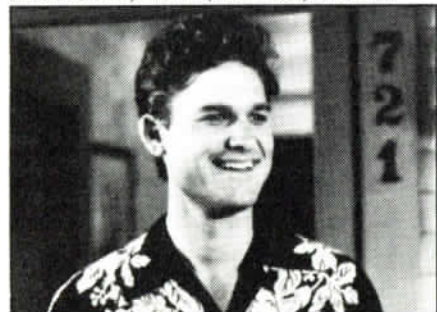

Reviewed by Harry Deutsch

It's Been a Long Way, Baby

World War II is alive and well on screen these days. Much like the recent Racing With the Moon, the just released Swing Shift describes the worrisome years of war from a different angle. The focal point is not at all the armada of Yankee heroes on the battlefronts in this last war of good versus evil, but this is a story of the people left behind in Small-town, America. Patriotism has reached bombastic proportions, and any young man in his prim such as Lucky (Kurt Russell) who's not out there defending the Stars and Stripes, is suspect. The "left-overs" generally are older men and scores of women whose mates have followed the country's call of duty.

One such woman waiting is Kay Walsh (Goldie Hawn). Prior to his being shipped off on Navy duty, her husband (Ed Harris) has kept her on a short leash.

Kurt Russell stars as Lucky Lockhart, the supervisor of an aircraft assembly line comprised mostly of women.

But the content, naive blonde bids a quick goodbye to playing homemaker and enlists as well, once the dominating other half is gone; not on a battleship, mind you, but in the home work forces where she helps to assemble much-needed battle planes. She capably, with thousands and thousands of other women, fills skilled jobs held previously by the now warfaring males. One other such worker is the before-mentioned Lucky who's "4-F," which means the military considered him too flawed (bad heart) to make an enemy's target.

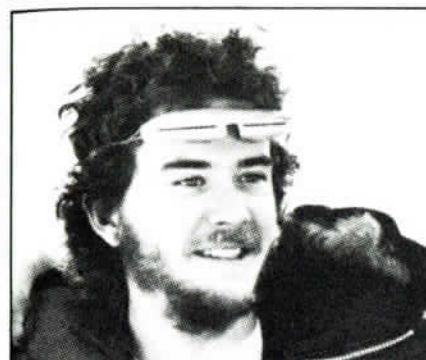

Swing Shift tells of Kay working the so-named 4pm to midnight slot and slowly swinging toward the handsome Lucky who, without a whole lot of resistance, gets lucky with her. Christine Lahti is Hawn's next door neighbor who is her closest friend and affectionate confidante.

The premier message Swing Shift wants to convey is that women finally got to be somebody, and society—facing the fierce force of war—allowed them to step out of their household confinements; also, that the strict look-pretty-and-shut-up rules would forever be abandoned.

What could have been a strong testament of women's lib stepping out of the closet is pleasant to look at under the direction of Jonathan (Melvin and Howard) Demme and nice to listen to (music by Patrick Williams); however, it lacks bite and forcefulness.

The overall acting is adequate. No more, no less. It's a far cry from deserving the adjective inspired. Ms. Hawn, who was a driving force behind the project, looks cute in the factory surroundings but she somehow fails to give her character depth or much of a range of emotions. The story, unfortunately, is predictable and too mainstream non-offensive to have the far-reaching impact that America's first legion of working gals have had.

Timothy Hutton portrays Dr. Stanley Shephard, an anthropologist who befriends the Iceman.

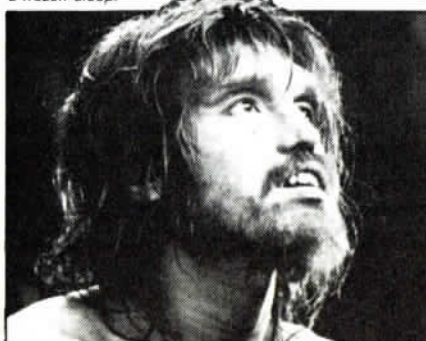

ICEMAN

Reviewed by Richard Dearborn

Sleeping Beauty

Iceman has a number of running parallels with many 50s grade "B" science-fiction, pseudo epics. Remember The John Lone is the Iceman, a 40,000-year-old man thawed from a frozen sleep.

Thing? The man from another world, lost in the Arctic wilds and wreaking havoc on those nervous geologists and scientists because he was misunderstood so far from home. Iceman has a similar problem, now that he's awakened from a 40,000-year sleep.

Anthropologist Timothy Hutton (Ordinary People, Taps) is the humanitarian who has to know what the iceman's spirit can tell him; his colleagues need to find out what makes him tick (the well-worn conflict of science vs humanism). But this is where the clichés end and Iceman becomes a fascinating, compassionate piece of authoritative filmmaking with many fine bravura moments.

During one magically funny scene, Hutton and the Neanderthal, inventively played by Eurasian stage actor John Lone, sit by a campfire inside the climate-controlled, artificial environment built especially for him. Hutton starts to sing Neil Young's "Heart of Gold"; naturally, the iceman wants to mimic his new friend with a guttural growl, making his off-key singing the strangest and most wonderful since Elizabeth Taylor's singing of "Send in the Clowns" in A Little Night Music.

Lone makes it fun to watch him skillfully express his facial gestures and human responses such as fear, anger, frustration, happiness and desire. He has created an entire character, not just a curiosity piece.

The scenes between Hutton and Lone are the very heart and soul of this film, and what really make it work. Australian director Fred Schepisi (Barbarosa, The Chant of Jimmy Blacksmith) allows his actors to develop a relationship that is tender, amusing and, most importantly, intelligently handled. They make a potentially unbelievable friendship, though fairy tale-like, into something for all of us to share with a sense of wonder and amazement.

Elsa Lanchester in The Bride of Frankenstein

HE WORKS HARD FOR THE MONEY — Probably only heaven and A&M Records know the release date of the next Police album, but at least I can furnish a tidbit about the group's main voice, songwriter, sex symbol and part-time movie actor. Sting, that is. Sting's next screen role will be in something called The Bride, which—believe it or don't—is still another variation on Mary Wollstonecraft's Frankenstein. The bad news is that The Bride is not, I repeat, not a remake of 1935's Bride of Frankenstein, but wouldn't it be a hoot and a holler to see Mr. Enigma himself all done up as a 1984 version of Elsa Lanchester? (As always, SHOWBIZ is only too willing to provide the improbable and ridiculous. See picture above.) Actually, the film is said to be a radical departure from all previous cinematic Frankensteins (that's what they all say), and you can expect Sting to fill the role of the mad Dr. Frankenstein. The Bride, as it happens, will be directed by England's Franc Roddam, who also directed Sting's film debut, 1979's Quadrophenia. With Quadrophenia and last year's Brimstone and Treacle already behind him, and the Dune epic on the way, the rocker's film career certainly appears to be blossoming, if not as successful as the music career. Speaking of Dune, the enormous talent and imagination of director David Lynch (who gave us Eraserhead and The Elephant Man) may blow Star Wars off the map once and for all. Dune, based on Frank Herbert's cult sci-fi novel, will feature giant worms and a performance by recent Oscar winner Linda Hunt. Let's hope that Mr. Sting doesn't get lost amongst all the goings on.

REBOP — Among the more interesting spring record releases, you can look for the soundtrack to Beat Street, which according to co-producer Harry Belafonte may be "the West Side Story of 1984." (Party Game: See if you can name the West Side Stories for every year since 1961.) Anyway, Beat Street, which opens June 8, is a film derived from the break dancing fad that supposedly originated in NYC's South Bronx. The film was shot on location, and the cast is made up mostly of "street kids." There is, however, one "name" in the cast—Rae Dawn Chong. I think she's the daughter of the "Chong" half of Cheech and Chong, but then again she may be a TV dinner or something. . . . While I'm on the subject of soundtracks, can you believe Motown is releasing an album called More Songs From the Soundtrack of 'The Big Chill'? Since the film really didn't have that many "more" songs, Motown has graciously padded the package with four "bonus" songs from the era. . . . Write this down—In the early seventies a rather cartoonish rock band named Slade attained huge success in England but bombed over here. They also recorded the original version of (God help us) "Cum On Feel the Noize," and they are now on American charts with a single called "Run Run-away." . . . Yes, I obviously go ape-shit over veteran rock 'n' rollers who keep coming back for more. On current country charts you can find former Righteous Brother Bill Medley with a new single called "I Still Do," and also B.J. Thomas with one called "The Whole World's In Love When You're Lonely." Meanwhile, the Staple Singers are back on the black charts with a single called "H-A-T-E (Don't Live Here Anymore)." And word has it that Dusty Springfield and Spencer Davis are recording an album together. . . . So what's become of Rupert Holmes of "Pina Colada Song" fame? Well, I'll tell you. Not only is he composing music for a new film called No Small Affair, in which he also acts, but he's also composing music for an upcoming stage version of Dickens' The Mystery of Edwin Drood, which will be presented by the New York Public Theater.

NAME CALLING — Although it was previously announced that Barbra Streisand and Jane Fonda might do a film together, Barbra now says that she has no current plans for film or stage work.

However, she is planning to tackle TV again, possibly appearing in everything from Hedda Gabler to Medea. . . . Ever heard of Isabella Rossellini? Well she happens to be the daughter of Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rossellini, whose love affair and subsequent marriage sold many a tabloid back in the early fifties. Isabella will soon be starring with Mikhail Baryshnikov in a film. So far no title. . . . In the future, everyone will be a star of rock videos for fifteen minutes. With that in mind, consider that "Hello Again," a new Cars video, is a product of Andy Warhol Studios. And elsewhere on the tube you can see Imogene Coca portraying the title character in a rock video called "Bag Lady." It's by a group called Ebon/Ozn. . . . This is probably getting out of hand, but do you know which film is the latest to be dug up and restored with "lost footage"? Are you nailed to the floor? I'm talking about Walt Disney's The Happiest Millionaire, a 1967 musical (the last live-action flick that Walt personally supervised) which starred Fred MacMurray and Greer Garson. . . . (For obvious reasons, I will be on vacation next week.)

STREET TALK — I spent all last weekend watchin' the boys at the Westheimer Colony Art Festival. There were some doozies! Where do these men come from? My friends tell me they never see them out and about, except for the art festival. Oh well . . . I did all this lookin' and a'peekin' from behind TWT's booth, which was set up in front of Numbers. I'm sure all those gorgeous men were extremely shy. That's why they didn't come over and put the make on me. Incidentally, the staff of TWT thanks Numbers for their hospitality. If you haven't snagged an invitation to the White Party at Numbers on Easter Sunday, you'd better act quick. Scherrie Payne (Freda's sister) will be the guest entertainer. Her new song is "One Night Only" from Dreamgirls.

So now I'm going from the streets of Houston to the streets of San Antonio for Fiesta. I'm getting pretty good at this walking the street business. But hey . . . it's not my fault. When my friends come by and say, "Let's go walk the streets,"

Linda Clifford

I have to go. I don't want to offend anyone.

You remember, of course, Tina Turner performed at the Bonham Exchange during Fiesta last year? You do remember that far back? Don't you? Well . . . ol' Turner-over is going to be with Lionel Richie at the Summit in Houston on Sunday, May 20 at 8:00pm. Tickets are already on sale for the show, at the Astrodome, Sharpstown and Almeda Mall, all Ticketmaster and Sound Warehouse locations. You can charge by phone at (713) 627-9452.

Speaking of the streets, who should wander into Rich's in Houston late last Saturday night? A very festive Bonnie Pointer, that's who. Let's just say she was feeling so full . . . I mean so festive, she wanted to do a concert immediately. Sure made her manager nervous. Hey, girls just wanna have fu-hun.

Speaking of disco-divas and stuff, Linda Clifford will be at Oz in Austin on Friday, April 20.

CABARET — Bubba and Bear just completed a very successful run at Baja's in Houston, and we're expecting the same with the arrival of Louisa Amaral-Smith. She plays Baja's through April 22.

Friday and Saturday are your last two nights to hear, see, whatever you think you can get by with, the fabulous Samantha Samuels at Rascals in Houston. Do not . . . I repeat DO NOT miss her show. There are only a few real pleasures left in life, and Sam is one of them.

Beginning April 24, Sharon McNight starts a one-week engagement at Rascals. I haven't heard her, but her credits are quite impressive.

Having been nominated along with Peter Allen, Barbara Cook, Barry Manilow, Chita Rivera and Frank Sinatra for the 1980 Entertainer of the Year Award by New York City's National Academy of Concert and Cabaret Artists, Sharon is in command of her own stage and has become a headliner in her own right.

For three consecutive years (1978-80), Sharon has received the "San Francisco Council on Entertainment's Cabaret Gold Award" as Entertainer of the Year.

Sharon also has three albums out: Presenting Sharon McNight, Postcard From Paradise and Another Side of Sharon McNight.

DALLAS THEATRE — As its fourth production of the 1983-84 season, the Dallas Repertory Theatre will present Monday After the Miracle, a further look at the lives of Helen Keller and her mentor, Anne Sullivan—20 years after The Miracle Worker.

Opening on April 26 and playing through May 27, this moving drama by William Gibson (author of The Miracle Worker), details the obstacles faced by Anne, now 37, and Helen, a 26-year-old honor student at Radcliffe, and of the young man whose love threatens to tear them apart.

Performances are Wednesday through Saturday evenings at 8:15pm and Sunday afternoons at 3:00pm. A special discount preview is scheduled for Wednesday, April 25 at 8:15pm. Tickets are $6.50-$10 and may be reserved by calling the MONTROSE ART — The second annual student art competition and show will be held the weekend of April 28-29 as part of the April in Montrose celebration.

This is a juried show featuring the best artwork from the five major Montrose area art schools: Alfred C. Glassell School of Art, Art Institute of Houston, Art League of Houston, HSPVA, and University of St. Thomas.

The exhibition will be held at the Art Institute of Houston at 3600 Yoakum, from 10:00am-4:00pm on Saturday, April 28 and from 12:00-4:00pm on Sunday, April 29 at the University of St. Thomas Library.

HOUSTON INTERNATIONAL FILM FESTIVAL — The Houston International-

Privates on Parade

al Film Festival is a world-class showcase of film premieres that is held annually at the Greenway III Theaters. This year, the premiere movie, Privates on Parade, will be shown at the River Oaks Theater on Tuesday, April 24. The remaining movies of the festival will be shown at Greenway III.

Privates on Parade takes place in the late 1940s, in Singapore. In the jungle depths, a conflict rages between the British and the advancing hordes of Commie Reds. Above the battle's din flash musical strains—is it Carmen Miranda singing "The Latin American Way"? No, it's SADUSEA—Song and Dance Unit, Southeast Asia—a troupe of brave British lads out to sing and tap-dance their way into every soldier's heart.

Led by Major Giles Flack (John Cleese), SADUSEA is comprised of a wacky mixture of characters including Len, the complaining quartermaster; Eric Young-Love, an utterly predictable conservative nitwit; Steven, a fresh-faced innocent; and Captain Terri Dennis, an artiste extraordinaire and camp queen whose idea of violence is removing his false eyelashes. Dennis leads the company through hilarious renditions of the Andrews Sisters, with himself in full drag as the lead performer, of course.

The following is a schedule for the movies to be shown at Greenway III on April 25-27.

Gena Rowlands in Love Streams

WHAT YOU THINK OF ME

"What must/will people think?" ...
 "What do you think? ... should I?" ...
 "I wonder ... I wonder ... I wonder ... but I really don't want to know."

"I think he/she is ... definitely on the wrong track ... too self-centered ... too old ... too young ... unstable ... too pretty ... too plain ... too fat ... too skinny ... stingy ... a pushover ... a user ... allows him/herself to be used ... too feminine ... too masculine ... too cocky/pushy/aggressive ... too laid-ing with one oar ... self-destructive ... self-indulgent ... just not right. ..."

We all have our own thoughts about everyone. Some of us keep them to ourselves and some of us continually broadcast them. "Who else but your bosom buddy would tell you how rotten you are?"

Does it concern you what others think of you? In certain situations, up to a point, it concerns all of us. However, what should concern you most is what you think of yourself. Listen to yourself —your own words and thoughts. Continually monitor them. How often have you said, "Did I say that?" or "I don't know what I was thinking." Keep open and receptive; messages will begin to filter through from your inner self—the source of all power, knowledge and ability. If I won't listen to myself, I certainly won't listen to anything you have to say about me. But I may choose to ignore, resent or blame you.

You say you think I am too self-centered, for example. All you hear from me is "I ... me." I may be. I may also be terribly insecure. I may be both. However, until I hear/see it in myself, I will not believe you. You can tell me I am so self-centered that I never think of anyone except myself, until you turn blue. Chances are I will only take offense and resent your thoughts very much.

You knew I was headed in the wrong direction. Although you wanted to tell me, you let me go. Eventually, I discovered what you already knew, and turned myself around. If you had told me what you were thinking, I would probably have moved faster and gone through a lot more grief before doing a turnaround. If you didn't let go of your thoughts about me, you probably dealt yourself more anguish than you needed to. "Please release me ... let it go."

Be the best you can be. Set an example for me. Give me your love, support and understanding. When it comes to negative things you see in me ... feel about me ... what you think of me is none of my business.

MGM GLITTER — At the Miss Gay Metroplex pageant at Numbers in Houston on April 10, Nikki Hansen (lower), sponsored by the Copa of Beaumont, aptly danced to Academy Award winner Shirley MacLaine's "If My Friends" to win her own award title, MGM '84. Tommie Ross (r) as Diana was first runner-up, Socca Simone (c) was second runner-up and Tina Renee (l) was third runner-up. Pageant owner Richard Taylor appropriately presented his talent award to Shanequa Kennedy's astounding Grace Jones illusion. Last year's MGM winner, Tatum Starr, flew in from New York to give up her crown. A high point of the evening was Jessica Landa's farewell performance before her Denver departure. The Brandi and Donna show co-emceed the night of glitter!

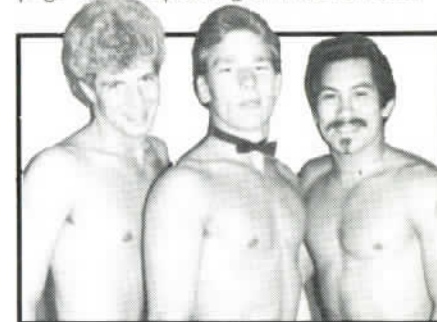

HOUSTON HOteALINE — On Friday the 13th, David Thurman (c) won the Boy George look-a-like contest at the Copa. Two days later, he went on to win another "BG" contest at the Westheimer Art Festival. From now on, call him Boy David! First runner-up in the Copa contest, emceed by "Boy" Tiffany, was James Stavena and second runner-up was O.J. (l). . . Miss Charlotte's, JR's and the

HOT TEA

Montrose Mine will team up again for Splash Day at Galveston's Stewart Beach on the first Sunday in May, confirms sand-and-sea coordinator Jerry Vann. Although Hurricane Alicia churned the landscape around the ol' Hut Club, Jeraldine force winds are clocked for landfall at noon, Sunday, May 6. . . Thanks to last Saturday's Fitness Exchange anniversary party at Rich's, the club was packed with so much muscle, that it had its biggest night since grand opening. . . Beginning with Steak Night at Miss Charlotte's, so HOT TEA and its caravan of curiosity seekers could fortify for the Texas debut of all-nude male strippers, it was on to the Circus Club, where the fully-clothed Brandi West hosted Texas' first "where's the meat" strip show—no, the place wasn't raided; yes, it's safe to go there; and yes, the three boys took it all off (see tender CRUISE CAMERA photo on page 9). . . Speaking of male dancers, under the spell of a full moon at the Outlaws, Friday the 13th turned out to be a lucky day for the top three finalists in Miss Alabama's jock strap finals, as show director Diana Wright crowed the winners: (l-r) Steve Schiller, 19, Libra—who won; Michael "automatic man" Davis, 21, Libra—first runner-up; and Daniel Duran, 25, Capricorn—second runner-up. Allright!

EASTER EGG — If you'd like to hear the controversial James Kirkup poem, which the editor of London Daily News was fined and sentenced in 1977 for publishing, dial the Gay Atheist Easter message entitled, "The Love That Dares To Speak Its Name." (713) 457-6660.

ALICE DOES DALLAS — Handsome bodybuilder Kurt Gross (see CRUISE CAMERA photo above, center) was the recent winner of the Mr. Studio 4 contest—runners-up were (r) Ken Wimberly and (l) Lyndon Davis. . . . Last weekend's "out of the closet" garage sale netted $580 for DGA. . . . Ray Martin's new Contemporary Country, aka CC, opens next Wednesday, April 25 in the ol' Diamond Pegasus location on West Mockingbird, manager Terry Garner told HOT TEA. . . . Question of the Week: What was it that Gary Monier bought with Richard Longstaff's help, that was so big it wouldn't fit in his Cadillac? The answer is to be found on the No Name patio, not on Joe Elliott's pool table. Plans are for a week-long block party during Gay Pride Week in June at Dallas' gay crossroads, Cedar Springs and Throckmorton—"The entire block will be transformed into a Wizard of Oz atmosphere," Charles Armstrong, general manager of Caven Enterprises, explained to HOT TEA. . . . And now, this week's lucky license winner (see below): Judy Maeker of Dallas, who's $50 richer because she saw her license plate number, 978-EDS, published in last week's TWT. . . . Pick up your smart chrome on black bumper sticker at the TWT office in the heart of Oak Lawn, 3920 Cedar Springs.

ARLINGTON ADVENTURES — Lots of changes are happening at the Tarrant County Mining Company. First of all, the remodeling is in full swing with a new sound system, supervised by Ray Cooper. Sounds great! Trudy Tyler has taken over as show director at the TCMC, and that means some super shows coming up. . . . James Smith at the 651 Arlington reports to HOT TEA that the Sunday afternoon pool tourneys (see photo) are not to be missed, with lots of ball action on and off the tables.

ALAMO ACTION — Timmy Ramm of HOT TEA has been informed that a candlelight vigil will be held every Sunday night at 7:00pm in the gazebo at San Pedro Park in memory of Carlos "Shirley Ann" Villareal until the gay community receives an answer about his death, said SAGA. . . . SAGA's Jennifer Embs has resigned her co-chair position. . . . Dick and Bob of 2015 Place have a new festive patio for Fiesta. . . . Brunch fever has hit both the Galleon and Talk of the Town. . . . And at the new

AUSTINteaCIOUS — Austin's Alternative raised over $300 for Gay Pride Week, as Boy Granville turned out to be a surprise hit! Show director Tyra Bishop (r) is shown in the CRUISE CAMERA photo above drawing the door prizes, donated by naughty-but-nice Forbidden Fruit. . . . Everyone's raving about Backstreet's new slide projection system, which debuted under the spell of the full moon. . . . The Boathouse will certainly be packed Saturday, April 28 by the smart set for the second annual Black & White ball. . . . To be a waiter at Uncle Charlie's, you obviously have to be skilled in the art of balancing acts to work your way through the crowds (see CRUISE CAMERA photo below). . . . Incidentally, Charlie's is seeking entrants for a logo contest. . . .

CORPUS CHRIStea — The Bunkhouse has revised the date for the Miss Gay Corpus Christi Metroplex to Sunday, May 6. . . . A special thanks to the Chi-Chi and all the performers at Lafitte's recent Splash Day benefit, as the variety show contributed nearly $600 to the fund. Some of the Sparkling City's finest comic entertainers, La Babs Johnson, Chi-Chi Skates and newcomer Roasanna, helped turn the show into a huge party. . . . The newly-located MCC-CC will hold an impressive bay-front Easter Sunday sunrise service. . . . HOT TEA sends a healing wish to Jolly Jack bartender Chris Sollars, whose recent bike spill has left his tender unmentionables somewhat tender.

appears every Thursday and Sunday at the Other Place, where on Easter Sunday at 4:00pm, there will be an Easter Egg hunt and Easter Bonnet contest at 6:00pm. . . . The correct date for Coronation '84 is actually July 21 at Fort Worth's Green Oaks. . . . Meanwhile, over at the Lumber Company, last Saturday night's benefit for FWGPW '84 raised $1,100.56, reported Buddy Jones, who would like you to meet Louise also known as Fort Worth's Disco Granny. "Even though Louise is straight, and mother of 11 children, she still finds time to work the TLC door, as well as being the captain of the South Jennings bowling team," said Jones.

SEASON OPENER

DALLAS — In opening day action of the Oak Lawn Softball Association 1984 season, this is how the teams fared.

It was Dallas Steel over Crews Inn, Round-Up over JR's, and Studio 4 beat Hidden Door. High Country put away MCC Dallas, Jugs defeated North 40 Saloon, and Unicorns squeaked past Happy Daze. Griggs Field enjoyed a capacity crowd with loyal Dallas fans.

"While there will be no action this Easter because it's a holiday, we will resume the following Sunday, April 29," Ric Leech, OSLA vice president explained to Alan Gellman of TWT SPORTS/Dallas.

ADAM'S FINALE

HOUSTON — Adam's Apples, in the final game of the Mixed Winter Season, rolled over Kaufman's Kookies to become the champions of this city's MSA Thursday night bowling action. Googies remained in third place, ahead of Stella's Screammers, for more pin action that occurred in the April 12 match.

SPORTS

Summer teams are forming, with new season play to begin May 3, 7:30pm at Stadium Bowl. "Anyone wishing to join summer pin play, please call Mike Weikert at (713) 973-1358," Rich Mayer, MSA spokesman, told TWT SPORTS/Houston.

PINS IN DALLAS

DALLAS — In the Oak Lawn Bowling Association competition, TWT SPORTS/Dallas has learned that division standings, after April 16 action, are as follows.

In Division A, Toto's Revenge remains in the top spot, while the Graceless Kelley's move out of third place to overpower the Bentley's team. Strike force rolled out of the closet into third place in Division B play, with No Holes Barred and High Rollers keeping their first and second place standings. In Division C pin action, Boot Scooters and Royal Family held firm in their spot from last week, while the Pump Jocks forced the Beauty School Dropouts to drop from the ranks of third.

Preparing for a May 20 awards banquet, Dallas Lambda bowling competitors, through the week of April 12, report that Numero Uno finally pulled out of a total pinfall tie for first place with the Snake Pit Asp-Ins. A 40-12 record for Numero followed by the Asp-ins 37-15 score, left the Move It Girls in third place with a score of 32-20.

BUSCH RUN

HOUSTON — As part of continuing efforts to encourage community involvement in running, FrontRunners, a non-membership, coed jogging group, has made plans to participate in the Busch Strawberry Festival Run, TWT SPORTS/Houston has learned.

The one-mile and five-kilometer events will be held at the University of Houston-Clear Lake campus, Saturday, April 28. "Post-race refreshments will be provided on the return trip," a FrontRunner spokesperson said.

"Anyone interested in attending the festival run should contact (713) 520-1288," it was added.

STARSCOPE by Milton von Stern

The Week of April 20-26

METEOR SHOWER: This week's big event in the sky is the Lyrid meteor shower which peaks this Saturday night, April 21. Stargazers will be able to see approximately ten to fifteen "shooting stars" per hour if they look to the south. The best time to view this celestial phenomenon is around 4:00, Texas time.

BACKWARDS MARS: Mars, which not only rules one's sex drive but also a person's action and motivation, is currently going backwards. This apparent retrograde motion of this fiery planet can stir up problems in your horoscope. Progress with one's goals can be slowed. In fact, at times it may seem that life is not going forward at all. Blame it all on this backward moving, disruptive planet.

This week's STARSCOPE message examines where Mars is currently placed in your own horoscope so you can be forewarned about any unpleasantness predicted.

ARIES: (Mar 21 - Apr 19) The retrograde force of Mars going backwards through your eighth house of tax matters indicates that there could be some backward movement by the IRS on your recently filed income tax form. You are advised to keep all records in order in case any questions arise. Any dealings with other people's money could cause problems. For instance, you could be accused, perhaps falsely, of stealing.

TAURUS: (Apr 20 - May 20) Retrograde Mars is currently going backwards through your seventh house of marriage and partnerships cautioning you to be careful in all matters dealing with an associate, whether in marriage or in business. Misinterpreted statements can cause havoc and loss. Unpleasantness in partnership matters seems to be unavoidable these days so try not to take these flare-ups too seriously.

GEMINI: (May 21 - Jun 21) Going backwards through your sixth house of health is retrograde Mars. This can bring about some lousy moods and irritating ailments, if only temporarily. The fast speed of Mars can cause you to accidentally come into some sexually contagious disease. Diagnosis from a doctor may not be easily arrived at as the symptoms mysteriously point elsewhere.

GANGER: (Jun 22 - Jul 22) Retrograde Mars continues to go backwards through your fifth house of love affairs. This disruption can mislead you into some dating patterns because of a miscue from another which you misunderstand. Mars can also bog down the progress you wish to be making in building a relationship. Tempers and impulsive statements may brew up a sluggish romance.

LEO: (Jul 23 - Aug 22) Your home life and all matters relating to real estate and domesticity can reach a stalemate because of the current retrograde motion of Mars, which is moving backwards through your fourth house of the home. You may also experience some distasteful conversations with a roommate. Sex may be the underlying and unspoken reason for this harangue.

VIRGO: (Aug 23 - Sep 22) If a short journey is in your plans, you are advised to postpone because a retrograde Mars is now going backwards through your third house of communication and trips. This brings about delays, missed time schedules, and lost reservations. Mars can also cause you to have difficulty in explaining yourself to others as the lines of communication seem to be miswired.

LIBRA: (Sep 23 - Oct 23) Money could be a source of trouble while retrograde Mars is going through your second house of money. The backward movement of this planet can cause your investments to slip backwards in worth.
Your ability to earn remains high but it seems that no matter how much you make, progress with debts doesn't seem to go forward. Blame it all on backward moving Mars.

SCORPIO: (Oct 24 - Nov 21) Retrograde Mars is currently going backwards through your own sign which can cause you, more than any of the 12 signs of the zodiac, to falter and stumble in your personal progress. It seems that for every two steps you take forward, you take one step backwards.
Blame this backward progress on a backward moving Mars which is faulty in creating action.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov 22 - Dec 21) Your natural tendency to be optimistic may be thwarted by a backwards moving Mars in retrograde motion in your twelfth house of the inner-self, selfundoing, and secrets. Somehow you seem to be your own worst enemy these days. Mars tends to direct your creative thoughts in the pattern of concern and worry. Try not to fret about things that may never happen. Pull yourself out of this backward mental tailspin. Simply chalk your down moods up to a backward moving Mars. It's not your own fault.

GAPRIGORN: (Dec 22 - Jan 19) If your efforts to date, to cruise, to score an encounter with an admirer are not living up to your expectations, it's most likely due to a retrograde Mars moving backwards through your eleventh house of friendships and social affairs. This planetary effect can affect your ability to impress another. In fact, you may have to go backwards like Mars and retrace your game plan and actions in social matters.

AQUARIUS: (Jan 20 - Feb 18) Now would not be a good time to go shopping for a new job as all career matters are being slowed down and hampered by a retrograde Mars going backwards through your tenth house of employment. Mars tends to cloud the real issues and blind you to possible pitfalls. You'd be wise to perform your duties to the best of your abilities to avoid superiors finding fault with your performance. This would not be an opportune time to lose your job, and job seeking is hampered by Mars.

PISGES: (Feb 18 - Mar 20) If you have any endeavors related to schools, education, learning, legal matters, judges, courts, the law, or traveling, you should gear your mood and attitude to expect some sort of slowdown or disruption. This is caused because all of these things are ruled by the ninth house which currently guests a retrograde Mars moving backwards. Very little forward progress can be made under this force.

Coming next week: April ends with a New Moon which sets the tone for the coming lunar month.
