HART CO-SPONSORS GAY RIGHTS BILL

DENVER — Gary Hart, the U.S. Senator from Colorado, who of late has regained his presidential campaign momentum by winning several key western state primaries, has cleared up the issue of whether he ever signed the controversial Gay Rights Bill, S. 430.

Late last month, after the May 5 Texas Primary, Hart officially became a co-sponsor of the Senate Fair Employment Bill for gay men and lesbians, the Gay Rights National Lobby in Washington, DC, confirmed.

The lobby's national director, Jerry Weller, spent considerable time with the Hart staff explaining the necessity of the bill, and the need for Hart to co-sponsor it if he intended to remain the front-runner among gay voters.

Hart now joins the growing list of nine co-sponsors. In Texas, Hart supporters were jubilant. Texas State Representative Debra Danburg told TWT NEWS that she hoped this would clear up, once and for all, what she believed to be misleading information in a recent Mondale advertisement in TWT magazine on the eve of the May 5 Texas Primary.

KS/AIDS FOUNDATION VOLUNTEER AWARDS

HOUSTON — Nearly 200 volunteers gathered last Sunday, May 20, at the Risky Business cabaret-theatre to receive the first annual awards of the KS/AIDS Foundation. Among those presenting awards were Michael Wilson, Kent Sumrall, Sue Lovell, Dr. Peter Mansell, Debra Danburg and Jay Hollyfield.

Among elected officials in attendance were Houston Mayor Kathy Whitmire and City Councilpersons Eleanor Tinsley and George Greanias. "We're very lucky in Houston that we have friends like these at City Hall, who care about AIDS," said Lovell. "We are very grateful."

Dr. Peter Mansell (l) of M.D. Anderson Hospital and Houston Mayor Kathy Whitmire, discussing how best to facilitate the reporting of medical information on AIDS from doctors to the City Health Department.

Whitmire told the audience, "We have struggled to make the city's effort equal to the effort of the [KS/AIDS] foundation. But remember, you are doing a job that government can't do."

Whitmire added that "the city is trying to help with the printing of educational materials and computerize a better accumulation of local media data on AIDS." She congratulated the Greanias staff for its help, and cited her staff members, Kay Little and Rudy Burnett, for their increased cooperative effort between City Hall and the gay community.

"Houston's major resource is its people, and today, we have seen what people working as volunteers have accomplished," Whitmire concluded.

Houston City Councilmember Eleanor Tinsley (c) assures her concern to Michael Wilson of the KS/AIDS Foundation and to Sue Lovell of Houston's GPC.

Tinsley reiterated her concern by saying, "I'll be watching the bureaucracy of city government to see that AIDS funding remains in the city budget. You've always had my commitment."

Greanias agreed by underscoring his continued interest. "The issue of AIDS is the most significant challenge we face. It's most frustrating that we still don't have a cure. But, despite the bureaucracy, there are still a lot of people committed to the ideal of keeping AIDS funding on track," he said.

Before the ceremonies concluded, a giant teddy bear, donated by Critters, was named "Albert" and given the responsibility of being the KS/AIDS Foundation's mascot.

A standing ovation was given the Diana Foundation for being the largest single donor of money. "The Diana's gave us $22,000 this past year," Wilson concluded.

AIDS PROBE IN SAN ANTONIO

SAN ANTONIO — An AIDS probe in this city is to get $153,454 from the National Institute of Health, as part of a three-year grant. Recipient of the money is the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio.

The grant is to be used for research that could lead to the early detection of AIDS. The investigators will study blood and tissue samples taken from AIDS patients under treatment at a clinic operated by Dr. Daniel Kisner, an associate professor of medicine.

"The fact that we will be looking at people with a pre-AIDS syndrome will be valuable in finding patterns and tracing them, if the patients are indeed, subsequently, diagnosed as having AIDS," Dr. Ciro Sumaya said.

TWT NEWS/San Antonio has further learned that the UT scientists had already begun preliminary work on studying the white cells in specimens of body secretions and blood samples from patients with AIDS.

Sumaya has asked San Antonio physicians who are seeing AIDS patients to submit samples to help move the research forward.

OAK LAWN BAND CONCERT IN OKC

DALLAS — The Oak Lawn Symphony Band will journey to Oklahoma City next weekend to play a concert. The event is to take place at the prestigious Will Rogers Park Amphitheatre on Saturday, June 2 beginning at 7:30pm.

The concert marks another exchange across the Red River, as the gay communities of North Texas and Central Oklahoma have mostly been in accord, except perhaps during Texas-OU weekend.

Tickets for the concert will not be available at the door, a spokesperson told TWT NEWS/Dallas. However, since there is no reserved seating, tickets ordered by mail will be filled based on the earliest postmarks.

Order tickets from and makes checks payable to: Oklahomans for Human Rights, P.O. Box 207, Oklahoma City 73101. Enclose $6 for each ticket ordered.

AUSTIN'S GAY PRIDE WEEK NEARS

AUSTIN — This city's gay pride celebration is gearing up for its first gay pride parade, on Sunday, June 10. The parade up Congress Avenue will step off at Third Street, and conclude at the State Capitol. A rally is to follow in Woolridge Park.

However, the parade seems to have run into a snag, as "only three of Austin's bars have helped out or are willing to help," Karen L. Stewart, coordinator of the Austin Lesbian/Gay Pride Week Task Force, told TWT NEWS/Austin.

In a letter to the editor, Stewart said she felt some of the clubs, although they supported Pride Week, were not supportive of the Task Force, or interested "in community unity and support. However, we had a wonderful Pride Week last year without them, and we'll do it again this year!"

It is hoped that as the June 1 deadline nears, more participation will be forthcoming. "If there are any further interested parties who would like to take part in the parade, please call me at (512) 346-3356 before June 1," Bobby Compain said.

Gay Pride Week officially begins in the Capitol City on Monday, June 4 with Gay Skate Night at Hot Wheels Skating Rink. A picnic and concert featuring the Montrose Country Cloggers is slated for Saturday, June 9.

NGTF NAMES TEXAN TO EXECUTIVE

HOUSTON — Larry Bagneris, Jr. has been elected to the honorable executive committee of the National Gay Task Force. "It's one of the greatest honors of my life," he told TWT NEWS/Houston.

Bagneris, a former two-term president of this city's GPC and current co-chair of the local Gay Pride Week, is now into his second term on the board of directors of NGTF, where he was one of two major proponents in favor of selecting Virginia Apuzzo as executive director.

"NGTF has now gone through major changes in community outreach efforts, as well as its numerous humanitarian program," Bagneris explained. "NGTF has been successful in securing commitments from presidential candidates, as well as pushing Congress and the National Health Department to allocate funds for the KS/AIDS crisis."

NGTF has also been able to start reporting hundreds of cases of violence against gays to the Justice Department, since the NGTF Crisis Hotline went into 24-hour operation, Bagneris added.

HOUSTON GPC SET FOR RUNOFF ELECTION

HOUSTON — Almost 20 Harris County candidates facing a runoff battle on June 2 came before GPC's May 16 meeting, seeking support from the gay bloc vote. Several candidates who had not been endorsed by GPC prior to the May 5 primary also were in attendance, asking for gay backing.

High on the list of priorities in the upcoming election is the effort to defeat Kent Hance for a Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by John Tower. Hance has been extensively gay-baiting our GPC-endorsed Lloyd Doggett, Sue Lovell, vice president of GPC, told the group. Lovell explained that much of his hate campaign has been confined to smaller cities. She showed copies of several newspaper articles from Austin, Fort Worth and San Antonio, detailing Hance's anti-gay stance.

It was announced that GPC intended to disseminate the Hance information to Houston's gay electorates in a GPC newsletter. Lovell also urged members to telephone the Doggett headquarters to help with their get-out-the-vote phone bank.

GPC president Norman Guttman addressed the need for gay participation and volunteerism in the Jack Heard race for Harris County Sheriff, which GPC feels could end up in the Johnny Klevenhagen victory column if the gay bloc vote is heavy.

A progress report was also given, regarding Greg Russell's employment discrimination ordinance, which is still in the hands of the City Legal Department. Mayor Whitmire has said that she will push for its passage, only if ten city councilmembers sign as supporters.

To date, only six councilmembers are committed to supporting the anti-discrimination measure. Details regarding the matter were discussed after David Fields of TWT NEWS/Houston was asked to leave the meeting. Guttman explain-

HISPANIC HERITAGE DAY OF GAY PRIDE

HOUSTON — This city's Gay Hispanic Caucus has finalized plans for Hispanic Heritage Day, to be held as part of Gay Pride Week in this city. The event will be on Friday, June 22 at the Noche y Dia Ballroom, 2103 North Main, on the city's northside, spokesperson Arthur Cordoua said.

Admission will be $6, and will include a live band. "The event, which takes place from 9:00pm-2:00am, has become one of the biggest events of Gay Pride Week," Cordoua told TWT NEWS/Houston. Deadline for sponsorship to the annual festival and dance is May 29.

As a prelude, the caucus has planned a Memorial Day weekend benefit show at the Shady Tree Lounge, 50 Waugh Drive, this Saturday, May 26 beginning at 9:00pm. Contact (713) 868-5252.

RITA MAE BROWN AT DIGNITY's 10th

HOUSTON — The author of Rubyfruit Jungle, Sudden Death and other best-sellers, Rita Mae Brown, has agreed to be the guest speaker at the 10th anniversary celebration of the Houston chapter of Dignity. The event is scheduled to occur in late June, during this city's annual Gay Pride Week.

A souvenir program containing pertinent photographs from the past decade of Dignity, and historical information is being assembled. Monies garnered from the program are to help defray the cost of the guest speaker. Cost is expected to be in excess of $4,500, a spokesperson said.

Dignity's 10th anniversary day will include a full evening of events, beginning with a liturgy at Holy Rosary Catholic Church. It will be followed with a banquet at the Houston Center Club, 1100 Caroline.

Defeat Hance

Dear TWT:

Gay baiting is a real thing. I am writing to inform my gay brothers and lesbian sisters of this anti-gay man ... making great strides in the smaller areas of Texas; he is Kent Hance.

Mr. Hance has run anti-gay commercials against his opponents in cities like El Paso, Waco, Lubbock and Amarillo. Believe me, this is a very serious problem, because all the redneck and narrow-minded people in these areas eat this up like candy.

Remember, as far as we have come in today's society, Houston, Austin and Dallas are the only progressive areas of the entire state. If this man is not stopped now, who knows how far this will go, and what repercussions we can expect for the entire gay community.

Please go out to the polls on Saturday, June 2, for the runoffs; the gay power and bloc vote are even more effective in this kind of election because a lot of people just stay at home and don't care. We have the opportunity. We have the clout. We have a very good candidate. Let's show the other people our power and our unity. Vote for Senator Lloyd Doggett on June 2. C. Brian Keever

Not a "KIKKer"

Editor—The following letter was sent to radio station KIKK AM/FM, a country-western music station in Houston.

Dear Sirs:

I have three things to say. First, I am gay. Second, I am not a "weirdo." And third, I will never listen to KIKK again.

I have been tuned to your station for years. But after Wednesday, May 16, when a newscaster said, "Gays are weirdos and prey on our young people in society," I refuse to turn my radio to your station again. The issue was prayer in school, so why was any statement made concerning gay people?

I have always enjoyed listening to this newscaster, and actually enjoyed the gay jokes. But many gay people in our society are very professional and good human beings. This should be taken into consideration before someone with such influence makes these kind of narrow-minded statements on the air.

TWT Makes Spirits Rise

Dear TWT:

I am presently incarcerated at the Ramsey I unit at TDC. Last week my family contacted you in reference to mailing me TWT. Today, my first one arrived. I have to thank you for your quick service. Just something familiar from home, not to mention all the newsworthy items in TWT, made my spirits rise. Any gay person in any situation should read TWT, but especially the one I find myself in. ...

APPALLED OVER REAGAN'S GAY POPULARITY

by Richard J. Kavanaugh of Shreveport, Louisiana

I was appalled to read in your May 4-10 edition [TWT HIGHLIGHT, Vol. 10, No. 7, "The Vote for President in the Texas Primary"] that Ronald Reagan is the most popular presidential candidate with gays in Texas. I have always thought Texans to be intelligent and fairminded, and have greatly admired the steady progress gay organizations there have made in gaining political clout and pursuing the protection of gay rights. Now it appears that too many are just not informed about what Ronald Reagan and his administration have been up to for the past three years, or else they are complacent in the comfort of economic prosperity and don't wish to risk any change.

Ronald Reagan and the men who run the government for him are the most regressive administration since Herbert Hoover. Jesse Helms, Jerry Falwell and the other bigots who support him, don't think Reagan has done enough (after all, he hasn't closed the bathhouses—yet!), but he has not been idle. He has eviscerated the Civil Rights Commission and severely cut legal aid to the poor. He has cut government services to almost every one of his cronies in the military-industrial complex. He has cut taxes on income but allowed them to rise in other areas. He has brought our relations with the Soviet block to a 20-year low, and has botched our foreign policy at almost every opportunity. The manner in which his administration responded to the AIDS crisis is indicative of their attitude toward gays. Most of us are better off today than we were four years ago because inflation is down. But I say that this is more a result of the worldwide oil glut than anything Reagan has done. Legally gays are only marginally better off than we were in 1980, and these gains are in spite of, rather than because of Reagan's policies.

Reagan's only appointee to the Supreme Court, Sandra O'Connor, seems likely to join Justices Rehnquist and White in refusing to recognize the right of privacy as a constitutional right when the court rules on the important Uplinger vs New York case, which is now before it. An adverse decision on this case could set the cause of gay rights back 20 years and effect reinstatement of the infamous Section 21.06 of the Texas Penal Code. And if Reagan is reelected, he will have the opportunity to pack the court with more conservative thinkers who regard gays as immoral deviates, who have no rights or protection under the laws of this land.

Walter Mondale, Gary Hart and Jesse Jackson may appear as lackluster alternatives to the actor who now so enjoys playing the part of our president. But any of them will do far more for this country and for gays. Surely we must join the other minorities who have been so slovenly treated and drive the invidious Reagan from office. We might not survive another four years of him.

Editor—During this presidential election year, VIEWPOINT invites guest editorials from our readers on the subject: "Who would make the best president for gay rights?"

Testy, tired describes UH debate

Democrat senatorial foes trade charges

By JIM SIMMON
Post Reporter

A crowd of weary-looking candidates for Texas Democratic senatorial nomination engaged in a subdued but occasionally testy debate Thursday night that did manage to draw out differences between them on several issues.

The debate, before about 200 people at the University of Houston, lacked some of the soap opera quality that has marked past Democratic elections.

People living in the larger cities of Texas have not seen his anti-gay commercials on television nor heard his ultra-conservative campaign speeches, because when Hance is in Austin, Dallas, San Antonio or Houston, he refrains from spewing forth his diatribe of hate. He knows such tactics don't work in big cities, where voters are historically known to be more liberal.

But, when Hance campaigns in the smaller towns, he condemns his foes for supporting gay rights. He has blasted both Doggett and Bob Krueger for seeking the gay vote. He has also taken both of these senatorial contenders to task on the issue of illegal Mexicans.

Hance, who was trailing in public opinion polls earlier this spring, used the gay rights issue and his opposition to amnesty for illegal immigrants to catapult himself into the June 2 runoff. Prior to these pronouncements, Hance was virtually unknown. But in the weeks leading up to the May 5 primary, Hance's name identification among voters zoomed forward to finish first, ahead of Doggett and Krueger, if only slightly.

In that photo finish on May 5, the final vote totals were: Hance, 455,768 (31.23 %); Doggett, 454,807 (31.16%); and Krueger 454,497 (31.14%). Krueger officially announced on May 19 he would not seek a recount.

With Doggett edging into the runoff by only 310 votes, it becomes exceedingly obvious that every vote counts. The gay voters—and there surely were more than 310 among us who voted for Doggett—made the difference as to whether Doggett or Krueger would be in the runoff. Remember, all gay caucuses across the state—AHRC, ALGPC, DGPC and HGPC—endorsed Doggett, not Krueger!

Thus, having been responsible in the May 5 primary for getting Doggett into the runoff, gay voters now have a further responsibility to finish the job we started, by voting en masse for Doggett in the June 2 runoff.

Mike Richards of the Dallas GPC agrees. "I would call on all gay organizations across the state to get their voters to the polls to defeat Hance," said Richards.

"The Hance campaign has been based on hatred and fear tactics," State Representative Debra Danburg said. "His campaign is not compatible with the ideals of the Democratic Party," she added.

"We in Houston could have done better in the May 5 primary," said Houston GPC's Ray Hill. "Our turnout must be better in the runoff if we are to defeat Hance."

Hance assails gay rights in Senate campaign blitz

By RICHARD S. DUNHAM
Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The issue has remained on the fringe of Democratic politics in Texas. But if Kent Hance has his way, gay rights will be a major issue in the May 5 Democratic Senate primary.

Hance, who opposes congressional rights issue highlights the differences between his campaign and opponents. Hance's gay rights opponent, Krueger, says the congressman believes his opponent's majority of Texas voters would support the gay rights issue. Hance, trailing in the opinion polls, hopes the gay rights issue will help him gain support from into a Democratic

On the gay rights issue, the lines are clearly drawn. Hance, undoubtedly the most conservative candidate in the field, opposes equal rights for homosexuals. His two leading rivals oppose discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation. Civil Rights

"Here in Austin, Doggett still faces strong opposition, and he is taking the runoff effort very seriously," ALGPC's Juan Ocha stated.

In San Antonio, where there is a large Hispanic vote, AHRC is making an all out effort to get out the vote for Doggett on June 2, AHRC's Tony Zule explained.

What has Hance said that has so conspicuously riled the rath of the gay community? Here are some sample newspaper headlines from across the state.

"Hance assails gay rights in Senate campaign blitz," said the Dallas Times Herald. "Hance tries to make gay rights campaign issue," said the Dallas Morning News. "Hance opposes gay rights legislation," reported the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. "Hance says opponents support gay rights bill," the Austin American Statesman printed.

"Doggett said he would support a proposed national gay rights bill, while Hance said he was against it," Houston Post reporter Jim Simmon said.

"Hance conducted a campaign based on prejudice and spent a lot of money trying to whip up fears," said Paul Reyes of the Houston Chronicle.

On April 9, Hance said he "opposes legislation that would ban discrimination against homosexuals," Fort Worth Star-Telegram reporter Jack Z. Smith published.

"Homosexuals make a choice as to the lifestyle, and other citizens should not have to adjust to them," Hance said in a San Antonio Express News article on April 12.

"Hance opposes equal rights for homosexuals," explaining "it should be up to the employer to decide whether he wants to hire a queer or not . . . because it might hurt his business," an East Texas newspaper reported.

Gays, however, are not the only item on Hance's hate list. Illegal aliens are also being targeted. Simply stated, Hance wants to send all illegal Mexicans back across the border to Mexico. He angrily defends the proposed Simpson-Mazzoli immigration bill. "Amnesty would take away a lot of American jobs and encourage additional illegal aliens to enter the country," Hance repeatedly has campaigned.

The stance of Hance on gay rights and illegal aliens is clearly not acceptable! Hance must be defeated.

If Hance should win the June 2 runoff over Doggett, gay rights in Texas would be fatally jeopardized. He is an embarrassment to the Democratic Party in Texas, party leaders agree.

When you go to the polls in the June 2 runoff to vote for Lloyd Doggett for U.S. Senator (John Tower's vacating seat), remember you are voting against a Boll Weevil Southern Democrat who said, "Employers should be able to refuse to hire homosexuals, even if they have needed job skills."

A gay vote for Doggett is a positive stance against Hance!

Double Play

The San Francisco City Hall Killings

Double Play, by Mike Weiss; 422 pp.; non-fiction; Addison-Wesley Publishing Company, Reading, Massachusetts 01867; hard-cover, $17.95

Reviewed by David Fields

Two-thirds of the way through Double Play, The San Francisco City Hall Killings, by Rolling Stone reporter Mike Weiss, it becomes very clear how very much Dan White was a product of the seething, cut-throat politics of San Francisco, that in fact he was "acting out" the extreme anger, frustration and resentment felt by various conservative and law-and-order factions in the city.

The whole fabric of events that Weiss recounts before and after White's assassination of Mayor George Moscone and openly-gay City Supervisor Harvey Milk on November 27, 1978, illustrates the profound divisions that existed in San Francisco.

Just five short years have separated the people of San Francisco from the murders of Moscone and Milk, and White's trial and his release into greater Los Angeles County January 6 of this year. In those five years after White's conviction on two counts of manslaughter, little of the resentment, fury and indignation felt by the gay and non-gay population has receded. Perhaps Double Play will help people understand some of that anger, and for others, it may lessen anger already felt.

The book is divided into two sections, The Act and The Trial. Weiss supplies detailed background on all the principals, though, after the trial, White's wife and Doug Schmidt (White's lawyer) no longer talked with Weiss. White gave no interviews. Working more as a historian than a reporter, he conducted over 200 interviews and examined tens of thousands of pages of public and private documents.

What is most fascinating about the book is the answer to the question, "How could a well-known politician murder two top city officials in broad daylight on a slow Monday morning, and receive only five years for both killings?" And there is a curious omission—the word "assassination" is never used in the book, a word that implies that the victims are valuable, politically important people, a word missing from all of Weiss' reports of the proceedings after Moscone and Milk's deaths.

The most intriguing and frightening aspect of the book is when Weiss begins his exploration into White's psychological state and history, a character study of his personality as expressed to White's friends and relatives as he grew up, and his experiences first as a fireman, then as a policeman, and later a City Supervisor there in San Francisco. Weiss reveals piece after piece of White's personality which, taken together, clearly illustrates how he could kill them.

Weiss felt, like many others, that the prosecutor was politically motivated to present a less-than-thorough case against White. The last third of the book covers all the details and strategies of the trial participants. He does seem to present the facts objectively, by including both sides of the controversy.

Though more of Milk's life and politics might have been included, Randy Shilts, who encouraged Weiss to write Double Play, has written The Mayor of Castro Street, The Life and Times of Harvey Milk. Written in 1982, it is an excellent companion piece to Double Play. (Shilts is an openly gay reporter for the San Francisco Chronicle.)

Double Play may serve as a reminder for any major city of the irrationality and passion generated by powerful, and intolerant, factions that might erupt into violence. One lesson of Double Play might be that dialogue, tolerance and compromise would provide a safety valve that might prevent what happened in San Francisco from happening anywhere else.

THE TROUBLE WITH HARRY

Hitchcock Still Fresh

Imagine a very young, fresh Shirley MacLaine and a young, dashing John Forsythe. The two go together remarkably well.

Alfred Hitchcock thought so, too. In his now classic The Trouble With Harry, he cast the two as a pair of young lovers faced with the terrible problem of disposing of MacLaine's dead husband's body, without calling attention to themselves or the corpse.

It's a real comedy of errors, as the two young lovers and their two friends make a merry band of killers—first killing Harry, then burying him, then digging him up, then burying him again and again. The four take Harry's death rather calmly—for example, upon finding the dead man, rather than calling the police, Forsythe (Sam) sits down to draw a portrait of Harry. They have no qualms about carrying the dead man all around the countryside, finding new places to bury the still warm body, or putting him in and taking him out of bathtubs and graves, before they decide to admit his death and their parts in it to the local authorities.

Before you get any nasty ideas about MacLaine or Forsythe and their friends, Harry died of natural causes.

Hitchcock is clever in this movie and is having his own little joke, as he makes a dead body akin to a sack of potatoes. There is very little mourning over Harry, even by the young widow. Instead, there is a very casual acceptance of the corpse as the four deal with how to dispose of the body. Hitchcock takes the fear and gruesome aspect right out of death. Harry's just a dead body whose only problem is finding a resting place, not something to be afraid of.

This is a wonderfully funny movie with shining performances by Shirley MacLaine (who was introduced in this movie) and John Forsythe.

A Modern Arrangement

My Best Friend's Girl is getting rave reviews around the country, and I don't know why.

There is the tendency to think that anything in French must be better than it really is. Wrong. This isn't a very good movie. It isn't bad, and goodness knows, it's better than the teen-sex or Kung-fu movies around, but so what?

My Best Friend's Girl is an attempt to show the modern arrangement two friends (Coluche as Mickey, Thierry Lhermitte as Pascal) have with Pascal's girlfriend (Isabelle Huppert as Vivian). Pascal is Prince Charming to Mickey's bumbling oaf. Vivian is the tramp that both of them love.

Why Vivian would even look at Mickey when Pascal is around, I don't know, and I bet Isabelle Huppert didn't know either. She played Vivian with as much motivation as a small stone.

Huppert was wonderful in Entre Nous and is a very good actress, but she didn't seem to be any more interested in Vivian than I was. She was on screen, doing her lines and picking up a paycheck. That's it.

Vivian could have been a wonderfully brazen hussy; she drinks her morning orange juice through a straw, she wears spike black heels to walk around in snow (and doesn't fall), her wardrobe consists of black, red, and more black, but Huppert didn't give her any fire.

At one point, Mickey asks Vivian, "How can you be such a tramp?" She answers, "I've had lots of practice. I was lucky enough to start very young." This could have been a woman full of passion and no shame; instead, she comes off a boring, bored housewife starting trouble to get a little attention.

Coluche and Lhermitte are both more credible in their parts. They can act, but without a strong Vivian, there isn't anyone for them to act with except each other, and that isn't enough.

Three faces of Paré.

STARLIFT — "That face, that face, that wonderful face." Let's talk about Michael Paré. If looks could kill, we wouldn't need a nuclear war now that the movies have got Michael. Did you see Eddie and the Cruisers? That 1983 flick didn't exactly take off through the stratosphere, but Michael (who played Eddie) may be on the verge of a major launch. His latest film Streets of Fire is bound to be one of the most original "youth oriented" films of the year, especially considering that it is the latest project from the director (Walter Hill) and writers of the enormously successful 48 Hrs. Streets of Fire, which appears to be another attempt at creating a contemporary film noir style, is full of "smoke, neon, rain-splattered streets," and, of course, rock 'n' roll (new songs by Stevie Nicks, Tom Petty, Jim Steinman, the Blasters and others). Michael portrays a heroic young ex-soldier involved in a street war, or as the press notes described the plot: "Queen of the Hop gets kidnapped by Leader of the Pack, and Soldier Boy rescues her." Hmmmm. Anyway, with all the talent involved, including actress Diane Lane, Streets of Fire has to be one of the most interesting Spring diversions without "Spielberg" plastered all over it.

LA DOLCE VIDEO — Although ABC's The Last Days of Pompeii, which reportedly cost $19,000,000 to create, may have seemed like the TV extravaganza to end all TV extravaganzas, NBC's upcoming A.D. (Anno Domini) miniseries—another contribution to the sandal and spear sweepstakes—is already sizing up as one of the most important projects for the 84/85 season. With a reported cost of $34,000,000, A.D. sounds promising by virtue of an intriguing cast, which includes such notables as Ava Gardner, James Mason, Colleen Dewhurst, Ben Vereen, John Houseman, Millie Perkins and Susan Sarandon, to name only a few. The producers must have a lot of faith in the project: a sequel, tentatively titled Maranatha, is already in the works. . . . NBC will also be a contender in the "jiggle" sweepstakes next season, with a new weekly private eye series called Partners in Crime. The stars: Loni Anderson and Lynda Carter. . . . Meanwhile, over at ABC, Lindsay Wagner returns in a weekly slot next season as Jessie, a police psychologist. . . . The late Marvin Gaye, who once was considered for the lead in a film about the life of singer Nat King Cole, decided that the idea was "morbid," and the project never got off the ground—until recently, that is. Sometime next season, CBS will be presenting Al Jarreau in The Nat King Cole Story. . . . Other CBS TV-movie projects for 84/85 include Carol Burnett and James Stewart in The Late Christopher Bean; Barbara Mandrell in Coalfire; and Joanne Woodward and Lindsay Wagner co-star in Passions. . . . And as awards go, the annual Tony Awards ceremony is always a class act. Robert Preston and Julie Andrews are the hosts for this year's presentation, which airs June 3 on CBS.

WHATEVER HAPPENED TO . . . Hal David? — The former co-writer (with Burt Bacharach) of most of Dionne Warwick's biggest hits is now the president of ASCAP (American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers). . . . Leave It to Beaver? As you probably remember, the remaining stars of the old series reunited a couple of years ago for a TV-movie called Still the Beaver. That's also the title of a new series which incorporates some of the same stars. It's coming to the Disney channel. . . . Frank Sinatra? He's working on a new album with the genius/producer who helped make a star of Lesley Gore and a demigod of Michael Jackson. Quincey Jones, that is. . . . Joe Cocker? I don't know if he's still puking onstage, but I do know that he's back with a new album called Civilized Man. . . . Cesar Romero? You probably loved him in 1942's Springtime in the Rockies, co-starring with Betty Grable and Carmen Miranda. Next up for Cesar is Lust in the Dust, with Tab Hunter and Divine. Somebody pass me a valium.

IN MEMORIAM — May McAvoy, whose bee-stung lips were a familiar sight to moviegoers of the 1920s, died April 26 at age 82. Although Miss McAvoy was a star in the silent era and appeared opposite Al Jolson in The Jazz Singer—the film that broke ground for talkies—she was never to know success in the sound era. She retired in 1929. . . . Writer Irwin Shaw died May 17 at age 71. Although he was successful with short stories, plays and screenplays, he will probably best be remembered for his novels, including The Young Lions and Rich Man, Poor Man. . . . May 17 also saw the passing of offbeat comedian Andy Kaufman at age 36. Many fans will remember him as an integral figure in the Taxi TV series, and some of the rest of us will recall some of his perplexing contributions to Saturday Night Live. He was also well known for odd pranks and publicity stunts—after a Carnegie Hall appearance in 1979, he loaded his entire audience onto buses and took them for a midnight snack. Only time will tell if his death is a publicity stunt.

French Expressionist Artist EMERIC

by Bobbie Mona

French Expressionist artist Emeric was recently in Houston for a showing of his paintings to benefit the Houston Grand Opera. The Hungarian-born painter has lived in Europe and America and now plans to do a series of paintings in Houston. His vibrant palette knife technique has lead many critics to compare him with Soutine and Modigliani.

TWT — Why have you specialized in the palette knife?

EMERIC — Of course I have painted like everyone else with brushes. But I have a very sensuous approach to painting; I use my senses to capture the universe. I go beyond the subject to capture what I see. As an Expressionist painter, I take the subject out of myself for as far as possible. When you reach that degree of subjectivity there is a chance that you get close to some reality. Having that kind of physical approach to painting, the knife became an extension of myself. I can use the same tool to paint something as light and fragile as lilacs or something as tough and hard as the Rocky Mountains.

TWT — Your paintings seem to express brightness and joy. Is that the way you see the world?

EMERIC — If my painting says joy, it doesn't mean I was in a joyous mood. I was just able to capture that or maybe I was just wishing for that. A painting is everything: rhythm, dance, life and death—the summary of what a man is. During the last fourteen months of Van Gogh's life, he was the loneliest, most abandoned, most hopeless human being on earth, yet his paintings are brilliant, bright, colorful and powerful. You can feel his desire for life. So, you can be a strong, healthy man and make sad, dark paintings, or a sick man looking for health and make bright paintings. When someone asks me how long it takes to complete a painting, I reply, "A lifetime," because a painting is the sum of all a person's experiences.

TWT — Can Art be taught?

EMERIC — Teaching and learning are mysterious things. I can't push you to get close to my painting if something doesn't already exist in you to go toward it. I may be able to teach you how to find the source in yourself that could be the start of something. But if I teach you to hold and handle my tool and to use my technique, it's so much an extension of me, it can't be an extension of you. My father, who was a very good painter, used to say, "You do good art when you forget yourself and are so well in possession of your technique that you are liberated from it." The difference between learning and the subject you learn is the same as the difference between sexual education and love. I can encourage you to be bold and courageous, because we are never bold enough. The hand and eyes alone don't make a good painting—it is everything you feel.

TWT — You feel everyone should paint. Would you explain?

EMERIC — I have given paint kits to friends with the instructions not to worry about how good they are, but to paint to enjoy. If you learn to see the world through a painter's eyes, every object becomes a thing of beauty, a universe in itself. Sometimes too much knowledge can be a bad thing. To always know what you are doing—what challenge is that to an artist? I am most pleased with myself when I have surprised myself.

That is the joy in painting.

TWT — You have painted in Europe and America. How would you compare them?

EMERIC — I am in love with special places in Europe, like Venice and Paris, and fascinated by America, especially New York. I describe Paris and New York as two different women. Paris suggests a promise of what tomorrow may bring, while New York promises nothing; it just is. New York says, "take me or leave me, I don't care." It's irresistible!

TWT — How do you feel about Houston?

EMERIC — I have the feeling that something is happening here that is not only tomorrow, but is here today. It's called Future. The architecture here is brand new, beautiful, and there is nothing else like it. The future is already here; it's unavoidable. The future has a birthplace and it's coming very fast. It may be that I can not participate in that future, but if I can express it in my work, I will become a part of the future.

LA WANDA — Texas regular, La Wanda Page, entertained a full house at Oz in Austin last week. Get this ... "Aunt Esther's" show was almost canceled when her luggage was lost at the airport. No dress. No act. But, wait ...

when Jim Posten of Backstreet Basics heard of La Wanda's dilemma, he galloped to her rescue with one of his own dresses. Seems they both wear the same size. I don't care to know why he just "happened" to have a clever little frock hanging in the closet. But, the show did go on.

La Wanda told BACKSTAGE that upon leaving Austin, she'll be a mistress of ceremonies for Gay Pride Week in Los Angeles and will be appearing on television's On Stage America over the July 4 weekend. She will also appear on an NBC pilot this fall.

Speaking of Backstreet Basics in Austin, the now notorious razor-lipped Lola appeared there last week, after appearing at Outlaws in Houston. Between sizzling dialogues, she and Miss Alabama performed "Bosom Buddies" to an appreciative and somewhat stunned audience.

MISS GAY HOUSTON — At the annual city-wide pageant which culminated on the stage of the Tower Theatre, the increasingly popular Tommie Ross (c) was crowned the 1984 winner. Ross won best talent with her Tommie-does-Diana Ross-does-Billie Holiday number. First runner-up was bombastic Bernadette (l), who performed a colorful snip from La Cage Aux Folles and also won male interview. Second runner-up was virtual newcomer Vanessa Casti (r), who swept both sportswear and evening gown competition. Rounding out the top five (bottom row) were Tina Renee's (r) flashback to the 50s and Tarin Blake's (l) interpretation of Streisand's Yentl. Prior to giving up her '83 crown, Sabrina De Loreau graciously presented a moving farewell speech. If history repeats itself, then Ross will vault from MGH to MGT, as did Sabrina. Thank you. He and She Productions.

AUSTINteaCIOUS — Jerry and Lola invaded and terrorized Backstreet Basics on May 16 with their X-rated puppet show. . . . In fact, horny Lola got a little out of hand backstage, as the CRUISE CAMERA photo above testifies. It would appear that manager Chris was seen fondling Lola's bosom as Lola stuck her lecherous hand in unsuspecting Quentin's pants—perhaps that's why Quentin has such a grin on his face! A block away, on Sixth Street, the Green Parrot has closed to the gay community. Owners Gary and Terry told HOT TEA they wished "to thank everyone for their support and friendship." Last weekend, the club reopened as the Fantasy, and it's no fantasy that the smart bar is now straight. . . . Speaking of changes, Joe and Jerry have announced that thoroughly modern nu-wave music at the Boathouse has been expanded beyond Tuesdays to now include Thursdays, by customer demand. . . . Austin's ace deejay, Kerry Jagers, who moved to New York to spin wax at top Big Apple clubs, returns to his hometown this Memorial weekend to play both Uncle Charlie's and the Crossing. . . . Speaking

LONE STAR 5 — The fifth annual Lone Star Run grazes on the land near Waco this Memorial Day holiday weekend, with nearly 300 members from all of Texas' motorcycle clubs enjoying outdoor moments of sharing. Memorial Day's Lone Star Run and Labor Day's Rosebud rank among the two biggest club runs every year in the state. TWT's Greg Havican is run-side this weekend with his CRUISE CAMERA and memo pad!

manager Terry (l) and super country deejay Ron. HOT TEA wishes Ray and all his staff the best of luck in the beautiful new club. . . . On Mother's Day, Tiger Lil (see right) appeared in concert along with the Oak Lawn Symphonic Band at the OP amphitheatre. Looks like she was also helping out the reconstruction that's currently underway. . . . Phil Johnson of the Dallas Gay Archives (see photo below) was in costume as Carmen Miranda, all along Cedar Springs last week, to promote the DGA's movie of the week, The Gang's All Here. Their next presentation will be Treat Williams in Hair next Friday, June 1 at 8:00pm.

. . . On the entertainment wire, Clare Voyance continues her engagement at the beautiful Club Menage, and Bubba and Bear are packing them in at Patrick's, through this Memorial holiday weekend. . . . Meanwhile, on May 16, JR's presented a hot fashion show featuring their own bartenders in the latest attire from High Voltage. . . . In the CRUISE CAMERA photo above are handsome High Voltage owner Nick (r), along with personable Dick (l), owner of High Voltage's sister store in Fort Worth, Off-Hours, and their friend Rick. Models included JR's topless bartenders (see below) Doug (l) and Joey. . . . As you can see, it was indeed a hot affair!

TARRANT TEA — The Other Place will host the Mr. and Miss Gay Pride contest on June 8. . . . The Annex Bar has special guest, Miss Gay America, Tasha Kohl, slated for the monthly "has been show." . . . Tasha began her fast-growing career at the Other Place, and is returning to her hometown for her first performance after an incredible tour of the Carolinas. But she said she's very homesick for Texas. . . . Sir Bud's newest bartender, Kelly, tells HOT TEA that he has the soap opera bug, and all Cowtown addicts should stop by and keep track of what their favorite soap is doing. . . . The Lumber Company's new bartender keeps the fun flowing at the Saturday beer bust—photo and fabulous vital statistics to follow next week. . . . Partners seems to be opened on a regular basis from what we hear from Sally, former manager at that club. . . . We hope Joe and Dave can keep it open this time.

SAN ANteaONIO — Timmy's Tea: Bernice and Fran of Faces not only have a new dj, C.J., but also a new manager—Robert "Trudy" Jones. . . . Sunset Boulevard hosts an AHRC benefit show this Friday. . . . Talk of the Town's benefit follows on Saturday. . . . The following Friday, June 1, Downtown SA hosts an all male benefit show. . . The Noo Zoo gets an erection—oops, we mean erects—a Big Tent party this Sunday. . . . Will anyone be virgin enough to qualify to attend Roomer's White Wedding this Saturday. . . . or scarlet enough to attend Bonham's Red Party this Sunday? And now the tea of the week: Gene Howle and Lynn Ganey have purchased Sunset Boulevard from Marc Comstock and Steve Hutchison. Howle says the name will naturally change to The Copa after extensive remodeling. Ganey adds that he plans to move from the Beaumont Copa to SA to run the newest operation, which now makes three Copa's for Texas. Meanwhile, Steve and Marc assure HOT TEA that they are crystalizing plans for an innovative cruise club, a format first for Gay SA.

HOUSTON HoteaLINE — Yes, it's true that lightning struck Miss Charlotte's last Saturday, jolting many an unsuspecting young lad into the arms of a strong cowboy for protection. . . . Even some of Miss Charlotte's cowgirls joined Simon for an encore of Best Little Whorehouse in Texas last Sunday at BRB to raise nearly $400 for the Montrose Counseling Center and the Montrose Clinic. . . . Ed & Jeff's jock strap finals will be at EJ's next Thursday. . . . On the same night, the Dock presents the South Texas Mr. Numbers Magazine finals. . . . We've always known the Locker to be a meat rack, but this Memorial Saturday, a 150-lb. roast pig will be spitted on the patio for the Locker's Luau. . . . Also sailing to the Caribbean is Twins, who will give away a trip for two to Jamaica for their June 22 Tropical Nights theme party. . . . JR's captain, Bob Bonaventure, told HOT TEA he apologized if anyone took what Brandi said in just as serious. Hell, if Brandi really thought the Circus could be legally raided, she would never have emceed their grand opening! Think about it. But to prove the point, HOT TEA took a gang of gawkers to the Circus Club last Sunday night to check out the scene personally. No raid! In fact, there's never been a raid at the Circus. About the nude male dancers, yes, they really do take it all off, working up a river of sweat dancing their clothes off. It's as legal and safe as nude sunbathing at Hippie Hollow at Lake Travis. Such things really do happen in 1984!

CORPUS CHRIStea — Raymond Saucedo has won the Mr. Splash Day contest, with Rusty Ashurst coming in as runner-up. . . . Meanwhile, beachboy Andy White adds that the carnival and carwash has been rain-dated to this Sunday at the Hidden Door. . . . Speaking of "the doors," a busload of guys and gals from Big D partied severely. . . . Now that Buck Days are over, things are returning to status quo at the Jolly Jack, bartender Eddie Sisfuentes observed. . . . HOT TEA bids farewell to Lane Stanwood, who's leaving "the sparkling city" to become a Georgia peach. . . . AUSTIN TO DC

AUSTIN — This city's powerhouse gay volleyball team is among the many teams journeying to the nation's capitol this Memorial Day holiday weekend, for the National Volleyball Tournament.

Representing the Capitol City of Texas in Washington, DC are Luru Garcia, Vince Morris, Bruce Schiwitz, Tim, Randy and Gilbert. Good luck, Texas, from TWT SPORTS/Austin.

KINGS AND QUEENS

HOUSTON — Kings and Queens, a new mixed bowling league for Houston, is now forming, TWT SPORTS/Houston has learned.

Five members are needed to form a team, with play to begin at the Post Oak Lanes, Friday, June 1 at 6:15pm.

For more information concerning the league, contact Mark Hall at (713) 921-7495 or Myrt Bading at 723-1455.

BAR TO BAR RUN

HOUSTON — On Sunday, June 3, this city's own FrontRunners will host their second annual "Bar to Bar Fun Run," TWT SPORTS/Houston has learned.

The run is a group run where the fastest and slowest runners test the entire course together as a group and stop at local bars along the route to socialize with each other.

The run will begin at 2:00pm, leaving Kindred Spirits and finishing four miles later at the Officers Club.

"Any male or female interested in meeting other joggers and having an enjoyable afternoon is welcome to participate in the run," a FrontRunners spokesperson told TWT SPORTS/Houston. "No applications and entry fees are required. Just show up with your jogging shoes and running shorts."

PEGASUS INVITE

DALLAS — This Saturday, May 25, softball teams from Houston, Kansas City and Tulsa will invade the Dallas area for the Second Annual Pegasus Invitational.

The games will begin at 9:00am at Griggs Field, located at Hall and Central Expressway, and concludes Sunday afternoon with the championship game beginning at 3:30pm.

A registration party get-together will also be held Saturday at the Dallas Gay Alliance building on Cedar Springs beginning at 8:00am. An awards presentation, tentatively scheduled to be held at the Snake Pit, will be held Sunday at 8:00pm.

"Competition in this year's invitational will be the strongest yet, with all out-of-town teams proving dominant in their respective leagues, and all OLSA teams being stronger than ever, too," Ronnie Patton, spokesman for OLSA, told TWT SPORTS/Dallas. "Free beer will be on hand at the ballfield, while OLSA fans are encouraged to come out and support their favorite team, and help us pick this year's king and queen of the Pegasus Invitational."

ROLLERS AND TRIX

HOUSTON — After three weeks of pin play in MSA Thursday night mixed bowling, Miss Mona's High Rollers are now in first place following action that occurred on May 17. Not far behind in second are Godamthering with Thursday Nite Trix pulling up the rear.

"We are still looking for teams to compete in this high energy, action packed sport," Debbie Scott, league secretary, told TWT SPORTS/Houston. "Anyone interested in joining us please call Mike at (713) 973-1358."

POCKET POOL

HOUSTON — The MSA Pocket Billiard league has now formed its summer league and is ready for the break that will crack on June 6, TWT SPORTS/Houston has learned.

Anyone interested in information about joining the league should contact Debbie Scott at (713) 973-1358.

STARSCOPE
by Milton von Stern

This week's STARSCOPE stars are Carroll Baker (Mariel Hemingway's mother in Star 80), May 28, 1931, and Clint Eastwood (seen here in Honkeytonk Man), May 31, 1930.

STARSCOPE

The Week of May 25-31

MAY ECLIPSE: The annual eclipse of the Sun will be next Wednesday, May 30, which will be viewable along a very narrow band in the southeastern United States. With special protections for your eyes, while the Sun is 99.6% covered by the shadow of the Moon, stargazers will be able to see Venus just 4° west—during the day! The Sun will appear silhouetted, surrounded by a bright ring, beginning around noon on May 30. The phase will be most visible in a four-mile-wide path extending from New Orleans to the Chesapeake Bay. Viewers in East Texas will not get to see the full brunt of the shadow.

MAY NEW MOON: The monthly New Moon begins at 12:48pm, next Wednesday, May 30—smack dab in the middle of the eclipse of the Sun. New Moons are normally known as one of the best times of the month to begin new projects for successful fruition; however, the eclipse will overshadow all initial New Moon successes. In other words, you may experience a false start, have to back up, take another run for your goal, and then—the second time around—succeed!

GEMINI: (May 21 - Jun 21) The eclipse of the Sun during the New Moon of next Wednesday, will cause your initial efforts to improve yourself to be temporarily thwarted. However, after the eclipse has passed, you'll be able to start a New Moon beginning regarding personal matters such as appearance, diet, exercise and mental outlook.

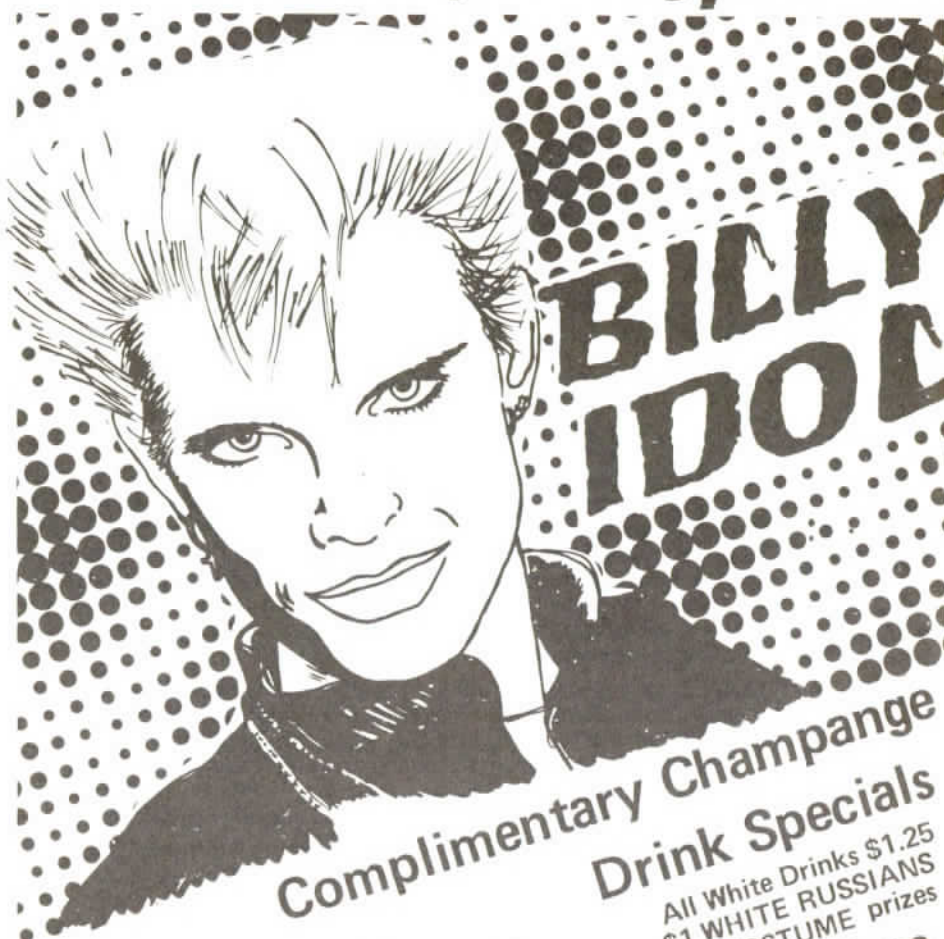

GANGER: (Jun 22 - Jul 22) The eclipse of the Sun during the New Moon of next Wednesday will cause your initial efforts to improve your inner mind to be temporarily thwarted. However, after the eclipse has passed, you'll be able to start a New Moon beginning regarding your inner self, private matters and moments of solitude, to recharge your emotional batteries.

LEO: (Jul 23 - Aug 22) The eclipse of the Sun during the New Moon of next Wednesday will cause your initial efforts to improve your social sphere to be temporarily thwarted. However, after the eclipse has passed, you'll be able to start a New Moon beginning regarding your social life, to deepen friendships, and realize some of your fondest hopes and wishes.

VIRGO: (Aug 23 - Sep 22) The eclipse of the Sun during the New Moon of next Wednesday will cause your initial efforts to improve your career to be temporarily thwarted and overshadowed. However, after the eclipse has passed, you'll be able to start a New Moon beginning regarding your job, your ability to snag a good job interview, and your capability to impress superiors, plus, to get along smoothly with coworkers.

LIBRA: (Sep 23 - Oct 23) The eclipse of the Sun during the New Moon of next Wednesday will cause your initial efforts to improve your education to be temporarily thwarted and overshadowed. However, after the eclipse has passed, you'll be able to start a New Moon beginning regarding your schooling, as your ability to absorb new information will be increased and your desire to learn will not be diverted by mind-wandering interests.

SCORPIO: (Oct 24 - Nov 21) The eclipse of the Sun during the New Moon of next Wednesday will cause your initial efforts to improve your money situation to be temporarily thwarted and overshadowed. However, after the eclipse has passed, you'll be able to start a New Moon beginning regarding your finances, to smooth out mutual money problems and to work beneficial deals regarding purchases.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov 22 - Dec 21) The eclipse of the Sun during the New Moon of next Wednesday will cause your initial efforts to improve your marriage to be temporarily thwarted and overshadowed. However, after the eclipse has passed, you'll be able to start a New Moon beginning regarding any partnerships and alliances you are currently engaged in, as harmony between mates or business partners will come easier.

CAPRICORN: (Dec 22 - Jan 19) The eclipse of the Sun during the New Moon of next Wednesday will cause your initial effort to improve your health to be temporarily thwarted and overshadowed. However, after the eclipse has passed, you'll be able to start a New Moon beginning regarding any illnesses being experienced, as diagnosis and treatment from a specialist will be effective.

AQUARIUS: (Jan 20 - Feb 18) The eclipse of the Sun during the New Moon of next Wednesday will cause your initial efforts to improve your romantic life to be temporarily thwarted and overshadowed. However, after the eclipse has passed, you'll be able to start a New Moon beginning regarding dating, cruising, romancing and meeting new admirers.

Houston. A FRIEND'S DEATH

Mickey Folson
1960-1984

Death as we know it, is a sad time; an ending, eternal. Yet, death is not an ending; it is a continuation of one's soul throughout eternity. Like genesis; life from lifelessness. How a person deals with death is just as important as how a person deals with life.

Of my friend, I can only say this: In all the souls I have encountered in my travels his was the most . . . human.
