REVIEWED BY BRUCE WILLIAMS

64 Beds by Sally Jacques; Plain View Press; Austin; paperback; art anthology; 1995; 64 pp.

Memories and purpose. Those are two of the primary strengths of, and driving forces behind, artwork. Especially performance art.

With her book 64 Beds, dancer and performance artist Sally Jacques kindles memories and purpose. At the same time, she reminds us of some of her projects and performances of the past decade. She explains thoughts, meanings, direction and purpose. And she renews the drive and the importance of what the issues were then, and what they still are.

The main focus of Jacques' work is her 64 BEDS Performance Vigil, which was held Dec. 10, 1988 in Austin. It was a collaboration among 64 visual artists who each created a bedcover based on the hexagrams of the I Ching, the Chinese Book of Changes; 64 members of the community participating as sleepers; and 24 performing artists who used movement, and Purpose in sound and vocals to create an all-night performance.

The theme number 64 was chosen because the I Ching describes 64 images as representing the total possible states of experience in a changing world. (And it's no coincidence that this book, which expands the 64 Beds project into a written and pictorial history and reminder, is exactly 64 pages long.)

64 BEDS was funded by the National Endowment for the Arts, the City of Austin, the Texas Commission on the Arts and numerous other corporate and individual donors, and also received the aid of countless volunteers. The project initially raised $10,000, which was distributed to two agencies serving the homeless in Austin — Helping Our Brothers Out and Caritas House. The project evolved into 64 BEDS exhibits and events in San Antonio, Houston and Washington, D.C., and now this book — as timely as ever, considering the growing pressure against the homeless, such as the City of Austin's recently enacted "No Public Camping" ordinance.

It was a dream that served as Jacques' inspiration for 64 BEDS, leading her to feel the need to do something to beat the drums about the issue of homelessness in America. "Part of the vision of the event was to raise awareness about the situation of the homeless and to awaken community response to the poverty and economic isolation that they face," Jacques recalls. "The homeless often spend hours looking for a place to sleep, they fear for their safety, they are kept on the move at a time traditionally reserved for inner contemplation and sleep. They are subjected to weather changes, being robbed, raped and left to die alone."

One of the people who inspired Jacques was Steve, a young man she sat next to on a H.O.B.O. bus trip. "I noticed that Steve was shivering," the artist recalled. "I gave him my jacket as he told me he had AIDS. He was trying to get to a hospice in Houston so that he could die there. His family had thrown him out and he had exhausted the couches of his friends...I was depressed that he had no one and that he was so alone. We should all be able to die with love surrounding us."

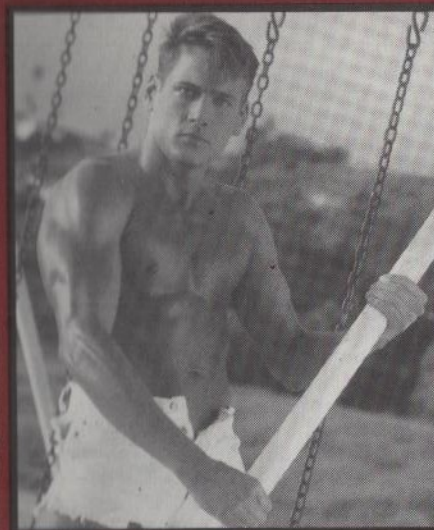

This book is a sample of Jacques' love for those around her, and her cry for more awareness of the community of all mankind. "Sally Jacques has no use for barriers and no patience with them," Robert Faires writes in the introduction to 64 Beds. "Her work and her life are about dismantling the barriers between people so we can all see that, indeed, we are every one of us in this world together."

Other Jacques projects are profiled and discussed in the book. Many of them deal with AIDS and the fight against that disease, and against the way it acts to separate a small portion of the population from the rest of the community. Steve was an example. Another link was Austin artist Fred Weyrich, who did Hexagram #34: "The Power of the Great" for 64 BEDS; Weyrich also died of AIDS shortly thereafter. The book looks at and explains Jacques' Bodycount project, first presented on Dec. 1, 1991, and renewed annually since then as a major statement for World AIDS Day in Austin. 64 Beds also lovingly remembers nationally renowned choreographer and dancer Woody McGriff of Austin, who died of the disease in 1994.

In eye-catching and mind-expanding illustrations and contemplative explanations and remembrances, 64 Beds serves as an excellent and worthwhile guide to the community of beings. The inspirations and challenges are presented here, and like a Picasso or Rembrandt masterpiece they sit waiting for continual reflection and appreciation. Remembering and feeling, you can never forget.

Sally Jacques will appear at a book signing and discussion at 7 p.m. today, Jan. 19, at Bookpeople, 603 N. Lamar Blvd. in Austin. For more information about 64 Beds, write to Plain View Press; P.O. Box 33311; Austin, TX 78764; call (512)441-2452; leave e-mail at sbpvp@eden.com; or access at <http://www.eden.com/~sbpvp>.

REVIEWED BY BRENT SHOCKLEY

Theatre LaB Houston has begun the New Year with light, toe-tapping fare in its current presentation of Charles James Ogborn's Box Office of the Damned. Premiered off-Broadway in 1994, Box Office is the second musical presented by the fledgling company in its three seasons, but has a completely different feel than last year's dark entry, Stephen Sondheim's Assassins.

Set in the box office of a New York theatre, this musical revue spoofs all types of theater goers and employees. It's amusing not only for those who've ever worked or volunteered in a theatre, but for anyone who's ever purchased a ticket! In playful song, Ogborn examines such theatre icons and dilemmas as late-comers, refunds and exchanges, demands for free tickets, blue-haired senior citizens at the Sunday matinee, holding for the next available agent and the life of an usher.

In dual comedic roles, Jennifer Doctorovich convincingly plays the nasty, inflexible box office supervisor and the even gruffer Mrs. Levittown, the number-one dreaded customer who daily places unreasonable demands on box office clerks. "I can just imagine what these people do when they put you on hold! Smoke dope and eat Chinese food!" she exclaims.

Both characters are in for a shock when the theatre hires a friendly, eternally, optimistic new employee played by Jessica Colvello. Ms. Colvello is a sheer delight as she projects her adorable big brown eyes and expressive face to every seat in the audience. She's most effective in ensemble numbers where she steals command of the stage with her outstanding comedic timing and exceptional vocal quality. James Cowan also contributes more than his fair share to the production numbers with his strong tenor voice, which seems to have unlimited range.

The music, directed by Joann Sechelski-Alford, is largely upbeat and varied. Unlike many recent musical attempts in which songs tend to sound the same, the composer here varies melodies, ranging from the country beat of "Viva La Matinee" to the lively "New Non-Union Usher Polka." Though the talented ensemble cast appears to be having a blast, the musical score requires hard work from the performers with its lightning-speed tempos and nonrepetitive lyrics. It's a safe bet the actors held a script while opening their Christmas packages this year!

Though they're mostly satirical, two songs come close to achieving ballad status. Bethany Daniels fantasizes about the always-sexy Paul Nicely as she sings seductively through "Stranger," a song about a lonely box office clerk who longs to find herself in the arms of the man on the other side of the glass. Nicely gets a chance to show off his rich baritone with melancholy tones as he deadpans through "One Ticket," in which he portrays a live ticket.

Director Deborah Kinghorn aptly combines musical elements, colorful sets (in what is usually a dark, black theatre) and interesting, creative choreography by Jim Phillips and Jim Williams (in a restrictive space) to create a first-rate evening of non-stop laughter. Kinghorn worked closely with the New York-based Ogborn to adapt Box Office for a more effective production on the small, intimate, Theater LaB stage.

Kinghorn felt the play was somewhat lacking in women's songs, an obstacle she overcame by obtaining permission to allow Jim Phillips (who recently starred as Norma Desperate in the Halloween Magic hit Montrose Blvd. in Houston) to perform "I'm in the Show" in drag. This move created a show-stopper (complete with a full split executed by Phillips) out of what would have been the least interesting piece in the show. As a result, Phillips earned the most laughs and applause of the night.

Though this piece is rather short on book, lacking a clearly defined, cohesive storyline, and has a rather abrupt ending, these shortcomings don't inhibit the show's entertainment value. Box Office of the Damned is, indeed (as it's being advertised), "just damn fun!"

Box Office of the Damned is being presented at Theatre LaB Houston, 1706 Alamo, through Feb. 11. Shows are Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m., with special Sunday matinees at 4 p.m. on Feb. 4 and 11. Tickets are $15 and $18. Call (713) 868-7516 for reservations and information.

If you haven't seen Heat, starring Al Pacino and Robert De Niro, check it out. They're great together. But also check out the soundtrack on Warner — there are 21 morsels of listening pleasure for your ears, including tracks by Moby, Kronos Quartet, and more.

Another smart CD you may want to add to your collection is Geoff Smith's 15 Wild Decembers, featuring songs of ethereal beauty from the heart of England. We happened upon this little gem by way of Epic's Frank Ceralo. Geoff Smith is actually a classical artist, but through Frank's brilliant foresight, there was a dance remix of one of the tracks ("Six Wings of Bliss") taken off the album for club play. The track was never released commercially (sadly), but was it ever the one! Oh well, that's the politics of dancing! This is a great CD to throw on and get domestic with.

Divas to the dance floor, please...we all remember the E.G. Fullalove hit from last year. Well, they're back with a cutesy follow-up called "Ain't It What You Want" that will truly send you to the dance floor. The remixes by Ralphie Rosario and Johnny Fiasco tear you a new one and work you over.

One of THE songs of 1995 was the Bucketheads' "These Sounds Fall...(The Bomb)." Well, now they're back with yet another #1 smash, "Got Myself Together," which held that position for two weeks on Billboard's venerable club chart. I talked about this one a few weeks ago, but since then I've received the import copy on Positiva. Much, much superior to the domestic release, with mixes by Huster's Convention and Todd Terry. Lovely.

If you watch Friends on Thursdays, you're no doubt familiar with Joni Mitchell's "Big Yellow Taxi." When I received my dance remix on smart yellow vinyl, I was sort of surprised at how really great it was. Check out that tribal dub!

Miisa is definitely on the right track with her new single, "Set Me Free," a clever hi-houser for your gay nerves. There's a promo double pack floating around right now and if you find it, snag it! AND, don't hesitate to pick up her self-titled album for a smart bargain. Also, Miisa wants to set up a smart tour, so if anyone's interested they can call Jimmy Smith and we'll be glad to put you through to her manager.

Dance floors were taken by storm last year with Jamiroquai's "Space Cowboy," which also was a number one in Billboard.

His new single, "Light Years," takes us to a new level of consciousness on the ever-popular "Work" label. On this track he's gone with a bit more edgy flavor and a very cruise bar undertone. If you like the stuff that comes out on "Tribal" (Danny Tenaglia and the like), this one's for you.

Now we have to give out the "Most Improved Artist Award." And the winner is... (envelope, please) Ace of Base.

We've never been a very big Ace of Base fan in the past, but their past two singles have truly floated our boat. Their latest, "Lucky Love," is all that. The mixes are done by Armand Van Helden and did she ever tinkle. Housed out with fierce bassline and flowing vocals, this one's set up for smash-hood.

And speaking of consciousness...Josh Wink (of "Higher State of Consciousness" fame) is back out with a new single on Sorted Records, "Hypnotyzin'," and in our opinion it's much more tee-ish than "Higher State." Josh has sort of grown up on this track and given us a more up-poppish record to shake our colitas to.

Okay, now the past couple of things we've been blessed with from Gloria Estefan have been pretty cheesy. But her latest, "Tres Deseos" (Three Wishes), is working quite well for us. Epic finally hired the right remixers to give Gloria just the right thing to work us over. The mixes are by Ralphie Rosario and Pablo Flores — hot! You all need this record, even if you don't understand Spanish. And that's dance music THIS WEEK IN TEXAS.

Access Houston Brings Dramatic Works on Anti-Gay Hate Crime To Local Small Screens Beginning This Weekend

Two dramatic views of hate crimes — a ten-minute play inspired by the July 1991 gay-bashing murder of Houston banker Paul Broussard and a scene from Don Maines' award-winning play His Only Forgotten Son — will be broadcast on Access Houston television beginning this Saturday, Jan. 20.

The hour-long collection of short plays also includes works by Houston playwrights William G. Davis and Carl Williams and Los Angeles writer Steve Tatham.

James Alan McGuire of Houston said he wrote "Fundamental Things," about a young man murdered outside a gay nightclub, because "I wanted everybody to be outraged by hate crimes." The Broussard murder "hit close to home," added the five-year resident of Montrose. "It made me angry."

McGuire originally planned to write a full-length play about the Broussard incident, then decided to make his first play a short one with a fictional twist. In contrast, the scene from His Only Forgotten Son began as a monologue and developed into a full-length play. In February 1993, Maines wrote and performed the scene, entitled "State vs. Showbiz," at Hyde Park Theatre in Austin. It developed into a two-character piece he performed that summer in Chicago, and ultimately the full-length play in which Maines played dual roles when it premiered at Houston's Alley Theatre. The Houston Public Library recently added a four-camera videotape of His Only Forgotten Son to its films collection.

In "State vs. Showbiz," a gay law professor whose lover has recently died of AIDS lives to tell how he was attacked by a gang of teenage gay-bashers. The scene concludes with an empowering, surprise ending.

"Fundamental Thing" and "State vs. Showbiz" were taped last summer at Stages Repertory Theater in Houston along with other award-winning short plays produced by Scriptwriter/Houston and Theatre Network of Houston.

McGuire worked closely with the cast and director of "Fundamental Things," and was delighted to see his first script bloom onstage. "I got a lot of good input from the director and the actors, and I made changes along the way as we rehearsed," he said.

Maines, a Houston attorney whose plays Wheels of Justice, Is Alexander Godunov? and Reindeer Games has been produced a number of times, explained that, due to work, he was not involved in the production at Stages. "In fact," he said, "when it's shown on television will be the first time I'll get to see how things went."

Access Houston will broadcast the plays at 2 p.m. this Saturday, Jan. 20; 7 p.m. Monday, Jan. 29; 10 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 3; 11 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 4; 10 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 10; 11 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 11; 10 a.m. Saturday, March 2; and 11 a.m. Sunday, March 3.

And I feel fine. I'm still working. But I know eventually I'll need long term medical care. My insurance won't ever cover all the cost. And I want some cash now to put in savings, and for other expenses. So I shopped around and then sold my life insurance policy to Life Partners. I didn't get the hard sell, or intense pressure. It was fast and easy. Now I have peace of mind and some extra money to enjoy it.

Call now for a free consultation, there's no obligation and no pressure, and ask for our brochure.

This Saturday, Jan. 20, TITAS in Dallas presents the work of Frank Zappa in "The Dangerous Kitchen," a 25-year retrospective of the late musician's work. The show will take place at McFarlin Auditorium on the campus of Southern Methodist University at 8 p.m. Tickets ($7-$46) are available by calling (214)528-5576.

The Royal National Theatre's highly acclaimed staging of J.B. Priestley's spectacular thriller, An Inspector Calls, comes to Dallas' Majestic Theatre, 1925 Elm St., for a one-week limited engagement Jan. 23-28. Winner of 14 major New York theater awards, including four 1994 Tonys, this national tour is produced by the same team that brought it to the Broadway stage. Show times are at 8 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, with matinee performances at 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Tickets ($18-$42) can be charged by phone by calling Ticket-Master at (214) 373-8000.

[Clockwise from top c] Mark Frie, Paul Taylor, Robert Baldwin and Todd Hart star in Forever Plaid, which has been extended at Fort Worth's Casa Mañana through April 6.

Fort Worth's Casa Mañana has extended the run of Forever Plaid through April 6 because of popular demand. The play, about a male singing group from the late '50s, opened to rave reviews in New York in 1990 and ran for more than four years. It's being staged at Casa's Theatre on the Square, 109 E. 3rd St. Performances are at 8 p.m. Thursdays and Fridays, 5 and 9 p.m. Saturdays and 2 p.m. Sundays. Tickets ($16-$20) are available by calling (817)332-CASA.

Auditions will be held this Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 20 and 21, in Houston for a professionally produced video short to be used for development of a projected two-hour pilot for a weekly gay soap opera series. A wide variety of gay and straight roles are available; actors and actresses (ages 20s-50s) should be prepared to do a two-minute monologue and cold readings from the script. Auditions are at Ms. B's, 9200 Buffalo Spdwy, from noon-6 p.m. on Saturday and from 2-10 p.m. on Sunday. For an appointment, call Three Point Productions at (713)445-7500.

A 28-year-old hairdresser who decides to change her life and start learning gets help from a middle-aged, worldly-wise college lecturer in Educating Rita, which opens tonight (Jan. 19) at Actors Theatre of Houston. Willy Russell's variation on the Pygmalion theme was one of the major hits of the 1980 London season; and the screenplay adaptation won an Academy Award nomination. Tickets ($12 Fridays, $15 Saturdays and $10 Sunday matinees) are available at the box office, 2506 South Blvd., or by calling (713)529-6606.

Ken Johnson's new play Jesse's Closet offers a probing look at a man dying of AIDS in San Francisco and the family that never really knew him. Through flashbacks from Louisiana to Castro Street, the audience learns more and more about Jesse, the young doctor Brad who's come in search of his true father, Jesse's genial friend Chris, the dying man's strongly Catholic mother and his stepfather. Performances are at 8 p.m. Thursday-Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday through Jan. 26 at the Dougherty Arts Center, 1110 Barton Springs Rd. in Austin. Tickets are $8, with discounts for seniors, students and ACoT members; call (512)499-TIXS.

Khafji is another world premiere by the VORTEX Repertory Company now playing through Feb. 10 at Planet Theatre, 2307 Manor Rd. in Austin. It's Good vs. Evil and Right vs. Wrong — or is it? — as Austin playwright Bill Haas presents a dramatically different look at the Gulf War of the early '90s. Laith M. Radif directs. Shows are at 8 p.m. Thursdays-Sundays, and tickets are $11, $7 for seniors, students and ACoT members. For reservations or more info, call (512)478-LAVA.

BORN JANUARY 21, 1957

The Sun moves from conservative Capricorn to liberal Aquarius. While personal missions may not undergo a change in the political spectrum, you can be sure that no matter what you want, missions will be undertaken with a clear, cold Aquarian eye. Be careful what you wish, kids; the Sun faces off this week with surprising Uranus, which can mix a little nitro into a carefully prepared cocktail. I happen to like a drink with a kick to it, but not everybody does....

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) Practical pink Caps are usually very careful about money and financial planning, but now the Sun-conjunct-Uranus poses a surprising question: Is it all worth it? You may find yourself questioning what is and is not important to your sense of security and value. Review and revise, my friend. You now realize that all that glitters is not gold; sometimes it's just "Bronx baroque."

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 20) Aquarians find themselves in the thick of it this week with the Sun in your own sign conjuncting your ruler, Uranus. If anything abruptly tosses you out onto center stage this is it. Ready or not, you'll be facing the multitudes in your wild pink pantaloons, so give it your best shot and go for the Oscar. Be proud, be loud and be ready to take the lead. I expect nothing less.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - March 20) Intuitive pink Fish are even more so this week with the Sun in Aquarius conjuncting Uranus. If hazy, crazy thoughts simply pop into your head, take heed. This is the week to cash in on crazy thoughts. It's also the time to get more involved in one or more of our charitable organizations. Give something to our community effort; the planets provide ease of effort and the greatest results.

ARIES (March 21 - April 20) Friends become more important to your sense of personal fulfillment with the Sun in Aquarius. Rally 'round the rainbow flag and join in the team spirit, but don't push that indomitable Rambunctious spirit too far. The Sun/Uranus conjunction can abruptly push proud Rams into the back room of friendships with a swift boot in the patoot. Save your more outrageous antics for next week.

TAURUS (April 21 - May 21) Careers are funny things. Sometimes it seems you can take or leave it, but now, with the glorious Sun in Aquarius, it becomes more of what makes you tick. Expect a professional jolt when the Sun conjuncts explosive Uranus — this could be the big political payoff, for good or not. Knowing how careful queer Bulls are in just about everything, I suspect that all fragments will fall into place after all.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) The Sun in Aquarius shines a tantalizing spotlight on travel and exotic locales, while the Uranus conjunction throws a few firecrackers in for good measure. Trips may prove surprisingly crazy, so pack up your troubles and toss them on the road for demolition. It's not the best time to pursue legal action, unless, of course, you enjoy a jolting surprise in the briefs. My best advice is to wait until next week before you sue.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) Lovers shake the salt and spice this week with the Sun conjuncting Uranus. Maybe you've been taking others for granted, or maybe you're becoming too humdrum. The planets think that it's high time for reassessment and rejuvenation. At any rate, be prepared for a surprise (not necessarily bad) and a new, deeper level of understanding. Pink Crabs may also reach a pivotal therapeutic point now.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) Proud Lions always need an appreciative audience and now, with the Sun in Aquarius, you have partners eating out of your hand. However, be prepared for a bite on the thumb when the Sun conjuncts Uranus. Relationships are what you make of them. If you've been a good pup, you will have a lovely surprise for two; if you've been a roaring bore, prepare for a comeuppance.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) The job will produce more than its fair share of surprises this week when the Sun conjuncts explosive Uranus. This should be fairly easy for prim and proper pink Virgins, who always seem to be on the ball, so to speak, at work. I know you're in a constant state of careful planning, so use this fabulously exciting time to forge new paths at work — sort of like an assembly line coup d'état.

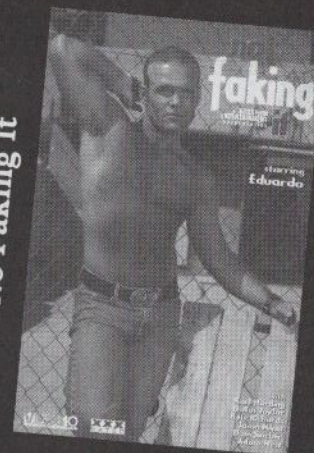

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) Even diplomatic and chatty Libras will find the social scene a bit overwhelming this week when the Sun conjuncts Uranus. Parties take on a wild life of their own, so be prepared to know when to say when. Happily, the Sun in Aquarius shines brightly on you throughout the month, so any gritty bumps now become smooth pathways to pleasure next week.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) Gay Scorpions love to curl up and enjoy their home, but now, with the Sun facing off with Uranus, you'll find your nest filled with ornery scorpions. The nice thing about this planetary aspect is that any weird surprises may result in happy changes and great improvements around the house. (Sort of like giving you a great excuse to totally remodel...)

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) Randy Archers are always ready with an inappropriate comment or two. Now, with the Sun conjuncting Uranus, your mouth enjoys a veritable field day of wild and radical commentary. This may be good if you're considering overthrowing a country, but may not be the best strategy if you're trying to meet, greet and favorably impress. Hold all thoughts until next week!

DALLAS MAN SUES INSURANCE COMPANY OVER RESTRICTIONS ON AIDS CLAIMS

*Activists Are Closely Watching
Case, Which May Set Precedent;
Attorney Claims Violation of Americans With Disabilities Act.*

DALLAS — A Dallas man has filed suit against his insurance company because of limitations the company has imposed on AIDS-related claims to his policy. Activists are closely monitoring the case because of what they believe is its potential to establish a precedent.

Adrian R. Ellis, 40, took out the policy, issued by Benefit Life Insurance Company of Richardson, Texas, in December 1994 and was then diagnosed with HIV in February 1995 during a stay in the hospital when he was treated for pneumonia. Currently Benefit Life puts a yearly cap of $1,500 on AIDS-related costs on the policy, but Ellis contends that he didn't know about the AIDS-related limit at the time he purchased the coverage.

Benefit Life contends that every insurance policy sold in Texas has some limits on coverage. Insurance policies consistently contain restrictions on other diseases as well, and not just AIDS. In Ellis' case, the policy he purchased was tailored to his financial ability to pay. Benefit Life officials say Ellis could have bought a policy with fewer restrictions on AIDS benefits, but it would have been more costly.

State District Judge Gary Hall is expected to issue a ruling soon on a temporary injunction lifting the cap from Ellis' insurance. The Dallas resident has had close to $50,000 in claims which have not been paid, but the temporary restraining order is allowing him to continue receiving care.

Ellis' attorney, Cynthia Leiferman, is claiming that his case falls under the 1992 Americans With Disabilities Act, which prohibits discrimination based on disability. AIDS is covered under that law.

Ellis had gone to Parkland Memorial Hospital, a Dallas County facility where indigent patients can receive health services, but he says the hospital isn't as aggressive in treating his disease as his private physician, who he can see only if he has insurance.

AIDS advocates in Texas are watching the Ellis case closely, because it could set a new precedent for what limits insurance companies can impose on the policies they write on AIDS-related cases, especially if the judge agrees that insurance companies must comply with the Americans With Disabilities Act.

ACTIVISTS STEP UP ANTI-HATE CAMPAIGN AFTER KILLING OF HOUSTON-AREA MAN

*Director of Gay Lobby Visits City
For Launch of 'Pledge Project'; Local Leaders Plan Coalition.*

HOUSTON — In the wake of the slaying of a gay man two weeks ago, activists and community leaders are moving to build awareness of the problem and increase support for legislative and other responses to hate-motivated crimes.

Fred Mangione, 46, was stabbed to death earlier this month in Katy, a small town west of Houston. The two young men arrested in his killing, who identified themselves as belonging to a neo-Nazi group, were reported to have said beforehand that they were "going to get" a gay man.

Dianne Hardy-Garcia, executive director of the Lesbian/Gay Rights Lobby of Texas, met with a small group of activists and others last Monday evening to discuss hate crime and ways of fighting it. Appealing to people on a personal level, convincing lawmakers to pass a stronger hate crimes bill and making it possible for law enforcement agencies to collect statistics on the problem are all part of the solution, she said. The Houston meeting was the first of several such events Hardy-Garcia will be holding around the state this month to launch train people on how to speak out in their communities.

The centerpiece of the LGRL campaign is the Pledge Project, a statewide effort to gather the signatures of at least 50,000 Texans and increase awareness of the issue.

One factor hobbling efforts to increase awareness of hate crimes is underreporting, both on the part of gay people who may not trust law enforcement authorities to take their complaints seriously and on the part of police, who may either be unaware that they are supposed to file reports or may indeed refuse to do so. "Reporting is the only way we can prove that this is a serious problem," Hardy-Garcia said. In addition to a stronger, clearer hate crimes statute, LGRL will seek funding for police sensitivity training.

The hate crimes proposal LGRL has been lobbying for, which would increase penalties for assaults motivated by prejudice based on race, color, religion, sexual orientation and other categories, is modeled on a Wisconsin statute upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court. It has gradually picked up support among state legislators, and the last time it was put to a vote, it won in the state Senate but lost (narrowly) in the House. The bill will be introduced for the fifth time during the next session of the Legislature, which convenes in January 1997.

Pat Gandy, president of the Houston Gay & Lesbian Political Caucus, said members of her group, P-FLAG Houston and others will meet on Saturday, Feb. 3 at 1 p.m. at Bering to discuss forming a coalition of gay and straight people who will speak out against hate-related violence.

The newly revived activist group Queer Nation also met Monday to firm up plans for "Take Back the Streets Four: A Candlelight March in Memory of Fred Mangione." That march, to be held this Saturday, Jan. 20 at 6 p.m. starting at the corner of W. Drew and Montrose, will include remarks by Mangione's longtime companion, Kenneth Stern, and other speakers.

Queer Nation holds its next meeting on Monday, Jan. 22 at 7 p.m. at the Montrose Branch Public Library, 4100 Montrose.

LGRL Pledge Project cards can be obtained by writing to: The Pledge Project; LGRL of Texas; P.O. Box 2579; Austin, TX 78768; or accessing lgrltexas@aol.com.

LEGACY COUNSELING OPENING HOSPICE IN DALLAS

Organizers Seek Added Funding To Expand Capacity.

DALLAS — It's hard to believe that Dallas would not have a professional AIDS hospice home outside of a hospital. Two have been established in the past, but neither is providing services any longer.

Legacy Counseling is about to open an AIDS hospice house in Oak Cliff which will be run jointly by Legacy during the nighttime and by the American Hospice Group during the day. It is scheduled to open Feb. 15.

Legacy, a counseling service located on Hall Street that counsels people with the disease, found that those they were helping needed a place like the new hospice.

The house will be a nonprofit 501(c)(3) entity and will be open 24 hours. Currently the facility has one full time staffer and several volunteers, with nurses and nurses' assistants on staff on-site working around the clock in three different shifts.

Three people will be residing in the house, which is its present capacity. Currently, there is a waiting list of 12 people. Organizers hope to expand that number to allow for more residents, but will need more money to enlarge it. Those staying at the home are referred by AIDS Services of Dallas or Parkland Hospital.

Jerry Lynn, one of the fund-raisers for the hospice, told TWT NEWS that the group is going after many different grants and has received federal Ryan White funds, although more money will be needed, especially to reach the facility's goal of being able to assist more people.

"Everyone needs to pull together and help get this off the ground," Lynn remarked. "Nobody should have to die alone or be left alone. There will always be people around in this house, with a special staff of people coming to visit the residents."

The hospice had been used as a duplex, but has been completely remodeled for its new mission. There are two nurses' stations in the house. Each resident has a bedroom and a sitting room for family members who choose to spend the night. The facility is also equipped with a kitchen, dining area and two day rooms. Security is also provided.

Just as with any new home, many items are needed and the staff would appreciate any donations of sheets, towels and other linens, including thermal blankets. Cash contributions will also be accepted.

MOSES ACCEPTS AIDS EDUCATION GRANT FOR TEXAS SCHOOLS

Decision Ends Controversy Over $1.35 Million in Federal Funds.

AUSTIN — After two months of controversy, Texas Education Commissioner Mike Moses told State Board of Education members on Jan. 11 that he was ready to accept a three-year federal grant for AIDS education worth nearly $1.35 million.

Moses said he changed his position after receiving assurances from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention that the grant wouldn't require Texas schools to teach a specific health curriculum. The commissioner had held out for the ability of local communities and school boards to develop their own appropriate sex education program, taking into account a new state law that says such programs must emphasize abstinence.

The grant will give $449,844 to Texas schools for the period Dec. 1, 1994 through Jan. 31, 1996. The next step will be for the Texas Education Association to submit a work plan answering CDC's questions about application plans for the grant by Jan. 31.

AIDS education advocates had said Moses was bowing to pressure from conservative Christians in initially refusing the federal funds. Moses told state board members he was only following the actions of his predecessor in suspending the grant until he could be assured that Texas would be allowed to develop its own agenda for using the money. Some radical right leaders expressed displeasure when Moses accepted the grant; Wyatt Roberts, executive director of the American Family Association of Texas, told the Austin American-Statesman the change was "a result of pressure from folks who are interested in sex education, not abstinence education."

However, the wide range of reactions indicated approval of Moses' decision to accept the grant. Gov. George W. Bush said, "He accomplished exactly what he set out to do, and as a result, Texas schools will get federal funds without federal mandates on how to teach health education."

HOUSTON FOUNDATION ANNOUNCES 1995 GRANT RECIPIENTS

Nine Gay, Lesbian and AIDS Groups Are Chosen Beneficiaries.

HOUSTON — A private group whose goal is to assist organizations in the fight against discrimination has announced the recipients of its first ever grant cycle.

In a reception to be held next Thursday, Jan. 25, the Hollyfield Foundation will recognize nine gay, lesbian and AIDS groups chosen from a list of applicants by its board of directors. The event is from 5-7 p.m. at the foundation's offices, located at 2700 Albany, Suite 202.

Grant recipients include the Houston Black Tie Dinner, Inc./1995 Dinner, for its awards to the Human Rights Campaign and ten local and statewide charitable organizations; DiverseWorks, an art and performance space, in support of its gay and lesbian programming for the Houston community during 1995-96; the Texas Human Rights Foundation, in support of its Texas Equal Marriage Project, which works to educate the state's gay and lesbian community on the ramifications of the same-sex marriage issue; and the Houston Area Teen Coalition of Homosexuals, to support the production and distribution of its newsletter to school administrators and counselors in the Houston area.

Other recipients are the HIV Wellness Center in Austin, in support of its Wright Home Renovation Project; the AIDS Housing Coalition Houston, a male transitional living house for people with HIV/AIDS; the Center for AIDS: Hope and Remembrance Project Research Initiatives/Treatment Action! [RITA!], in support of office space for the group and the weekly RITA! Fax Newsletter for doctors and AIDS researchers, which provides timely summaries on the latest treatment, research and advocacy issues; Steven's House, an intermediate care facility for people with HIV/AIDS; and Omega House, in support of its hospice care to medically indigent people with AIDS in the terminal phase of their illness.

The Hollyfield Foundation was founded by Joseph "Jay" H. Hollyfield, Jr., a well-known Houstonian who died of AIDS-related conditions in 1994, to further his vision that gay, lesbian and HIV-positive people might live free of discrimination and persecution.

Thursday's reception will also commemorate the Hollyfield Foundation's first chair, Bill White, who died of AIDS-related conditions last November.

TEXAS FREEDOM NETWORK BLASTS 'TRIANGLE' BOYCOTT

Training for Mainstream Activists Planned in February.

AUSTIN — With a new name and renewed vigor, the Texas Freedom Network approaches its first birthday dedicated to opposing the radical religious right on issues involving personal freedoms, including public education and mainstream politics.

Executive Director Cecile Richards, daughter of former Texas Gov. Ann Richards, held a press conference Tuesday in front of Congress Avenue Booksellers in Austin to denounce attempts by the American Family Association of Texas to boycott and intimidate advertisers of The Texas Triangle, an Austin-based statewide gay newspaper. The Texas Freedom Network has begun asking people to counter AFA's attacks by patronizing businesses that have been targeted by the boycott.

"This is the symbolic start of a positive campaign to counter the American Family Association," Richards told a crowd of about 50 at the midday gathering. "We're showing support for the principle of allowing this type of paper to exist. We hope we can nip this sort of thing in the bud," she added, noting that her group would have shown similar support had the attack been on less mainstream publications.

Richards noted that AFA's wasn't an ordinary boycott, pointing out, "I think it's for hateful reasons, not legitimate. We're fighting back, just like you wouldn't stand by if someone boycotted a business for being owned by a particular race or a particular religious group. And it seems to me he [AFA executive director Wyatt Roberts, who originated and championed boycott efforts] realizes this tactic backfired in a big way, and is now backpedaling as fast as he can."

The Rev. Jim Rigby of Texas Faiths United also addressed the crowd, saying, "I am a clergyperson from the Austin area. Last year, I performed the funeral for a young gay man who had been beaten to death. I cannot begin to describe my agony when I hear my Christian brothers and sisters at KIXL radio station (where Roberts began the attacks on his show) constantly preach condemnation and misinformation about homosexual persons."

"Violence against people does not emerge suddenly out of a vacuum. It is a result of a climate of hate produced by a rhetoric such as (Roberts'). I am sure you (KIXL and AFA) are good people, but you are not good neighbors. Please stop trying to divide our community."

The Texas Freedom Network urged those in attendance to patronize Congress Avenue Booksellers, a Triangle advertiser, and many did.

Richards founded her organization as the Texas Freedom Alliance in February 1995, but the name was changed early this month after Oliver North's group Freedom Alliance threatened to sue, because they had a copyright on that name.

"Having Our Say: A Training Conference for Mainstream Activists" is the next major event planned by the Texas Freedom Network. It will take place from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 17 at St. Edward's University in Austin. Over a dozen speakers will lead afternoon workshops, and the day will also feature a speech by Congressman Lloyd Doggett (D-Austin) on "The Far Right Agenda in Congress and What It Means for Texas" and a fund-raising reception at 5:30 p.m. with ex-Gov. Richards as the featured speaker. Tickets are $25 (conference only) and $50 (conference and reception), with sponsorships also available for $100 and $250. For more information, call (512)322-0545.

2015 Place will celebrate its 13th anniversary on Feb. 14 with a gala party including a free buffet, studly dancers and happy hour prices all night long. Stop by anytime for happy hour from 2-8 p.m. and lovely Boy Toy dancers Thursday and Friday nights....

All is ready for the first big party at ReBar tomorrow night. The Black and Blue Party, with leather clubs everywhere getting invitations to play, promises to be an excellent kickoff to gay SA's newest club format. Don't forget their dress code — you don't want to be left out....

You can always stop by Woody's for a cocktail, but you'll only find the Polish Princess during happy hour. Greg [above] is one of the bartenders who serves you seven days a week during happy hour. Woody's is the only club in town to serve doubles at discounted prices. Don't forget the club's new Showtunes Night on Thursdays — check it out. Make your plans to attend the club's Super Bowl party on the 28th. TGRA will provide the halftime entertainment that will be a must see.

AUSTINteaCIOUS — Charlie's keeps their customers happy and smiling, and our CRUISE CAMERA caught Shawn, Scott and Martin [above, l-r] having a grand time. This Sunday, Whitney Paige takes center stage in the club's weekly show. Come be entertained by some of the best — the action starts at 11:30 p.m. Charlie's annual January White Sale is this Wednesday, Jan. 24, all day and night. Charlie's is Austin's Dallas Cowboys headquarters, and they'll prove it on Super Bowl Sunday!...

'Bout Time is proud to announce that Pam has taken over the reins again. Come out this Friday and wish her the best, and also enjoy their wonderful buffet. If you miss it, check out the club's fantastic Sunday buffet and crowd. Good at pool? Then Thursdays are for you, as they have their pool tournament with cash prizes. Super Bowl Sunday, the club is having a Cowboy blowout — check with your favorite bartenders for details....

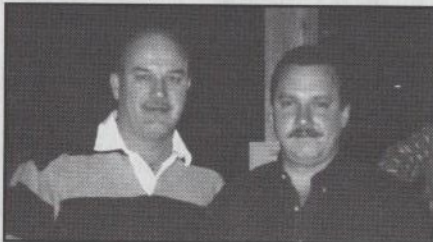

Oil Can's always wants their customers to have a hot time, and with hot dancers like Bailey and Rock [below, l-r] you'll be fanning yourself all night long. The crowds turned out all day and night yesterday, for the club's fifth anniversary party. HOT TEA wishes Oil Can's many more to come. The cash box is back up and they're ready to give the bucks away. Try your lucky key this Monday and Tuesday....

Speaking of hot times, 5th Street Station guarantees you'll want to dance your butt off with the hottest in country music. Their Sunday shows are always hot, and this Sunday is no exception, when the 5th Street showgirls and their special guest will entertain you. Sundays and Thursdays are also your chance to entertain as they present Karaoke with Michael — but watch out for the gong!...

On Tuesdays, Mark and Paul present Chain Drive's mystery menu. There'll be plenty of food and drink, and all proceeds benefit Christopher House. If you work up an appetite before that, check out what the Heart of Texas Bears have cooked up for you this Sunday....

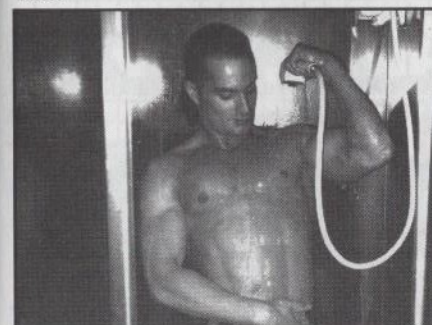

At Kansas, you'll always have a super time. Our CRUISE CAMERA recently caught Geoff and Mike [above, l-r] doing just that. Fridays are movie nights in the cabaret room, and tonight it's the midnight comedy showcase. On Saturdays there's a new movie release while Tuesdays are blood and guts nights. Moving on up are Bobby and Roger, who are now manager and assistant manager, respectively. Come by Austin's newest club and congratulate them.

DALLAS TEA — Village Station's Pajama Party is tonight and we're sure customers

Greg Smith, James Townsend and Gregg Boyd [above, l-r] will find someone to engage in pillow talk with. We bet you will too! It's going to be a fun night of hot dancing and hunky men in jammies till 4 a.m., so pull out your best sleepwear and join the crowd. Of course, Saturdays are always jamming at the club and Sundays are legendary for the T-Dance, which starts at 5 p.m., and Trash Disco, which keeps the music flowing and the men streaming in....

What do you call hundreds of hot men wading through a jammed club's dance floor in their underwear or other even more revealing fashion accessories? We call it BrickBar's FOAM Party, which takes place tonight on Maple Avenue. Hot dancers like Antonio [above] in their showers will definitely make your mouth water. And if all that's not enough, next Friday, Jan. 26, porn god Scott Randsome, who's made a big impression in the adult film industry, will get your motor running. Apparently someone at sister club Moby Dick has doorman Troy Robert's motor running and we hear his secret infatuation is music to his ears...

Fridays are going to heat up at Crews Inn when ace deejay Chris Austen and lighting wizard Glennaphonics team up to bring you Dallas' newest Trash Disco night. No cover, hot men, drink specials and sizzling male dancers will complete this new evening at the club. Of course, Tuesdays are always jam-packed as Chris and Glennaphonics keep the latest music pumping all night long. Crews Inn Tuesdays are legendary in Big D. Stop by and find out why....

At Sue Ellen's, we caught Jeannie Taylor and Lacy Rollins [above, l-r] relaxing in one of the booths, where you'll be able to get a great view of the Super Bowl when they broadcast the game on their video screens and on a big-screen TV they're bringing in especially for the big game. But it'll be another kind of game on Wednesday, Jan. 24 when they hold the finals in their pool tournaments. Come out and see who boasts the meanest pool stick around, or try your own hand since they'll be awarding cash prizes to the winner....

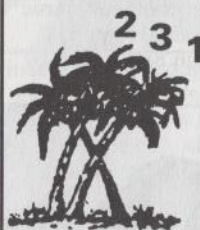

Are you into group things? On Monday nights at Midtowne Spa, you can indulge your fantasies when they hold their dancer contest, which always features hunks, hunks and more hunks as you can see from the above picture from a recent fleshfest. You can watch a dancer work up a sweat every night in the Mardi Gras Usually going to the post office isn't much fun, but at Moby Dick, Armando Diaz, Jason Lee and Lee Tatum [above, l-r] were having a ball one Sunday night, which is when everyone at the packed club plays post office. Starting at 9 p.m., humpy customers send each other video messages on the screens all night long and try to get someone's attention. It's first-class fun and this version of the U.S. "male" sure beats the regular kind. With the weather changing on a daily basis, the club has you covered — literally — with their back patio, which sports a cover and heaters just in case the weather turns frightful outside. If you thought you spotted someone paying particular attention to happy hour bartender James Bengford, you're right. It's the new Mrs. Bengford, yet another Todd for the hunky man....

The incredibly sexy Carlos [above] was heating everyone up at Zippers recently and naturally our CRUISE CAMERA was right there. But if you missed Carlos, there are plenty of delectable men for you to feast your eyes on every night. Speaking of feasts, hunky bartender Greg Powell will be throwing a blowout party for the Super Bowl and he tells us they'll offer mounds of food and drink specials all day long. So go "score" and watch the game with some of Dallas' friendliest folks....

Tonight, join TMC customers Darwin Bragg, Tony Coronado and Bill Miller [above, l-r] and take advantage of Cruisin' the Crossroads at the club from 9-9:30 p.m. They have special drink prices that'll start your night off right. Bartender Joe "Daddy" Root has apparently become a basketball fan after attending a Mavericks game. Was that his date or his son he was with? We couldn't tell because he was so nubile! All right for Joe!...

Thursday, Jan. 25 will be a special one at Union Jack when Maurice Cantu celebrates his birthday, so stop in and wish him a happy one. While you're there, make sure you check out all the new clothing lines they're stocking for spring, which isn't far away. Be the first to get the latest in club clothes, swimwear and of course, their huge selection of Calvin Klein underwear, which no one should be without!...

Richard Hart and Allan Fisher [above, l-r] plan to be at JR.'s on Tuesday, Jan. 23 to witness the first round of competition in the deejay spinoff that will bring Dallas' fiercest music masters together. The battle of the music will continue every other Tuesday until Feb. 20 when they name the winner. Be sure not to miss this event! Still another fun night will be Thursday, Feb. 1 when JR's brings in hypnotist J. Dalton Courts to mesmerize the audience. Show time starts at 10:30 p.m. HOT TEA hears JR's Eric, aka "The Juice," was looking for Mr. Goodbar the other night, but no word on whether he found him or not....

The 1996 Adam Film World Video Guides have just arrived at Alternatives of New Fine Arts, so hurry in and get your copy of this comprehensive reference on adult male videos. It'll help you decide which movies are the hottest — and Alternatives offers the largest selection in town....

On Jan. 31, a special reception will be held for John Thomas, executive director of the Gay & Lesbian Community Center, who will be retiring on that date. The reception will be held from 5:30-7:30 p.m. at the Community Center, 2701 Reagan St., to express appreciation for the man who has been the driving force behind the Center and many other Dallas gay organizations. At 6:30 p.m., a brief roast and toast will take place. Those attending are asked to write a letter or note thanking John and send it to the Community Center, in care of Karen Estes, or bring it to the reception so that a scrapbook may be compiled for the honoree.

HOUSTON TEA — The Mr. and Ms. Olympus Leather South Central contest at Pacific Street was a fetish fantasy come true. We promised you a picture of the winners and here they are: Elizabeth Ann and Dirk Nettles [above, l-r]. New on Wednesdays at P.S., it's Cage Craze.

Newcomer and professional dancers are invited to strut their stuff in the club's infamous cages of decadence. Don't forget that Sunday Overload at Pacific Street is the place where the weekend never ends and shirtless men get in free....

The Miss Southwest US of A Pageant at Rich's was a glamorous extravaganza. At the end of the competition, the winner's circle included [above, l-r] special guests Black Velvett and Tommie Ross, second runner-up Syreeta Monroe, last year's winner Whitney Paige, Miss Southwest US of A '96 Jill Jordan and first runner-up Tahna Mason. Be sure to check out Rich's new Whatever Wednesdays. The deejays will be spinning the best of the '70s, '80s and '90s and if you request it, they'll try to play it. Check it out....

There's no need to be afraid of the dark. Tomorrow night, the Club Houston presents "Lights Out! The Party." Beginning at 9 p.m., there'll be free flashlights for the first 100 guests and a good time for everyone. Stop by and check out the great weekly specials and incredible amenities at this extraordinary facility....

The 800 Pacific Saturday Night Block Party is even better than before. New for 1996, reduced price longnecks now accompany inexpensive well drinks every Saturday. You and your friends can enjoy these fabulous specials from 9-9:30 p.m. at the Santa Fe Bar and Patio, from 9:30-10 p.m. at the Montrose Mining Company, from 10-10:30 p.m. at JR's and from 10:30-11 p.m. at Heaven....

Are you ready to make your wildest fantasy come true? If you are, be at Heaven on Sunday, Jan. 28 when the club presents "Bed & Breakfast," a flashlight/blacklight party featuring an autograph party and photo shoot in bed with adult video star Scott Randsome.

While you're there, you can get cozy with friendly bartender Rick Bounds [below, l] just like loyal customer Michael Gann [r] did. Got the midweek blues? Take a trip down memory lane with deejay/veejay Leroy Peters and RetroRave Wednesdays and enjoy the best of the '70s and '80s....

During the holidays, JR's general manager Bob Hill [above, l] presented a check for $650 and dozens of toys to Sister Kathy Foster of Casa de Esperanza. The collection was made at the club's annual employee turnabout show. Many thanks to the 800 Pacific customers who made it all possible. On Tuesday, Jan. 30, Lindsay Love and Kofi host the JR's Man of the Month strip finals. Winners from the last four weeks of nightly contests will compete for $300 in cash and the title of Mr. Capricorn. There'll also be a special celebration for everyone with a January birthday....

Tonight, Val Rodela presents the grand opening of Houston's newest nightclub, Escape. The festivities will feature no cover, male dancers and drink specials all night. Tomorrow night, the party continues with happy hour until 11 p.m., male dancers and after hours until 4 a.m. On Sunday, Jan. 28, the club hosts the Mr. Southeast Texas All-American contest. Escape is located at 6121 Hillcroft, the site of the original Inergy Club....

It was an evening of elegance and excellence at the Miss BRB Pageant. Last year's winner Regina Dane [above, l] posed with her successor Day-Leigh Edwards [c] and with first runner-up Jamie Roberts [r]. The Mr. BRB contest will take place next Sunday, Jan. 28. This Sunday at 8 p.m., Jamie Roberts presents a special show for the Bering Care Center. The club continues to serve up the best in dining and dancing with Sunday steak night, Thursday burger night and dance lessons every Tuesday with Jody and every Thursday with Scott....

This Sunday at 8 p.m., Gentry doorman Johnny Cook [above] wants everyone to come meet the newly-crowned Emperor and Empress at the Imperial Court's Victory Show. From 4-9 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 28, Soiree Aubergine kicks off with a Super Bowl Party and Barbecue. Immediately following the game, Mr. and Miss Gentry host "Rumblin', Bumblin' and Fumblin'," a stumblin' Super Bowl revue benefiting the Bering Care Center. Flesh and fantasy abound at Gentry with male strip frenzy every Sunday and Wednesday and sexy Boy Toy dancers Thursday-Sunday....

The Midtowne Spa brings you the hottest male dancers at 9 p.m. every Monday-Thursday. They also offer half-price rooms every Monday and Wednesday and winter weekend barbecues around their heated indoor pool. Catch the heatwave at the spot where the night never ends....

MacGregor Medical Association recently made some very generous donations to Omega House and AIDS Foundation Houston. MMA Director of Training and Education Derek Cunard [above, r] presented $2,500 to Tom Staley of Omega House [l] and $15,000 to AFH's Sara Selber and Deb Catrell [below, c and r]. These funds were raised at MacGregor's annual family carnival....

The Colt 45's are conducting a Stone "Souper" Bowl pledge contest. Everyone's encouraged to pledge an amount of money per point scored during the Super Bowl. Proceeds will benefit the Colt 45's Stone Soup Fund. Forms and return boxes are located at participating clubs around town. Awards will be given to the club that collects the most money, the person who contributes the most money and the individual who most accurately guesses the final score of the game.

Richard Mancha passed away in his mother's home on his 43rd birthday after a long battle with AIDS. He was preceded in death by his father, Emilio, and has joined his companion, Bo. Richard will be greatly missed by his mother, his two sisters and his five brothers along with many other family members and friends.

He enjoyed working many years at the Montrose Mining Company in Houston and will always be remembered.

A celebration of his life took place on Jan. 5 at Resurrection Catholic Church in Denver Harbor, where Richard grew up. The mass was celebrated by his brother, the Rev. George Mancha from the diocese of San Jose, California. Donations to Richard's memory may be made in his name to Thomas Street Clinic; 2015 Thomas St.; Houston, TX 77009.

Michael, "M the T," was in the comfort of his own home on Tuesday, Jan. 9, 1996 when he chose to move on to a better place. He had fought a mighty battle against AIDS for six years, and has been rewarded by now being in the comfort of God's arms. Although born on Feb. 20, 1947 in Portland, Oregon, Michael and his family moved to Arizona when he was a child. After graduating from Catalina High School in Tucson, Michael moved to Los Angeles, then moved to Dallas in 1985. In 1986, he and his life partner built a home in Grapevine, Texas where he lived life to its fullest until his death.

Michael is survived by his partner, Keith W. Hickman; his mother and stepfather, Betty Lou and Harold Kraus of Payson, Arizona and Montrose Co.; his brother, Steve, sister-in-law, Barbara, and nieces, Shawna and Hallie, of Phoenix. He is preceded in death by his father, Dick Thompson. Surviving extended family members range from coast to coast; once you became a friend of Michael's you became part of his family.

Memorial funds have been established in Michael's name at Oak Lawn Community Services in Dallas, c/o Lee Heck; P.O. Box 191069; Dallas, TX 75219; and at the AIDS Outreach Center, c/o Judy Ivey; 1125 West Peter Smith; Fort Worth, TX 76104. It was Michael's hope that through his life and death things could be learned about this awful disease to help others. He felt support to organizations such as these was one final way he could help. A celebration of Michael's life will be held at a later date.

Ricardo Motta Torres [above]

Oct. 16, 1964 — Dec. 22, 1995

Born on a Friday in São Paulo, Brazil, Ricardo left us on Friday, Dec. 22, in Dallas. Ricardo was a pioneer in life, always leading the way for family and friends. Ricardo is still our pioneer in a place that is all of our destinies. Ricardo gave those close to him an unbelievable sense of love which will remain alive in our hearts forever.

Many thanks to all those who helped Ricardo be more comfortable the last weeks of his life. He is survived by his parents, Nilce and Avelino; brother and sister-in-law, John and Lucy; sister and god-niece, Laura and Ferndanda of Dallas; sister, Doroti, and family of São Paulo; best friend, Margarete; companion, Randy; and the puppies, Megan and Tina.

"I love you, Baby!"

Frederick Joseph Mangione [above]

Frederick Joseph Mangione, 46, died Jan. 4, 1996. Fred was employed in the fast food industry. Survivors: lover of 16 years, Ken Stern; mother, Angelina Mangione; sister, Diane Vesley; brothers, Frank Mangione and wife Teri, Joseph Mangione, Jr.; niece, Tiffany Mangione; and nephews, Anthony and Nicholas Mangione. A funeral service was held Sunday, Jan. 7 at Earthman Hunters Creek Chapel.

Memorials may be directed to the Fred Mangione Memorial Fund, c/o Community Bank; P.O. Box 737; Katy, TX 77492.

Jeffrey Duke Montgomery

Jeffrey Duke Montgomery, born Nov. 27, 1964 in Marion Ohio, passed away at his home in Dallas after a long, courageous battle with AIDS on Jan. 4, 1996.

He graduated from high school in Flushing, Michigan and was employed by the Dallas Museum of Art.

Survived by parents, Larry and Patricia Montgomery of Lewisville, Texas; brother and sister-in-law, Ben and Kim Montgomery of Lewisville; sister and brother-in-law, Barbara and Eric Dornes of San Antonio; nieces, Morgan, Samantha and Kara Rae; life partner, Don Whitehall of Dallas; and many other relatives and friends.

Family requests donations be made in Jeff's name to the AIDS Resource Center; P.O. Box 190712; Dallas, TX 75219.

Martin Ernesto Castillo [above]

Following a courageous battle, our dear friend and brother Martin Ernesto Castillo, went to join his soulmate Larry Hewitt, his parents and other close friends on Dec. 4, 1995. Marty was born Nov. 11, 1954.

Mourning his passing are his siblings, Josefina Garcia, Bacilia Villarreal, Antonia Vargas, Gabriel Castillo, Ramona Alvarado, Nicolas Castillo, Eusebio Castillo, Dolores Powell, Lucy Leal and their families. Marty will also be sorely missed by those friends he also considered his family. Your pain is over, my friend, and we all look forward to seeing you again at that great party on the other side.

Brian Mitchell Rose [above]

Sunrise Sunset
Feb. 16, 1976 Jan. 3, 1996

Don't grieve for me, for now I am free
I'm following the path God's laid for me
I took his hand when I heard him call
I turned my back and left you all
I could not stay another day to laugh, to love, to learn or play.

Tasks left undone must stay that way
I found that place at the close of the day
Perhaps my time seemed all too brief
Don't lengthen it now with undue grief
Lift up your hearts and share with me
God wanted me, now he set me free.

Gone but not forgotten
Friends from Houston

Deborah Ann Mattern [above]
Dec. 13, 1947 - Dec. 9, 1995

Deborah left this world after a tragic car accident. She touched each one of us in a very special way. She will forever be missed by all who loved her.

Deborah leaves behind her special family and friends she loved so very much.

A memorial will be held on Jan. 21 at 2 p.m. For information, call (713)662-9870.

I love you, Babe
Love "Pete"

At age 19, Douglas Smith visited from Champaign, Illinois and decided to make Austin his permanent home. He loved everything about Austin: the people, the weather, the music scene and the lakes. He learned to clog at the cowboy bars, and to pick guitar, sing and write songs at the music clubs and folk festivals. He didn't get famous, but he wrote some fine songs. One that comes to mind had a sharp line about sleeping together after a tiff: "Back to back, but cheek to cheek."

Like a lot of us, Doug was a happy-go-lucky type who didn't take to responsibility all that well. He will always be remembered for his good-natured charm, his intense loyalty, his curiosity and enthusiasm for everything and everybody, and his ability to say at least one nice thing about anybody.

Doug, age 39, died peacefully Friday, Jan. 5 and wanted all to know about the generous support he got from Project Transitions, his many friends and, especially, his great mom, Dolores, during these last months.

Well, so long, Dougie, old buddy. You will be hard to forget. We will always miss you!

William Junior Asher, 52, passed suddenly at VA Hospital Dec. 20, 1995.

Born in Hamilton, Ohio, he grew up in London, Kentucky and Prineville, Oregon, served three years in the Army, owned two gay bars in southern California, a carpet business in Houston, and worked 20 years in Houston restaurants (Boardman's, Massa's and the Brownstone).

Bill was preceded by partner, Hal Weberman, and father, Charles, 82, last month.

He is survived by mother, Lou; sister, Billie Smith; niece, Molly; brother, Alvin and family of Prineville; brother, Melvin and family of Bend, Oregon; cousin, Cal Watkins and George of Silver City, New Mexico; roommate, Ken Hurt, and poodle, "Max."

A memorial service will be held at Metropolitan Community Church of the Resurrection, 1919 Decatur in Houston, on Sunday, Jan. 21 at 4 p.m., a reception to follow immediately. Bill was loved by all who knew him.
