Wagner's Classic 'Ring' Enjoys a Texas Twist In the Hilarious

DAS BARBECÜ

At Austin's Zachary Scott
Through June 23

It's very fitting that a mere five actors tackle the 30-plus roles in Das Barbecü, now being presented at the Zachary Scott Theatre Center's Kleberg Stage in Austin. After all, the story — a modern, musical comedy updating of Wagner's famous opera trilogy, Der Ring des Nibelungen, can be more than a trifle confusing at times; so why shouldn't this game of musical roles also keep audiences on their toes and constantly thumbing their scorecards for who's who?

But don't sweat it. Just when everything again seems a bit baffling, here come some more snickers and laughs and a catchy tune to erase any frustrations and once again light up the audience with smiles and applause. In the end, the primary thing you come away with is the memory of what a good time you've had...and a pledge not to mess with any dwarves.

The opening number, "A Ring of Gold in Texas," has the cast trying to sort out who did what to whom for the audience, setting the atmosphere for what's to come. Dan

REVIEWED BY BRUCE WILLIAMS

Sullivan, Steven Bishop Seely, Felicia Dinwiddie, Gretchen Kingsley and Meredith Robertson make a good case for deciphering the madness at hand, and leave it to the powerful Dinwiddie to finally encapsulate everything in the simplest terms before the audience is turned loose to sit back and enjoy itself. The story is involved but rather inconsequential; getting there provides most of the fun. Everyday woes like traffic jams seem a little less frustrating when they're stacked up against things like the mess Woton makes from his post as top god or the way sister-in-law Freia is dragged off by giants.

Alberich (Sullivan) has stolen the Rivermaidens' gold and turned it into a ring that is both powerful and cursed. Woton (Seely) takes the ring and gives it to grandson Siegfried (also played by Sullivan) who finds Brunnhilde (Robertson), who's been chained to a rock of fire by her daddy Woton. Siegfried falls in love, frees her and gives the ring as a proposal. Then the dwarf Alberich's son Hagen (Seely) slips Siegfried a mickey in an effort to get his hands on the ring, so that Siegfried finds himself engaged to Guttrune (Kingsley) while Brunnhilde becomes a love slave and gets engaged to Guttrune's brother Gunther (Seely). And then things begin to get complicated!

Most of the action takes place at and around Rancho Gibich, the Texas spread belonging to Guttrune and Gunther and their half-brother (apologies to anyone who gets the mistaken idea that this is a size joke!) Hagen. A huge cookout is planned for the dual weddings, with roast pig and roast beef and a field full of fixin's; but just who'll tying the knot with whom remains up in the air.

The Texas twang of characterizations and country and western music turn the opera tragedy upside-down. Jim Luigs and Scott Warrender wrote the tale and the music for the Seattle Opera a couple years ago, and it translates magnificently to the Texas stage...with a few local twists tossed in for good measure. Now that they don't have their gold anymore, the Rivermaidens are reduced to working as synchronized water ballerinas at San Marcos' Aquamarina Springs. (Sorry, no Ralph the Pig; remember the cookout?)

The set design by Michael Raiford is magnificent; it quickly gives one a sense of the ranch and the vastness of the scenes, even as they are constantly changing. John Ore's lighting and Bil Pfuderer's costumes also are superb, and the five-piece band led by musical director Allen Robertson complements the scene and the moods well, though once or twice a viewer might wistfully wish for a full orchestra to accompany the tunes. The music is another slight weakness of this production, as there are no well-known songs that grab the audience, only catchy or promising numbers like "Makin' Guacamole," "Barbecue for Two" and "Wanderin' Man."

Director Rod Caspers' cast is the strongest point of this production, as his five talented performers do a great job of defining and differentiating about a half dozen characters apiece and making each one come alive. The narcoleptic Hagen, who falls asleep standing up and then snaps out of it in mid-sentence, and the evil Alberich, a shrunken Walter Brennan sound-alike, provide comic relief amidst the intrigues, and Seely and Sullivan milk the roles nicely. Sullivan also makes an outstanding Siegfried, your basic brave, innocent, handsome rural Texas boy. Seely wins sympathy as Woton, showing his softer side as the one-eyed god tires of the scheming and the competition and begins to appreciate the simpler things.

Dinwiddie is the powerful rock in such roles as Woton's wife Fricka, the narrator and Erda, who's Woton's mistress and Brunnhilde's mother. Kingsley as Guttrune and Robertson as Brunnhilde are strong, though secondary to the male characters; they do seize their moment to rule with their number "Barbecue for Two," when they tackle the cookout feast doublehanded. The two women pass on the hopeful message — as did Woton and Alberich in an earlier riverbank confrontation — that even rivals and enemies can find common ground on which to coexist and thrive, if they want to and work at it a bit.

The audience may have to work at it a bit to keep track of the soap opera-like entanglements of Das Barbecü's characters and plotlines, but when one just sits back and enjoys the ride, it's a lot of fun. This play is in the spirit of oldtime musicals like Oklahoma, State Fair, Showboat and their ilk; Das Barbecü is just as enjoyable, and could build the staying power of its ancestors.

Have fun. Enjoy. And watch out for dwarves.

Das Barbecü is being performed through June 23 at the Zachary Scott Theatre Center's Kleberg Stage, 1421 W. Riverside Dr. in Austin. Shows are at 8 p.m. Thursdays through Saturdays and 2:15 p.m. Sundays. Tickets are $19 Fridays and Saturdays and $17 Thursdays and Sundays, with discounts available for seniors, students and groups. For reservations or more information, call (512)476-0541.

BY DON BAKER

The recent decision by the U.S. Supreme Court to strike down a provision of the Colorado state constitution that nullified civil rights for lesbians and gay men in the state and barred the passage of new anti-discrimination laws in that state is a sweeping victory for lesbian and gay Americans across the country. Romer v. Evans is a watershed case that will surely buttress future litigation around the nation, including Texas, that challenges laws and other actions hostile to the well-being of gay people.

One fascinating aspect of this ruling is the Supreme Court's argument that the measure in question violated the Equal Protection Clause of the U.S. Constitution. This may seem logical to many, but in reality it bears some historical relevance to the ruling made by Dallas Federal Judge Jerry Buchmeyer in 1982 that invalidated Texas' homosexual conduct clause (Section 21.06 of the Texas Penal Code). In that case, Judge Buchmeyer ruled that the Texas statute was unconstitutional because it violated the plaintiff's right to privacy and equal protection guarantees.

Buchmeyer's ruling was an unprecedented federal decision. Up until that time in U.S. history, no federal judge had applied the equal protection concept to gay and lesbian people. Even though his decision was overruled by an appellate decision, the equal protection element later became a major issue when gay and lesbian leaders met in New York in the fall of 1985 to discuss the legal strategy followed in arguing the appeals of both the Georgia case (Hardwick v. Bowers) and the Texas case (Baker v. Wade) before the nation's high court.

Gay and lesbian legal minds from around the country discussed details about which attorney would represent the cases before the Supreme Court, whether

and how the cases should be joined as one major case, whether one case or the other should be heard first and whether our strongest case would be made on the basis of right to privacy or equal protection, or both.

The Georgia case primarily involved a right-to-privacy issue. Police had invaded the home of the plaintiff, Michael Hardwick, and arrested him for committing oral sex. The Texas case stressed both right to privacy and equal protection; it also had a strong appeal due to the fact that it had a gold mine of case history that Hardwick never had. Strong arguments were made on behalf of all strategies. The majority in attendance, at the advice of the lead counsel, Harvard professor Laurence Tribe, decided that the Hardwick case should go forward and that the Texas case should be held for a later hearing.

The rest is history. In 1986, the Supreme Court ruled against the plaintiff and declared that the State of Georgia had a right to maintain its sodomy law. The high court never heard the Texas case. Ever since, there has been a lot of intellectual bantering over whether we made the right decision in sending Hardwick in first. Is it possible that the Supreme Court would have ruled differently if they had heard the Texas case prior to Hardwick v. Bowers? Who knows? At least the results in the Colorado case provide some sense that equal protection may indeed be a strong basis for pursuing other gay rights causes.

The Colorado ruling gives Texans a chance to dust off one of their oldest and proudest trophies — Judge Buchmeyer's decision. Lesbian and gay Texans should take pride in the role the Texas Human Rights Foundation, its founder Robert Schwab and the plaintiff's original attorney, Jim Barber, took in conceiving and orchestrating such a brilliant case.

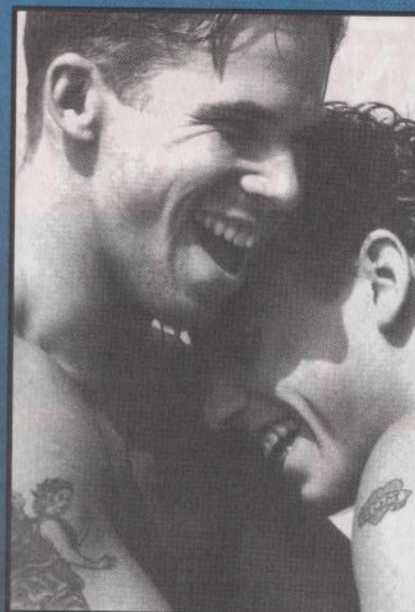

In addition to serving as president of the Dallas Gay Political Caucus from 1979–1982, Don Baker was the plaintiff in Baker v. Wade, a case challenging Section 21.06 of the Texas Penal Code.

MONTH
LONG
CELEBRATION

If you'll remember, a few months ago I told you that Ramon Wells, founder of Bold! Records, had moved over to Eightball Records as their new VP/GM. Now, with Ramon's hands exerting a firm grip on Eightball's reins, brace yourself for even more hot dance music from the label that has already helped to forge the future of dance music in such a huge way.

For starters, give a listen to the new Junior Vasquez mixes of Zoel's "Quiet." They're making some noise now as Junior lends his panache to this track, giving us a much more dance floor-marketable treasure. In its previous version, the record did absolutely nothing for me, in sharp contrast to its present form. Junior has upped the speed about tenfold and added a lovely down-tempo bridge, and the keyboards of Mark "Goody" Goodman round out the improvements splendidly. Have one.

Next on the Eightball list is "Appreciate" by Jaqueline. It's a very uplifting, bouncy house record, and quite vocally focused. If you're into house records that are dominated by diva vocals, this one's for you. Produced by A. Mack, it incorporates Jaqueline's lush voice with a high garage/gospel undertone for a song that's nothing short of brilliant!

Rounding out this Eightball trio, we have none other than their diva in residence (and my personal favorite), Joi Cardwell. "You Got to Pray" is the fourth release from Joi's debut album, The World Is Full of Trouble. This one features the mixes of Junior Vasquez protégé Gomi, 250 Lbs. of Blue and newcomers The Pound Boys, and the result is an impressive combination of garage and progressive house on one lovely 12-inch.

Besides the fact that Cardwell is a talented artist and her records are all flawless, there's an additional reason for us to support her projects: She's one of us — totally out of the closet and all that! Joi Cardwell continues to set the pace of dance music with each new release and "You Got to Pray" is definitely no exception.

While we're on the subject of divas, let's talk about this new Freddy Mercury record. Yes, you read that correctly, Freddy Mercury. Imagine my delight as I, a huge Queen fan, opened my promo package containing two copies of the single, complete with ballroom mask and plastic tiara! Check out the 1996 remixes of the classic "You Don't Fool Me." I have absolutely no idea who did the mixes since the label was blank, but I do know that the package came from Hollywood Records. Can you even believe? Queen with a house record on their hands, and it's hot. What's next, Styx and ELO?

I believe a few weeks ago I told you about this Marla Glen record, "Always Love You." Now I'm going to tell you more about the artist herself. If you want to get the real picture on Marla, you need to start off with her first album, This Is Marla Glen, released in '93. It reflects her life's experiences, growing up in Chicago, her childhood, etc. Her first collection gave Marla the chance to record the songs she had been writing since age 11, songs she had composed on a guitar her father gave her. Behind a sonic wall of dub-inflected reggae bass, blues piano and celestial brass, the echo of years of wandering and depression can be heard.

Marla's current album, Love & Respect (on which you'll find "Also Love You"), deals with more contemporary matters. She speaks out on "the governments of the world who control the lives of millions of people without consulting them." Nina Simone once told Marla that she would one day be a star, and now, with the release of Love & Respect, Marla Glen is on the verge of fulfilling that prophecy. Check her out!

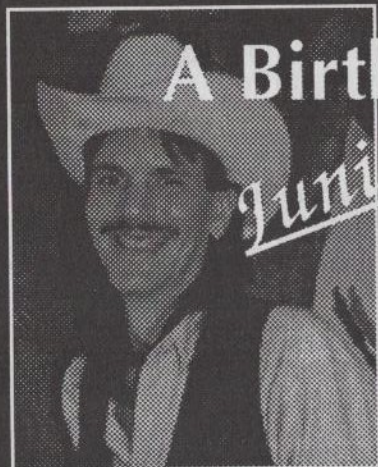

And finally...the undisputed winner of the week is the new Tori Amos release

"Professional Widow," mixed by Armand Van Helden and MK. Got your attention? Good. More on Tori next week. And that's dance music THIS WEEK IN TEXAS.

WEEK OF JUNE 7 - 13, 1996

JOHNNY DEPP
BORN JUNE 8, 1963

Just when life seems interesting enough, a troika of "outer" planets whips up the cream. Try this one on for size, friends: Surprising Uranus "sextiles" taskmaster Saturn and volcanic Pluto. Just as you might have guessed, this "sex"tile thingy is a good aspect; it can mean that our best-laid plans fall right into place, or that a sudden bolt of wisdom changes our lives forever. Read ahead to see how your table is set...or turned.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) Proud Twins will be amazed at how simply getting away from it all can change, enhance or overturn relationships. If yours is built on solid rock, this beneficial tornado will clear out the debris. If it's a stagnant swamp, on the other hand, prepare for drainage. If you're searching for that perfect person, they may be far afield or come from a very different background. Ain't life interesting, friends?

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) The Uranus/Saturn/Pluto "sex"tile is hot and heavy for sizzly pink Crabs. It may mean that a spontaneous office affair transforms not only day-to-day work but your entire career path. There's nothing wrong with getting a key to the boardroom by way of the couch, but what if you want to be respected for your mind? If sex is not the spot, try good old psychological manipulation.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) There are good times aplenty for all proud Lions who know how to harness the Uranus/Saturn/Pluto sextile. Surprising eruptions in relationships can have far-reaching and fun-filled repercussions. It may mean that the heavens will make the match of a lifetime for you, or that the one that got away can't compare to the one you hooked. Lucky gay Leos get all the breaks!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) Life may seem a little harsher and a lot more frustrating than usual with Pluto kicking you squarely in the patoot. But the Pluto/Saturn/Uranus sextile temporarily eases the stress. Queer Virgos should take it to the health club and work out those old bones. Shake it around; you never know who'll be waiting for you in the sauna for your next workout. Talk about easing stress....

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) Can sassy queer Scales have too much of a good thing? Evidently not during the Saturn/Pluto/Uranus sextile. Sometimes there's a life lesson to be learned at an after-hours club, sometimes it's at the theatre or opera and sometimes it's at an art gallery. Try 'em and taste 'em all; you never know which potion is number nine or number sixty-nine.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) You're feeling like an old workhorse, but a job-well-done payoff is moving into place during the Saturn/Pluto/Uranus sextile. Who knows? Volatile Uranus may detonate a needed fallout between you and mums and dad. It's high time they accept you for who you are. Let 'em crush the trust fund, so what? You're on the road to riches, personally and monetarily.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) Speak out, dear, queer Archer; Tell 'em what's on your mind. Sag "foot in mouth" disease may be just what's needed during the Uranus/Saturn/Pluto sextile. Communication has a surprising way of catapulting you into the center stage of a three-ring circus. Tell a dirty joke if it'll heat up the party. But why waste this fabulousness on frolic alone? Think rainbow cause and lead the pride parade!

We accept personal checks plus

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) They say money talks, but now, during the Saturn/Uranus/Pluto sextile, it screams loud, proud and queer. Smear it around and see wonderful things happen. Caps can transform a charitable gay cause into a powerful movement. Even home and family issues are smoothed and soothed with a little financial oil. You have your values in place and who can argue with success?

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) How you appear to others takes a surprising turn-around with the Saturn/Pluto/Uranus sextile. Dye your hair lavender and speak out. Aqueerians ache to lead the rainbow cause with pomp, circumstance and pride. Now you can effectively gather the throbbing masses (many of us like it that way....) and lead the team to victory. Go, team, go! I'll see you under the bleachers later....

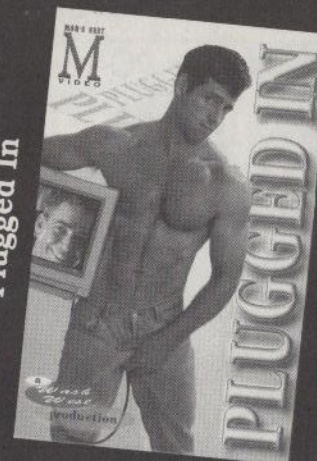

PISCES (Feb. 20 - March 20) If your closet blasts open, thank the Uranus/Saturn/Pluto sextile for making such liberation possible. Pink Pisces should have been reevaluating all that they hold near and dear to prepare themselves for this inevitable planetary catharsis. This may also have a favorable impact on your career. We can't succeed in life unless we're able to be who we are. Swim proudly, dear, queer Fish; the ocean is waiting.

ARIES (March 21 - April 20) Fabulous Rams get a friendly helping hand during the Saturn/Uranus/Pluto aspect. Pals may come to your side like a bolt out of the blue, but maybe they were there all along yet you were too self-absorbed to notice. At any rate, proud Aries are well advised to join the group dynamic. Mingle up a storm and reach out on an international level; there are many interesting folks to touch.

TAURUS (April 21 - May 21) Gay Bulls reach a professional epiphany when Saturn, Uranus and Pluto sextile. Your finely honed intuition and sense of prideful charity finally mesh with career aspirations and self-satisfaction. It all balances out, darlings! Maybe this is the year to launch that AIDS awareness campaign at your nearest GOP headquarters...well, maybe not. But you can attain more realistic goals.

AIDS SERVICES OF DALLAS COMPLETES HOUSING FACILITY

Ewing Center Ready after Two-Year Renovation.

DALLAS — After two years and many thousands of dollars, AIDS Services of Dallas' effort to remodel Ewing Center has been completed. With the conclusion of Phase Two of the refurbishing, ASD can now provide a total of 49 apartments in its two facilities, making the agency the largest provider of medically supportive housing to people living with AIDS in Texas. Since the group began offering these services, ASD has provided more than 143,942 personal nights of housing to 620 men, women and children living with AIDS.

Ewing Center was originally built in the early 1920s and was completely gutted and refurbished by ASD when it purchased the building nine years ago. The only parts of the structure left from the original building are the exterior brick veneer and a few support beams.

Phase One of the construction was completed in December 1994 at a cost of $566,000 and included renovation of the front portion of the building and the addition of a commercial kitchen and dining area, a residents' lounge, an elevator and eight remodeled apartments. A patio was also added in that phase.

Phase Two began in February 1995 with volunteer labor provided by Habitat for Humanity Dallas. ASD was also certified to act as its own general contractor, which saved the organization thousands of dollars. Twelve apartments were then renovated at an estimated cost of $355,957. Ewing Center now consists of five one-bedroom units, 13 efficiencies and two sub-acute rooms.

"The Ewing Center renovations have been completed ahead of schedule and $10,000 under budget," ASD's Housing Development Director, Victor Solarte, said. He added that residents who had been on the facility's waiting list began moving in almost immediately.

Several local businesses, individuals and foundations donated funds to both Phase One and Phase Two, including the Design Industries Foundation Fighting AIDS, the Fannie Mae Foundation, GHT Alarm Systems, David Hiller and Michael Marr, the Meadows Foundation and Razzle Dazzle Dallas.

LOG CABIN'S FIGHT WITH STATE PARTY HEADED FOR COURT

Injunction Sought over GOP's Refusal to Allow Gay Group A Spot in Upcoming Convention.

AUSTIN — The Log Cabin Republicans of Texas were scheduled to go to court at 9 a.m. today (June 7) seeking an injunction against the state Republican Party for refusing the group an exhibit booth and a full-page ad in the program for the state GOP convention June 20-22 in San Antonio.

The hearing on a temporary restraining order is scheduled to take place in Travis County's 345th Judicial District Court. Log Cabin officials have said repeatedly since they filed the injunction suit on May 30 that they hoped state party officials would meet with them before today to discuss the problem, but as of mid-week no resolution was in sight.

At a press conference held May 30 in Austin to announce the suit, Log Cabin State President Dale Carpenter of Houston noted, "I am hopeful that in advance of the hearings we will have a chance to talk with the party, so the hearing would not even be necessary....We need to come to a quick decision, since the convention is so close. Our primary objective is to be able to have our say at the convention. I'm not looking to hurt the party; I'm looking to help the party."

"No matter what happens, we're going to be vocal and evident (in San Antonio). This is the first step in a long road....No matter what they say or do, we are not going away."

Log Cabin applied for a booth April 1, stating that it would be used for "literature about the Log Cabin Republicans of Texas, including our goals, beliefs, and accomplishments; membership applications; organization newsletters; possibly a video." A check for the $400 standard fee was included; the state party accepted and cashed the check. Then on May 21, the Executive Director of the state GOP sent a letter denying Log Cabin the chance to participate and enclosed a refund check for $400.

"Make no mistake, this (rejection) affects all Republicans, gay or straight," Carpenter said. "...The party officials' decision is not an expression of morality; it is an exercise of naked power, pure and simple....Log Cabin has played by the rules of democracy....and now party officials are trying to shut us up."

The June 20-22 meeting would be the first time Log Cabin has had a booth at the Texas convention. The group applied once before, but withdrew that request before a decision was made on its acceptance or rejection. Even without a booth or ad, Log Cabin officials promise the group will be visible in San Antonio, since a number of its members were elected to be delegates to the convention.

Carpenter was joined at the press conference by Michael Garbarino, Executive Director of the Texas Human Rights Foundation; Patrick Wiseman, an Austin attorney who will be representing the group in its suit; and a number of Log Cabin officials and members.

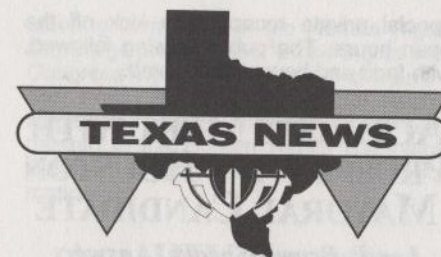

CORNERSTONE OFFERS PREVIEW OF COMMUNITY CENTER

Long-Awaited Austin Facility To Open Fully in Mid-June.

AUSTIN — Well over 500 people got a sneak preview of Cornerstone, Austin's new community center for gays, lesbians, bisexuals and transgenerals and their supporters, at an open house last Saturday that was timed to coincide with Texas Pride Weekend celebrations in the state capital.

"I had my moments!" laughed Rev. Ken Martin of Metropolitan Community Church of Austin, one of Cornerstone's partners, referring to the long search for a community center that would provide a supportive physical and spiritual environment for gay, lesbian and bisexual people, as well as a viable business community for nonprofit and profitmaking services.

"We've had such a great group of people who've hung in there, and were really committed to this project," Martin continued. "We're very pleased with this facility (at 1117 Red River); it's a great location."

The multi-office facility includes two conference rooms for meetings and receptions; one room will seat 40-50 people, the smaller room about 20. There will be a general reception desk during business hours Monday through Friday, plus a community bulletin board and handout materials in the main foyer. A gift shop and/or a coffee and doughnut shop also is in the plans.

Cornerstone officials attending the grand opening of Austin's gay and lesbian community center included (l-r) Carrie Bills, Vicki Faust, Kelvon Hansen, Rev. Ken Martin, Bill Zelazny, Renee Lo Pilato, Sandy Bartlett and Kathy Taylor.

Cornerstone is expected to be fully open in mid-June. Its first full-time tenants will include MCC's administrative offices and pastoral care service; Out Youth Austin, including its offices and a teen drop-in center; and various businesspeople.

Kathy Taylor, on her first day as Cornerstone's Project Director, said, "One of our visions is to maintain a community calendar and community resource lists, where people can phone in, log in via computer or drop by and find out about things that are going on or where to go for any kinds of help or services they may need. For our meeting rooms, we're talking about charging groups about $1 per person (for their use); groups should call (512)416-1616 as soon as they think they may want the rooms. Building tenants will have first priority for the meeting rooms."

Cornerstone's Founders Club, which has about 300 members, were guests in a special private reception to kick off the open house. The public viewing followed, with food and beverages served.

ACTIVISTS MEET WITH PROSPECTIVE HOUSTON MAYORAL CANDIDATE

Lee P. Brown Speaks, Answers Questions on Gay-Related, Other Issues at 'Power Brunch.'

HOUSTON — "A mayor has to be like a 'cheerleader' for the city," Lee P. Brown declared last Sunday morning before a small group of activists representing various organizations and currents in the community. Brown spent over an hour speaking about his life and answering questions at the "HGLPC Power Brunch 1," the first in a series of such events the Houston Gay & Lesbian Political Caucus has planned to raise funds and preview potential candidates for the Houston mayor's race.

Brown, who has yet to announce that he will actually make such a run, served as the city's Chief of Police from 1982-90, then was Police Commissioner of New York City from 1990-92 before serving a short stint as the Clinton administration's drug czar in 1993. He is currently a professor of sociology at Rice University.

Saying he was "disturbed" about current attacks against affirmative action, Brown declared his support for that approach to fighting race-based discrimination and added that he believed it had proven flawed mainly in not helping those most in need of assistance, black men. Addressing one of the hottest gay-related civil rights issues of the moment, he said he "had no reason not to" endorse same-sex marriage and believed that the mayor's office could best address such issues through the "bully pulpit" approach.

Brown prescribed an "open door" mayoral policy that would include the hiring and appointment of gay and lesbian people, as well as the maintenance of an ongoing dialogue with the community through a liaison.

Not all the issues mayors and would-be mayors deal with touch on the most controversial issues of the day. On the bread-and-butter topic of transportation, Brown said the best approach for Houston would be to monitor the experiences of cities like Dallas and Los Angeles that have decided to build rail systems, while working to increase ridership on the city's existing Metro bus system.

"I think that we had an opportunity to sit at the table with one of the president's men, and he appreciated having the opportunity to sit at the table with us," said LuJack Tyler, coordinator of the event.

"I was very impressed with him [Brown], both personally and professionally," said Caucus President Pat Gandy, who noted that the brunch had also been a fund-raising success, bringing in over $400 for her organization.

ALL-HIV-POSITIVE DALLAS CHOIR RELEASES FIRST CD

'Windows of Hope' Features Songs Of Hope and Encouragement.

DALLAS — In Dallas, most major singing groups are overshadowed by the 250-member Turtle Creek Chorale, whose concerts and tours have been widely publicized. But Positive Voices, a little known group at the Cathedral of Hope-MCC, has been quietly making itself heard in the Dallas gay and lesbian community for the past two years. It reached a milestone last week when the group released its first recording on CD, Windows of Hope, a collection of songs described as upbeat and inspirational.

The chorus, which is comprised of 25 men and one woman, was founded by Jackson Myers in August 1994 as part of the music program at MCC, which also has a regular church choir in addition to Positive Voices.

The purpose of the group, Myers said, is "to make music of hope, strength, encouragement and faith for all those living with HIV/AIDS, whether they are infected or affected." The first CD upholds that purpose, he said, by featuring "strong songs of hope."

The music on the 60-minute disc of 12 tracks ranges from Barry Manilow's "One Voice" and Oleta Adams' "Windows of Hope" to Myers' own composition, "Too Many Silent Nights." The recording, which has been the object of glowing reviews, can be purchased at music stores as well as at the church's bookstore.

Positive Voices makes numerous appearances at community events and sings at church-related activities such as the recent AIDS Candlelight Vigil. They also can be heard at the regular Sunday worship services at the church and at special events.

HOUSTON'S COLT 45'S MARK 20TH BIRTHDAY

Three Days of Events Planned by Charitable/Social Group.

HOUSTON — The Colt 45's, a group born of a fondness for the lore of the Old West and a desire to give back to the community, mark 20 years of existence this weekend with an Anniversary Run and other events.

Founded in the spring of 1976 as a western charitable organization whose basic goal was to serve the local community as a charity while still letting members have a good time, the Colt 45's have provided grants to agencies like the Montrose Clinic, the Montrose Counseling Center and Ronald McDonald House.

As the eighties dawned and community needs changed, the Colt 45's formed three special funds aimed at helping those most in need. The AIDS TroubleFund provides emergency and temporary financial assistance to people with the disease who are financially unable to obtain the necessities of life. In the past ten years, the TroubleFund has distributed a reported $323,000 in direct assistance to over 1,100 persons with AIDS.

The Colt 45's Stone Soup Program provides perishable foods to supplement the AFH Stone Soup Pantry on a weekly basis. The Till Thacker III General Charity handles other worthy charitable causes not covered by either the TroubleFund or the Stone Soup fund.

Both men and women are welcomed as members of the Colt 45's and, in spite of the group's name, members need feel no special affection for western attire or guns. The Colts pride themselves on the leaness of their operation, claiming that 100% of funds donated to the group go directly back into the community and are not used to cover administrative costs.

Registration for the Anniversary Run begins this evening (June 7) from 8 p.m.-1 a.m. at the Brazos River Bottom and continues Saturday (June 8) from 10 a.m.-1 p.m. at Mary's. Events continue Saturday from 2-4 p.m. at Gentry and from 6-8 p.m. with the Anniversary Dinner at the Brazos River Bottom, then from 8:30 p.m.-1 a.m. at the Venture-N. An Awards Ceremony will be held Sunday beginning at noon at the Brazos River Bottom. Total cost to take part in the weekend is $20.

For more information about the Colt 45's, call Norm at (713)783-9516.

ENTHUSIASM, SPIRIT RUN HIGH DURING TEXAS PRIDE WEEKEND

Hundreds Take Part in March Through Downtown Austin.

AUSTIN — Enthusiasm and fun were the buzzwords as thousands of people gathered in Austin last Saturday and Sunday for Texas Pride Weekend, with much of the money raised going to the Lesbian/Gay Rights Lobby of Texas for its continuing fight for equal rights and protections in the state Legislature.

"I'm very pleased so many people turned out for what we hoped in general could be a fun event," said Dianne Hardy-Garcia, Executive Director of LGRL. "We wanted to do something accessible to a lot of people, and I think this weekend is a great success....I hope this can continue as an annual celebration."

The weekend kicked off with a Jammin' for Justice March through business districts of downtown Austin. An estimated 700 marchers, stretching a full block and sometimes further as observers stepped into the street to take part, beat on drums and tambourines, blew whistles and generally made a celebratory noise. Groups represented ran the gamut from P-FLAG to Log Cabin Republicans to ALLGO to St. James; signs in the procession proclaimed "Queer Pride," "Stop Gender Discrimination," "No Role for Gender Roles" and more.

"I thought it brought together many different groups of people to celebrate a victory (the U.S. Supreme Court's decision overturning Colorado's Amendment 2)," marcher R.C. of Austin said after the one-hour walk. "This is just a beginning. There's always someone somewhere being discriminated against, and we have to continue to fight that."

Later Saturday, a dance was held at Area 52, an Austin nightclub. On Sunday, activities shifted to Fiesta Gardens on Town Lake, with a power brunch, volleyball tournaments, music and a festival that included close to 100 booths representing lesbian and gay groups and their supporters. Nearly 3,000 people attended the day-long festival in perfect weather.

DALLAS TEA — Hunky dancers John and Chris [below, l-r], who were showing us their moves at Another Bar, are just two of the reasons to go to the popular Maple Avenue club. Another reason to stop in is to help Junior celebrate his birthday this Saturday night. We're not saying how old he is, but there's a "3" and a "4" in his age — you arrange the numbers how you think they should go. The club's pulling out all the stops for his birthday celebration, with the jazz band AX performing and then more surprises the entire night, so don't miss this once-a-year event!...

Coming Thursday, June 13 is "T.V.

Land," a show starring Lauren Taylor, Kourtney Wells, Heather Thomas and more....

Proteus is putting the finishing touches on its upstairs areas, which we got a sneak preview of during Meltdown. Does this club have the most comfortable couches in town? We need help with the judging. Meanwhile, keep that special flavor flowing Fridays and Saturdays for us movers, deejay Herb!

TARRANT TEA — Cowtown is gearing up for gay pride month and the 651 Arlington has an exciting array of events in store for you. The club's three-night show extravaganza features Stella's Star Search on Thursday, Caress and Friends on Friday and Stella Welfelt's Blowout Show on Saturday. Danny "Ima Hussey" Nugent celebrates his birthday on Saturday, June 22 with a special employee turnabout show. On Sunday, June 23, the 651 Arlington hosts the first annual Texas Amateur Star pageant; applications are available at the club....

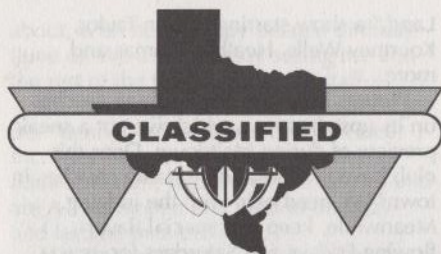

Over at the Copa Cabana, they've got a hot new deejay, Lolo, who pumps out the music just the way you like it, hot and hotter!

PAGEANT TEA — Next Saturday, June 15, The Metro hosts the Miss Gay Lubbock USofA pageant. Special guests for this open preliminary include Kelly Lauren, Miss TGRA Shelby St. John and emcee Bubba McNeely....

Tomorrow night at McAllen's Austin St. Inn, X-Static Productions presents the second annual Miss Gay Tip of Texas USofA and Miss Gay McAllen USofA double pageant coronation....

DAVID HEMMER

May 27, 1958 - June 9, 1995

One year has passed so quickly since you slipped out the back door for the last time.

A day hasn't gone by that you haven't been thought of and deeply missed. Because your uniqueness was so special to so many, inanimate objects are often reminders of your presence. Hats, vests, swags of fabric, '62 T-Birds, Doris Day CDs, that look in Devin's eyes, lyrics by Natalie Merchant, the list is endless.

The many times the lights inadvertently dim at Rich's, or the door to the office swings open, we know it's your spirit gently reminding us that you're never really far away.

The next time we get ourselves in over our heads with a particular project, we will take comfort in knowing that you are up there looking down (hands on hips) laughing, reading and saying, "I told you so."

Your extended family will always cherish the fond moments spent with you, and the desire for your return, many times, leaves us painfully empty.

OBITUARIES

Stephen H. Neff [above]

Stephen H. Neff, 45, died on Saturday, May 25, 1996 due to complications from AIDS. He departed this life peacefully, and with dignity, surrounded by his loving family; Lillian H. Neff of Cedar Rapids, Iowa; brothers, John of Chicago and Robert of Plano, Texas; sisters, Carolyn Lindsay of Bloomington, Indiana and Gay Neff of Dallas; and nieces, nephews and caregiving friends.

A 1994 Gay Games Diving Champion, U.S. Masters Diving Champion and diving coach, Stephen touched a great many lives and will be missed by the many friends he made from coast to coast. A memorial service was held May 27 with the Rev. Kay Hunter officiating. Any donations should go to AIDS Resource Center, Northwest Diving Association or American Hospice, Inc.

Harry passed away April 19, 1996 at John Peter Smith Hospital in Fort Worth after a long, courageous battle with AIDS. Born Dec. 5, 1946, Harry is survived by his mother, Doris Davis of Azle, Texas; sisters, Deborah Lemmon of Seattle and Pamela Ragan of Vancouver, Washington; three nephews; a loving wirehaired terrier, Shana; and many good friends.

Harry lived in Dallas from 1974 to 1988, at which time he moved home. His close friends will greatly miss his sense of humor and very positive spirit. He was an active member of the NAMES Project, Dallas Metroplex Chapter. Memorial contributions may be made in his name to the White Rock Community Church General Store; 722 Tenison Memorial Dr.; Dallas, TX 75223.

Charles Edward Hill, 45, of Houston, passed away June 1, 1996 at Twelve Oaks Hospital.

Born in Lockport, New York, Chuck was preceded in death by his father, Bronson William Hill, and survived by his lifelong partner, Todd Donald Lambertus, and his dearest friend, Russ Macaluso. Chuck is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary Joyce Hill, and siblings. Chuck had served in the U.S. Navy. He was a dedicated volunteer at the Bering Care Center.

Funeral services were held at Bering Memorial United Methodist Church on Tuesday, June 4. In lieu of flowers, please make donations to the Bering Care Center; 1440 Harold; Houston, TX 77006.

April 22, 1952 - May 24, 1996

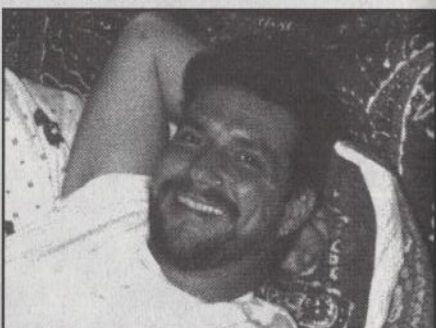

Roy Cisneros departed this life on May 24, 1996 at his parents' home in San Antonio after a long battle with AIDS. He is survived by his loving family — parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raul Cisneros, Sr.; siblings, Andy, Margie, Sallie and their families — and countless friends, whose lives were enriched by his many gifts.

His love of music was shared by the students of Crosby and Scarborough high schools.

Roy also used his talents to help raise funds for local community organizations.

Roy loved to play at living and often bit off more than he could chew, and then amazingly pulled things together by motivating others to achieve a goal. He has been relieved of his pain and somewhere there is a band of angels with a new director making beautiful music to soothe all souls.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the charity of your choice.

Robert Martin died on April 25, 1996. He is survived by his parents, Wallace and Martha Ryne of Pasadena, Texas; sister, Pamela, and brother-in-law, Steve Hansen, of Pasadena; and nephews and nieces, Tiffany, Ty and Aaron.

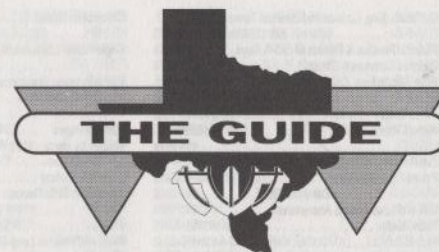

Cremation took place and a memorial service was held in Pasadena on Sunday, April 28. A celebration of Robert's life will be held this Sunday, June 9 at 2 p.m. at Rothko Chapel, 1409 Sul Ross at Yupon.

Robert fought his battle with AIDS displaying courage and dignity, and continued to enrich people's lives with his wit and humor. Throughout his battle, Robert continued to reach out to others, offering hope, guidance, comfort and sympathy.

Robert, I know we will meet once again, where there is less hate, pain and suffering and more understanding, peace and unconditional love.

Until then, my brother
Parker Carroll
