BY DAVID PARNELL

Clive Barker in person is as much a mystery as some of his best-selling novels. At times enthusiastic and sometimes reserved, almost guarded, but always charming and a pleasure to speak with. It seems quite contradictory that the creator of such bone-chilling fiction could be so down-to-earth and affable; but, as Shakespeare once wrote (more or less), there's the rub. Born in Liverpool in 1952, Barker made a hasty exit to London at the age of 21 after a turbulent and shaky childhood. He now resides in Los Angeles.

Barker's talents defy easy categorization, spanning novels and filmmaking to painting and illustration. An imaginative storyteller, he has penned children's books (most notably The Thief of Always) alongside horrific tales peering into the darkest chambers of the heart and mind (the Books of Blood series, Imajica).

The next installment from Barker's imagination is Sacrament, a decidedly different story that's set against a transcontinental backdrop and recalls the work of Felice Picano and Bram Stoker. Though several of his stories have had lesser gay or lesbian characters, Sacrament centers on a gay man — Will Rabjohns, a wildlife photographer who's searching for meaning in a world that's crumbling around him. From the stark forests of the Arctic to the familiar streets of San Francisco and back to the little English village of his youth, Rabjohns faces the dying of the planet and the death of his closest friends from AIDS.

Barker took time from a busy book tour schedule recently to discuss life, passion and things that go bump in the night with THIS WEEK IN TEXAS.

TWT: I'm in the middle of Sacrament. Clive Barker: Having a good time? I'm having a blast, actually; it's really interesting. How do you feel this book differs from your other works?

It's much more based in reality than the previous books....I have written a lot of books which were either defined as horror fiction or fantasy fiction, I've even written for children — much of it concerned with alternative states of reality, other dimensions, passages through doors magically evoked into different stages of reality. This book doesn't do that, this book isn't about anything, really, but this world, this reality. Now it is a reality which I see as magical in some sense; there are supernatural elements besides the natural coexisting in this book. But those supernatural elements, by and large, could pass for human....

Horror Master CLIVE BARKER Talks About Life, Creation and The Complex Gay Hero of His Newest Book

Sometimes the opening paragraphs of my books — the opening paragraph of Imajica is a case in point, where I'm almost defying the reader to get past it, you know. There's a kind of "Okay, now I'm going to plunge you in the deep end," and I do that deliberately sometimes. With Sacrament, I really tried to coax the reader — and as I say, sometimes the reader perhaps has been reluctant about Clive Barker material before — through the book towards the revelatory or visionary passages of the book, slowly, carefully, so that reader doesn't feel intimidated or feel as though they have to crack a code to understand what's going on.

The press release I have says Sacrament is autobiographical. Do you ever have a fear of putting too much of yourself in? I imagine most of your works have strains of autobiographical elements in them.

Sure. That's interesting. I think there is a sense in which you always say, "Am I confessing too much?" This book goes deep into the heart of who I am, no question. It's about a gay man who felt, to some extent, remote from his family, who as a child was troubled, who moved as an adult to America, the West Coast as I have, whose early experiences...Have you touched on the early experiences in Boston?

No...

Those are, again, very autobiographical...Then he relocates to the West Coast. He's in the middle of his creative life, having gained some celebrity, looking at very grim things — all of it's autobiographical [laughing] — and now he's looking at himself and saying, "Has any of this added up to anything? Is this worth a damn?" And that also is autobiographical. I'm at that place in my life where I'm saying, "How can I do better, how can I put more meaning in my life?"

Speaking of celebrity, it seems that you as a writer are becoming more of a personality.

Yeah, it's kind of worrying, isn't it? [Laughs] How do you feel about that? Have you hired a PR person to make sure everyone thinks "correctly" about you?

No, I don't think people do think correctly about me....I think there's just a range of different feelings....I did a signing here in Washington [DC] last night, it was a huge signing, and it was an incredible range of people — people who came along with portions of their bodies tattooed with illustrations from my book, to people in three-piece suits, to gay couples, to kids who perhaps just know the movies. I think all of them have a different view of who Clive Barker is; none of them are wrong....

One of the things about being a creator is you have to, in a way, at a certain point, distance yourself from people's opinions, because you can't live worrying too much about what people are going to think; you just have to get on with it.

How do you feel about being categorized as a gay writer? Is this book sort of a coming out for you?

I've been writing about gay characters for a long time; there's a gay hustler in a story called "Human Remains" back in '84, there's gay vacationers in the story called "In the Hills Are Cities," which won a lot of awards back in '85, there's gay characters in Imajica, there's gay characters in Ever- ville, so I don't think anybody's slapping their hands to their face like Macaulay Culkin and saying, "Wait! Clive Barker's gay?" So it's not really an issue, and I think it shouldn't be an issue. What I think is important in Sacrament is that Will is gay and it's mentioned on the fifth page of the book, or whatever it is, and then the story moves on. Will's homosexuality is not the subject of the book; my audience is, I think, very emotionally sophisticated. Boy, I've taken them on a lot of complex emotional rides. I don't worry too much about that. I think Will's concerns as a human being are universal concerns. Like "my father doesn't love me...."

True. And that's not a situation that's exclusive to the gay experience.

Not at all, no. The need to be loved and the need to make your peace with the world and with those you love before you lose them, in case you lose them — whether your parents or your loved ones, or your dog — I mean, we make connections in the world, with the world, and sometimes the world goes away from us. We have to make sense of that, we have to do what we can to make sense of that.

I think that, a decade ago, the fact that you are gay was not...

An issue?

It wasn't an issue because I don't think it occurred to many people, because you didn't really address the genre ["gay" literature]; none of your main characters were gay.

That's true. Actually, about a decade ago I started to get listed in those learned journals which devote themselves to sort of tracking gay characters in literature. And about eight years ago I started to sign books in gay bookstores like A Different Light in New York. I think there was less emphasis upon the private lives of, well, just about anybody, actually, even that period ago. I think the more popular you become, the more books you sell, the more movies you make, the more people are looking and saying, "What are you like at home, what do you do in bed?" I mean, I was amazed, somebody came up to me yesterday and asked how my dog's puppies were doing.

Wow.

That's the Internet for you.

Does that bother you? Do you ever feel that people know too much about you?

I would hate it if who I am — a day-to-day person, who is a very flawed, troubled, confused human being, like all of us — got too much between people and the books. I want to be invisible in the books. I don't want to feel that people are bringing to the books a sense of my own biography — which is not irrelevant to the books, but is buried in the books. I don't want to have people going through Sacrament and saying, "Well, that's Clive and that's not Clive." It's a story, and some portions of it come from my personal experience and some portions don't. I think it becomes tougher with a certain kind of movie star, for instance; it really is impossible for me to see a Tom Cruise movie without still seeing Tom Cruise.

Because he's selling Tom Cruise, not necessarily the movie...?

Right. So that's kind of problematical, and I would never want to get to the place where people were picking up a Clive Barker book and were just thinking constantly about this guy who's on Politically Incorrect...

Which I saw, by the way.

Well, that was kind of fun to do... You know, it's fun to shake them up a little bit. I like to do that, because I also want to be able to say to people, "Look, I'm not a guy with a third eye in the middle of my forehead." I might write strange stuff, but I'm just a regular guy. So that's the tension.

It's a very fine line.

It is a fine line. I know that there are people who have in our culture become so exposed over the years that we're now kind of bored with them. And that happens very quickly; I think it happened to [film director] Quentin Tarantino, for instance, as somebody who we didn't know, and then we knew too much about. And that's a danger. It's better with a book, in a way. I'll tell you something, David, I'm going on tour for this book for the next five, six weeks, and then I'm going to disappear. And that's good.

What I find really interesting and intriguing is your inclusion of characters with AIDS. I know you had a character in Imajica, which I read a long time ago, one of the first characters with AIDS who was portrayed realistically in an unrealistic situation. It was incredible. It seems to me that you have absolutely no problems addressing it. What has this disease meant in your life?

Well, I've lost a lot of friends; I lost my cousin Mark, who lived in Yorkshire in the village which I've described and then renamed as Burnt Yarley in the book. So Burnt Yarley is Mark's hometown, or home village, and I hope he's reading the book right now and thinking well of my description. So I lost my cousin, I lost a lot of my friends, and what's important to me is to make stories that stimulate people's imaginations but also connect with the here and now, connect with who we are right now, what the planet is like right now, what the hopes of the world are right now, what are the things which bring us close to despair. The plague is very terrible, and some of the most extraordinary mail that I have received on Imajica has come from men with AIDS reading the book and finding a character who was them or was close to them in the book and finding they had a place in this mythology that was an important and heroic place, as opposed to being characterized as victims, as people who were somehow or other just to be pitied — incredibly moving letters, and letters from the lovers of men who died saying, "Your book was on my lover's bedside and this is what I was reading to him in his last days." Just extraordinary stuff.

Tell me about the tenuous relationship between you and your movies.

It's tenuous in one sense, and in another sense, I think the movies have done quite well for me, or by me, by comparison with someone like Steve [Stephen King], who I think has by and large had a pretty rotten time with the movies, or Ray Bradbury, who's had a really rotten time with the movies. I think the first Candyman picture was wonderful, you know, I'm bound to say the first Hellraiser movie [which Barker directed] was wonderful, aren't I? [Laughs] But I liked the first Hellraiser, I liked the second Hellraiser quite a little, I liked the second Candyman picture. I liked the director's cut of Lord of Illusions, I liked Nightbreed. There's half a dozen movies that are out there which I really like. They're never going to replace the experience of making books or making paintings, which are my real passions, because writing and painting are so private and so intense and so hallucinatory as experiences in the making. You're giving the viewer or the reader a much more undiluted portion of your imaginings. Movies are constantly being diluted; they're being diluted by studios, they're being diluted by finances.

Other people's ideas filter in....

They date; movies date. You can flick through channels on the TV, and within 30 seconds of seeing a movie — any movie, you don't even need to know what the title is — you can date a movie by the visuals of it. That's not true of books.

No, not at all. They require more imagination, which is always current.

Books are an interactive medium; movies are a passive medium, and I think movies are getting dumber. I don't think there's any question movies are getting dumber. Whether that means that audiences are getting dumber; I suppose it does. I'm astonished by how dumb the movies of the season are.

What do you have coming up?

I have a novel — actually, I have two novels which I'm making up my mind up about right now. It's kind of interesting being on the road, because I'm away from everything, I'm away from my boyfriend, I'm away from my dogs, I'm away from my writing, I'm away from my house, and in a way it's useful; it's a good time to be looking at what I want to do next. So I'm chewing over which book I'm going to go and really work on next. I have a cycle of paintings which I'm doing for kids at home, and a couple of screenplay projects. I'm executive producing a movie based upon Christopher Bram's book about James Whale, the guy who directed Bride of Frankenstein, a wonderful book called Father of Frankenstein, which is about a gay Brit who made horror movies, so I can certainly relate to that. Bill Condon, who directed Candyman two [Farewell to the Flesh] for me, is writing, or adapting, and directing that, and I'm producing. So that'll be fun. It looks like Ian McKellen — Sir Ian McKellen — is going to play Whale. So that's great. And I'll certainly be involved in some more gay cinema, I think. That's important to me right now. Also, a couple of big special-effects movies. What I'm trying to do is stay involved in the small art house movies as well as the large or effects pictures.

And sort of keep your grounding.

Yeah, that's the principle. Whether it works out that way, of course....

Will this be your first time in Texas?

Oh, no, it'll be my sixth time in Dallas. I've had a great time in Dallas. Oh yeah, I think Dallas is a very cool city.

Clive Barker will sign books at Crossroads Market & Bookstore, 3930 Cedar Springs Rd. in Dallas, on Monday, Aug. 5 at 6:30 p.m. For more information, call (214) 521-8919.

For most people who are involved in dance music, it's more than just a hobby or just collecting a lot of records and compact discs. The dance music community is made up of thousands of artists, producers, songwriters, promoters, musicians, club owners, deejays and, yes, consumers who've made it a lifestyle. It's a "family" of music lovers who embrace each other, sharing their love of the art and crossing the barriers of race, cultural differences and sexual orientation for the pleasure of simply enjoying the music. Whether you live or work in the industry, or you just like to go out dancing and spend half your paycheck buying the music you hear in the clubs, you are a member of this family.

Think about how much money you've spent over the years buying all that flawless music you hear. We can testify as to how much money we as deejays spend in order to keep the music you hear fresh. And what about all the money labels spend for promotion and advertising? It's a sizable chunk of change. Wouldn't you agree? Knowing all of this, don't you find it amazing that there is no category at the Grammy Awards for dance music?

Last Oct. 26, the New York chapter of the National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences [NARAS] held their first workshop of the fall series, titled "Dance Music: Who's the Real Star?" The workshop was produced by NARAS member and Unity recording artist Ellyn Harris and featured top music pros like label executives, press, deejay remixers and artists. During the evening, the subject of a dance music Grammy came up and a rather heated discussion took place among the 300 or so present. The lively and passionate participants dealt with subjects ranging from trying to define dance music to why it has identity problems in trying to pursue its own Grammy category.

Out of that workshop a new organization, the Committee for the Advancement of Dance Music [CADM], was born. "CADM's primary goal is to heighten awareness of the significance of the burgeoning dance music scene in the U.S.," Harris says. "Since its birth, CADM has received excellent coverage as well as great visibility within the dance music community."

"The argument to do so is all around us," Harris continues. "It's the popularity of house, hi-NRG, techno, trance, ambient, rave and freestyle, among many other per-mutations. It's the television and radio advertisements tapping the genre, the airplay on MTV and VH-1, and the use in film soundtracks. It's the presence on the radio, the charts and fashion runways. Despite the lack of mainstream record-industry recognition, dance music has its own culture, its own fashion statement and its own circuit."

Dance music is certainly no passing fad. Think about the role it has played over the years, the many memories preserved in our classic favorites. Remember the first time you heard a Sylvester song? How about the first time you danced to Madonna, Patrick Cowley or "It's Raining Men" by the Weather Girls? How did we get from there to Nicki French, Danny Tenaglia and Orbital? We've grown up with dance music, and we're still dancing. It's what we do.

"Over the last two decades, the dance music genre in this country has evolved stylistically, technically and commercially," Harris says. "Stylistically, many subgenres have developed, each with its own star artists, producers, remixers, etc. The techniques used by these artists, along with the many technological advances, have taken dance music light-years into the future."

"From a commercial standpoint, too, major and independent labels have made increasingly substantial investments in recorded dance product through artist and producer signings, label deals and an intricate promotion network distinctly unique to the dance genre. This evolution translates directly into proof of the importance of dance music to the overall record industry," she adds, "and dance music has also developed a broad demographic, with fans of many ages, ranging from baby boomers to those teenagers who go to the clubs, wear the clothes and buy the records."

Now, you're probably asking, "What does all of this have to do with me?" It has everything to do with you because, as I said earlier, you are a member of the dance music community. You are eligible to join NARAS as a nominating member. You can have a voice at the Grammys. Did you know that the Grammys have absolutely nothing to do with record sales as far as the actual awards go?

"But when you're involved with the Grammys, whether you win or just get nominated, the exposure creates record sales, which brings money into all the facets of the business, from labels to producers, artists, songwriters, deejays, clubs, retail stores, everywhere. This is why it's so important for everyone to join NARAS, so when we get the category, we have a voice and a voting voice."

In addition to having a voice at the Grammys, members of NARAS also get half price on movie tickets and huge discounts on music, all for a mere $60 a year.

So next time you're out dancing at your favorite nightclub, think about how much fun you're having and all the hours of pleasure you've gotten from dance music. Don't you think that $60 a year is a small price to pay in order to insure that dance music continues to grow and flourish, as well as take its place with all the other respected genres of music?

Check out Ellyn Harris' records. Her hits include "I Specialize in Love" (Megatone Records), "Got a Green Light," "I'll Show You How" and "Keep It Up" (all on Unity Records), plus her next release, "Kiss Me," due out soon. Harris has appeared on TV specials around the world and the Emmy Awards dinner, and has toured with Dan Hartman. You've all heard her voice. She sang the "Plop plop fizz fizz" jingle for Alka Seltzer, and oh, what a relief it is to have her in dance music's corner.

For info on how to join NARAS, call Ellyn Harris at (212)860-0500, Jimmy Smith at (210)299-4238 or the Texas chapter (in Austin) at (512)328-7997.

From the Front Lines of Activism to the Halls of Power,
From the Personal to the Political,
David Mixner's
STRANGER AMONG FRIENDS Recounts the Life of an Outsider on the Inside

Stranger Among Friends, by David Mixner;
Bantam Books; New York, NY; hardback; autobiography; 1996; 358 pp.; $22.95

In a just and fair world, David Mixner would today be a high-ranking member of the Clinton administration, or perhaps a state or national officeholder in his own right.

Mixner has had a magical touch his entire life for making friends, raising money and promoting causes that touched his heart. Civil rights, the Vietnam antiwar movement, the battle to help people with HIV/AIDS, the gays-in-the-military debate — Mixner was a concerned player fighting in all those struggles. He also played key roles (usually connected with raising money or building coalitions) in the political campaigns of the likes of Eugene McCarthy, Pat Schroeder, Gary Hart, Tom Bradley...even Bill Clinton, as a member of the National Executive Committee of the Clinton for President campaign in 1992.

Yes, David Mixner could have been a contender. But Mixner is gay, and his secret first shackled him, then led to closed doors of opportunity when he finally told the world who he really was.

In Stranger Among Friends, Mixner recalls the ups and downs of his life, a life in which there has rarely been a dull moment as his talents and principles have led him again and again to fight for what he believed in, little matter the potential consequences. He shares his successes and his failures, his thoughts and his feelings from an insider's perspective about many of the historic events of our nation's political landscape, from the early '60s to the present day.

At one point late in this book, Mixner somewhat wistfully muses over what could have been as he visits a friend and ally's corner office at the White House. "If I had chosen it, surely I too could be sitting in an office like this one, doing work that might change lives for the better," Mixner notes. "...I had a different obligation and I recognized this: I had to fight for our freedom and to battle AIDS. But knowing there was also a wider world to which I could have contributed, I had sometimes found myself feeling bitter at being perceived solely as a 'gay activist.'...No one gets through life without making trade-offs. I had chosen my work in the community as mine."

The timeliness of Mixner's book is golden, coming out even as his longtime friend enters the homestretch of his run for reelection. Much of the book deals with Clinton's 1992 campaign, and the role Mixner and the gay and lesbian community played in helping Clinton to victory over incumbent George Bush and independent candidate Ross Perot.

"Historically, about 35 percent of the gay and lesbian community were Republican," Mixner says. "...We had been a valuable ally in the election. We knew that our contribution to his (Clinton's) victory was a critical one. Exit polls by CNN and others indicated that we delivered a significant percentage of the vote to him. We had earned our way to the table and deserved to be treated as full partners."

Mixner relates the euphoria experienced during the battle to help Clinton reach the White House, both Mixner's own and the gay community's as a whole. Then he describes in as much detail the disappointments that arose when the new president failed to follow through on his commitments, and of the author's personal falling-out with his friend over the broken promise to resolve the military debate. The insider's view of historic events is riveting.

Also fascinating are the people Mixner meets and deals with and becomes friends with and battles. He provides insights into figures like Ted Kennedy and Shirley MacLaine, Tom Stoddard and Colin Powell, Dr. Scott Hitt and Marsha Scott, Roberta Achtenberg and many others; Mixner has a gift for humanizing people and events.

Most of Stranger Among Friends covers Mixner's life in New Jersey, Washington, DC and California, but he crosses paths with many famous Texans who earn more than passing mention. And from his speech at Cathedral of Hope MCC in Dallas against Clinton's plans for segregating gays in the military, to his fund-raiser for Virginia Sen. Charles Robb's 1994 reelection campaign at the LBJ Ranch in Johnson City, familiar places play important roles in many parts of Mixner's journeys.

There's plenty of sadness in the author's personal life: his first lover dies in an automobile accident, his partner and greatest love dies of AIDS and Mixner himself goes through a breakdown and bankruptcy long before his highs and lows with the Clinton White House. But Mixner gets enough highs in the thanks he receives from anonymous, everyday people for his continuing high-profile fight for gays and for the fight against AIDS. "I'm really sorry. I have a brother who has AIDS," whispers a Washington policeman as he puts handcuffs on Mixner during a 1987 civil disobedience action at the gates of the White House. "Mr. Mixner, thank you. Please keep fighting for us," whispers a military attaché on Air Force One.

"It is an extraordinarily heroic community," Mixner says of gay people at the end of his hard-to-put-down book. "Our suffering has not defeated us — it has galvanized us and strengthened our resolve to be free. We have so many talents, so much intelligence, love, and courage to bring to this troubled nation. If it embraces us, it will be a stronger and more beautiful place. But until that time of freedom arrives, we have no choice but to continue through nonviolent action to fight vigorously for what is right."

Stranger Among Friends makes great summer reading. But more than just entertaining, it may prove inspiring for many people in the context of this year's elections. And perhaps someday it will be considered a solid historical account, a mark of where we were that pointed out how far we could still — and would still — go.

Zachary Scott Theatre holds a preview show of Beehive to benefit Christopher House at 8 p.m. next Wednesday, Aug. 7 on ZACH's Kleberg Stage, 1421 W. Riverside Dr. in Austin. Tickets are $25, and a champagne reception will follow. Beehive's regular run is Aug. 9-Sept. 15, with shows at 8 p.m. Wednesdays-Saturdays and 6 p.m. Sundays. Tickets are $25 opening night (includes a post-show reception) and $19-$23 other nights, with $2 discounts for students and seniors. For reservations or more info, call (512)476-0541. Meanwhile, on ZACH's Whisenhunt Arena Stage, 1510 Toomey Rd., All I Really Need to Know I Learned in Kindergarten has been held over through Aug. 25, with shows at 8 p.m. Thursdays-Saturdays and 2:15 p.m. Sundays. Tickets are $14-$17.

12 Steps to a More Dysfunctional Family — Part III, a one-man show written by and starring Rob Nash, opens tonight (Friday, Aug. 2) and continues through Sept. 8 at Planet Theatre, 2307 Manor Rd. in Austin. Shows are at 8 p.m. Thursdays-Sundays. Admission is $11 general, $7 students, seniors and ACoT members; Thursdays are pay-what-you-wish. For reservations and more info, call (512)499-TIXS.

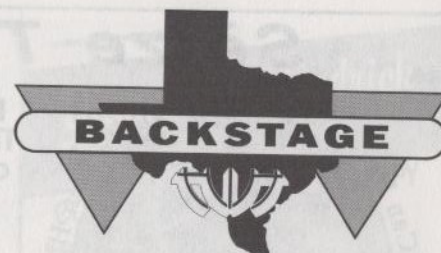

The Public Domain, 807 Congress Ave., is host venue for this year's RAT Conference, which will bring theatre groups from all across America to Austin Aug. 8-11 for a weekend of shared strategizing, open rehearsals and gastronomy. All events are open to the public; for more info, call Jason at (512)912-0331.

Pre-WWII Berlin is the setting for Kandler and Ebb's Cabaret, which Lone Star

Key McClelland and Jay Montgomery star as Sally Bowles and Clifford Bradshaw in Cabaret, at The Grand 1894 Opera House in Galveston through Aug. 18.

Performing Arts Association brings to the stage of The Grand 1894 Opera House in Galveston through Aug. 18. Sally Bowles, an English girl who's fled her family's stuff-ness, ends up a dancer in the Kit Kat Klub and has an almost-love affair with young American Clifford Bradshaw. Shows are at 8 p.m. Wednesdays-Saturdays and 2 p.m. Sundays. For reservations or more info, call (409)737-3440 or (800)54-SHOWS.

Scott Kennedy and Kevin Maye bring their "Gay Comedy Jam" back to Houston's Laff Stop for shows on Aug. 19 and 20. In addition to stand-up performances at major comedy venues across the country and appearances on HBO's Comedy Channel and A&E's An Evening at the Improv, they've opened for such superstars as Garth Brooks, the Temptations, David Sanborn and Judy Tenuta. Kennedy and Maye describe the Jam as "the first gay comedy show of its kind," but one that's also "hetero-friendly." Tickets are $12/advance and $15 the day of the show. Laff Stop is located at 1952-A W. Gray; for tickets or more info, call (713)524-2333.

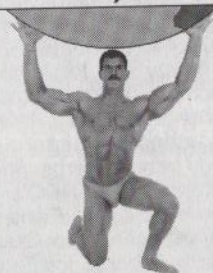

No more "Wax on...Wax off" for Ralph Macchio, who's stepping into the role of J. Pierrepont Finch in the Tony Award and Pulitzer Prize-winning musical How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying. It's being presented by Dallas Summer Musicals, and opens Tuesday, Aug. 6 in the Music Hall at Fair Park. Performances will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday, with matinees at 2 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday the first week, and at 8 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday and 2 p.m. on Thursday, Saturday and Sunday the second week. For tickets ($7-$49) or more info, call the box office at (214)691-7200 or TicketMaster locations.

Stage West presents Terrence McNally's comedy Lips Together, Teeth Apart now through Aug. 17. This one takes place on a 4th of July weekend at a pricey Fire Island beach house and looks at the complexities of life in America in the '90s. Shows are at Stage West, 3055 South University Dr. in Fort Worth. For tickets ($13-$16, student/senior discounts available) or more info, call Metro (817)STG-WEST.

TWT AUGUST 2 - AUGUST 8 1996

BY C. LICHTENSTEIN

AUGUST 2 - 8, 1996

LUCILLE BALL
AUGUST 6, 1911

Swift and sure Mercury moves from dramatic and boisterous Leo to staid Virgo. Our communication tempers any volatile situation; not a bad thing, considering we probably started the whole damn commotion under Leo's feisty influence. Time to clean up our acts, kids. Try to sound measured and serious, won't you?

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) Proud, regal Lions were in their glory when Mercury waltzed in their own signs. Now Mercury in Virgo enables you to concentrate on the more mundane aspects of financial planning. You gain insight by asking the right monetary questions, thanks to serious, conservative Virgo. Who knows? With the right advisor, the path to true retirement bliss may not be far. Send me a postcard when you get there.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) As Mercury enters your own sign, remember that all ears will be tuned in to your frequency for the next three weeks or so. If you have something that needs to be expressed, try to express it now while the energy is right. Meticulous, proud Virgins have probably already written out their personal treatises, so dust them off and give 'em a yell. You'll meet a busload of them during this transit.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) Even sociable pink Libras will be encouraged to turn inward when Mercury enters Virgo. Your inner voice ups the volume, and now's an excellent time for a discussion. Maybe it's a matter of becoming more active in a gay charitable cause. Virgo's meticulous planning capabilities enable you to infuse your put charm into the perfect benefit fund-raiser.

SCORPUS, thanks to Mercury in Virgo. You thrive among friends. They support your theories and send you off in great new directions; you, in turn, can advise them properly tit for tat. (Some of us like it that way....). Get involved and get going while the planetary oomph is there. Use that strategic power for good and not evil.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) Proud Sags never seem to get recognition for their inspired career efforts. Maybe the world is still catching up to you, but don't despair or ever, ever surrender to corp-think. Mercury in Virgo at least enables you to put ideas into the corporate lexicon. Maybe an inspirational someone will hear you and give you the accolades you so richly deserve. Okay, take the raise instead.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) Gay Caps think in more universal terms now that Mercury has entered Virgo. It's time to expand your base of knowledge, so register for that course you've been talking about for so long. Travel to new and exotic places or set out to meet new and exotic strangers. Just don't pick up any new and exotic fashion statements. It's hard to imagine conservative queer Goats wearing chiffon.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) Even humanitarian, out-of-this-world Aqueerians will have down-to-earth human thoughts with Mercury in Virgo. Your mind gets hot and sweaty with zesty, sexy thoughts; who can resist expressing such thoughts? What turns you on? This is no time to be shy. While you're at it, begin analyzing your internal psychological motivations. Breakthroughs and ultimate happiness are possible.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - March 20) Mercury moves into your opposite sign of Virgo, which means that pink fish must turn from self-interested thoughts toward clearing up partnership concerns. What are you really seeking in a relationship? What are you prepared to give to others? Put the meat on the table and talk it out, cousin. Remember to listen; there are three sides to every issue — yours, theirs and the truth.

ARIES (March 21 - April 20) You've had your say in the sun, proud Ram. Waning Mercury in Leo conjured up fun-filled, adoring audiences for your wit and wisdom. Now, with Mercury pursuing other communication venues, so should you. Put in your two cents on the job. Virgo's incisive energy enables you to separate the time-waster from the time-saver. Get to the meat of the project. Some of us like it that way...

TAURUS (April 21 - May 21) Queer Bulls should employ the new and exciting Mercury-in-Virgo energy in any pastimes or artistic ventures. Maybe that means writing that great gay play or even directing one. Virgo's masterful energy works best behind the scenes, in more of a service role than as the fabulous, glory-grabbing diva. However, if Mr. DeMille calls for your close-up, who am I to argue?

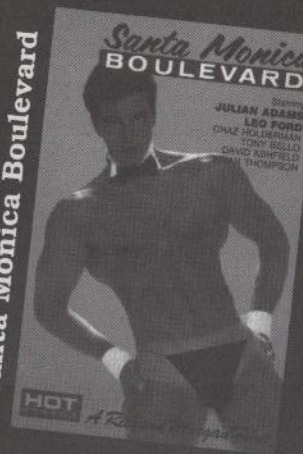

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) Pink and proud Twins can best use the Mercury-in-Virgo energy to plan any home-related projects. Your mind is sharp and focused on what looks good down to the smallest detail. The other advantage of this conservative Virgo influence is your ability to rationally discuss hot and heavy issues with family members. Open up that closet and clean it out. You only live once.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) Mercury in Virgo is naturally placed in your chart, which means communication is spot on in measured, decisive dollops. Get the word out, dear, queer Crab, and don't mince them. You'll have the uncanny ability to mix sensitive Cancerian insights with pure Virgo logic, resulting in unassailable argument. Fire off a letter to your representative; remember, it's an important election year.

CAPITAL CITY DARTS

AUSTIN — It Don't Matter pulled a major upset in the Cricket Darts League, beating previously unbeaten Bad Boys six games to one on Monday, July 29. That leaves Sharks, a 7-0 winner over Arrows, as the last unbeaten team in the Monday weekly competition of two-player teams, which now plays at Chain Drive and Rainbow Cattle Company.

Other action Monday saw Anita Wynn upset Desperados 6-1 and Porno Stars stick it to Stud Muffins 4-3.

The previous week (July 22), Sharks beat It Don't Matter 6-1, Bad Boys edged Anita Wynn 4-3, Desperados nipped Stud Muffins 4-3 and Porno Stars won by forfeit over Wonder Twins, who have since been supplanted in the league by the Arrows.

This Monday, Aug. 3, it's Desperados (3-2) vs. It Don't Matter (2-3) and Sharks (5-0) vs. Bad Boys (4-1) at 7 p.m. at Chain Drive, while over at Rainbow Cattle Company, Porno Stars (2-3) meet Anita Wynn (3-2) and Arrows (0-5) face Stud Mu

TEXAS HIV/STD CONFERENCE EXPECTS RECORD TURNOUT

Aug. 26-29 Meeting Designed To Assist Patients, Professionals.

AUSTIN — Over 1,000 people are expected to take part in the 1996 Texas HIV/STD Conference, which the Texas Health Foundation in partnership with the Texas Department of Health Bureau of HIV and STD Prevention is putting on Aug. 26-29 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Austin.

This year's conference combines the HIV Prevention Conference, held the past seven years, and the HIV Services Conference, held the past four years. The forum is expected to draw community health educators, HIV testing counselors, HIV/STD program managers, case managers, clinical staff and other professionals from across Texas. The conference's defined mission is "to provide information, skill building and opportunities for exchange of ideas among persons living with and affected by HIV/AIDS/STDs, as well as care and prevention providers, creating cohesive partnerships in order to meet the current and future challenges of the epidemic."

Among featured speakers will be Dr. Ron Valdiserri of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention on "Making a Future Free of HIV" on Monday morning, Aug. 26; Cynthia Brinson on "HIVs and STDs: Interrelationships" and Barbara Aranda-Naranjo on "Children, Youth, Women and Families Living with HIV," both Tuesday morning, Aug. 27; Ralph DiClemente on "HIV Prevention for Women" on Wednesday, Aug. 28; and Peggy Clarke on "Why Is It Easier for People to Have Sex Than to Talk About It?" on Thursday, Aug. 29.

In addition, there will be numerous panel discussions and breakout sessions; two pre-conference workshops on Aug. 25, including Armando Gaitan of the National Coalition of Advocates for Students/Vivemos on "Culture, Sex and HIV"; morning and afternoon 12-step sessions; ad-hoc discussion groups; networking; and much more. There also will be organization, sponsor and agency exhibition spaces, and participating in the conference can be counted as continuing education units for nursing and social workers, licensed chemical dependency counselors and certified health education specialists.

Registration for the entire conference is $55, or $75 after Aug. 19. A limited number of scholarships are available, primarily for people who are HIV-positive or have been diagnosed with AIDS.

For a conference registration form, schedule or more information, call Sylvia Watson at (512)490-2535, or write to: Texas Health Foundation; Attn: Registration; 11005 Burnet Rd.; Suite 114-129; Austin, TX 78758. Brown box lunches are available at $6 each Monday through Wednesday.

DALLAS GAYS AND LESBIANS ON THE WORLD WIDE WEB

Computer Site Offers Information on Local Attractions, Events.

DALLAS — Everyone's jumping on the Internet now and the Dallas gay community isn't about to be left behind. Several new websites have emerged recently that provide useful information to a worldwide audience. These sites are perfect for people traveling to Dallas who might not have access to publications like THIS WEEK IN TEXAS.

The "Dallas Gay/Lesbian Guide" is the most comprehensive of the new sites. It includes categories in news and entertainment, nightclubs/bars, businesses, restaurants, an events calendar, AIDS resources, gay travel guides and many more. The DGLG was started in January by Rod Trujillo, who has been doing programming for over ten years. "I was looking for a project to work on and I was also having trouble finding out anything about the gay community in Dallas," Trujillo said. "So I decided, why not start my own site?"

What started out as a pet project has been expanding ever since. "I started out with just a directory of organizations and businesses, but I started getting feedback that people wanted more info," Trujillo said.

While the site began primarily for visitors to Dallas and people new to the area, Trujillo wants it to be used by people in the metroplex itself. "A little less than half the people who visit are within the U.S., and about an equal amount are within the metroplex. But the best thing has been getting feedback from all over — Malaysia, Singapore, the Netherlands and all over Europe."

Trujillo is excited about the growth potential for gay/lesbian guides on the Internet. "The resources for gays and lesbians seem to be growing faster than for any other group. Just check out AOL (America Online) and you'll see why a lot of people call it 'Gay-O-L.'"

The DGLG has been getting lots of requests for even more specialized information within the community, like information for bisexuals, lesbians, transgendered people and other more focused groups. But no matter how much the site expands, Trujillo wants to keep the original purpose in mind. "Many other sites start up as commercial ventures, but I'm not ever going to do that. Anything that is on there is to make the site better for the community," he said.

The Dallas Gay/Lesbian Guide can be found at "http://users.aol.com/Ready501/dgg.htm" on the World Wide Web.

HOUSTON PROTEST TARGETS STEPPED-UP POLICE ACTIVITY IN MONTROSE AREA

Clients of Stone Soup Pantry Arrested, Others Ticketed.

HOUSTON — Clients of a food pantry that assists people with AIDS were apparently among those caught up in a recent "zero tolerance" enforcement by the Houston Police Department in the city's Montrose area. That effort, during which at least three people were arrested and numerous others were ticketed or stopped for such minor offenses as jaywalking, was the focus of a protest that drew a small crowd last Tuesday afternoon to the lower Westheimer police storefront station.

Robert Siemen, a client of Stone Soup, said he had arrived at the agency — a branch of AIDS Foundation Houston located in the 600 block of Westheimer — last Saturday morning shortly before it was due to open, and waited with others on the sidewalk area that fronts the building. Siemen said several police cars arrived shortly afterwards and that officers asked all those present for identification. Siemen and two other men were taken into custody, apparently for outstanding warrants.

Activists gathered in front of a police storefront station on lower Westheimer Tuesday to protest what they considered overzealous law enforcement.

Siemen added that while in jail he was denied the medications he takes for HIV, and did not receive them until activist Ray Hill petitioned a judge on Sunday morning to issue an order to that effect — by which time Siemen's stay in jail was nearly over.

Hill, who spoke at Tuesday's protest, said he himself was detained by police last Friday evening while crossing a street in the Montrose area and was asked for his identification, but was later released even though he refused to comply.

The stepped-up police activity was a response to a request by officers of the Avondale Association, a local civic group, that police officers do more to control problems with prostitution and illegal drugs in the area. Hill and others attacked the Avondale group on Tuesday for what they described as the anti-gay sentiments of some of its members — including its opposition to M Bar, a proposed new nightclub to be located on Westheimer.

Jack Cato, Media Information Director for the police department, insisted that the increased enforcement in Montrose was not targeted at people because of their sexual orientation or race, and that those taken into custody were arrested because they had outstanding warrants. He also denied that anyone was refused medication while incarcerated.

Cato said the police effort ended last weekend, a claim Hill disputed Tuesday.

At press time, Michael Thomas, President of the Avondale Association, said his group would issue a statement on the HPD "zero tolerance" effort next week.

RITA MAE BROWN TO VISIT TEXAS FOR FUND-RAISERS

*An Uncommon Legacy
Benefits from Appearances
By Author in Houston, Dallas.*

TEXAS — Noted author Rita Mae Brown is scheduled to appear in Houston on Sunday, Aug. 11 at a brunch benefiting a national lesbian organization. The brunch begins at 11:30 a.m. (doors open at 11) at the Four Seasons Hotel, 1300 Lamar St., and includes a photo opportunity and book-signing appearance hosted by Crossroads Market & Bookstore. Comedian Vickie Shaw will provide entertainment and Sydney Seaward will act as emcee.

In addition to the Houston brunch, Brown will be attending a cocktail party in Dallas the evening of Saturday, Aug. 10, which also benefits An Uncommon Legacy Foundation, Inc.

Janine Brunjes, one of Legacy's directors, summarizes the weekend as "a sort of nonstop Texas tour for Rita Mae. We're hoping folks will start with the Dallas cocktail party and then come to Houston for the brunch on Sunday. But, of course, we'll be very happy to see everyone at each individual event."

Tickets to the brunch may be ordered by mail at P.O. Box 667052; Houston, TX 77266 and by check or charge (please include full name, card number, expiration date, address and local telephone number). All reservations must be received by Aug. 7, although organizers say there will be a limited number of seats available at the door. Open seating is $50 per person and reserved tickets are $100 each. All tickets include meal and drinks. Underwriting recognition — which includes two reserved seats, an autographed copy of Pay Dirt and a photograph with Brown — is available for $500. For more information, call (713)520-1142.

An Uncommon Legacy Foundation, Inc.

is an international organization established solely to promote the civil rights and well-being of lesbians today and in the future by providing direct financial support to projects that address the social, cultural, health and educational needs of lesbians. Legacy funds its grants through a program that utilizes insurance policies, wills and trusts as well as outright gifts.

LESBIAN AVENGERS STAGE MOCK WEDDING TO PROTEST DOMA

*March Last Friday
Through Downtown Austin Concludes at Governor's Mansion.*

AUSTIN — Bride Nan DeRosa wore a beautiful white wedding dress. So did Leslie Bode. And despite the uncomfortable clothing and muggy 90-plus-degree heat, the two led a march of about two dozen supporters and Lesbian Avenger friends that concluded with a mock wedding ceremony at the front gate of the Governor's mansion.

The event, staged at high noon last Friday, was designed to protest the U.S. House of Representatives' recent passage of the so-called Defense of Marriage Act, and the fact that local Rep. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, failed to oppose the bill. Gov. George W. Bush was not at the mansion at the time of the protest, and the gates were kept closed to deny the Avengers and their supporters access to the grounds.

"Love knows no gender," co-organizer Lenore Shefman told the crowd as she presided over the ceremony in shawl and yarmulke and with a bullhorn. "Love knows no constitution to hold love down. We call on the Governor to use his power to help end discrimination, so that all people can be joined in love."

DeRosa and Bode led the 12-block march up Congress to the mansion, drawing questioning looks, stares and even support from the lunch-hour downtown crowds. There were one or two hecklers along the way, but there were more instances of applause and compliments.

"I was really pleased, I thought it went really well," DeRosa said afterward. "It was so hot! But I think I was on such an emotional high on the way there (to the Governor's mansion) that I didn't even notice how far it was. I was really surprised later when I realized how far we went! I saw so much support, it made me feel good."

DOMA would mandate a national definition of marriage as being between one man and one woman only, and would give states the authority not to recognize same-sex marriages performed in other states. DOMA passed the House by a 249-162 vote, and has now moved on to the Senate.

The Lesbian Avengers meet at 7 p.m. every Sunday at the Cornerstone Gay and Lesbian Community Center, 1117 Red River in Austin.

HOUSTON TEA — It was a beautiful day in the neighborhood as a multitude of lovely (and not-so-lovely) ladies [above] converged upon Heaven last Sunday for the Garden Party's "Hooker's Ball" extravaganza benefiting the Colt 45's Stone Soup Fund and AIDS Trouble Fund. At the front door, Colt 45's vice-president Spook Llewellyn and Garden Party president Creath "Fonda Peters" Robinson [below, l-r] were welcoming the guests. This week, in addition to the club's new 2-for-1 cover on the first Sunday of every month, the Super Sunday Show presents Celeste Martinez and The Dream Makers Tour starring adult video stars Ty Russell and Bo Summers. Next Sunday, Aug. 11, Heaven welcomes video star/dance music artist David Burrill for a special autograph party and show....

Next door at JR's, we found Garden Party goddess Chantal [above] enjoying SRO Karaoke. The festivities at the club's Sunday Beach Party include that infamous well vodka juice drink special, super sexy male dancers, refreshing Sex On The Beach shots and a swimsuit male strip contest with Lindsay Love at 11 p.m. Fridays at JR's are a great way to start your weekend. All-American happy hour, complimentary hors d'oeuvres and gorgeous male dancers make sure you'll have a fabulous evening of fun....

After the Garden Party and the Denim Party, the fun continued at Gentry's Happy Hookers Contest where emcee Val Rodela [above, r] posed with winner Taylor Daniels [l]. This Sunday at 9 p.m., Gentry welcomes the Mr. Life Today Contest, a benefit for the AIDS Housing Coalition. Gentry's new Social Club features amazing well drink, domestic longneck and martini specials served by Mr. Houston All-American Sean Carter until 7 p.m. every day. Summertime at Gentry sizzles with male strip contests every Sunday and

Wednesday and Boy Toy dancers seven nights a week....

There's always something going on at EJ's. This Sunday at 10 p.m., USA GayNet is having a casting call for models to be featured in their on-line soap opera, Fatal Beauty. Next Wednesday, Aug. 7, Dyan Michaels will perform a one-man show at 11 p.m. On Sunday, Aug. 11, EJ's welcomes Max Pearson's Maria Montez: Her Life and Death In One Act for two performances at 8 p.m. and 10 p.m....

At the first annual Miss Rich's USofA Pageant, the winner's circle included Miss Gay Texas USofA Kelly Lauren, second runner-up Selene Crawford, winner Katherine York and first runner-up Lawanda Jackson [above, l-r]. Katherine and Lawanda will be back at Rich's when the club hosts the Miss Gay Texas USofA pageant Aug. 21-25. Mark your calendars and get ready for four nights of dazzling divas doing what they do best. Rich's is also preparing to celebrate its 13th anniversary with The Black & White Ball featuring video superstar Ryan Idol on Friday, Aug. 16 and Customer Appreciation Night on Saturday, Aug. 17....

Last week, Pacific Street was the site of the Mr. Gay Houston All-American contest. Winner Sean Carter [above, l] is pictured with Mr. Texas All-American David Ponton [c] and first runner-up David Barfield [r]. Next weekend, Aug. 9-11, the club hosts a contest of a different kind — Mr. Texas Drummer. This event featuring special guest emcee Shann Carr and last year's winner Don Woods is going to be three days of leather and flesh that'll feed your fantasies and make you sweat....

SAN ANTONIO TEA — Bonham Exchange's recent 15th anniversary was a huge success and Philip, Lydia and Raul [above, l-r] were among the capacity crowd on hand to celebrate at their favorite club. The one and only Niecy will be guest bartending at the 1-0-6 tonight, beginning at 6 p.m., to benefit TGRA, which hosts a state meeting buffet for members at the Bonham starting at 11 a.m. this Sunday, Aug. 4. Next up at the club is a benefit for SAAF House on Saturday, Aug. 10. Teresa tells us the show will be presented by Erica and Rose and that there's no cover. The fun gets underway at 8 p.m. in the ballroom....

Like all those in the know, sexy Peter Villareal [above] rounds his weekends out on Sundays at The Pegasus. The after-brunch party gets going early at 2 p.m. with the hits from the '70s, '80s and '90s played just the way you like them. But why stop there? Mondays and the club just seem to go together. Doors open at 2 p.m. with cheap drinks all day and all night, hot male dancers and nonstop cruising and dancing. Stop in and see what Monday Madness is all about. Don't forget happy hour daily from 2-9 p.m. and that fabulous pool and beach. It's a great place to tan your buns....

Thursday nights at The Saint are steeped in tradition. The staff and cast present the legendary Tandi's Tea Show hosted by Texas-sized Barbie and newly crowned Miss Gay Dallas Victoria West plus Erica Andrews, Melissa Crawford, Layla LaRue and this week's featured guest, Vanessa VonRay. When you factor in cheap cocktails, the night is an unabashed success. General manager Stevie Alejandro suggests you get an early start on Fridays and Saturdays. Enjoy reduced drink prices by planning an early arrival at the club on weekend nights. Specials start at 9 p.m. and last until 11 p.m. followed by a buffed body male review hosted by Shady Lady....

The fantastic folks at Eagle Mountain Saloon continue to show their pride with "Community Unity Nights" beginning Aug. 1 and then every Thursday night. Ten percent of those nights' gross sales will go to benefit various organizations committed to helping the community, including the Alamo Area AIDS Resource Center, Beat AIDS, the Hispanic AIDS Committee, the Ryan White Dental Clinic, SAAF, Krissie's Kids and many more. Hats off to the management and staff of EMS for putting their money where it really counts — in the hands of those who need it most....

Wild Club is continuing its wildly successful Hot Summer Nights promotion where well drinks go for a ridiculously low price every Wednesday, Friday and Saturday night. And don't forget about their huge citywide benefit on Saturday, Aug. 10. Contact the club at (210)22-PARTY for more details. Next door they're busy planning their Blue Collar Party at Woody's and ReBar tomorrow night, Saturday, Aug. 3. You can bet sexy customers David and Sam [above] will be on hand to dress as your favorite blue collar worker and enjoy all the fun of this theme party. And don't forget about the club's Tuesday Amateur Male Strip contests — they're lots of fun, both for the audience as well as the participants.

AUSTINteaCIOUS — Decorated Christmas tree, wreaths, ornaments, twinkly lights, faux snow...it must be Christmas in July at Charlie's once again. The big celebration was July 25, and David, Sister Mary Roach, Ray and Tino [above, l-r] were among the hundreds of happy folks who took part in the festivities, which featured the traditional Christmas dinner by Daddy Wayne and his elves. The decorations came down Monday, but the fun never ends as the Green Gang is now preparing for Lavaca Fest in mid-August. First, Lauren Taylor hosts this Sunday's show with special guests Shayla Simpson and Kelly Kline. And don't miss Nacha Regular Thursdays, with emcee Nacha Type and some dreamy dancers putting on their show at 11:30 p.m. A belated happy birthday to the magnificent Matthew!...

Red Hot V was everything we anticipated and more on another wild weekend at Oilcan Harry's. Dancers like Derek [above] kept the crowd entertained, as did strobes, exotic projections and music that wouldn't let you stand still. The lines Saturday night to get in went halfway down the block most of the evening. There were oodles of auctions and giveaways (lucky Jim won the two airline tickets to anywhere in the U.S.), and the excitement raised a lot of money for Project Transitions, a very worthy cause. Now it's back to normal at Austin's busiest gay bar, which means the wild and wacky fun will just keep on rollin'. Fond farewells to departing cute bartenders Daniel and Darren. To Joe, Keith and all the others who made Red Hot V so special: well done, and thanks!...

Kate [above, l] and Cyndy celebrated their wedding last Saturday with a beautiful reception at 'Bout Time. The little club up north continues to do big things: This Saturday, Aug. 3, at 10:30 p.m. sharp, it's a "Hot Summer Nights" show, featuring the reunion of the Capitol City Queens in their first performance in about a year. Coming up Aug. 10 is Bartender Turnabout; we'll leave you wondering on that funfest for a while. And don't forget to get in your entries for the Benefit Volleyball Tournament on Aug. 24....

Hugh, Art, Steve and Ron [above, l-r] of Adventuring Outdoors posed recently when their group handled the Sunday cookout at Chain Drive. Last Sunday the Chain gang did its own gastronomical delights (chicken by Dave, brisket by Brice). And now it's time for the event of the summer: Hell Party '96! The festivities begin with an underwear party tonight at 9 (clothes check available), and happy hour prices to 11. Saturday the doors open at 8 for an evening of leather, levi and latex — the traditional Hell Night, with a special appearance by the Devil and his slaves and a midnight buffet. This Sunday, the 4th, doors open at sunset for a Hell Day buffet and more happy hour prices to 11, and the night will be highlighted by an 11:30 p.m. show by dancer/porn star J.T. Sloan, presented courtesy of Forum Studios. A hell of a time is guaranteed!...

Duchess Laura at the Blue Flamingo says there's going to be an Underwear Party on Aug. 16 — free admission if you show up in your undies. Yum! Mata Hari headlines that night at Austin's alternative live music palace. Mondays are KVRX Radio Nights, and the lineup Aug. 5 will include And You Will Know Us by the Trail of Dead, Premadonnas and Death of Millions. Tonight it's Digger (from Pennsylvania) and The Nobodys (from Colorado). Next Friday, Aug. 9, the Miss Dallas Show returns at midnight....

Good ol' 5th Street Station has DiDi Davis, renowned for her Miss Dolly Parton performances, as special guest at this Sunday night's show. Last Sunday, Trella Thomas of Dallas joined regulars Jame Perry, Heather Thomas and Kristin Lucci to leave the crowd roaring for more. To help Dwight's campaign for Mr. Round-Up at the Ranch, chances for a gorgeous rainbow pride quilt and a neon Miller sign are being sold for $2/three chances for $5. Be sure to ask returned European explorer Miss Cynthia about her adventures....

Mac Bynum [below] was among the many performers as Rainbow Cattle Company hosted a Round-Up for AIDS fund-raiser July 24. Loni Thomas, Bobby Barnett, Garry Holley, Paris Chanel, Steven Crabtree, Chad Martin, Mark and Carl, and the Austin Baptist Women were among the headliners, and the event brought in nearly $700 for Christopher House and the Pediatric AIDS League. The Rainbow's official Grand Opening Weekend is coming Aug. 9-11. Don't forget Margie's Steak & Chicken Night from 7-9 p.m. every Thursday, when the best meal in town is a mere $5....

The Naked Grape is hosting a Bud Special from 9-11 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 8 followed by a Not Just A Drag Show you'll never forget. Monday's Strip-Off, Tuesday's Get Wet at the Grape, Wednesday's Talent Show — it's always something.

DALLAS TEA — For "First Class" fun, you can't beat Moby Mail every Monday night at Moby Dick. The special delivery you receive might just be the man of your dreams! With any luck, he'll be as gorgeous as Jordan Harold, Patrice Serene, John Solis, and Jacob Guesua [above, l-r]. If that's not enough, Moby Lite is sure to cool you down as August rolls in. All lite beers, well drinks, and Bacardi Limonades are on special every Friday until 10 p.m. So stop by and chill on the balcony with your friends at Moby Dick....

It's easy to look sophisticated when you've got a cigar in one hand and a martini in the other. Now JR's makes it even easier every Monday night with Martini Madness (12 flavors!) and fine cigars available at the bar. You'll be a smash! But you might not even need a martini to get noticed if people recognize you from Sunday night karaoke. That's where we caught Bret Thomas and guest hostess Cassie Nova [above, l-r]. Stop by and join the fun....

Jessica Fletcher. Remington Steele. Jennifer Hart — and you. What do these people all have in common? They all just happen to be around when a murder takes place. Only you're one up on the competition because you're about to get your first clue. On Aug. 11, someone will be "murdered" at the Round-Up Saloon. Show up at 6 p.m. sharp and bring your Nancy Drew home detective kit for a chance to solve the mystery! Speaking of murder, we'd just die if we forgot to wish manager Carl Kidd the happiest of birthdays! He makes the Round-Up a great place to go.

The buzz around Dallas is that local event planners are creating Dallas' first HOT circuit party, called House of Heat, scheduled for Aug. 17th. The details have led us to believe that this party will definitely put Dallas on the national circuit party map. Watch for more details....

All tied up and nowhere to go? Then head over to Big Daddy's on Saturday, July 27 at 6 p.m. for their "Guess Who's NOT Coming to Dinner Review." It's sure to be a blast when this first annual fund-raiser for the Black Tie Dinner Silent Auction gets under way. There'll be happy hour drink prices, male and female dancers, surprise guests, prizes and a whole lot more! Come join the fun....

The countdown has begun! Just one more week till the newest dance bar in Dallas opens its doors. The same folks who brought you Moby Dick have been working night and day to get the Ice Factory ready [above]. It's lookin' great! Don't miss out on all the grand opening excitement next Friday, Aug. 9...

A lot of things have changed in the past decade, but there's one thing that has remained a constant in Dallas. And that's having a great time at the Trestle, which turned ten years old on July 30! Happy anniversary, and continued success, from TWT!...

The CRUISE CAMERA recently caught [above, l-r] Bill Wilson and Tony Coronado, just two examples of the handsome men you can meet at Crews Inn, the place to go for hot dancers seven nights a week — and they just keep getting hotter! If hunky men aren't reason enough to cruise by, enjoy one of the great daily drink specials! If you didn't already know, Tuesdays are fantastic at Crews Inn....

Across the street at Zippers, you can find more beautiful men because they have dancers every night, too! Last week's TWT cover man Tom Morgan had 'em screamin' for more when he appeared recently. Stop by tonight, because you never know who you'll see dancing for your pleasure....

Now here are three guys who look care-free and ready to enjoy everything the Throckmorton Mining Company has to offer! Perhaps Hank Thomas, Tom Phelps, and Gary White [above, l-r] were there enjoying TMC's great beer of the month — Oregon. The draft pints are extra low-priced every Wednesday and Sunday! Or come by Sunday nights and cheer on the guys who dare to bare in the Bear Buns Contest! Don't be left behind....

Paint the town red. Paint your butt blue! Whatever your desire, you can do it all with new Fantasy Liquid Latex at Alternatives of New Fine Arts. It's fun, easy, erotic and, best of all, it comes in seven great colors! Looks like TWT photographer James Franklin [above, l] found out the favorite color of drag queen extraordinaire Chi Chi LaRue when she stopped by Alternatives recently....

Village Station bartender Andy [above] is just adorable! Why not drop in tonight and have him expertly mix your favorite cocktail? He's ready to make your Village Station experience even more enjoyable. After visiting his station, hang around for the Dream Makers all-male erotic review. They're here tonight only to make your dreams come true. Then head upstairs to the Rose Room and give it up for Sweet Savage, who'll be performing for you all weekend with the rest of the absolutely fabulous Rose Room gals.

PAGEANT TEA — There's lots of going on in the fabulous world of female impersonation and HOT TEA is here, as always, to keep you up on all the latest happenings: The legendary Whitney Paige has added yet another stone to her tiara by sweeping the recent Texas Entertainer of the Year Pageant at The Saint in San Antonio.

Whitney [below, c] jets to Louisville, Kentucky next weekend to compete for the national title along with runner-up Lory Love [l] and Southwest Regional Entertainer of the Year Kourtney Van Wales [r.] Also pictured is former Texas EOY Coco, who went on to win last year's national title, the third Texan to do so. Congratulations to all the winners....

There are two big pageants coming up in Dallas this month: The Best of Texas Pageant offers the largest cash prizes ever awarded in a local preliminary and sponsors its winner and runner-up to Miss Gay Texas. This contest is scheduled for Friday, Aug. 23 at Club Meisha's. For information, call the club at (214)698-3007 or Norma Kristie at (501)666-6900....

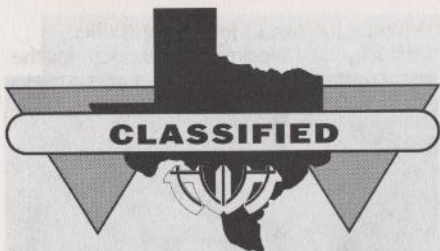

Miss Gay Dallas USofA is scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 17 at the all-new Ice Factory and is the final preliminary to Miss Gay Texas USofA, to be held at Rich's in Houston Aug. 21-25. For information, call (214) 942-4440....

Miss Texas Continental will be held at The Saint in San Antonio on Friday, Aug. 16. Reigning national titleholder Lady Catiria will be on hand, along with a host of special guests and formers. For information, contact the club at (210)225-7330....

This Sunday at 10 p.m., Inergy presents Miss Houston Newcomer. Special guests include Kelly Lauren, Vanessa Raye, Nancy Taylor, Celeste DelToro and emcee Lady Shamu....

Next Saturday, Aug. 10, EJ's and JAM Productions host the Miss Bayou City USofA pageant featuring last year's winner Leah Halston. The ceremonies begin at 10:30 p.m....

Lindsay Love has announced that the Miss Houston for Female Impersonators pageant will be Thursday, Aug. 15 at Heaven. Highlight performances will be provided by last year's winner and Miss Gay Texas Lauren Taylor, Donna Day and many more.

LICENSED MASSEURS

STATE CERTIFICATION POLICY

Texas law clearly requires that only bona fide, state-certified masseurs can be listed in this category. Therefore, TWT policy requires that all masseurs must publish their state-certification number within their advertisements and that a photocopy of their state masseur's license be on file at TWT.

TWT POLICY

Because prostitution is illegal in Texas, state law prohibits the placement in this category of any such ads. Therefore, TWT policy stipulates that we will not and cannot knowingly accept any advertisements suggesting solicitation. It's the law. Also, state law prohibits nonlicensed massage therapists from using terms such as "massage," "Swedish," "acupressure," "Shiatsu," "reflexology," "body rub," "back rub," "body massage" or any term which indicates bodily contact.

Ron Bordon
Oct. 30, 1957 – July 9, 1996
Ron left us all for a far better place on July 9, 1996 after a courageous battle with cancer. He lived in Shreveport, Louisiana 13 years prior to moving to Dallas five years ago. He was an active member in the L.A.M.B.D.A. Bowling League. He is survived by his lifemate, Micheal Davis of Dallas; his mother, Verma Desoto; his father, Gerald Bordon; his brother, Eldon Bordon and his wife; and brother, Terrel Bordon, all of Marksville, Louisiana.

Christopher Scott Morrison
Christopher Scott Morrison of Dallas, born in Fort Worth May 31, 1973, passed away July 10, 1996. Chris passed from this world suddenly and unexpectedly, leaving behind his parents, Carol and Barry; grandparents, Burnell and Buck Morrison; sister, Michelle; and niece; all of Fort Worth; and his extended family, Terry, JT, Keith, Zak, Amanda and Erin, and many co-workers at Crews Inn and Zippers. Special thanks to the Jan Barton AIDS Assistance Fund.

Farewell, Chris
We love and miss you
From your friends
at Zipper and Crews Inn

Do not stand at my grave and weep. I am not there;
I do not sleep.
I am a thousand winds that blow. I am the diamond glints on snow.
I am the sunlight on ripened grain. I am the gentle autumn's rain.
When you awaken in the morning's hush, I am the swift, uplifting rush of quiet birds in circled flight.
I am the soft star that shines at night.
Do not stand at my grave and cry. I am not there;
I did not die.

Chris J. Mills
Chris passed away April 1, 1996 in Corpus Christi. His death was due to AIDS. He was a member of Christ's Temple Metropolitan Community Church of Corpus Christi. He was also a member of Coastal Bend AIDS Foundation.

He was loved by all who knew him; within 24 hours of his death, over 100 friends and family attended his funeral service. He is survived by his spouse of 11½ years, Mark Moorhead, and our dog Brandy, and his family from Corpus Christi, San Antonio and Rock Port, Texas.

R.I.P. my love, I will never love again as I loved you. I miss you so, but I know that you are now away from pain, so rest, my love, for one day we will be as one again!

Philip Edward Albright
March 5, 1965 –
June 16, 1996

When the sadness of life tries to make you blue
Let my love, like an umbrella
Shelter you.

For those of us here,
you left far too soon,
For those there, they've been waiting far too long.

Fly, fly little wing
Fly where only angels sing
Fly away, the time is right
Go now, find the light.

We miss you, Phillip. You left our hearts fuller than before.

Fred Rodgers Jr.
AKA Alexis Devereaux [above]
Dec. 31, 1958 – July 4, 1996

Fred Rodgers Jr., 37, of Fort Smith, Arkansas, died in a Fort Smith hospital. He was the manager of County Seat Clothing Store and a member of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church; Fort Smith Fights AIDS; Dignity Foundation; Regional AIDS Interfaith Network of Arkansas; the Texas Human Rights Foundation; Mystic Krewe of Apollo in Shreveport, Louisiana; a former manager of Palais Royal in Shreveport; and owner/manager of Country Cookin' at the Barn in Longview, Texas.

Funeral service was July 8 at St. Bartholomew's Church, with burial at Woodlawn Memorial Park Mausoleum.

He is survived by his companion of 11 years, Ron Willett of Fort Smith, Arkansas; his parents, Fred and Carolyn Rodgers of Shreveport, Louisiana; his grandfather, Julius Guion; a sister, Deborah Griffin; a niece, Jessica Griffin; a nephew, Jason Griffin; of Nashville, Tennessee.

Memorial contributions may be made to St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church; 2701 Old Greenwood Rd; Fort Smith, AR 72903, or Fort Smith Fights AIDS; P.O. Box 10014; Fort Smith, AR 72902.

Until we're together again,
Ron

Jay Reaume
Jay Reaume, born Feb. 3, 1953 in Windsor, Canada, died July 25, 1996 in Houston. Survived by parents, two brothers and many friends. He moved to Houston in 1985, where he worked at various times at the Atrium, QT's, Midtowne Spa, Pegasus, Charlie's and Chutes.
