REVIEWED BY STEVEN LINDSEY

You've heard the music. You've endured the hype. You've sneered at friends gloating about their orchestra-level tickets for opening night. Yet the question remains: Will Rent live up to the enormous expectations that have been raised? If it's exciting choreography, heart-pounding music and phenomenal singing you're hoping for, then the answer is most definitely yes. If it's a consistent, well-told story that's got you ready to speed-dial TicketMaster, then you might want to weigh the pros and cons. In fact, forget the cons for now. The truth is, despite its minor flaws in pacing and characterization, Rent is utterly brilliant enough in other ways to make for an exhilarating theatrical experience.

Almost exactly two years (that's 1,051,200 minutes in Rent-speak) since its world premiere in New York, the most talked-about musical in recent memory has made it to Texas. Based on La Bohème, Rent chronicles the heartaches, joy, heartaches, challenges, heartaches (catching on?) and other significant moments in the lives of an eclectic group of struggling young East Villagers. Their lives are elaborately intermingled through common ex-lovers, addictions, diseases, accommodations and friends. Each character has his or her own story to tell, yet the common threads among them are love and survival for a cohesive, yet somewhat muddled plot.

Written by the late Jonathan Larson, Rent wants to be a character-driven rock opera, but more realistically it's a music-

One standout is Andy Señor as the transvestite Angel Schunard. Of course, with one of the most fun roles in the show, how can he not shine? But not to belittle his performance with such an observation, as Señor adds his own nuances to lend some originality to the often-depicted (and, most usually, overacted) eccentric drag queen. Her exuberant rendition of "Today 4 U" is most definitely the first song in the show that gets your adrenaline rushing in the realization that more great songs are to follow.

Rosie Perez look-alike Julia Santana portrays Mimi Marquez, a feisty drug addict who manages to transcend several stereotypes and become one of the few characters you really care about. "Light My Candle," her duet with Roger (Christian Mena), is a hauntingly beautiful number that rivals "Seasons of Love" as one of the noteworthy songs in Rent. It lacks the catchy melody of "Seasons," but perhaps that's to its advantage.

My favorite performance of the night, however, belonged to Leigh Hetherington as Maureen, the ex-lover of narrator Mark (Kirk McDonald) and current lover of JoAnne (Kenna Ramsey). She brings much-needed levity and laughter to a storyline that often becomes overwrought in its own glum take on reality. Her song "Over the Moon" is the kind of completely hilarious and energetic number that such a vibrant actress deserves. It successfully mocks the absurdity of some performance art without becoming a parody of itself in the process.

In fact, my other favorite song doesn't include Maureen, but most definitely revolves around her. Performed by Mark and JoAnne, "Tango: Maureen" makes clever use of the awkwardness of meeting the new flame of a former love, further complicated by the addition of lesbianism to the equation. Like "Over the Moon," "Tango" injects laughter at just the right moment.

Overall, Rent should be applauded for changing the face of Broadway musicals. With its contemporary, industrial look and purposefully dark and rugged dialogue, it doesn't make your trip to the theatre an escape from reality so much as a fresh way of looking at the drama in all of our daily lives and the outlook needed to overcome our obstacles. Balancing humor and pop culture references aplenty with traumatic circumstances, Rent comes very close to evoking an emotional catharsis of sorts. But even if it doesn't touch you quite that deeply, there's no doubt that you'll leave with a song or two to keep you humming the entire way home.

Rent runs now through March 1 at Dallas' Majestic Theatre, 1925 Elm St., Tuesdays through Sundays. Rent will run at Houston's Jones Hall March 4-15. Tickets range from $30-$55, with $20 up-close-and-personal seats available 90 minutes before each show. For more information, contact TicketMaster at (214)373-800 in Dallas and (713)629-3700 in Houston, or visit TicketMaster Online at www.ticketmaster.com.

What better way to kick off the Valentine's weekend than to run out to your favorite record rack and grab a copy of "Who Wants to Be Your Lover," the newest single by Texas' favorite pre-op gender-bender and "transvestigator," Jimmy James. Those of us who've followed the career of this exceptionally talented San Antonio native over the years have been privy to the fact that he has always had a unique way of reinventing himself from one season to the next. We've found ourselves flocking to various establishments of revelry where we're certain that we'll reel with delight as he/she/it amazes us with an ever-fabulous array of impersonations, coupled with a dose of hilarious on-stage antics. James' show is one you can see over and over again and never get tired of, like watching a rerun of I Love Lucy: it just gets better every time and you always find something new to laugh about.

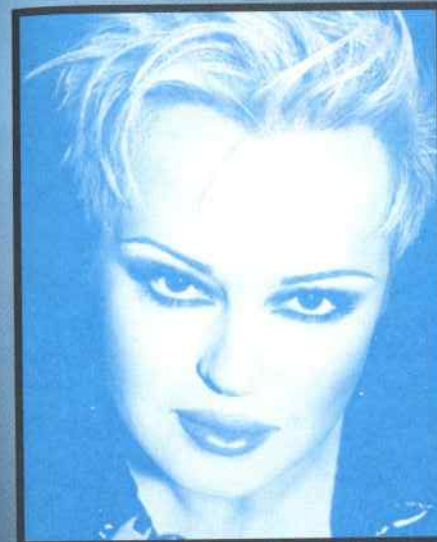

With so much on-stage persona and vocal chords that simply won't stop, it's no wonder Jimmy's new incarnation just happens to be himself. After spending ten years touring the world's finest dance clubs with his show, Jimmy has become a club ingénue of sorts, acquiring a sixth sense when it comes to the type of dance music he has chosen to write and perform. "Who Wants to Be Your Lover" is a certified club/radio-ready hit. In a time when dance music is in desperate need of true artists who can actually get on-stage and entertain an audience, rather than "sample-fests" of pots and pans rattling together in not-so-perfect harmony, Miss James delivers a true breath of fresh air to the dance floor. We had the extreme pleasure of spending a bit of time with Jimmy recently.

Jimmy Smith: How does one go from "drag-a-go-go" to making a record with such acclaimed producers as the Berman Brothers in one quick sweep?

Jimmy James: Well, actually, I want to make it clear that I haven't given up drag. But I have shifted my energy from being Marilyn Monroe all the time in order to further develop the other characters that I enjoy to the same degree. And one of those characters is the real me. I have always made a point to keep a song or two in my show that I sing in my own voice because, after all, it's always been in the back of my mind that I would someday make my own records.

But right off the bat with the Berman Brothers? I mean, we're talking about some heavy hitters here. These are guys who've made artists like Real McCoy and Amber famous.

Well, it didn't actually happen overnight. I've been living in New York City for four years, learning how to make this happen. And it helps when you blow the right people! [Laughing] No, really, I made several demo tapes, spent the past few years working to prove myself as a serious vocalist and artist, not merely someone who does impressions. So a couple of years ago, while I was performing on one of the RSVP cruises, a gentleman in the record business told me that he could introduce me to an influential exec at Warner Chappell Publishing, who in turn believed in me and decided to hook me up with the Bermans. And you know, several people during this process wanted to toy with the idea of me recording in my other voices, but the Bermans like my real voice and we were able to work well together. But in the video you have some of your characters featured?

I thought, for this first record, that the video should have my other characters because I didn't want to ignore my past as a female impersonator and I wanted it to have sort of an homage to gay culture. So the video has me as Marilyn, Bette Davis, Patsy Cline, Beverly the Slut (my drag persona), a disco diva, my androgynous look and

FRESH BEATS

BY

more. I'm fine with being in or out of drag; I like it all. Make no mistake, girl, I wanted a full-blown gay dance video! But the bottom line is that, in order to be a serious recording artist, I just had to sing in my own voice. The video is already charting in CVC, which keeps track of video play in clubs.

You've kept out of the touring circuit for a while....

I did that on purpose because I had to concentrate on my music. And realistically I could have pursued a lucrative career in Vegas or something, but I just wanted to try to break out and take this gamble or I would have never known if I could. I've made a lot of sacrifices, one of them being that I don't get to spend enough time in Texas with my family and close friends.

So what's coming after this single? Is there an album in the works?

Absolutely. I'm in the process of writing a lot of material, in addition to collaborating with some other writers at Warner. In fact, one of the songs that I've written really blew them away and it's looking like it might shape up nicely to be the follow-up single. And I hope my next video makes me look like a total slut! [Laughing]

What was it like to hear your record in the club for the first time?

Orgasm! And, oddly enough, I was at home in San Antonio when it happened. It was the best Christmas present. My friends screamed, I screamed and we got drunk...just like good ol' boys...good ol' gay boys!

Houston celebrates opening of new
Pedro Almodóvar
film with four-week retrospective
by Sidney Grimthorpe

Live Flesh, the latest work from Spanish filmmaker Pedro Almodóvar, opens this evening in Houston and elsewhere, and to highlight the premiere locally, Landmark Theatres in Houston is staging a midnight film festival over the next four weekends that will give audiences a chance to enjoy some of the director's earlier hits as well.

For those not familiar with Almodóvar's movies, he's the man behind such cult classics as Women On the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown and Tie Me Up! Tie Me Down! A native of rural Spain, Almodóvar moved to the capital city of Madrid at the age of 16 to study filmmaking. He soon found out, however, that the dictator Francisco Franco had closed the only film school. Almodóvar then worked as an administrative assistant for 12 years, and it is that period that he now credits with having given him his keen insight into the kinds of extreme melodrama characteristic of his films.

Almodóvar first caught the attention of the world with his debut feature film, Pepi, Luci, Bom and the Other Girls (1980), but really found critical and cult status with 1982's Labyrinth of Passions. It starred the then-unknown Antonio Banderas, who later worked quite extensively with the filmmaker. In fact, in Law of Desire (1987) we get a glimpse of the young Banderas being buggered, and it's as truly lovely as you might think. It has often been said that without Almodóvar, Banderas would never have gotten his big break in Hollywood.

Almodóvar's wicked sense of humor and ability to create such tragic and comical characters with amazing integrity make seeing one of his films a wonderful cinematic event. Perhaps his most famous movie to date is Women on the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown (1987), the unbelievably hysterical story of a woman who's experiencing a run of very bad luck — she can't even manage to kill herself. The film piles ludicrous situation upon ludicrous situation all the way up to the way-over-the-top finale. It's truly a masterpiece of modern filmmaking and a definite must-see. Almodóvar's most controversial film, Tie Me Up! Tie Me Down!, is the story of a mental patient (Banderas again) who kidnaps and abuses a young porn actress (the very beautiful Victoria Abril) who's decided to go straight by appearing in an art horror flick. Violent and sexy, Tie Me Up! drew fire for its casual treatment of some very serious women's issues, but became another instant classic. High Heels combines performances by drag queens, production numbers with incarcerated lesbians and murder, while Kika dissects the connection between trash TV and real life in a satirical and disturbing manner. The common thread running through Almodóvar's work is a surreal, darkly humorous vision that never fails to shock and entertain.

The midnight Almodóvar film festival starts this Saturday, Feb. 14, with Tie Me Up! Tie Me Down!, which repeats on Feb. 21. Women on the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown plays Feb. 21 and Feb. 28.

Kika screens on Feb. 28 and again March 7, and the festival ends with High Heels, which plays once, on March 7. Landmark has special events and giveaways to coincide with each film; free chocolate hearts and licorice whips will be given away on Feb. 14, while fans can enter a "Nervous Breakdown Contest" on Feb. 21. A Kika Fashion Show will be held Feb. 28, and the wearer of the wackiest pair of high heels on March 7 wins two movie passes.

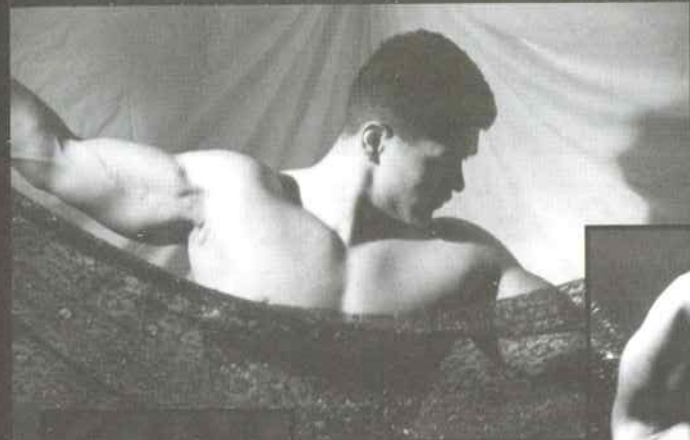

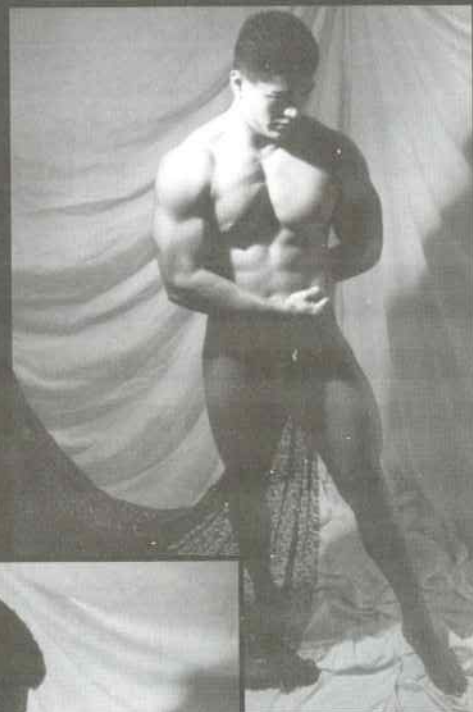

Live Flesh, opens this evening (Friday, Feb. 13) at the Greenway 3 and will play during the film festival. Patrons who bring their Live Flesh ticket stubs to the River Oaks Theatre will receive two-for-one entry to any Almodóvar midnight film. For more information, call Landmark at (713) 626-0402. [For a review of Live Flesh, see page 65 of this issue.]

SATURDAYS AT MIDNIGHT

Friday and Saturday, Feb. 20 and 21, at 8 p.m., Jump-Start Performance Co. in San Antonio presents "Short Sparks," a series of performances of emerging works by new and established artists selected by a panel of community judges. Artists are Darrell Pittman, Ronald Moore, Alicia Fernandez, Elijah Rios and Luisa Inez Newton. Pieces include Wagging Tongues, a jazz-based poetry performance group featuring poets and musicians Pittman and Don Stewart, Ikeena and James Cobb; Moore's Love and Other Disasters, a trio of short mixed-media plays dealing with love and separation set against a political background; Fernandez's Mesa, a short play that chronicles a family's attempts to cope with serious illness; Rios' Max the Monster, a solo performance using video and live music; and Newton's Eve Unbound, a musical/poetry performance featuring works-in-progress from a forthcoming CD. Admission is $10/general and $8/students and seniors. All shows are at the Jump-Start Theater, 108 Blue Star, Building B in the Blue Star Arts Complex, S. Alamo and Probandt.

Feb. 26–March 8, Houston Ballet spotlights three contemporary choreographers when the company performs a mixed repertory of works charged with youthful energy and sexiness. Performances will open with the joyous Second Before the Ground by Houston Ballet Choreographic Associate Trey McIntyre, one of the rising young stars on the American dance scene today. The centerpiece will be the beautifully inventive Musings, set to music by Mozart and staged by James Kudelka, who has been hailed by The New York Times as "not only Canada's premiere ballet choreographer but also one of the best in the world today." Rounding out the evening will Houston Ballet Associate Choreographer Christopher Bruce's smash hit Rooster, set to eight classic tracks by The Rolling Stones. Bruce, the director of Britain's oldest professional dance troupe, the Rambert Dance Company, has been affiliated with Houston Ballet since 1989. Performances are at the Brown Theater in the Wortham Theater Center at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 26 and 28 and March 6 and 7, and at 2 p.m. March 1 and 8. which will use a special interactive format designed to introduce younger audiences to the world of classical music and opera in informal, unconventional settings. The Feb. 14 show benefits AIDS Foundation Houston through the auction of a throne specially designed by nationally-known decorator Kelly G. Amen and John Smith, who has worked in collaboration with Ben Stevenson for the Houston Ballet. The contemporary throne is the actual prop and an integral part of the production. Both performances are at 7 p.m. Tickets ($15) are available through Ticketmaster at (800)766-6048, OrchestraX at (713)225-ORCX and Cafe Artiste at (713) 528-3704.

BY C. LICHTENSTEIN

FEBRUARY 13 - FEBRUARY 19
SEAL - FEBRUARY 19, 1963

It's time to change gears, friends, as the Sun moves from practical Aqueerius to romantic Pisces. Where are you headed? Scrutinize your atlas and go where your heart leads you; next month at this time Saturn pins your life's goals on a dissecting tray and examines 'em down to their toenails. Make sure that they're clean.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) The question is whether life makes sense...and dollars. With the Sun in Pisces, you now must begin to mesh your personal values with your pursuit of happiness. Believe it or not, sometimes these two things are not in harmony. Money cannot buy love and affirmation, although it can buy tawdry tricks and expensive champagne. Ah, but will you respect you in the morning?

PISCES (Feb. 20 - March 20) The Sun in your own sign signifies new beginnings, new folks and a new proud you. Pink Fish are advised to improve themselves internally and externally during this happy birthday period. It's high time for a change, commencing with your appearance. Yes, it is possible to improve on perfection, sweetheart; those wedgies should be shelved.

ARIES (March 21 - April 20) Your imagination is on fire; will you fall into it or carefully walk on the hot coals? Don't blame the Sun in moody Pisces for your wild and woolly dreams, proud Ram. The fact of the matter is that sometimes your brain is like a roach motel — thoughts get in but they can't get out. Keep your conspiracy theories to yourself until the Sun moves on. Then laugh about 'em.

TAURUS (April 21 - May 21) Cocky queer Bulls seem to say all the right things when the Sun enters Pisces. The planets heat up your power of persuasion, so why not use this considerable advantage for something that'll have more of an impact than water-cooler talk. Isn't it about time you joined the rainbow fight? Write a manifesto and, with the help of aggressive Mars, push it into the public conscience.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) The combination of the glorious Sun in Pisces coupled with the oomph of Mars puts a twinkle in your corporate star. Gay Twins should use this planetary political push to solidify their professional stock and make bona fide advances in their longterm goals. If not, you may find yourself sorting the mail for yet another asshole in pinstripes. How many sugars in that coffee?

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) The impossible seems possible with the Sun in optimistic and intuitive Pisces. Pink Crabs sometimes have a fear of open spaces, preferring to camp in the safety and security of their hard shells. There's nothing wrong with camp, darling, but it's far better to camp out in the wide open spaces of the far-reaching world; campfires tend to make a house too smokey.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) Are you usually all roar and no action? Not now, when feisty Sun enters romantic Pisces. Proud Lions demonstrate why they're called the royals of the jungle. Strut your considerable stuff and drink deeply from the well to satisfy your thirst. The Sun excites the luck of Jupiter and the fervor of Mars to create a no-holds-barred sexual spurt. Just don't spurt it all at once.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) Even Cinderella had a date for the big ball, so why shouldn't you? Gay Virgins are in for a treat when the Sun moves into Pisces. Relationships heat up, a development which can mean you'll recharge or revamp current partnerships, or find a completely new face to wake up to each morning. The secret is to know who you're looking for. If it's Jerry Falwell, take a break and try again.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) The moral of the story is, never put off until tomorrow what you can snap your fingers and do today. When the Sun shifts from detailed Aqueer-ius to foggy Pisces, the temptation may be to defer all unpleasant tasks until some time in the distant future. Bad idea, proud Libra; these miserable things have a tendency to pile up quickly, and will bury you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) The Sun in dreamy Pisces infuses hard-edged gay Scorps with a sense of the dramatic, artistic sublime. Use this expansive creativity to do what needs to be done. Whether that means settling a few scores to even up the playing field or gathering in disparate groups to reach an accord, you have the unique combination of intense Scorp practicality and soft Piscean humanity. Go for it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) You are the holder of a dream deferred and can't wait any longer. The powerful Sun in Pisces creates all sorts of personal rumblings in otherwise sedate pink Archers. You may not want to get caught dead in the place where you've always dreamed or prayed you would be at this point in your life. Revise and review, cousin; come clean with yourself and your family.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) When there's nothing left to say on a subject, lavender Caps will now manage to say one more thing. Thankfully, with the splendid Sun in mystical Pisces, everything you say is a gem. In fact, this watery energy gives you a certain spirituality and holiness which attracts fanatical followers. Use your power of communication for goodness and not for selling the Christian Coalition.

AUSTIN GAY CAUCUS ISSUES CANDIDATE ENDORSEMENTS FOR MARCH 10 PRIMARIES

Mattox Wins ALGPC's Support
In Run for Attorney General,
Baird for Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

AUSTIN — In the runup to the March 10 party primaries, the Austin Lesbian/Gay Political Caucus last week voted on endorsements for the March 10 Democratic primary elections. No Republicans were endorsed, though several appeared before the Caucus's candidate forum and endorsement meeting, held Feb. 4.

Winning ALGPC's support were Jim Mattox for Texas Attorney General; Charles Baird for Texas Court of Criminal Appeals; David Van Os for Texas Supreme Court; Glen Maxey for the state House of Representatives, District 51; Suzanne Covington for 201st District Court; Lora Livingston for 261st District Court; Guy Herman for Travis County Probate Court; Janet Stockard for County Court at Law #5; Jade Meeker for County Court at Law #6; Amalia Rodriguez-Mendoza for District Clerk; Gisella Triana for Justice of the Peace, Precinct 5; and Darwin McKee, Karen Sonleitner, Ann Graham and Margaret Gomez for Travis County Commissioner precincts one, two, three and four, respectively.

Charles Baird was endorsed by ALGPC for the Court of Criminal Appeals.

A dual endorsement was issued in the race for Judge of Travis County Commissioner's Court, with both Sam Biscoe and Valerie Bristol winning the group's support.

A vote of 60 percent of those members casting ballots in a particular race was required for an endorsement of a candidate. In races in which the 60 percent figure was not attained, no endorsement was issued.

Allan Baker, Co-Chair of ALGPC, announced that the group had set a goal through its "Precinct Project" of having a resolution in support of ending discrimination in employment on the basis of sexual orientation introduced at every precinct caucus in Travis County on the evening of the March 10 party primaries. The resolution in question calls on the Texas Legislature and the U.S. Congress "to be wise and vigilant to insure that this State and Nation remain competitive in the global economy and faithful to the inalienable rights of its citizens by passage of the Texas Employment Non-Discrimination Act and the Federal Employment Non-Discrimination Act."

For more information, contact the Austin Lesbian/Gay Political Caucus at (512) 474-0750.

HOUSTON GAY REPUBLICAN GROUP ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Van Ooteghem Returns to Presidency of Log Cabin and Coleman Is Elected Vice President.

HOUSTON — Longtime community activist Gary Van Ooteghem was elected president of Log Cabin Republicans-Houston at the group's Jan. 25 meeting, which also saw the election of a new Vice President, Treasurer and Secretary. Van Ooteghem pledged to take the organization back to the top ranks of Log Cabin chapters around the country.

Log Cabin works to change the attitudes and perceptions about gays and lesbians in the Republican Party.

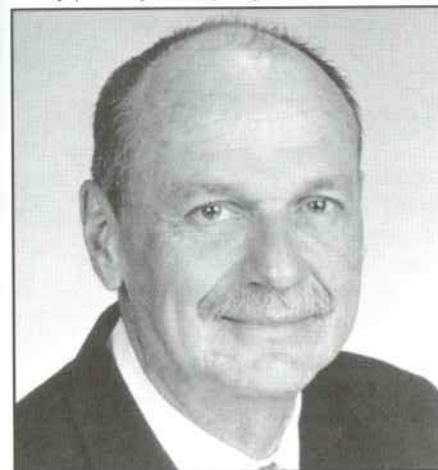

Van Ooteghem served as the organization's president from 1995 to 1997. During his first term, LCR-H grew rapidly and became the second-largest local chapter in the nation.

Van Ooteghem has been an outspoken advocate for gay and lesbian rights since the mid-'70s. He was instrumental in organizing the famous march downtown in protest against Anita Bryant's anti-gay activities.

"Fortunately, the gay community is about to rise back out of that post-defeat syndrome we have been in for a dozen years, since the 1985 referendum defeat," Van Ooteghem said after his election. "Annie Parker's recent election to Houston City Council has given us the kick in the pants that we all needed...."

"I intend to lead this club back into second place within the Log Cabin Republican network by year's end."

Van Ooteghem said Log Cabin Houston had developed a lot of experience and would be putting it to work in areas like the group's Precinct Initiative, which will work to elect gay and gay-friendly precinct judges in the Harris County Republican Party primary this spring.

Van Ooteghem's current involvement in the gay and lesbian community includes a seat on the Ryan White Planning Council, which disburses more than $12 million in federal funds to local AIDS organizations. He also holds a board of directors position with the Houston Area Teen Coalition of Homosexuals [H.A.T.C.H.], and is chair of the newly formed H.A.T.C.H. Scholarship Committee. Van Ooteghem is spearheading the group's efforts to raise more than a million dollars for that scholarship endowment fund.

In addition to Van Ooteghem, Log Cabin elected Marion E. Coleman to the position of Vice President. Coleman has been on the forefront of gay and lesbian issues for more than three decades. She has served on the board of nearly every gay group in Houston, and in most cases was a founding member. Like Van Ooteghem, Coleman has been a strong supporter of gay and lesbian issues. In addition to her activities with Log Cabin Republicans-Houston, she sits on the boards of Body Positive Houston, the Greater Houston Gay and Lesbian Chamber of Commerce, Songfest and the Diana Foundation.

Other officers elected at the Jan. 25 meeting were Ed Inderwish as Treasurer and Gibson Bush as Secretary.

For more information, call Log Cabin at (713)529-9100.

AGENCIES WIN GRANTS FROM HOLLYFIELD IN HOUSTON

Local Foundation Supports 15 Organizations That Work for Equal Rights for Gays, Assist Those with AIDS.

HOUSTON — Fifteen local and statewide organizations have started 1998 off with a financial boost thanks to the Houston-based Hollyfield Foundation, which handed out its annual grants at a reception last Friday. The 15 charities were chosen for their outstanding contributions to equal rights for gay and lesbian people and to the fight against AIDS.

Recipients, who shared in a grand total of $48,000, included the AIDS Housing Coalition Houston, which will use its grant to support its TLC House Emergency Shelter program; An Uncommon Legacy Foundation, Inc., to support the 1998 silent auction and fund-raising brunch; Assist-Hers, to support general operating expenses; the Center for AIDS, to support the organization's 1998 Community Forum

Series; DiverseWorks Artspace, to support five gay and lesbian art programs; the HIV Wellness Center of Austin, to support the agency's Personal Training Program; and the Houston Area Teen Coalition of Homosexuals, to assist with the Executive Director's salary.

Sarah Gish [l], Houston City Manager for Landmark Theatres, and Travis Mader [c], a member of the Artist Advisory Board of DiverseWorks, accepted grant for the Houston Gay & Lesbian Film Festival from Mark Wood, a member of the board of directors of Hollyfield Foundation.

Also receiving grants were the Houston Black Tie Dinner, Inc., whose award will go to support of local charitable organizations; Milam House, a project of AIDS Housing Houston, Inc., to support the Lewis Eating Well HIV/AIDS Nutrition Education Program; the Montrose Clinic collaborative with the Montrose Counseling Center, to support the Lesbian Health Project; Out Youth Austin, to assist with the Austin Community Gay & Lesbian Library; the Southwest Alternate Media Project, to support the 1998 Houston Gay & Lesbian Film Festival; Steven's House, to assist with renovation expenses; the Texas Human Rights Foundation, to support the THRIF Hotline; and the Texas Lesbian Conference, Inc., in support of the 11th Annual Texas Lesbian Conference, to be held later this year.

The Hollyfield Foundation was founded in fulfillment of a wish by the late Houston businessman and philanthropist Jay Hollyfield, with the mission of providing funding to those organizations that advance the causes of gay people and of those with HIV. Nonprofit 501(c)(3) organizations with projects that meet such goals may submit grant requests during the annual funding cycle. For more information, contact Alan P. Cranfill, Executive Director, by mail at P.O. Box 66722, Houston, TX 77266; by phone at (713)523-6900; or by fax at (713)520-6300.

Mesmerizing, Erotic and Beautifully Tragic,
Live Flesh Will Win
Many New Fans for
Pedro Almodóvar

Yes, boys and girl's, it's me. Betcha didn't expect to see me back at the movies so soon, but here I am, and I'm happy to report that it's safe once again. The occasion is the premiere of Pedro Almodóvar's latest, Live Flesh, which opens at the Landmark Greenway Theatre in Houston and elsewhere today (Feb. 13). Spanish writer and director Almodóvar, creator of such critically acclaimed films as Tie Me Up! Tie Me Down! and Women on the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown, has done it again in this sensual thriller.

Victor has had a lot of history to overcome. Born of a prostitute in a Madrid bus on the way to the hospital on New Year's Eve in 1970, Victor's only lasting heritage is a lifetime bus pass bestowed upon him and his mother by the transit authority. Still, that's more than some people start out with, and Victor is determined to make the best of it, but a funny thing happens. Actually, several funny things, and they're mostly not that funny. He hooks up with Elena, the messed-up, drugged-out daughter of a retired Italian diplomat, and has his first sexual experience with her in a nightclub. After a not too successful (at least from Elena's viewpoint) quickie, Victor makes a date to see her later, expecting more of the same. When he shows up at her apartment the following week, she doesn't remember at first, then, when she does, she reneges. Victor, quite naturally, takes this personally, and forces the issue.

The events that follow involve David, Sancho and Sancho's wife, Clara. David and Sancho are cops, partners called to the scene of the disturbance. I can't give you any more details, but what happens next connects these five people in a seemingly endless variety of fascinating ways, leading to a conclusion as inevitable as it is tragic.

This sort of story is Almodóvar's stock in trade. As he unwinds the tale, Byzantine in its intricacies and plot twists, the game becomes not so much what will happen next, but why it will happen. He has a way of involving the audience that is mesmerizing.

The look and sound of Almodóvar's films can render the images almost tactile. Drawing on the heritage of a country that has given us Goya and Velázquez, he saturates the screen with color, never garish, but deep and rich. The soundtrack is the same. In Spanish, with clearly legible subtitles, the actors speak with that dark, sexy Castilian lisp, so that even if you don't understand Spanish, the meaning is there. And how is it there! The background music, a kind of Catalan Country, underscores the action, strengthening the motivation.

The cast is international and first-rate. Javier Bardem (David) is the top Spanish male actor of his generation, having won virtually every award Spain has to offer, including the "Goya," the Spanish equivalent of the Oscar. Francesca Neri (Elena) has done the same in her native Italy. Liberto Rabal (Victor) is the third generation of his family to act, and played his first role when he was ten years old. Angela Molina (Clara) has worked all over Europe, most notably in France, Spain, Italy and Germany, while José Sancho (Sancho) has done extensive work in Spanish television.

Anyway, those are their credits, and they are impressive. Almodóvar works with only the best. Another hallmark of his is that he works with a number of extraordinarily beautiful men and women (Antonio Banderas comes to mind), and Live Flesh is no exception. Square inch for square inch, you'll see some of the most gorgeous skin on film, and plenty of it. Director of photography Affonso Beato captures these creatures with a camera that caresses, lingers, almost touches, creating some of the most breathtaking love scenes seen recently. And I'd like to emphasize the word "seen." And what shows, shows. There's no grainy soft-focus, no sporadic cutting to mar the scenes. When Victor gives us the full monty, it's not shot through a dirty Coke bottle. Everything flows, folds and then folds back. It's clear that the director and his cinematographer consider the act of making love beautiful, and they make no apology for it. Perhaps it's part of the Spanish temperament, but whatever the reason, I'm all for it.

So if you're already an Almodóvar fan, (and as you can probably tell, I am), this is a must-see. If you're not, this should make you one. And if you've never seen one of his films, it's a taste worth acquiring. Check out the video store for more titles. You won't regret it.

[To mark the opening of Live Flesh in Houston, Landmark Theatres presents a midnight film festival of some of Pedro Almodóvar's previous works over the next four weekends. For more information on the festival, which is being held at the Landmark River Oaks Theatre, see page 25 of this issue or call (713)524-2175.

TWT wishes to thank Sarah Gish, Houston City Manager of Landmark Theatres, for her assistance in the preparation of this review and the Almodóvar film festival schedule on page 25. —Editor]

LICENSED MASSEURS

STATE CERTIFICATION POLICY

Texas law clearly requires that only bona fide, state-certified masseurs can be listed in this category. Therefore, TWT policy requires that all masseurs must publish their state-certification number within their advertisements and that a photocopy of their state masseur's license be on file at TWT.

OBITUARIES

"Derf" Frederick Sickels

"Derf" Frederick Sickels, 57, passed away Dec. 30, 1997.
He was an angel all the time he was with us. He worked as a bartender at several Dallas bars. He was a great chef, and could sew and make beautiful clothes. His Mother "Granny" lived with him during her later years. He dressed her beautifully. She liked to go out and be with his friends. He was liked by all who knew him, and he had many friends. It was a privilege to know him. So for now, Dear One, take care and we will look forward to seeing you again.

Jim and Cliff

Steve Drennan

Oct. 7, 1953 – Dec. 20, 1997

It seems he was forever smiling. I cannot recall a time he was in a foul mood. Steve seemed to always be up, whether the occasion was to serve a customer his favorite cocktail at the Crews Inn, take in a concert or play with a group of friends, or just to be there if someone needed a good hand-holding. I lost touch with Steve after he became quite ill, but I can only blame myself for missing that time with him. His loss to me is still very hard to bear and I know it touched others, as Steve was loved by so many. Past or present friends, I believe anyone who knew Steve would agree his passing is a loss to us all, and leaves a big hole in our community of friends. I would like it if everyone who reads this would take note of the friends around at the moment and raise your glass in a tribute to Steve. As Steve quoted from a Paula Poundstone video quite often, "I never even touched you." Well, those of you who knew him and were there also know why he thought that to be a funny line. However, Steve, I don't think you ever realized just how many of us you did touch, and we all thank you for that.

Rest well, old friend; we'll never forget you.

Richard P. Pinson
(Little Dick)
Nov. 12, 1946 – Feb. 1, 1998

Dick was short in stature but big of heart. His lifestyle was often a struggle for him, but he made his friends, at work and play, his family of choice. You knew when Dick was around because of his laughter. He was willing to lend a helping hand because it made him feel a part of — not apart from.

Little Dick considered Houston his home, especially the Montrose area. He worked hard, and he played hard. Payday was payday! He will be missed by his many friends who he touched in this life.

"Make me a channel of thy peace — that where there is hatred, I may bring love — that where there is wrong, I may bring the spirit of forgiveness — that where there is discord, I may bring harmony — that where there is error, I may bring truth — that where there is despair, I may bring hope — that where there is sadness, I may bring joy. Grant that I may seek rather to comfort than to be comforted — to understand, than to be understood — to love, than to be loved. For it is by self-forgetting that one finds. It is by forgiving that one is forgiven. It is by dying that one awakens to Eternal Life."

A memorial celebration will be held at E.J.'s, 2517 Ralph, on Saturday, Feb. 21, from 2-4 p.m. For more information, call (713)527-9071.

Kenneth Wayne Sims
July 1, 1955 – Jan. 2, 1998

The family and friends of Ken Sims invite everyone to join them in a celebration of his life on Saturday, Feb. 21, beginning at 11 a.m.

Kenneth was born in Lufkin, Texas. He grew up and attended school in Tyler, and lived in Dickinson, Athens, Irving, San Antonio and Dallas. As a young man, he served in the U.S. Navy and traveled extensively. One of Ken's favorite hobbies was photography. With his beloved camera, he captured many beautiful seascapes, landscapes, fields of wild flowers, sunrises and sunsets, which he shared with his friends.

He loved to be center stage, whether playing in the local community theatre, joining in a singalong at his favorite piano bar or telling you a story about his travels to Canada, Mexico or San Francisco. And, if he really liked you, he would entertain you for hours on end with his harmonica!

Whether you met Ken while he was serving you in one of the many convenience stores he managed in Irving or San Antonio, or he was fitting you for a tuxedo in his formal wear shop in Dallas, he was sure to win your heart with his bright smile and inquisitive nature. You could be sure that he would ask you 1,001 questions, so he would remember you the next time you met.

In keeping with Ken's last wishes, his ashes will be sealed in a place where God dwells. We have chosen a niche in the garden at the Episcopal Church of St. Thomas the Apostle. All those who were friends of Kenneth's are invited to join in celebrating the love and joy he shared with everyone.

In lieu of flowers, please make donations to the St. Thomas Outreach Program, the Food Pantry or the AIDS Research Center.

Following the commitment of Ken's ashes, participants will share their favorite photographs, stories about Ken and laughter, which was, after all, Kenneth's only defense as he fought a long and courageous battle against AIDS.

The celebration of Ken's life is Saturday, Feb. 21, at 11 a.m. at Episcopal Church of St. Thomas the Apostle, 6525 Inwood Rd. in Dallas. For more information, call (214)522-7839 or (214)520-1942.

Ramon Harlow 1963 - 1998

On Sunday, Jan. 29, 1998, we all lost the best friend, brother, son and confidant. He died in New Orleans after a mercifully brief illness and was interred in De-Ridder, Louisiana in a service that was held Saturday, Jan. 31. We will never forget him.

Join his friends and family for a celebration of his life this Saturday, Feb. 14, from 4-6 p.m. at the 611 Hyde Park Pub, 611 Hyde Park, to be followed by a balloon release in his honor.
