The Death of an Idol

Part I:

Portrait of a Killer

Hollywood Babylon...

When Rudolph Valentino died in 1926, Hollywood quickly found another Latin Lover to take his place. Mexican-born Ramón Novarro's climb to movie stardom had started out slow. He had been a Valentino's career, cast Novarro in a character actor's part in Prisoner of Zenda. When Ingram signed the dark-eyed young man to the first film version of Ben Hur, Novarro's rise to romantic hero status came rapidly. The film played to packed houses of mostly matronly women across the nation. Suddenly the U.S. Post Office began delivering thousands of letters, some of them simply addressed to "Mr. Ben Hur, Hollywood."

Success followed success. Novarro played the title role in The Student Prince in Old Heidelberg, the silent version of the Sigmund Romberg operetta. With the advent of sound, Novarro, who had longed to be an opera singer rather than a movie idol, was cast as The Pagan and popularized the "Pagan Love Song." MGM, thinking of their property as "sure-fire box office," cast him in other major hits in rapid succession. In Mata Hari, Novarro delivered one of the most famous lines in all of movie history. Said he to leading lady Greta Garbo, "What's the matter, Mata?"

If his climb to stardom had been swift, Novarro's decline came almost as rapidly, for several reasons. Despite flashing white teeth and good looks, Novarro lacked the sculptured, faun-like beauty of Valentino. And with the advent of talkies, his thick accent became a liability. Then, when MGM boss Louis B. Mayer demanded that Novarro marry to squelch rumors he was gay and the star refused to do so, his contract was canceled. But by that time, the actor had become quite wealthy, not only from his salary but from his vast real-estate investments.

Novarro directed a few movies in Spain and spent the World War II years in Mexico. Returning to America and trying hard to recapture former glory, he was given only small parts. When he met his murderers on the night of Oct. 30, 1968, Novarro had not had a major role in almost 30 years and was an overweight, 69-year-old alcoholic has-been.

...and the Other America

One of 12 children born to a poor family in Selma, Alabama, Paul Ferguson had known nothing but soul-grinding hardship throughout his life. His father, an alcoholic, died when the boy was 12 and the youth swept streets to earn quarters for food. At 15 and lying about his age, he joined the Army and served two years before being discharged. From that point, Ferguson's life spiraled downward. By the time he was 22, he had been jailed several times for minor offenses, had been married twice and had hitchhiked around the country trying to make a living as a mechanic, a carnival barker and a ranch hand.

Down-and-out hustler Paul Ferguson (above) and his younger brother Tom went to Novarro's husband hoping to find money, but ended up killing the former actor.

With neither money nor education, what did Ferguson have other than his reasonably good looks and his virility? And where else but Hollywood was the best place to sell it?

But Hollywood was filled with down-and-out hustlers, and things went from very bad to even worse for Ferguson. His equally unemployed 17-year-old brother, Tom, had moved in with Paul and his wife. After prolonged disputes, she moved out. Furthermore, the rent was due and there was no money.

One of Novarro's procurers suggested that Paul drop his pants for a few hours and walk away a few bucks richer. After all, he had sold it many times before. But this time things would prove to be different — Paul took hot-tempered Tom along with him. The brothers had heard that Novarro kept $5,000 in cash hidden in his 32-room palatial mansion in Laurel Canyon.

Novarro welcomed them both into his home and promptly got them drunk with generous amounts of gin. Shortly thereafter, the actor was dead from a prolonged beating that apparently occurred throughout the bloodstained mansion. The slightly-built actor had evidently put up a desperate fight for his life. According to one account, Tom shoved a black Art Deco dildo down the actor's throat to silence his screams for help. The objet d'art, embellished with Rudolph Valentino's signature in silver, had been enshrined in the master bedroom as an affectionate gift from Valentino, with whom Novarro had once had a brief affair.

Dramatic! But that's not what happened. According to the coroner's report, the actor, unconscious from repeated blows to his head, face and shoulders, slowly drowned in blood from the massive bleeding of his fractured nose and lacerations of the lips and mouth.

While Novarro was dying, the Ferguson brothers stole some of the actor's clothes and tossed their own blood-stained garments in an ivy bed just 40 feet from the mansion. Arrested and brought to trial, each one blamed the other. After seven weeks of a sensational, headline-grabbing trial, both were convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to life in prison.

But "life in prison" doesn't mean life in prison, especially if the victim is gay.

Obsession Takes a Sly, Droll Turn in Love and Death on Long Island

I've always thought of obsession as creepy. In an age where some guy just got put away for stalking Steven Spielberg (in hopes of making the director a sex slave in the stalker's "dungeon"), it takes guts to make a comedy about this kind of fixation. All the way back to the Holy Grail of recent cinematic obsessions, Glenn Close and her rabbit stew in Fatal Attraction, the obsessed has been the villain. Look at Jessica Lange in the current release Hush (actually, you'd be better not to). We never identify with the "bad guy." Well, John Hurt (The Elephant Man) is the first sympathetic screen character who just can't let go of his preoccupation.

In Love and Death on Long Island, Hurt, an English widower, develops an unnatural fascination with Jason Priestly. (Euhh! That would be unnatural!) This is a great, rare movie, sort of like another current release, As Good As It Gets. Love and Death on Long Island walks a fine line, and you never quite know if it will turn into a comedy or a drama in the next five minutes.

Giles De'Ath (Hurt) is a dry and removed, semifamous English novelist who still sees radio as a quaint novelty. While shopping for a TV set, he's informed that the model he's checking out is actually a microwave oven. Even though Giles lives in a totally insulated world of routine, one day he gets locked out of his house. To kill time, he goes to see a movie adaptation of one of E.M. Forster's novels. Unfamiliar with the multiplex way of life we now live in, poor Giles ends up seeing something called HotPants College II, a sort of Porky's clone, but even lower down the food chain. Just as he's about to walk out, he sees the face of Ronnie Bostock

REVIEWED BY MARK DEATON

(Priestly) and is instantly smitten. Slowly at first, this interest draws Giles into the '90s. He cabs across London to secretly see the film again, then buys a VCR to watch Ronnie's previous movies, not knowing that a TV will also be required. Giles' naiveté at his own fascination reaches comic heights when he crosses the Atlantic to track Ronnie down on Long Island. We learn how the young man longs for approval beyond his meaningless previous roles, and he eats up the attention the cultured Brit lavishes on him. Granted, Ronnie may not be able to put into a complete sentence just what kind of respect he wants, but he knows Tiger Beat won't be putting him on its covers much longer.

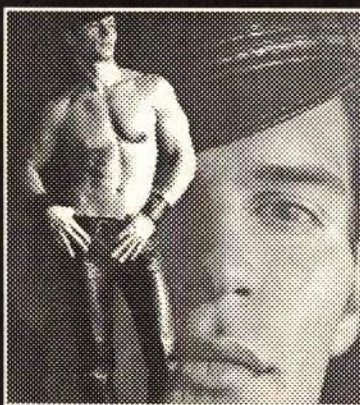

John Hurt does a marvelous job being befuddled by his own behavior. The slow burns, the looks on his face in which you can see the wheels beginning to turn for the first time in years, are exquisite. Jason Priestly does a sly turn that includes a nod to his own past as a teen heartthrob. His performances in Ronnie's various movie roles nail the teen-boink genre down pat. And as Ronnie at home, he maintains just the right level of half-awareness, half-blissful ignorance, so that you can't help but like him. Neither one of these characters is necessarily whole; they need each other to feel complete. Ronnie needs wisdom, while Giles needs beauty.

I have to say that the thing I liked most about this funny movie was that it never tries to downplay the weirdness of Giles' obsession. A lot of times I was quite uncomfortable because I understood how much Ronnie meant to him, how his feelings drove Giles to do things he would never have thought of doing before. From learning how to work the slow-motion feature on his VCR (in order to study Ronnie's face) to masterminding his intrusion into the young actor's life, Giles wakes up to the world around him and begins to participate in it. I suppose that's the power of love: it makes us leave behind our preconceptions and venture out, even if that means joining the last few years of the 20th century.

I wouldn't call Love and Death on Long Island a great film, but it is a fun one; "sly" and "droll" are the adjectives that come to mind. In this era of "event" movies, where Titanic descends into the sea just as Godzilla is getting ready to climb out of it, perhaps bravery is making a small film. To craft a film not meant to be "one-size-fits-all" entertainment, that's pretty courageous.

And now to sound like a total hypocrite. The trailer for Lost in Space makes it look so cool. I can't wait to get suckered into parting with seven bucks (before popcorn) to see if Matt LeBlanc will become the first from Friends to star in a big-screen effort that's not dead on arrival. And speaking of cool, get yourself to Dark City, which boasts the most original vision of any film in a long time. It's a smart, stylish movie that refuses to pander to people who won't stay awake to follow it. With terrific storytelling, just enough of a moral and Kiefer Sutherland overacting in epic quantities, Dark City will tweak every preconception you could bring to it. And it even resurrects Riff-Raff from his Rocky Horror Picture Show grave.

My Oscar predictions: Titanic, Jack Nicholson, Helena Bonham Carter, Burt Reynolds, Kim Basinger (although Joan Cusack deserves it) and, of course, James Cameron. I sure would like to see the pretty boys get a screenplay statuette for Good Will Hunting. We'll see this Monday night just how wrong I can be.

Dance mavens were treated to an early dose of spring weather as thousands joined Winter Party-goers in sunny Miami Beach last week for the Winter Music Conference. The gathering was basically the same as in past years — lots of booze, suntan lotion and party after party all day and night. I have to say that Texas was very well represented this year, in more ways than one. Besides a whole new clan of Texans (most of whom hailed from San Antonio) who found their way to the music mecca, everyone would have been proud to be on hand as Texan Jimmy James was given his formal introduction to the dance community at large at a special SRO event held at the Shadow Lounge on Tuesday. James hit the spotlight in a stunning Versace-esque outfit, only to preface the singing of his new tune "Who Wants to Be Your Lover" with a command performance of his amazingly lifelike vocal impressions. I would definitely say that Jimmy's show was perhaps the biggest buzz item of the entire week — right up there with Ultra Naté and Diana King! Attaguuurll!

One of the big records for the ever-popular Winter Party was the new Fizz record on Glass Note Records. And all the circuit queens are simply a mess over Crystal Gayle's redo of her own 1979 smash "When I Dream" — and there are eight mixes on the CD for you to choose from. The house dream mix and the hardbeat and circuit mixes are sort of clever, but the version to scope out is the drum & bass mix. It is d&b, but not in your face so much that it interferes with the flow of the track's vocals....

Another track on Glass Note to look for is "Adiemus '98" by Luminaire. The remixes by Jamie Myerson are quite impressive and you'll certainly recognize the theme, which has been used in commercials for Delta Air Lines. Glass Note is the new project of industry veteran Daniel Glass....

One of the greatest records out at the moment has to be the new St. Étienne single "Sylvie"... Ouch! This dazzler comes complete with glorious NRG that'll overload your ears, combined with a contem-

Fans of Gisele Jackson need search no longer for her latest thriller. If you were swingin' with "Love Commandments," then you'll surely pop out over her new (sort of) single "Me, Myself and I." It was actually Gisele's first single on Waako Records, but when originally released the record did absolutely nothing. This time out, however, the song has been given a breath of fresh air with a slammin' mix by Stonebridge, who takes the track on a semi-tribal journey with percussion that'll jiggle any queen's beads! That's two down for sister; one more and you might start talking about an album....

And when it comes to stringing a few hits together, look to the good folks at Warner Brothers. If you've heard the Gina G. album, then you've certainly heard the "Ti Amo" track. In its original down-tempo form, the song really doesn't blow anyone out of the water. But if you live for the ultra-commercial-but-still-housey stylings, grab a copy of the dance mixes by Metro for Dreamhouse Studios. This Moran-flavored offering is really blowing up the ol' hoop skirts, ya know?

And that's dance music THIS WEEK IN TEXAS.

Who says the scenery in El Paso isn't stunning? You only have to look as far as this week's very handsome cover man, Salvador Valadez, to see it's true! This 26-year-old Capricorn was born and raised in El Paso, where he currently attends school and works as a lifeguard. For Sal, running is a form of meditation, and he often forms his best ideas while taking a long trip by foot. He also enjoys alternative music, dancing and hanging out with his friends. Speaking of friends, they say Sal is famous for his good heart and sense of humor. As Sal himself says, "So often we're confronted with tragedy, I like to lighten things up by making people laugh." Send in the clowns, indeed!

Casa Mañana in Fort Worth presents the Southwestern premiere of Sister Amnesia's Country Western Nunsense Jamboree through March 29 under the dome at 3101 W. Lancaster. It's time to get back in the habit as those wacky Little Sisters of Hoboken return for the third installment of the Nunsense trinity. Sister Mary Amnesia leads the sisters on a promotional tour for her new country and western album, I Could've Gone to Nashville. The big question is whether she'll be invited to that mecca of C&W. Performances of Nunsense 3-The Jamboree are at 8 p.m. Tuesdays-Saturdays, with matinees at 2 p.m. on Saturday, Sunday and Thursday, March 19. Tickets ($20-$24) are available at TicketMaster outlets or by calling (817)332-CASA. Wife, mistress, best friend, son and daughter hold vigil at the deathbed of a famous public figure (who's off-stage) in All Over, which is being presented by Stages Repertory Theatre in Houston through Sunday, March

Lillian Evans [seated] is The Wife, Sally Edmundson The Daughter and James Huston [the Son] in Edward Albee's All Over.

29. "All Over is about more than this family and their relationships — it's about all of us and how we avoid death and how conversely we avoid living," Stages Artistic Director Rob Bundy says about Edward Albee's experimental domestic drama, which hasn't been produced very often. Performances are Wednesday-Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 3. Tickets ($15-$28) can be purchased at the box office, 3201 Allen Pkwy, or by calling (713)52-STAGES.

Houston's Alley Theatre has extended the run of its production of Long Day's Journey into Night for one more week, with the play now now set to close Sunday, April 5. This production of Eugene O'Neill's play — which is considered to be his masterpiece — stars Academy Award winner Ellen Burstyn as Mary Tyrone and TV/film actor David Selby as her husband James. Additional performances are Tuesday-Thursday, March 31-April 2, at 7:30 p.m.; Friday, April 3, at 8 p.m.; Saturday, April 4, at 8 p.m.; and Saturday and Sunday, April 4 and 5, at 2:30 p.m. Single tickets ($34-$36) are on sale at the Alley Theatre box office, 615 Texas Ave., or by calling (713)228-8421. The Greater Houston Gay & Lesbian Chamber of Commerce invites everyone for "Gay Night at the Alley Theatre" at the Wednesday, March 25 show, for which tickets are discounted to $29. Contact Dennis Draper, Group Sales Director of the Alley, at (713)228-9341, ext. 350.

Agamemnon, king of Argos and conquering hero of Troy, makes it back to his city in Agamemnon, which is being presented by Different Stages in Austin March 27-April 18 at the Acting Studio, 5811 Burnet Rd. Ten years have passed since Agamemnon sacrificed his own daughter in hopes that the gods would look with favor upon his voyage to Troy, but his queen, Clytemnestra, saw her daughter die and doesn't keep faith with her husband while he's away, publicly taking a lover. This production of Aeschylus' play (one-third of his The Oresteia) is based on a distinctly American version by the Pulitzer Prize-winning poet, translator and playwright Robert Lowell. Performances are Thursdays-Saturdays at 8 p.m., and there's also a Monday show April 6 at 8; tickets are "pay what you can" on Thursdays (including the preview on March 26) and $12 Fridays and Saturdays. For reservations and more info, call (512)454-TIXS.

The Grand 1894 Opera House in Galveston hosts the world premiere of Red, White & Tuna April 7-19. It's the final installment in the "Tuna" trilogy, written by Jaston Williams, Joe Sears and Ed Howard. We return to the little burg of Tuna, Texas and all its eccentric citizens, who this time around are celebrating the Fourth of July with a Tuna high school class reunion. Performances will be Tuesdays-Fridays at 8 p.m., Saturdays at 2 and 8 p.m. and Sundays at 2 and 7 p.m. For tickets ($10-$39) and more info, call the box office at (409)765-1894 or (800)821-1894. The Sun moves from intuitive pink Pisces to pioneeringly proud Aries this week. There is no time like the present to take up arms and command a rainbow battalion to victory. It's not enough to think about the "what ifs" of life. Allow the practical Aries energy to turn it into the "why nots?" Full speed ahead, comrades!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - March 20) Review your investment strategy. The Sun in domineering Aries mandates that finances be firmly set in order before you can proceed on to loftier goals. This is good — pink Fish are often at the mercy of others for their own personal security because they're uninterested in the nuts and bolts of finances. Thank Aries for giving you the self-confidence and the interest to get fiscal matters launched.

ARIES (March 21 - April 20) Proud Rams are the supernovas of the zodiac and the Sun is your power source. Plug into the surge, cousin; you're able to "charm" people to your way of thinking (and where charm leaves off, unabashed arm-twisting comes in...). Keep in mind that in the long term, nobody likes to get squooshed and pushed into a corner. Say pretty please with sugar on top.

TAURUS (April 21 - May 21) A strobe is flashed in your closet of insecurities and self-delusions and you know what? It's not as horrible as you originally thought. The Sun in Aries sweeps out all the straight psychological debris that's holding you back from affirmation. Don't let gremlins rule you, proud Bull. Rambo energy is ready to give them a kick in the patoot once and for all. Be true to yourself.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) Make a difference in someone's life and, in turn, make yourself feel pretty darn good. (Doubly pat yourself on the back, Twin!) Proud Geminis are in harmony with the greater group effort and can even change the dynamic with the Ram's powerful punch. The planetary forces compel you to take our community agenda one giant leap forward. Simon says no baby steps.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) With the pioneering Sun in Aries so strongly placed in your chart, retiring pink Crabs need to take decisive action in all professional matters. Your mission, should you decide to accept it, is to grab the reins and ride the corporate chariot to unmitigated success. Don't accept excuses or promises; you've been far too understanding for too long. It's play-or-pay time.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) Travel is highlighted when the Sun pushes into Aries. Get out and make things shake, rattle and roll; you're in a fabulous planetary position to spread the rainbow word globally. Queer Lions can be very dramatic, so if you do become the great gay spokesperson for our community, I expect you'll do it with flair. Take no prisoners...well, maybe only the attractive ones.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) Lusty, proud Virgins are insatiable while the stupendous Sun is in untiring Aries. The planets, like torpedoes, guide you to the zesty heat, but you may bite off more than you can chew (if that's possible, lucky thing!). Avoid post-

LAWSUIT AGAINST HOUSTON MAYOR'S ORDER BANNING BIAS IN CITY JOBS GETS FIRST COURT HEARING

*State District Judge to Rule
Next Week on Injunction Sought by Todd, Hotze.*

HOUSTON — A lawsuit filed to strike down an order by Houston Mayor Lee Brown banning city job bias against gay people had its first hearing in court Tuesday, but a decision on whether the Mayor's order will be suspended until disposition of the entire suit is not expected until next week.

The request for an injunction is part of the lawsuit filed Feb. 25 in 281st State District Court by Houston City Councilmember Rob Todd and right-wing activist Richard K. Hotze, opponents of Brown's order. Hotze is the brother of Dr. Steven Hotze, a longtime opponent of the gay community and a major force in local right-wing religious politics.

Brown on Feb. 16 issued an executive order banning discrimination against gay people in city hiring practices. The order is not subject to confirmation by popular vote or a vote of the entire City Council, and city officials have insisted that Brown was acting well within his authority in issuing the measure.

Judge Pat Mizell said at the end of the hearing Tuesday that he would decide whether or not to grant the injunction early next week.

The Texas Human Rights Foundation announced that it will be closely monitoring the progress of Todd and Hotze's lawsuit. Andres Pereira, one of two attorneys with the foundation who attended the hearing, praised the case laid out by the city against the suit.

"Clearly, the attorney for the city articulated a strong argument supporting the Mayor's right to issue orders which relate to how a city employee is supposed to interact with his or her fellow employees," said Pereira, who was joined by Donald Skipwith. "The question is, will Judge Mizell be able to overlook the political consequences a ruling in favor of the Mayor may have given that Hotze is such an influence in the Republican Party.

"My guess is that it will take a lot of courage on his [Mizell's] part to do so, and I look forward to seeing his opinion next week. Either way, the THRF and Houston's gay and lesbian community will fight any effort to overturn the Mayor's executive order and sanction discrimination in city employment," Pereira said.

HOUSTONIAN ELECTED CO-CHAIR OF AIDS ACTION BOARD

John Gonzalez Is First Texan Chosen for Position with National HIV Organization.

WASHINGTON, DC — The national HIV group AIDS Action announced Tuesday that Houston businessman and community leader John M. Gonzalez has been elected as Co-Chair of the organization's board of directors. Gonzalez's election marks the first time a Texan has chaired the board of a national AIDS organization.

"We stand at the most pivotal moment since the first years of the epidemic," Gonzalez said in a statement issued by AIDS Action Tuesday. "New hope has given way to a complacency and a false sense that AIDS is over. I look forward to helping lead the fight so that we can one day legitimately say, 'AIDS is over.' I am proud that the people of Houston will finally have a voice in the leadership of the national AIDS advocacy community.

A native Houstonian, Gonzalez is a consultant with Settlement Associates & Insurance Services, Inc., and is a principal of Benefit Consultants & Actuaries. His public service work includes chairmanship of the Bering Community Service Foundation, and he has also volunteered with several Texas environmental and human rights organizations in which he has held leadership posts.

"John's dynamic business and corporate experience will provide extraordinary leadership during a time of unprecedented challenges in the epidemic," said Daniel Zingale, Executive Director of AIDS Action. "John's geographic perspective will provide an even stronger voice for AIDS Action's growing national diversity."

Gonzalez replaces Paul Massa, who recently resigned as Co-Chair of the foundation. Gonzalez's current Co-Chair is Daniel T. Bross, a Washington, DC consultant. Gonzalez was elected to serve a one-year term as Co-Chair of the 16-member board. He has served on the board of directors for two years, including one as Treasurer.

AIDS Action works to be the national voice on AIDS, representing all Americans affected by the disease and over 2,000 community-based organizations that serve them.

HOUSTON FUND-RAISER WINS HRC AWARDS IN WASHINGTON

*1998 Winter Gala, One of 25
Similar Events Across Nation,
Recognized for Membership, Revenue Achievements.*

WASHINGTON, DC — An elegant Houston party that raises funds for the Human Rights Campaign was recognized last weekend during the annual HRC Leadership Conference and semiannual meeting of the group's Board of Governors. The Houston Winter Gala, held on Feb. 18, swept the Saturday evening awards ceremony, winning honors for achievement in six categories.

The Houston Federal Club, a group of HRC members who provide high-level financial support to HRC, was recognized for "New Membership Goal 1998." The Houston Dinner Committee, which plans the event, won awards for "Doubling Budgeted Net Corporate Revenue 1998," "Doubling Net Silent Auction Revenue 1998" and "Achieving Budgeted Net Fund-Raising Goals 1998."

The Houston dinner was recognized in the categories "Century Club Status at the $50,000+ Level 1998" and "Comeback of the Year 1998."

"It was really exciting to go to Washington and be recognized by a group of your peers," said George Hawkins, an organizer of this year's Winter Gala. "Twenty-five fund-raisers like these are held across the country every year for HRC. The committee [in Houston] works on this event for almost a year, and it was really great to see our city recognized over and over."

In addition to Hawkins, who is also a Co-Chair for next year's Winter Gala, Houston representatives at the Washington event were Federal Club Co-Chairs Dr. Rod Frazier and S. Hall and Underwriting Co-Chair John Walzel.

HRC, the largest national gay and lesbian political organization, lobbies Congress and works to educate the public on lesbian and gay-related issues.

BENEFICIARIES CHOSEN FOR THIS YEAR'S HOUSTON AIDS WALK

*AFH, 16 Other Groups
Will Receive Share of Funds
From May 17 Event.*

HOUSTON — AIDS Foundation Houston, producers of The Southwestern Bell Houston AIDS Walk, announced this week that 17 local HIV/AIDS service organizations will benefit from this year's Walk, slated for May 17.

Agencies that will receive a portion of Walk proceeds are the AIDS Alliance of the Bay Area, Inc.; the AIDS Coalition of Coastal Texas, Inc.; AIDS Foundation Houston; the Association for the Advancement of Mexican Americans; B.L.O.C.K. (Building Lives Offering Community Knowledge); the Body Positive Houston Wellness Center; Casa, A Special Hospital; Metropolitan Community Church of the Resurrection; Milam House; the Montrose Clinic; the Gulf Coast chapter of Mothers' Voices of Texas; the New Hope Counseling Center, Inc.; Omega House; the People With AIDS Coalition-Houston; the Southeast Texas Legal Clinic; Steven's House; and The Assistance Fund.

"HIV/AIDS has no prejudice, it affects individuals from all walks of life," said Sara Speer Selber, Executive Director of AFH. "The frightening fact is that one in 90 Houstonians is HIV positive — men, women and children." Houston ranks seventh in the nation in cases of AIDS, and it is estimated that by the year 2000, 40 million persons worldwide will be infected with HIV/AIDS. "Great strides have been made, but there is still no cure," Selber said.

Last year's Walk raised $200,000 and attracted 3,000 participants. Organizers of this year's Walk hope to see a dramatic increase in these numbers. Walk Chairman Harold T. Schultz III said, "While the Walk has been growing steadily, we are nowhere near the numbers other cities raise and we need the entire Houston community to stand behind this effort and make a difference." Schultz cited as examples AIDS Walk Atlanta and AIDS Walk Colorado, each of which attracts well over 10,000 participants and brings in around $1.4 million.

In an attempt to raise involvement, awareness and funds, the committee that is planning the Walk is creating new community representative seats, filled by "Community Liaisons" whose task is to personally visit different groups and talk up the walk.

Sponsors of the Walk to date are Southwestern Bell, Chase Bank of Texas, Walgreens, Duke Energy, Fiesta, HEB Pantry Foods, Weingarten Realty Investors, MacGregor Medical, Supercuts and the Houston Gay & Lesbian Yellow Pages. Media sponsors are KRIV-Fox 26, 107.5 the Buzz, Sunny 99.1, the Houston Chronicle and OutSmart Magazine.

ALL CANDIDATES BACKED BY GLPC PAC IN HOUSTON WIN PRIMARY RACES

*Gay-Friendly Republicans
Make Gains, But Hopefuls
Pushed by Right-Wing Activist
Also Carry GOP Contests.*

HOUSTON — The party primaries held last week yielded a mix of good and not so good news for the gay community. All candidates endorsed by the Houston Gay & Lesbian Political PAC, all them Democrats, won their races. Gay or gay-friendly convention delegates were also elected on the GOP side, and gay-friendly party platform resolutions were passed in precincts across Houston. But in an indication that moderate Republicans still have their work cut out for them, 11 of 15 Republican candidates who were endorsed by the anti-gay right-wing activist Steven Hotze also won.

Yet Gary Van Ooteghem, who is President of the Log Cabin Republicans Houston, said that he was generally satisfied with the way things turned out on March 10. "We're very pleased with the results of our Precinct Initiative this time around. Our members and friends showed up in strength at numerous precincts in this city and made their presence felt."

Van Ooteghem also said Log Cabin was satisfied with most of the statewide primary races, especially the race for Attorney General. In that three-way contest, the religious right-backed candidate, former state GOP chairman Tom Pauken, finished last. Another anti-gay Republican, Steve Stockman, who ran for Railroad Commissioner, also lost.

Van Ooteghem added that more than three dozen Log Cabin members and friends were elected to attend Republican senate district conventions on March 28, when delegates to the GOP state convention will be selected.

In the Democratic primary, all candidates backed by the Houston Gay & Lesbian Political Caucus Political Action Committee were victorious. They included Jim Mattox for Attorney General and state representatives Ron Wilson, District 131, Senfronia Thompson, District 141 and Rick Noriega, District 145. Noriega faces Republican Michael Bunch in November while Wilson and Thompson will have no opposition.

"We had hoped that our targeting of the three contested state House races would pay off, and it did, largely due to a high concentration of gays in those districts and an overall low voter turnout," said Caucus PAC President Clarence Bagby.

All Republican candidates were also invited to screen with HGLPC PAC and several contacted the group about doing so, but Screening Chair Jay Seegers said that none had actually set up a time to screen. He said that GOP candidates generally refuse to screen with the Caucus PAC for primary contests because so many Republican primary voters are right-wing social conservatives.

The Eagle Mountain Saloon played host to two great shows last week. The Blue Light Candle Project and Charanga put on a fabulous event on Thursday and raised $850. On Friday, TGRA, Mr. EMS Jerry and the "San Antonio Sash Queens" brought in $515. The grand opening of the "Bourbon Street Corner" party room was a huge success. Special thanks go out to Jim Newsome and Roy Pope for jumping in and helping with last-minute details....

The Annex is making plans and gearing up for their big anniversary on April 1. The celebration will include a Switch Night that'll knock your socks off. Make plans to be there for all the fun....

Next Friday, March 27, the Bonham Exchange hosts the seventh annual Miss Gay San Antonio At Large Pageant starring Shante Whitney, Skyy LaMasters, Cinnamon Sweet, Heather Sinclair, Jesse John Perez, Jennifer West and Maggie London. The Bonham's new Friday night drink specials that you'll definitely want to check out for yourself include martini madness, kamikaze kraziness, well drink wackiness and champagne delight.

AUSTINteaCIOUS — Ahh, spring break 1998! The time to get away from the rigors of school and get a little sun, etc....Of course it rained. All of us who are finished with our educational years are openly jealous and secretly laughing. Oh well, go to the bar, have a cocktail and chase boys in another city. Life isn't the beach, but it doesn't have to be a bitch, either....

Charlie's had a beach party of their own last week. At least this young man [left] thought so; he's clearly dressed for the occasion. We would love to smear oil all over his...anything. Speaking of anything, that's just what can happen when the crazy Jamie Perry gets hold of the boys for her Tuesday night amateur strip contest. Video Mailbox is capturing everyone's attention these days; you make the match and the screen delivers your opening line for you. Of course, you need to have a few on hand. Once a line has been used, all the boys know it, so you can't use the same one twice. The dynamic Bridgett Boday had a command performance this past Thursday when she was the special guest at the fabulous Nacha Type show. So tell us, Arron, who was the cutie you were having body-shots with on Friday? He was hot! That also stands for Hunks Over Texas, who are the new studs you can see shaking it for your pleasure every Thursday, Friday and Sunday night. Don't forget, the beef starts at 4 p.m. with "Burgers by Jerry." Have a burger and watch the boys — no need to ask "Where's the beef?"...

The Country Edge has a great time just waiting for you. As you can see by their spokesmodel Kevin [right], gaiety always abounds. The Sunday night dance lessons and pool tourneys are all the rage. Once the testosterone starts to flow, stand back because these players mean business! Competition knows no gender, and the women are playing with their sticks as well as the men. I thought you gals didn't like that sort of thing. Stop in any night for a good time with Isaac, Robby and all the other fun folks just waiting to see you there....

The Forum has a new theme night for you...College Night! DeeJays Danny Cardiel and Filthy Rich spin all the tunes they can get their hands on. The multit talented Paris Chanel headlines the "Men's Best Chest" and "Ladies' Wet T-Shirt" contests. Cash prizes are awarded to the winners, and midnight is the time to show it off. Not to mention that the lovely Kelly Kline is the new Sunday night shot girl. Last week's winner of the talent extravaganza was the lovely Selina Kyle. Watch out, all you pageant girls, she's talented and pretty! Rumor has it that handsome Ryan has a sweet little frock in his closet that he hopes to wear on Thursday nights; goodness knows he hasn't otherwise been in the closet in years! Hope there are no moths on that gown, girl! A bonus for all you downtown early birds: the Forum is now open at 7 a.m., so stop in and see Greg for a morning eye-opener....

Life on the Edge is always exciting. The latest incarnation there is the Monday night retro party. Carl spins all your favorite fab, retro and industrial '80s tunes. Then, deejay Don Engal keeps you on the dance floor the rest of the week. Stop in and say hi to happy-hour bartender Bobby. He's quite the looker and can also actually pour a tasty beverage. Not that he'd need to with that dynamite smile! We hear that our suggestion to hear Murrah's band has been heard, and she tells us they'll be playing there in the near future. Save a seat for us on the front row! You won't want to miss the melodic sounds of this rising star....

The 1920's Club is as posh as ever. The gay community of Austin said they wanted a gay jazz club, and owner Farhad has outdone himself providing us with a great one. It's so relaxing to sink into a comfy chair, sip a cocktail and hear the melodic sounds of great jazz and R&B artists. Make sure to have a little something from the gourmet menu. Just to keep up to speed, we had a little treat from the kitchen this week. Chef Chase whipped out a batch of our favorites — mushrooms stuffed with garlic, breadcrumbs and parmesan cheese. They were so yummy we would have had another plate, but our entourage was leaving and we were in the passenger seat that night....

The Rainbow Cattle Company has what you want...cowboys. They even have cowgirls for those of you of the female persuasion. We always enjoy a good bout of buckle polishing on the dance floor, as do most people, since the floor is usually packed. This cowboy [left] was quite the popular guy this week, but we don't know if it was his dancing prowess or the fact that his jeans were painted across his well-rounded backside. Either way, he was a winner with us! On March 29 the club hosts the first annual Camp-Out, an all-city bartenders' turnabout show. This should be a festive time. Imagine your favorite mixologist in high heels and big hair — Ouch! Not a pretty sight, but a guaranteed good time. Speaking of a good time, Wednesday night karaoke is always a ball with Michael T. Stop in and croon a tune with him. At the very least, you'll get to sing that Judy Garland song you've always wanted to....

'Bout Time is always the place on the north side to quench your thirst and have a great time with friends. The weekly pool and dart tournaments keep the competitor in all of us coming back for more. We live for the thrill of victory and the agony of having to buy a round in defeat. Tom Tolliver is still opening up at 7 a.m. Monday through Saturday, so all you early birds can start the day off with an eye-opener. The bar is also the host for the first TGRA cookout of the season, this Sunday, March 22, at 4 p.m....

The Midtowne Spa was quite festive during its recent Toga Party with special entertainment being provided by David Richardson and Kayla Taylor [right, l-r]. Tomorrow night at 10 p.m., the Spa welcomes The Heart of Texas Bears to the premiere of The Garage, an evening of levi and leather. Next Saturday is their monthly Flashlight Party. They also have a free fitness trainer on staff for all your needs.

DALLAS TEA — TGRA presents the Queen of the Closet Ball Pageant this Sunday, March 22, at the Round Up Saloon. The doors open at 6 p.m. for this sixth annual benefit for TGRA charities, which stars former Miss IGRA Miss Tessie as guest emcee. Make your plans to attend this rip-roaring good time. The doors open early, so get yourself into the club in time to get a good spot. For even more entertainment, check out the Turtle Creek Chorale's annual Miss Big Thickette Pageant, coming to the club on April 26. Now that's entertainment. Check it out this weekend....

Dallas Bears, a Dallas-based social club of gay men who are bears and bear admirers, is once again hosting an international bear run in a continued effort to raise funds for local AIDS services. The Texas Bear Round Up is an international bear run being held March 26-29 in Dallas. The host hotel is the Harvey Brookhollow, and several local bars are participating. The third annual run is hosted by the club with an emphasis on, among other things, raising funds for charitable organizations such as AIDS Services of Dallas and AIDS Services of North Texas, this year's beneficiaries. Make sure you get your raffle tickets from club President Bruce Seeds. The winner will be announced during the Mr. American Bear contest, the highlight of the event. Dallas Bears was founded in November 1993 and has a current active membership of 130. No lions, no tigers, just Bears — Oh my! For more information, contact them online at www.dallasbears.org....

Don't you dare miss the Cruisin' The Crossroads cheap drinks quickie that all those hot men thirst for all week long. Tonight they bring you Colt model Carl Hardwick at midnight. Quench your thirst tonight....

Jerry Lynn, Director of Operations for the Tom Davis Help Center, needs volunteers to help during the scheduled remodeling of the building, located at 2618 Welborn St. at the corner of Brown, one block south of Oak Lawn Avenue. Many volunteers are now needed to assist the contractors with the tear-out and build-in, which is hard work, and even a few hours will make a big difference. The Center is a totally volunteer enterprise and will serve men, women and children living with HIV/AIDS and women with breast cancer. If you have special skills and would like to get involved by donating your time and experience to the building of the Center, call Jerry at (214)823-3899. Corporate sponsors are still being sought and individual donations of time or money are always appreciated.
