BY CHRIS GRAY

Welcome back to another installment of SURFING THE NET, the column that helps you steer your way through the world wide web to reach some exciting gay destinations. And of course for most gay boys, the first stops are clubs, clubs and more clubs so we have a ton of bars up on the web that you might want to visit with your mouse, and the best part is, there's no cover charge or hand stamps. You just need your computer and a little imagination.

Let's start with some of our great Texas hangouts, such as the Houston dance bar Pacific Street, located on the net at www.pacificstreet.com. A huge Houston site that'll let you in on what's happening in Space City is the Gay Web of Houston at <http://HoustonGayWeb.com>.

Those Dallas boys also have some cool bars to show off, such as Caven Enterprises four popular gay spots in Big D: JR's, Sue Ellen's, Village Station and Throckmorton Mining Company, all located at www.caven.com. Moby Dick and The Brick are some more Dallas funspots, so look in on what's happening at those bars at www.moby-dick.com. If you like dancers (and no I don't mean those tired Solid Gold Dancers, I mean those skimpily-clad hunky men shaking their groove thangs), try Kolors web site to check out some of their delectable gogo boys at <http://www.incity.com/kolors>.

We wouldn't leave out the great city of Austin, home of the recent Last Splash, with the appropriately titled Splash Bar, which is up (sort of). They have an e-mail address for you right now at splashAust@aol.com. And you can easily get into the busy Oil Can Harry's by typing www.oilcanharrys.com. To find out the 411 on the Austin nightlife, then Party Austin at www.partyaustin.com is a good bet with listings on the city's party life, restaurants and circuit parties.

We didn't find anything for the San Antonio area, although we have one outdated web listing that we're going to still include in hopes that it will come back up by the time you read this. It used to list all the gay bars in San

Antonio's downtown district. Check them out at <http://sirius.dynpro.com/clubs> to see if they're up on the net again.

Midtowne Spa and the Club have locations located throughout the state and the rest of the country. Yes, there is something outside Texas...so surf on over to their websites at www.the-clubs.com and <http://biz.onramp.net/spa>.

They're not in Texas, but Flex gyms is ready to let you peek inside their establishments in L.A., Cleveland, Phoenix and Atlanta and give you a workout on the web at www.flexbaths.com.

A little further down the club circuit on the gay strip are some New Orleans sites, such as the ever popular dance bar Oz, www.gayneworleans.com/oz. There's no place like it, unless of course it's the Southern Decadence official website at www.southerndecadence.com or the New Orleans Mardi Gras' listing at www.gaymardigras.com.

South Beach is a famous gay locale, and one its hottest nightspots is the cruise bar Hombre, located on the world wide web at www.hombreweb.com. Then, for the leather and levi set on down the coast in Florida, there's the Tampa Eagle, www.tampaeagle.com.

Back in our nation's capitol, Monica isn't the only thing getting them hot and bothered these days. There's also the boys at La Cage Aux Folles where they dance totally naked, and you won't need a subpoena to peek in on them at their website, www.lacage.com. If you feel the need to workout and blow off some of that steam (or whatever) after seeing those randy boys on line, then maybe you should visit The Safari Club, a D.C. men's spa at www.safariclub.com.

Fly on over to West Hollywood where Axis is a high-energy dance club with some hot-looking men. You can find them at www.axisnightclub.com. Then hop to another L.A. hangout, Mickey's at www.mickys.com. An after-hours dance club that'll make you sweaty (even on line) is Probe at www.probeonline.com. Still want more clubs in L.A.? Then keep partying at the video bar Revolver online at www.revolver-la.com. Blowbuddies is a private sex club in San Francisco, but you can get in for free just by typing www.blowbuddies.com to see what's up at this site.

For the girls "out" there, we found Club Skirts at www.girlspot.com which is a club that also organizes many lesbian circuit parties - especially those revolving around the Dinah Shore Golf Tournament. (You mean there are lesbians at that event?) And of course, if you're into big chicks, try www.bigchicks.com for their website.

For a huge listing of bars all across America, try the expansive website American Gaybars at www.gaybars.com, or check out their sister site www.gayamerica.com that will let you in on what's going on in gay circles around the country. If you're looking for one of those hot circuit parties being thrown, Jeffrey Sanker is one of the biggest promoters and has an infoline on the net at www.jeffreysanker.com. Casey Productions has one, too, at www.Caseyproductions.com. The 12 Gods Benefit Circuit Party is taking place this month in Mykonos, Greece, and you can join in on the fun from the comfort of your home and your little computer at www.12godsbenefit.com. Another place to find a great listing of gay circuit parties, sex clubs and gay bars is www.gaymensmail.com/gayclubs.

Close to home, in the land of the mounties of Canada, there's a great cruise bar in Quebec City called Le Drague. So "le drag" your mouse on over to their site at <http://pages.infinit.net/drague>. A huge club located in Toronto is Boots Warehouse, and they're open for you 24/7 on the web at www.gaytoronto.com. If you're going to be wearing chaps and jockstraps in Toronto, then you'll want to go to the Eagle bar, and you can find out info on that club online at www.Blackeaglebar.com. If you're ready go dancing in Toronto, Icon Club would be perfect. So check them out at www.iconclub.com.

After hitting all those nightspots, you will definitely want to wake up with the subject of our next site, Nicholas Brendon. The sexy hunk who's on Buffy the Vampire Slayer has a legion of fans, along with the webmaster of his site at <http://members.aol.com/rbsayre>. There's also pics and info on WB's Dawson's Creek and other teen shows.

If you're a movie buff, there's some great sites out there on the net to find hard-to-find films, such as www.reel.com. A huge movie database can be found at www.imdb.com, and even the Hollywood stock exchange is online at www.hsx.com.

Shifting gears (if you're a little more serious and a political animal), this fall will bring statewide elections to Texas, and both Republican Governor George Bush and Democrat challenger Gary Mauro have websites for your feedback and input at www.bush98.com and www.Mauro.org.

A new site that just started is called E-The People that will let you send an e-mail to just about every politician out there at www.e-thepeople.com. The Log Cabin Republicans have been in the news of late, and to find out the latest on that group on the world wide web, go to www.lcr.org.

Where do you want to go now? Well once you decide that, you need to know how to get there, and there are several informative websites to help you navigate to your destination. For directions and maps, go to www.mapsonus.com. For weather forecasts, type in www.weather.com, and for points of interest, access www.freetrip.com. If you're not into driving, but want to fly somewhere, Travelocity will help you find a flight and fare that fits your budget with their search engine that relies on American Airlines' Sabre reservation system at www.travelocity.com.

We always try to include some health sites for you, and one we found was the AIDS Foundation of Houston at www.aidshep.org. The AIDS Knowledge Base, at <http://hivinsite.ucsf.edu>, is an excellent search engine that lets you access about 11 different areas including HIV testing, pediatric HIV information or ethical issues of HIV disease. CMV disease is a problem especially for those with HIV, and a new website has just recently gone online at www.cmvision.org to help physicians and their patients wanting info on the subject and to give up-to-date online resources on the CMV topic.

And before I get punished, I better mention the Leather Knights' website that Dallas' Leather by Boots' Dean Walradt (woof!) told me about at www.flash.net/~lknights. He also wondered if our readers would be interested in pics of guys in tight jeans at www.orgasmic.net/guysinjeans. It has plenty of links, including one that'll take you to a site devoted to men in jockstraps.

That's all for this issue. If you know of an interesting website, gay or non-gay, e-mail me at ChrisDalas@aol.com, and we may just mention it in our next issue. 'Til, then, have fun SURFING THE NET!

Does Mother Really Know Best?

Combine a hopelessly romantic night nurse, her meddling personal-ad-placing mother, dozens of respondents to said personal ad, a marine biologist wanna-be, a kidnapped blowfish, a closet homosexual and a hip Bossa Nova soundtrack, and what do you get? The quirky new date/fate movie Next Stop Wonderland, starring the intoxicatingly confident Hope Davis.

As the film opens, Erin (Davis) finds her live-in boyfriend presenting her with a videotape of the reasons he is leaving her. Shocked and rather slightly dismayed, she begins to embrace the single life until her intrusive mother (played by the deliciously malevolent Holland Taylor) places a personal ad on her behalf — and without her knowledge. After a barrage of phone calls responding to the ad, Erin decides to go through with meeting each man. What follows is a laundry list of misfits and losers hoping to find true love. Erin's no-nonsense interrogation of the suitors makes for some inspired interactions of varying comedic proportions. A threesome competing to conquer the mysterious woman in the ad eventually fall victim to a revenge scheme, once she discovers their intentions. Things begin to get complicated, however, when Erin meets a fiery-hot Brazilian (Jose Zuniga) and must decide if she should completely change her life for him.

Meanwhile, Alan (Alan Monteiro) is a plumber struggling to become a marine biologist by taking college courses and volunteering at the Boston Aquarium. Trying to keep from getting stuck in the family business proves much harder for Alan than he thought, eventually involving him in a reluctant fishnapping to avoid trouble with some shady characters to whom he owes money. For further obstacle, Alan is constantly trying to thwart the advances of a younger student whom he tutors with his vast undersea knowledge, although she's got a different kind of biology on her mind.

The underlying theme of this film is whether or not fate really plays a part in our lives or if we, indeed, control our own destinies. By cleverly presenting the separate lives of Erin and Alan, writer/director Brad Anderson fills the plot with enough twists and turns that left me guessing the outcome until the very end. Throughout the film, Erin and Alan are always just steps away from meeting each other, whether by coincidence or mutual acquaintances leading them closer and closer to an actual encounter.

Davis' and Monteiro's performances are dead-on, allowing their inner beauty and complexities to shine through and take the characters to believable heights.

As Erin's too-politically-correct-for-his-own-good ex-boyfriend, Phillip Seymour Hoffman gets his own scene-stealing opportunities based solely on his overzealous activist absurdity.

Even though the movie focuses almost exclusively on Erin and Alan, the large supporting cast helps provide the depth and complexity to add necessary realism, as well as opportunities to prove the "Six Degrees of Separation" theory. Included in this potpourri of people and personalities is a smattering of gay characters who are shown simply and matter-of-factly without drawing too much attention to their sexuality. In contrast, however, there is one character "outing" that is unexpected and genuinely funny, without being there for the sheer trendiness of including gay characters for the sake of forced diversity.

Some of the path-crossing borders on being overly convoluted, but is easily forgivable due to the earnest nature of the storytelling. No matter how unbelievable an instance may be, it always serves a purpose in propelling the plot and presenting more and more questions on if – and to what degree – we control the outcomes of our lives.

So, romantics unite. Here's a sweet little movie that will leave you uplifted and genuinely satisfied without the sugary aftertaste that pollutes so many romantic comedies. You may not talk about Next Stop Wonderland for weeks after you see it, but it is gratifying and ultimately enjoyable at the time. And for some, that's what relationships are all about anyway.

Next Stop Wonderland, presented by Miramax, is now being screened at theaters across the Texas. Check your local listings for times and locations.

Where Were The Gay Games Figure Skaters?

Dear TWT,

I read Phil Johnson's article on the '98 Amsterdam Gay Games with interest, noting especially his comments about the fact that there were "screw ups." Overall, things did move along very smoothly, especially considering the complexity of coordinating such a large series of events. The energy in the city was overwhelmingly positive, as much a tribute to the openness of our Dutch hosts, as it was to the Gay Games themselves. However (and surprisingly), he neglected to mention what I would consider to be the major "screw up" of the '98 Games - the cancellation of the figure-skating competitions due to sanctioning issues with the International Skating Union.

As a previous gold medalist in the '94 New York Games, I was highly disappointed that I, along with over 100 other skaters, was unable to participate fully in the Games, as a result of the homophobia and rigid stance that the ISU exhibited in its dealings with the Dutch figure-skating organizers. Many of us trained for months in preparation for the Games and spent many hours and dollars working toward a goal which is only available to be achieved once every four years - an opportunity to compete in the Gay Games. To have that opportunity taken away, and at the very last minute (we found out about it the day before the competitions were to begin), was not only disappointing, but disconcerting, disturbing and angering.

To give credit where it is due, the Dutch did their best to turn the situation into a positive one by holding exhibitions which were well-attended. However, no judges were allowed to participate, and no medals were awarded. The mention of the figure-skating controversy at the Closing Ceremonies and the several minute-long standing ovation by the crowd were poignant and emotional.

Let us all hope that this unfortunate "screw up" results in increased awareness of our (gays and lesbians) continued struggle with fundamental human rights, and that through this awareness, positive change can be affected. That is, after all, one of the primary objectives of the Gay Games.

Dreamy, ethereal, a driving bass line, glorious, extremely melodic hooks and musical phrasing...when one chooses to describe the work of Italy's Deejay Dado (Flavio Daddato), one thing is for certain: His work is absolutely some of the best available in today's overcrowded market known as dance music. His sound was a defining factor in the Dream Era of dance music about three years ago in Italy, where deejays like himself and Robert Miles put out one chart buster after another, drawing the spotlight away from the techno and dogmatic harder house music of the day.

As the other producers began jumping on the dream bandwagon, Dado began hooking up with vocalists to combine the best elements in some of the days hi-energy vocals with the elements of Dream and a little mixing and matching of this and that. It resulted in some really fabulous dance masterpieces. It's some of these great tracks that we find on Dado's American album debut, Greatest Hits and Future Bits, which is being released through Priority Records. The record contains 14 tracks including the latest single "Give Me Love," along with the worldwide hit and three million-selling, progressive dance re-mix of the "X-Files Theme." "Give Me Love," which features the vocals of American Michelle Weeks, is currently wearing out clubs from coast to coast and climbing the charts along the way. Other hits on the album include "Metropolis" (with vocals by Lorene Jaycee) which was a world-wide top ten record and number one in Italy. His remix of "Mission Impossible" is over the top, as is one of my favorite records of all time, "Coming Back." The good thing about the mix of "Coming Back" that's on this album is that it's the the extended dance mix. This is next to impossible to find these days so it's really worth having the album for that alone!

"Future Bits" on the album include a remake of "More Than A Woman" (which is already creating a huge buzz in the clubs). "I feel this is a masterpiece in a museum, and it was just there waiting for me to make it mine," said Dado. "Of course, I probably didn't add anything to its original beauty, but I felt I had to try." Dado feels that this album is the most complete work he's made since he started and includes not only dance, but ventures into the pop arena as well, making him a well-rounded artist. Dado is not

Fire and Despair in Northern Virginia

Point of Origin; by Patricia Cornwell; G.P. Putnam's Sons; hardback; $25.95

How difficult it is to find a scandal anymore. So jaded have I become that these days I just wish they'd drag out the detergent and "Shout!" that damn stain out of the 76 channel-all-news-all-the-time blue dress. Who cares, anymore! They're just talking heads, people who I've never met. Gimme a good scandal with someone I know! Who's that you say? Dr. Kay Scarpetta?! Oh My God...Did you hear? In case you didn't, Scarpetta is the "butchest" straight woman to ever enter my life, sort of. She is the heroine of Patricia Cornwell's immensely popular series of mysteries, beginning with Postmortem and continuing to the brand new Point of Origin.

So what's the scandal? A fictional character? Gimme a break, you say? Well, Cornwell writes from a first person point of view about Scarpetta's life as the Chief Medical Examiner of the State of Virginia. Scarpetta's experiences run from morgues to the top of the FBI and include her lesbian niece Lucy. Kay has taken on a very intimate life for her many fans, not a few of which are in the "womyn's community," as they say. So, imagine the interest when last year Cornwell herself had to enter a church basement, occupied by two married FBI agents who were holding each other at bay with major heavy firepower in hopes of negotiating a truce. It seems that Cornwell had been having an affair with one of them. And as Cornwell has said, "If you'd seen pictures of them, you would have had an affair with her too. He's an ugly piece of psychopathic st, and he's (now) in prison." All this from an orphan girl raised by Ruth Graham, wife of evangelist Billy Graham. This is the kind of scandal that whets my whistle.

Not to dwell too long on the author whose manic depression and paranoia have her totting guns with herself everywhere (even when she's properly medicated), but it's obvious to see that she is a fascinating enigma. The development of Cornwell/Scarpetta has been a fascinating trip for the readers. No Rohrschach picture that is difficult to discern, these two women are becoming one and the same. So is Kay entering reality? Or is Patsy Cornwell leaving it?

REVIEWED BY MARK DEATON

The newest novel, Point of Origin, has emerged under all this public notoriety, and displays many telling signs. Scarpetta is no longer welcome at the FBI, as is certainly the case with Cornwell, and she is more and more interested in the lesbian lifestyle of niece Lucy. A major impediment to Kay's own sexual transformation is removed in this book, opening tantalizing possibilities for an Ellen-like coming out in the literary world. Unfortunately, this book may have moved around many pieces in Scarpetta's world, but it didn't have much fun doing it. If Cornwell suffers from depression, it seems to have seeped into this book.

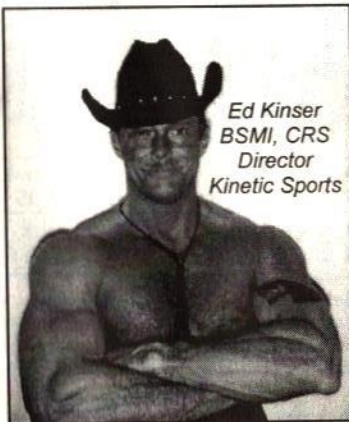

Point of Origin begins swiftly enough. A suspicious fire at a Ted Turner-like estate in Virginia brings in the standard cast of characters: Marino, sort of a 6'2" Dennis Franz from NYPD Blue, niece Lucy (now with the ATF after leaving the FBI in disgrace) and Kay's male lover, Benton Wesley, retired profiler from the FBI. (Notice that no one seems to work there anymore?) A partially burned body is discovered in a bathroom where the fire couldn't have started, but did. Did the tycoon burn the house for insurance, in the process cooking his 24 prize horses out back in the stable? Kay thinks not, and of course, is the only one who believes the tycoon.

Cornwell excels at the details. Just as Tom Clancy can tell you how to forge a car gas tank in dense prose, so can Cornwell keep you glued even as Scarpetta heats up her Stryker saw to remove the skull cap so she can examine the brain for anomalies. This is Quincy, M.E. for the nineties, where dead men tell Kay all their tales. As she peels burned skin from glass or cooks the flesh off bones, a strong stomach is sometimes required, even if you are riveted to the action.

Kay has progressed in this book, but is it somewhere we want to go? Previously, she has beaten down literally a nuclear disaster and a smallpox epidemic single-handedly, but fans most remember the excellent novel, From Potter's Field. In an effort to return to those gloried reviews, Cornwell trots back out the villain from that book, evil omni-sexual Carrie Grethen. Carrie was lurid and fascinating before. Here, she is completely offstage, and is merely an idea. She doesn't take form. Kay may say she fears Carrie, that she may pop up at any moment, but she never does. Instead, we're treated to 356 pages of what it's? Only Kay's fears and her insecurities propel her. Terrified of losing Lucy, she pushes Benton away. Even best friend Marino is kept at arm's length. Yes, Scarpetta still works her flower gardens, drinks her Black Bush Scotch and whips up gourmet meals at the drop of a hat, but for who? Kay is emptying her life of those who care for her just as Lucy is growing old enough to pull away and care for herself.

Even if Cornwell's characters seem to be suffering from some collective depression, don't think she has slowed the pace she is famous for. While treating fire as a living character, Cornwell whisks through various arsons, crossing most of the Eastern Seaboard and throwing in a climactic helicopter chase, just to prove that she can explain how the things work and still make you feel you are there at the same time. Things don't often slow down in Kay's world.

I'm always anxious to pick up the next Scarpetta book, and I'll be ready for her return in probably two years time. Point of Origin was a ripping read, it had lots to keep me interested, but it also carried an amazing amount of baggage. Here's to hoping that Patsy Cornwell can iron out her personal life a bit and let Kay Scarpetta emerge from a pervasive funk that seemed to constantly threaten the pace and interest she usually creates effortlessly. If you were the star of your own weekly female heroine show, all I'd have to say is, "Get Over It and Battle On, Xena...uh, Kay!"

September 11 - 17

Prepare for a planetary pile-up this week as the Sun "conjuncts" both Venus and Mercury. This means that our long term desires can be thwarted by what we spontaneously say, think or feel. Ready for fireworks in September? Keep on flapping those lips, bubblee.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) There is considerable commotion occurring in your own sign this week as the Sun, Mercury and Venus all figuratively collide in Virgo. While some faint of heart gay Virgins may prefer to remain on the sidelines, those with greater courage may venture Out and create an unintentional social stir. You'll have 'em talking for weeks cousin, so give 'em something to talk about.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) If you get your wires crossed, blame it on the Sun conjunct Venus and Mercury. Prophetic queer Libras are apt to stash their crystal balls this week and let others do the divining. As long as others are in charge of the excitement, why not use this transit to explore relaxation techniques like meditation, yoga or even hypnosis? Clear your mind and prepare for next week.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) More often than not, gay Scorps prefer to go it alone. Why is that? The answer becomes clear when the Sun conjuncts both Venus and Mercury and friendships become more trouble than they are worth. If you tire of the scene, take a breather until next week when everybody's nose sniffs up new business and moves out of yours. For now though, keep your knees together.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) Queer Archers face a changing professional landscape as the sands shift with the planets. Sun, Mercury and Venus create a few potholes in your superhighway of success this week. While the temptation is to act or react, clever Sags will trot along with the crowd and wait. This corporate situation will soon downsize, and you'll be in a good position to capitalize on it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) It may not be the best time to take your act on the road. Proud Goats may find that their glorious plans don't seem quite so delicious when the Sun jabs both Venus and Mercury. Maybe it's best to step back and take a serious look at the blueprints. You may find that a few of the finer points are missing. Review and replan...next week you will act up with authority.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) All dressed up with no place to go? Blame the down time on the Sun conjunct Venus and Mercury. Aqueerians may yearn to scratch a low down dirty itch but may find there is no suitable scratcher available. Wiggle around until next week as the transit passes and your urges can be unleashed in all their hot and heavy fury. Temperatures are rising....

PISCES (Feb. 20 - March 20) Partnerships may hit a snag when the Sun shunts both Mercury and Venus. Pink Fish may feel romantic and supportive, but the feeling may not be mutual (or vice versa). Keep your sunny side up as your commitment is tested. Remember that Rome wasn't built in a day so don't expect quick fixes. Of course, a few quickies here and there may not be a bad idea....

ARIES (March 21 - April 20) You've been trotting down a primrose path at work for quite a while, proud Ram. Now, as the Sun collides with Mercury and Venus, be prepared to step on a few thorns. A new demand here or there could have you shunted into the sub-basement before you can say, "Pass the paperclips, please". On the bright side, if you're angling for new employment, this could clear the way.

TAURUS (April 21 - May 21) When is enough, enough? Hard to tell when the Sun jabs both jittery Mercury and slothful Venus. Fun has a way of getting out of hand this week. So perhaps it's best to stow the stash and settle into a easy chair while this transit howls overhead. Gay Bulls are let loose in a china shop. You break, you buy cousin, so don't forget to bring your credit card.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) If your home isn't all it should be, it's fine to begin to explore new options. But don't rush into anything while the Sun hamstring both Venus and Mercury this week. Queer Twins are awash in great decorating ideas, but sometimes the best ideas on Monday are no no's by Friday. Sure, crushed red velvet bucket love-seats make a statement, but do you want to be quoted?

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) The sages say that a picture is worth a thousand words. Heed their advice and let the fingers do the talking rather than a flapping jaw. Pink Crabs may become a little too expressive when the Sun conjuncts Mercury and Venus this week, saying things they would normally chew on for a while and swallow. The secret is not to bite off more than you can handle. (Ain't it the truth, kids!)

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) Somewhere along the line, a bear has trampled on your carefully constructed financial portfolio. Don't panic, proud Lion. This is just the fleeting sting of the Sun conjunct Mercury conjunct Venus. Before you sell short, chalk the rollercoaster up to market fluctuations and bide your time. You'll be king of the beasts (both bulls and bears) soon enough, next week.

Some of the group will camp out at K&L Ranch Kamp, and others will camp it up in one of the local hotels. Jim has reserved three campsites at the Kamp on the Guadalupe River. The water park is located in New Braunfels on the Comal River with the water slides, tube rides and lagoons. With a group of 15 or more, there will be a $5 discount off the water park. If you are interested in cooling off with the HOGs, call Jim at (713)682-4972.

Also coming up is the group's trip to Sea Rim State Park, one of the largest parks in the state with 15,109 acres. It is located on the Southeast Gulf Coast of Texas, south of Beaumont and Port Arthur (an estimated two hour drive). The group will be taking the trip September 25 - 27.

The park is divided into two units. The beach unit has grassy areas to tent camp, RV hookups, a large two-level headquarters with spacious showers, and just a few feet away (behind the dunes) are three miles of sandy beaches.

The second unit is the marshlands with choices of swimming, surfing, sunning, airboat rides or boardwalk trails. There is abundant wildlife in the area with excellent fishing and crabbing.

The group has made reservations for two RV sites and two tent sites holding approximately 12 campers. The pre-camp meeting will be held at 7 p.m. at Cafe Express on Kirby Dr. on Monday, September 21. Call DJ at (713)649-4721 to sign up prior to the meeting so that he will know who is going, how many and what plans to discuss at the meeting.

TEXAS HUMAN RIGHTS FOUNDATION ANNOUNCES NEW OFFICERS

Andres Pereira, Appointed as President of the THRF, Texas' Oldest Statewide Gay and Lesbian Organization

AUSTIN — The Texas Human Rights Foundation [THRF] announced the appointment of Andres Pereira as President of the oldest statewide gay and lesbian organization in Texas. In addition, THRF announced the re-election of Angela Hights as Vice President, Guy Kidd as Secretary and Alan Levi as Treasurer.

Of the appointment, Pereira explained, "First of all let me say that the Texas Human Rights Foundation has played an important role in expanding the rights of gays and lesbians and the HIV community in Texas, and it is an honor to be asked to lead this organization and serve as its president."

When asked what his goals for the organization would be, Pereira said, "With regards to the coming year, we will be facing some critical issues as a community. These include the trial of the Hotze/Todd challenge to Mayor Lee Brown's (of Houston) executive order banning discrimination in city government on the basis of sexual orientation, and the attempt in the legislature to deny adoptive and foster parental rights to gays and lesbians. The THRF will be leading the legal effort to prevent these attempts to deny our basic rights." He continued to say, "Additionally, I hope to expand the THRF's membership and strengthen its outreach to our community through our 'AIDS and the Law' brochure and our 1-800 number."

Pereira, 31, is an attorney with the Houston firm of Fleming, Hovenkanp and Grayson, P.C. In addition to his new role as President of the THRF, he is a liaison for Congresswoman Sheila Jackson Lee to the gay and lesbian community, the secretary of the Houston Gay and Lesbian Political Caucus and the President of the GOLD-PAC. He is an active member of the Democratic Party and has worked for and assisted Democratic candidates at the local, state and national level. Mr. Pereira is a native Houstonian who lives in the Castle Court area of Montrose with his partner of four years.

The THRF was founded in 1977 and has been defending the legal interests of gay and lesbian Texans since that time. The not-for-profit organization has fought some of the most important battles to advance the interests of gays and lesbians in Texas including leading the fight against the state's sodomy statute 2106 of the penal code.

MARANTHA FELLOWSHIP MCC TO CELEBRATE SIX YEARS OF MINISTRY

Weekend of Special Events Will Commemorate Sixth Anniversary Highlighted by Prom Night Out

HOUSTON — Marantha Fellowship Metropolitan Community Church will be celebrating six years of ministry to Houston's gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgendered communities this weekend (September 11 - 13) with a number of special events.

The weekend celebration will kickoff with an evening of uplifting music and praise entitled "Jam to the Lamb." The event will begin tonight (September 11) at 7 p.m. at the church, 3400 Montrose, Suite 600, and is open to the public, free of charge.

Tomorrow (September 12), will feature the weekend's main event, "Prom Night OUT!" The event will be held at the Hollyfield Conference Center, 2700 Albany, Suite 100. This will be a semi-formal "prom night" featuring a live deejay, free beverages and a catered buffet. Tickets are $25 in advance and $30 at the door.

"Many of us missed our high school proms when we were growing up, or did not attend with the person we really wanted," said event organizer and Church Administrator Donna Roper. "This will be a chance for us to have the romantic prom that many of us dreamed of, and to share that opportunity with all of our community," explained Bill Holden, event organizer. Proceeds from this event will benefit the campaign of the Universal Fellowship of Metropolitan Community Churches [UF MCC] and the ministry of Marantha Fellowship.

Sunday's regular worship service will feature special guest preacher, the Rev. Elder Troy D. Perry, Founder of the UFMCC. The service will be followed by a luncheon honoring Rev. Perry, Pastor Janet Parker and the church's six years of ministry.

Marantha Fellowship was founded six years ago with the assistance of its sister Metropolitan Community Church [MCC] congregation in Houston, MCC of the Resurrection. Since its first meetings with a mere 12 people, the church has more than quintupled in size and relocated twice to accommodate its growth. The church is now recognized throughout its denomination as a leader in its commitment to the equipping of its people for ministry and its financial support of missionary works worldwide. Last year, at the UFMCC General Conference in Sydney, Australia, Marantha received a special award from the denomination for its financial growth and support of mission works in the Philippines, South Africa, Mexico and elsewhere.

world's largest organization serving the gay/lesbian/bisexual/transgendered communities. The UFMCC was founded in 1968 by the Reverend Troy D. Perry and is comprised of over 60,000 congregants in 300 congregations worldwide. Both MCC congregations in Houston, MCC of the Resurrection and Marantha Fellowship MCC, have a variety of ministries in Houston serving our community and bringing the message of God's inclusive and unconditional love at all.

Marantha Fellowship holds weekly services every Sunday at 11 a.m. with Bible study beginning at 10 a.m. Members also meet in groups of 10 - 15 people throughout the Houston area during the week.

AUSTINteaCIOUS — Well guys and gals, Last Splash has come and gone and what a time was had by all! There were people from all over the world visiting our fair city, people from Germany, England, Mexico, and of course from all over the good old U.S.A. Between the tunes, the beer and the boys, everyone had their hands full. All the cuties were on floats and boats and rocks, especially the ones with no tan lines. All of the out of town/country guests are sure to have taken back good memories of Austin's hospitality....

Charlie's was all the rage this weekend. The guys were lined up to get in and were partying as hard as they could once they got inside. Friday's liquor bust was so packed that the fire marshal had smoke coming off his clicker when he was counting heads. Party boys like these two [above] were working the dance floor for points while deejay deluxe Tony spun the tunes they craved. All the while, the bartenders were pouring cocktails and popping beer faster than ever. Even gorgeous Rob broke a sweat. On Sunday, the fabulous Lauren Taylor gave us another of her trademark performances. You gotta love drag with style!...

'Bout Time had a ball all weekend. The north side party place was truly hopping all weekend. The volleyball court was in full swing, and the dartboard had a list a mile long. Everyone loves that healthy spirit of competition! The Austin Chapter Of the T.G.R.A. is holding their annual Garage Sale this Saturday afternoon. All proceeds will be donated to one of the charities this fine organization supports....

Splash Video Bar was the place to be for carousing this weekend. The guys here were definitely on the hunt. The new state of the art sound system was certainly put to good use. As video after video played on the 40 + screens, the dance floor was continually in use. After being greeted with a smile and a refreshing beverage from this happy staffer [right], everyone took their turn on the new floor. Congrats go out to Jim and KC for actually making it to the lake on time to be on the beer barge. The hedge was 2-1 against, but they beat the odds....

Life on The Edge is as festive as ever. They have a new bartender. His name is Ray and is he ever cute. Stop in and make him feel welcome. This past weekend's theme was Gilligan's Island, and was it ever a hoot. It is no wonder these cast aways were never rescued. All the ships were scared to come too close. Shawn was the best-built Mr. Howell in history. No wonder Lovey, played by Carrie, flipped her wig over him. And congratulations to other Sean! He has been promoted to bartender, so try him out....

Rainbow Cattle Co. was the cowboy "love connection" place for Last Splash. There was some major buckle polishing going on in the house.

Everywhere we looked, there was a sea of well-shaped wranglers just like the ones that adorned this handsome fellow [left].

The guys were all dancing to beat the band. How could they help but dance with the way Cecil cranks out the best in progressive and traditional country music? The Austin Baptist Women held their annual Last Splash show, and as usual, they reminded us all why they are known as the best in the business for camp and charity. Thanks for all the hard work you do ladies! This Sunday night, the glamorous Scarlet Leigh is having her Miss Gay Texas fund-raiser. She and a cast of lovelies will be serving you some top notch drag starting at 9 p.m. Don't forget Taco Tuesday and Steaknight Thursday for some delicious grub. They have begun a new concept on Sunday. They call it "The Chuckwagon." They have barbeque, chili and that sort of good food for all you hungry folks. Since Austin is the live music capital of the world, we are glad to see that R.C.C. has started having live bands on Thursday nights. It's a nice change. Give it a try....

Dick's Deja Disco christened their new four-man shower this weekend. It was only designed for two, but they got four in. All three nights of the holiday weekend, the club had dancer boys and shower boys for everyone's viewing pleasure. Dale Jordan does have some of the finest men working for him. He is Mamma of "Mamma's Boys," and he knows how to pick-em! The patio is now open with a full bar for your outdoor pleasure. A cold one and some fresh air is often just what the doctor ordered. Travis is your patio bartender, and he pours a pretty mean cocktail....

The Forum was the shirtless stud headquarters this weekend. All over the bar, men were humping and pumping for points. This boy was possibly the sexiest man on earth and our CRUISE CAMERA got his picture. The themes for the weekend were Debauchery and Indulgence. It would seem that those boys took them to the outer limits. The goddess Kelly Kline hosted her Star Search finals last Thursday night, and the winner was Hilary Kline. Congratulations to you Missy. This was the one-year anniversary for Kelly's weekly competition. Wow, how the time flies. So many queens, so little time....

DALLAS TEA - If you haven't gotten your completed Texas Freedom Parade entry form in to the Dallas Tavern Guild offices yet, you better get it there, 3300 Reagan Street, before 3:00 p.m. this Wednesday (September 16). That's the deadline! Everyone who has completed their forms must be at the mandatory pre-parade meeting to receive their number to display during the parade and to find out where their placement is in the line-up on the day of the parade. Trophies will be announced from the steps of Arlington Hall in Lee Park immediately following the Parade....

Here's a birthday photo of birthday girl Stormy Knightz [right], who celebrated with a birthday bash at Crews Inn and Zippers which netted over $7,000 for the Dallas AIDS Assistance Fund. Make sure you check out Crews Inn's Friday night disco fever, and their legendary Crews Inn Tuesdays are not-to-be-missed!...

Sue Ellen's fabulous Cruisin' The Crossroads happens tonight. Stop in for the top of the tops in entertainment, fun and friends this weekend. Get your raffle tickets for a chance to win a trip for four to Las Vegas. All of the proceeds from the sale of the tickets go to underwrite the fifteenth Annual Alan Ross Texas Freedom Parade. Manager Kathy Jack is still signing up volunteers to help with the 1998 Parade on Sunday, September 27. If you are able to volunteer for the parade, call (214) 559-4190, extension 124 or (214) 559-0707. The Parade is only two weeks away....

Midtowne Spa's dancers in the Mardi Gras Room this weekend include J. T. Sloan, scheduled to appear this Sunday (September 13). Check out more on the web at www.midtowne-spa.com.....

Hidden Door always gives the hard working men a Labor Day party to remember. Last weekend was the best ever. Super sexy customers Erik Denver and Mike Hensen [above, l-r] know where a man can have a good time. You can find out all about their daily drink specials and beer busts from your favorite bartender. They open at 7 a.m. daily and noon on Sundays....

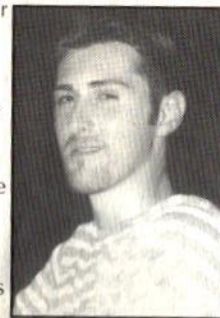

Partying at Jugs has never been better. Just ask Raquel [left]. Jugs has been around a couple of decades. So when you are looking for a fun time, look no further than Jugs. They are generations ahead of the rest of the clubs in Texas. Check it out tonight....

Famed circuit party producer extraordinaire Jeffrey Sanker is well known to Texans who've attended his annual White Party during Easter weekend in Palm Springs, California. Mr. Sanker also produces Beach Maneuvers in Pensacola, Florida during Memorial Day weekend, and everyone in the world knows of the infamous One Mighty Party in Orlando, Florida which launched a vivid anti-gay campaign against Disney World. This will be the premier of his latest and greatest party with Dallas as the location for a three ring circus of fun and frivolity for the masses from all over the world to enjoy some true southern hospitality as only Dallas, Texas and Jeffrey Sanker Enterprises can provide. Make your plans now because The Circuit Is Coming To Town. If you can't wait to get a sneak peek, surf on over to their excellent website at www.jefferysanker.com....

The Brick is always the place to be on Saturday nights. The party people get down and dirty during their theme parties and dance the nights away. You'll find some sexy studs like customer Chris [right] around to satisfy your taste for eye candy. The bartenders and dee jay will take care of the rest. Check it out this weekend....

The Village Station's famous Cruisin' The Crossroads happens tonight with no cover and reduced price drinks, if you get there early. Next Friday (September 18) will feature the sounds of the 70's Party, back by popular demand, with music and videos all night long with deejay Craig Reed at the controls. Coming up October 11: Jeffrey Sanker Enterprises presents a post-circuit party Sunday afternoon Tea-dance following the Texas premier of The Circuit Is Coming To Town, during Dallas' famous Texas-OU Weekend....

off some steam by taking off their togs...very yummy. Congratulations to Saint diva Erica Andrews who enjoyed her moment in the spotlight at the Miss Continental Pageant in Chicago this weekend and garnered herself the 3rd runner-up position. Atta-girl!...

OBITUARY

Valentin de la Rosa
July 25, 1953 - September 3, 1998

Valentin de la Rosa died of a heart attack on Thursday, September 3, 1998 at Twelve Oaks Hospital in Houston. Born in Edinburg, Texas, Valentin called Houston home for over 20 years. He is survived by four brothers and four sisters, preceded in death by his parents, one brother and one sister. Valentin served as a vital part of the AVES organization as a Supervisor of Case Management and was an inspiration to us all. A compassionate friend whose love was unconditional, Valentin gave of his heart until he could give no more. He richly blessed the lives of those around him and will live on in so many of us as we continue his legacy of hard work, devotion and dedication in our community.
