Dear Honored Guests,

I look forward to welcoming all of you to Dallas this weekend when I present the 1998 Miss Gay USofA at-Large Pageant.

Ten years ago, I realized that female impersonation had evolved to a point that the "large and lovely" entertainers across the country deserved a competition of their own, equal in every way to any other national pageant, yet specifically geared toward the biggest and the best. Hence, I created Miss Gay USofA at-Large as a system where they could compete on a fair and equal basis. The only difference between the Miss Gay USofA Pageant and the Miss Gay USofA at-Large Pageant is the weight of the contestant. Every other aspect is the same and I have no doubt that this year's competition will clearly demonstrate my theory.

I have always felt that a contest is only as good as their reigning titleholder. We have been blessed in the Miss Gay USofA at-Large system with some of the most talented and beautiful entertainers in the business. This year, we added a "crown jewel" to the prestigious list of individuals who have joined the family and represented the title of Miss Gay USofA at-Large. Dallas' own Whitney Paige has exceeded any and all of my expectations and I hope all of you will be on hand to show her your support. During the past twelve months, I have watched and admired her talent, beauty, professionalism, dedication and administrative skills with pleasure and amazement. I have never been prouder of any titleholder than I have been of Whitney. I will always be grateful that she chose to wear the Miss Gay USofA at-Large crown first on her way to making all of her life's dreams come true.

Once again, I hope to see all of you tonight at Village Station for the final night of preliminaries and cordially invite you to be with us tomorrow night in the ballroom of The Dallas Grand Hotel for what promises to be, quite literally, the biggest show in history.

Sincerely,

JMBird

Jerry Bird

Are You Ready to Cry?

If you were to ask me who my favorite writer is, I would probably tell you that it is John Irving. For this reason, I knew I that I had to see Simon Birch, the film version of Irving's A Prayer for Owen Meany. But, then I found out that they omitted the "dark" tone of the novel and made it into your typical Disney feel-good movie. With that revelation, I still wanted to see it, but I also wanted to hate what I saw. But God help me I just couldn't hate the movie. It was too darned cute.

The film tells the story of Simon Birch, the smallest delivery ever recorded in Gravestown, Maine. With a simple sneeze from his mother, the little boy (who the doctors' proclaimed a miracle) was born. The story is narrated by a very restrained Jim Carrey as the adult version of Simon's best friend, Joe Wentworth. With the opening sequence, we are given insight that this will be a three-hanky movie (well, a one- or two-hanky movie at least). But, puh-lease, what else would you expect from a film like this? We first see Joe standing in a cemetery as the voice over tells us that he is doomed to remember a boy with a wrecked voice, not because he is the smallest person Joe has ever met, or even because he was the instrument of the death of Joe's mother, but because Simon Birch is the reason Joe believes in God. Yes, the movie does have religious connotations throughout...spirituality is what is at the heart of the story.

Like all of Irving's novels, the story is set in a small picturesque New England town (here actually filmed in some gorgeous areas of Canada). We are taken back to Gravestown in 1964, when Joe (here played by Joseph Mazzello) and Simon (Ian Michael Smith) were 12 years old. Simon believes that he is God's instrument and is destined to be a hero. He just doesn't know how. For now, he acts like your typical boy - collecting baseball cards, discovering girls (okay, like your typical heterosexual boy), swimming in the quarry, and playing baseball (which he was particularly good at, not because of his hitting, but because he had such a miniscule strike zone). During one baseball game, Simon finally swings and hits a high foul ball with tragic consequences that alters the lives of both boys and sends each of them on a quest for the one thing they are missing: for Joe it is the identity of his father, a secret which Joe's mother (Ashley Judd) has kept from everyone, and for Simon it is the special purpose God has in mind that only a small miracle like himself can fulfill.

Surprisingly, two people who degrade Simon and are quick to point out his handicap are the tyrannical priest, Reverend Russell, and Sunday school teacher, Miss Leavy, played completely on target by David Straithairn and Jan Hooks, respectively. We are given the sense that these two characters are so miserable with their lives that they have lost their faith somewhere along the way. Simon is a constant reminder of what they no longer have, so they find it necessary to constantly tell him that he is not normal and does not belong in the church. This conflict comes to a climax when Simon, cast as the baby Jesus (because he is the only one who can fit in the manger), lets his pre-adolescent hormones go haywire when he sees the breasts on the Virgin Mary, resulting in the church's first "full-contact" Christmas pageant. The results of the incident propel the story toward the resolution of both boys' quests.

Does Joe find out the identity of his real father? Does Simon ultimately become a hero? If you really are wondering this, then you have also probably never heard of this fascinating new technology known as "moving pictures." The movie certainly doesn't break any new ground, and it is exactly what you would expect from a story of this nature. But it is so beautifully filmed and acted that it is just so hard to resist (and, yes, I do have to feel a little embarrassed to admit that).

Having now seen the film, I was not disappointed at the changes from the novel. I could almost quote the first half of the movie (written for the screen and directed by Mark Stephen Johnson in his directorial debut) word for word from the book. However, where the original story saw the boys grow up and go off to fight in the Vietnam War, this version progresses through only one year of the boys' lives. Author John Irving gave his blessing to the film, but asked that the names be changed to keep from confusing the two versions. This is why, during the credits, you will see the phrase "Suggested by the novel" rather than the usual "Based on the novel."

Three people particularly stand out in the overall terrific cast. Little Ian Michael Smith is the ideal Simon Birch. His mannerisms and eye expressions make him a natural at acting. It is just a real shame that we probably won't see much of him since there are practically no roles calling for persons of his physical characteristics (our loss). Another great performance comes from Ashley Judd as Joe's mother, Rebecca Wentworth. The only time I can recall her not smiling in the movie is in a great scene where she gives Miss Leavy a piece of her mind over the way Simon has been treated. Rebecca is the closest thing to a true mother that Simon has ever had. The woman was just so gorgeous and loving that I almost wanted to ask her to bear my children — almost. The third among the standouts is Oliver Platt as Ben Goodrich, a man who is dating Rebecca and acts as a surrogate father figure for Joe. He has been very good in numerous movies like Flatliners and A Time to Kill, but he has previously been almost nothing more than a part of the scenery. Here he gets to display his terrific acting talents.

I realize that this may not have been the goal of the filmmakers, but I got something out of the movie that I feel is very important. The movie expressed to me that, despite those who may mock or chastise you, you can stand out and be a hero regardless of your appearance, beliefs, gender or sexual orientation. Even if this wasn't the movie's intentions, it is a very important message, especially for those in the gay and lesbian community.

Ashley Judd [top] stars as Rebecca, one of the few people to believe that Simon Birch is destined to be a hero.

For me, the film had two weak points. The discovery of Joe's true father is completely predictable and somewhat unnecessary. The other problem I had is something I complain about in many movies, despite how good they may be. I don't want a movie to pull out all the stops to try to force tears out of the audience. I know this is exactly what movies like this set out to do, but let's not push it. Finally, the big question — did I cry? Well, my eyes may have watered a bit — but the theater was really, really smoky. I promise.

Simon Birch, presented by Hollywood Pictoures, is currently being screened at theaters across Texas. Check your local listing for times and locations.

Summer is barely over, which usually brings a slower pace of brilliant hi-energy dance gems. However, it looks as though the summer fun is just going to flow right over into the fall thanks to a steady flow from our friends abroad. So remember the old Bananarama song "Last Thing On My Mind." Scope out the all-new cover by a group on Jive/ Germany called Steps (three lovely girls and two equally snackish boys). The record is already a top five smash in the UK, and it's no wonder! The track was produced in the old PWL studios by none other than Pete Waterman (of Stock, Aitken, Waterman fame). This one will remind you of the good old Kylie/ Sonia days of the late 80's...Primo material!

Brothers are doing it for themselves...
Chemical Brothers

There's this absolutely lovely record that's been floating around for a couple of months called "You're Beautiful" by Madagascar. Although it's first run was vinyl only, now that all the legal mess over this record is done, the CD single is out. This is epic/trance/progressive stuff at it's best. Lush melodies, melodic synths, spectacular floating guitar hooks and strings, plus powerful looped vocals all add up to one of the most reveled records of the season. And we have to give a special FRESH BEATS "tip of the wig" to Dallas' very own Ric Herrington for turning us on to this one!

Another cover (of course) is one of the Phyllis Hyman "You Know How To Love Me." Oh my! The lead vocals are done by one of my favorite vocalists of all time Jackie Rawe. And goodie gum drops, it's on CD, too, for all the real people!

In the wake of the Studio 54 hooplah, check out the new Chic single, which encompasses revved up remixes of "I Want Your Love" and "Everybody Dance" '98 versions, courtesy of Stonebridge and Glen Frisca. Don't miss out on these fresh new versions.

Get ready for the absolute best No Mercy single to date in "Hello, How Are You?" This is one of those haunting hi-housers that will just get any room bumping and jumping. The package includes re-mixes by Johnny Viscious, Darrin Friedman, and more!

How about Miss Jane? No, I'm not talking about the Beverly Hillbillies! We're talking about Miss Jane from Opus III. Although this extremely limited pressing is a bit hard to find, it's surely worth the effort. Her retreatment of her classic "It's A Fine Day" comes all pumped up for the peak hour-very progressive and dark UK stuff here!...and "You Ain't Seen Nothin' Yet?" Yes, a slammin' re-tread of the Bachman Turner Overdrive classic, all done up by Bus Stop, the same team who brought you "Kung Fu Fighting" a couple of minutes ago. The cool thing is that Randy Backman went back into the studio and re-cut vocals for the project. This record is really cooking with some serious grease - a true hands-in-the-air party record to work the gayest of nerves.

Yea, I know, it's all about another cover, another loop, a sample...but not when it comes to the Chemical Brothers. Grab a copy of Brothers Gonna Work It Out (Virgin). This comp features a kick-ass collection of obscure classics (rather than the biggies) steeped in their darkly funky influences - a head banging collision of funk, acid, Detroit techno and psychedelic stuff for the headstrong listener. Those who know and appreciate don't ever need the details...those who do, probably won't be into it anyway. And that's Dance Music THIS WEEK IN TEXAS.

A Musical History Lesson

When I was twelve or thirteen years old, my family took a trip to Atlanta, and one of our stops was an attraction called the "Cyclorama." As I recall, the Cyclorama was a huge oil painting, mounted in a circle, depicting the Battle of Atlanta. Extending from this painting was a three-dimensional display of artillery, equipment and soldiers that reached almost to the viewer. We stood on a low platform and watched while the exhibit was slowly illuminated, in sections. There was a narration, accompanied by music. It was all very stirring. When the lights came up, I saw that my mother had been crying. I had never seen her make any such public display of emotion before, and when I asked her why, she brushed her tears away and shook her head.

It was this incident that came back to me with such force as I sat with an audience attending the World Premiere of the Alley Theatre's new musical production, The Civil War. My mother was crying because she was touched. And so was I. It's as simple, and as complicated, as that. It's also a little embarrassing. Me, a cynical, seen-it-all-done-it-all critic, whose own ties to the Civil War are slender (two of my great-grandfathers, neither of whom I ever knew, fought on the side of the South), blubbering like a fourteen-year-old girl at her twenty-seventh viewing of Titanic. So how did this happen? Let's go back to the beginning.

Alley Artistic Director Gregory Boyd was searching for a theme to collaborate on with composer Frank Wildhorn. The two had worked together previously on the musical Jekyll and Hyde, which debuted at the Alley and went on to Broadway. The theme they hit on was the Civil War, which they felt had never been treated on the stage as they would like to see it. From the beginning, they felt that a "book" treatment, that is, a fictionalized narrative such as Gone with the Wind, should not be attempted. Instead, they turned to the accounts and letters of the period as background for what they have described as a "dramatic concert." The result is an amalgam of authentic narrative and contemporary sensitivity. The American Civil War was arguably the most literate of all conflicts. Everybody wrote, and many wrote well. There is a wealth of material.

REVIEWED BY GARY LAIRD

Cheryl Freeman (l) and Michel Bell star in The Alley Theatre's production of The Civil War, in Houston.

Wildhorn, with lyricist Jack Murphy, has fashioned the music – a combining of 19th century American motifs with a late 20th century American sound.

So what is the show like? I'm getting to that. This is a difficult production to describe. Boyd and the Alley have done this to me before. Remember The Greeks? My point is, that whenever a production is difficult to describe, it usually means that new ground is being broken. Nobody has any trouble with My Fair Lady. Or Rent, for that matter. The Civil War has all the trappings of dramatic musical theater – lighting, action, movement, conflict, emotion. It even has narrative, of a sort. And it has the music. Wildhorn's score sometimes lulls, sometimes soars, but it never fails to reach the listener on some level. It will be criticized for being "commercial," which usually translates as "hummable." It is, but what's wrong with that? Personally, I'm getting tired of having atonal obscenities sung at me in the name of "art." There is room for every approach in the theater, and there should be, but ultimately, theater that's not "commercial" at some level, is dead.

There is one other element to account for — the cast. And here we have an embarrassment of riches. The company is too large to list here. I wish I could, but understand that Boyd and Wildhorn combed the best of contemporary American musical theater and came up with the cream, including leads and featured players in such recent Broadway productions as Jekyll and Hyde, Showboat, Porgy and Bess, Whistle Down the Wind, Miss Saigon, and Rent. Rarely, if ever, will you be privileged to hear such an ensemble. Outstanding in a list of outstanding performances are Linda Eder singing "An Angel's Lullaby" and "I Never Knew His Name." Michel Bell and Cheryl Freeman are especially touching as two lovers about to be separated as slaves in "If Prayin' Were Horses." Capathia Jenkins scores big with "Candle in the Window," as does Gene Miller in "Virginia" and Matt Bogart with "Tell My Father." If there's a problem with the score, it's because the theme has it boxed in. In order to remain true to its roots, the show is long on ballads, with the gospel beat just about the only relief available. There is one piece with a solid rock background, "Greenback," sung with relish by Jesse Lenat as Autolycus Fell, a pimp, and his colleagues, Mabel and Violet. While it does break the mood (and I liked it), it is jarring and presents an irresistible target for critics. It'll be interesting to see whether it makes the final cut. For this production is still very much a work in progress.

This is a big show with big plans. From Houston The Civil War goes to New Haven for a tryout before hitting Broadway next spring, where it joins a lengthening list of shows running in New York that have originated here. Houston is a player. And you can see it here first.

The Civil War runs through October 11, with a possible extension. Call 713/228-8421 for tickets and information.

HORRIFYING RUMORS

Before I get to my review, there's a little story I'd like to share. You see, I just got back from a romantic week in Paris where I had the vacation of a lifetime with my wonderful partner, Rod. We took rolls and rolls of incredibly scenic photographs which we couldn't wait to get developed. So, there we are, flipping through our pictures at Turtle Creek Photo – Eiffel Tower, Louvre, Mona Lisa (you get the idea). Shockingly, we turn to the last picture in the roll and would you believe it? There, for all the world to see, is the hotel maid, stark naked with our toothbrushes (which we have since used) stuck in a place where they weren't meant to be! Can you believe it?

Well, you shouldn't. It never happened. Not even the romantic holiday. Surprisingly, however, I have dozens of friends whose manicurist's therapist's hairdressers have had this very thing happen to them, yet no one knows for sure exactly to whom. Such urban legends (much more frightening, yet equally disgusting) are the inspiration for the crazed killer in the latest Scream clone, Urban Legend.

From the first few minutes of the movie, unsuspecting beautiful people attending the gothically looming Pendleton College begin to get murdered in elaborately staged recreations of some of the most famous urban legends. Having recently been deemed the "Safest Campus in America" courtesy of U.S. News & World Report, the campus powers that be (specifically the dean, played by John Neville) want to keep these tragedies covered up. But that's not about to stop eager beaver reporter Paul (Jared Leto, ooh-la-la) and woe-is-me-why-are-all-my-friends-being-hacked-to-death co-ed Natalie (Alicia Witt) from discovering the truth. Of course, their friends Brenda (Rebecca

REVIEWED BY STEVEN LINDSEY

Gayheart), Parker (Michael Rosenbaum) and Damon (Joshua Jackson) don't really believe their paranoid delusions, but play along anyway, presumably for support (or in some cases, just to cop a cheap feel). Soul mama and lone campus cop Reese (Loretta Devine) thinks she can handle the mayhem a la Pam Grier in Foxy Brown, even as an annual fraternity party commemorating the 25th anniversary of a Pendleton mass murder urban legend looms. Throw in the American folklore class of Professor Wexler (Freddy himself, Robert Englund) and all the stories he throws out and suddenly, the killer's got quite a reference library of ways to mutilate, maim and mangle.

Joshua Jackson [r] gives students Alicia Witt [l] and Rebecca Gayheart [center] a fright in Urban Legend.

There's nothing terribly original here because after all, most of the plot points have all been heard around countless campfires across America. The saving grace of this horror film is that it is cleverly crafted and genuinely scary. The body count is significantly higher than the recent Halloween: H20, and there is a great deal more suspense, so by the law of averages, you get more boo for your buck. There are a few too many cat-jumping-out-of-the-closet style scares, but they still serve to make you let your guard down enough to be really scared when something evil does happen.

The first half is pretty typical horror fare, but once an urban-legend hybrid involving a kitchen appliance hits the screen, you know the movie means business. The pace quickens and the beautiful, SoloFlexed bodies begin piling up – and so do the suspects. Employing the old “justifiable” homicide defense for the surprise killer is nothing new, but it makes for a great showcase of crazed, over-the-top acting once this mystery murderer is revealed. The performance is ultracampy and hilarious to watch. (Of course, I can't tell you who is performing without giving away the best surprise).

Witt is good as the token victim-with-a-brain who barely escapes numerous attacks and brushes with the killer only to make it to a final showdown. Definitely not your typical horror bimbo, she brings a bit of reserved class to the genre. (In fact, close your eyes when she speaks and I swear you'll hear echoes of Bebe Neuwirth's Lilit).

Leto is fine (and I do mean fine!) as Natalie's truth-seeking accomplice. His acting is a bit stiff, but would've been more easily forgiven had they allowed a gratuitous shower scene or something. Where, oh where, are the good naked hunk urban legends?

The rest of the cast screams and runs with the best of them, with only Gayheart and Devine standing out as true high points of the film. Each of these women has her own defining moment of crowd-pleasing splendor.

Overall, if you're even the slightest horror fan, you'll have a good time at Urban Legend. It's not great film (the “dramatic” moments are exceptionally hokey), but as a movie it thoroughly succeeds in what it sets out to do – scare the hell out of everyone. So chant “Bloody Mary” five times in front of a mirror, grab a bucket of Kentucky Fried rats, stick a gerbil you-know-where and head out to the theaters for a 90-minute adrenaline boost. And don't worry, there are plenty of legends out there, as well as a wide open opportunity at the movie's end, for at least a couple more sequels. (Or perhaps it's just a rumor).

Urban Legend, presented by TriStar Pictures, is currently being screened at theaters across Texas. Check your local listings for times and locations.

October 8 1991

Feisty Mars changes signs this week moving from dramatic Leo to pragmatic Virgo. We launch with new affirming energy into new affirming endeavors. Take it to the streets, comrades. We have nothing to lose but our straight jackets.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) Libras feel especially magnanimous when altruistic Mars enters practical Virgo and are drawn to great causes and grand scale efforts on behalf of our community. Use this auspicious time to volunteer for a worthy gay charity. You'll make a difference. It's also time to free yourself from personal demons. Empty Out your closet. Let the rainbow in!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) This is no time to be alone. Randy Mars in Virgo enables all wildly proud Scorps to become the epicenter of any social swirl. Mars can act as dictator, if you find that the masses do not voluntarily march in your direction. The secret is to be as charming as possible. I know you have it in you to be the iron fist wrapped in a velvet glove. Evita! Evita!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) Galloping gay Archers are headed for the corporate inner sanctum if feisty Mars in Virgo has anything to say about it. You are driven to succeed at any cost with fanatical Mars at the planetary helm. Before you storm the barricades though, check to see if Kaiser really is the corporate title to which you aspire. Frankly dear, I've always thought of you as the Queen Bee type.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) The world is your oyster queer Cap when adventurous Mars enters Virgo. This may be the perfect time to escape from the hum drum and recharge your batteries. Even if you don't have the dough to go far, the planets demand that you revise and refresh yourself. Perhaps a bottle of plonk and some lurid pastime will do the trick? Maybe just do the trick.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) Aqueerians are hot to trot when Mars in Virgo tickles your fancy. This is the time to satisfy your passionate urges so put on your bathing cap and dive into the pulsating pot. Mars may also encourage you to probe deeply into your own psyche and unblock any personally debilitating psychological barriers. On second thought, probe someone else instead.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - March 20) Salmon must struggle and swim upstream to meet their mate. Pink Fish won't have to swim that far or that hard to find their life partner when lusty Mars traverses astute Virgo. If you keep a practical, patient and energetic eye out for the right person, you can form a partnership (or strengthen one) during this transit. Hopefully even the feistiest Fish can get hooked.

ARIES (March 21 - April 20) Gay Rambos create molehills out of mountains at work for the next three weeks, thanks to energetic Mars in serviceable Virgo. You can accomplish the impossible now as long as the impossible requires raw elbow grease and a spark of inspiration. Concentrate on the job or on creating the perfectly toned bod at the gym. Either project can help you get ahead.

TAURUS (April 21 - May 21) Rev up your engines. Fun takes on a hot intensity when crackly Mars enters Virgo. Queer Bulls become party hearty animals who can boogie till the cows come home. But use this spark sparingly. There is nothing sadder than a ragged and dazed Bull waking up to a hangover on the morning after. Maybe the secret is to not go to sleep at all...?

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) No holds barred Mars in Virgo encourages you to take umbrage with homophobic family values and demand change. Good thing, too. Proud Twins cannot tolerate intolerance and realize that change begins at home. Do what you must do to live life proudly fulfilled and happily affirmed. Compromise just ain't in the cards, cousin, unless of course you're the joker.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) Rainbow Crabs can become fairly mouthy when they put their minds and, well, their mouths to it. Now, as aggressive Mars traipses into Virgo, even recalcitrant Crabs feel the urge to shout it Out loud and queer. Make your opinions known to the immediate world while the planetary energy is right. Who knows. Election day is not that far off, and we could use a better choice.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) Radical Mars in practical Virgo forces indulgent gay Lions to reassess their fiscal future. Take a good hard look at your monetary roadmap and see if it contains a few too many detours from a cushy early retirement. Repent, repent ye spendthrifts. Go and squander no more! Use the Mars push to consolidate debt and build equity. It's not as painful as it sounds, cousin.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) Feisty Mars in your own sign prepares you for a fabulous grand entrance. Proud Virgins can charm the pants off just about anyone now so turn on the charismatic spigot and let it flow. You have approximately three weeks to get yourself known around town so use this time to meet and greet. You may even decide to adopt a "new look" if seatless hot pants can be considered new.

AIDS LIFEWALK THIS WEEKEND

Eighth Annual Event Scheduled For This Sunday

DALLAS - Thousands of walkers and participants will descend on Turtle Creek this Sunday, October 4, when Oak Lawn Community Service's AIDS LifeWalk steps off in what has become Texas' largest annual AIDS fund-raising event. LifeWalk has raised more than $2.8 million to support the programs of OLCS and other Dallas AIDS agencies. Last year's event brought in more than $630,000 and attracted an amazing 7,000 participants. "AIDS LifeWalk has made a dramatic impact on the lives of people affected by HIV/AIDS because of legions of volunteers, team captains and walkers who contribute their time and resources to help those living with AIDS," said Steve Habgood, 1998 co-chair. "We're proud AIDS LifeWalk has grown into such a successful and fun event for individuals, friends and families. We especially want to thank all the groups of friends, churches, organizations, schools and area businesses for their continued support. To show our appreciation, we have a great line-up of celebrities, entertainment, plus food and drinks after the walk to make this event fun for everyone, yet meaningful," stated Habgood.

Recording artist and Dallas native Lisa Loeb and WFAA-TV's Good Morning Texas co-host Todd Whitthorne will serve as this year's honorary co-chairs along with Steve Habgood and Leigh Ann Runyan, who are the events co-chairs. In addition to OLCS, beneficiaries for this year's event include Bryan's House, Pediatric AIDS Network of Dallas, Project Esperanza, Welcome House, Inc. and White Rock Friends. This year's sponsors include Miller Beer of Dallas, American Airlines, The Sabre Group, Caven Enterprises, The Dallas Morning News, Texas Instruments, KKZN-FM (93.3 "The Zone"), Dallas World Aquarium, The Wyndham Anatole Hotel, Kroger Food Stores, Munsch Hardt, Lockheed Martin, Bank of America, Fannie Mae, Bank United, NationsBank, Ortho-Biotech, Coca Cola, WFAA-TV, Naya and Lucern Technology.

Teams and walkers will check in between 11a.m. and 1p.m. with the opening ceremonies scheduled for 12 noon at the intersection of Lemmon Avenue and Turtle Creek Boulevard, where the walk also ends. The walk itself begins at 1p.m. with food and entertainment immediately following.

OCTOBER IS NATIONAL BREAST CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

*Lesbian Health Matters!
Conference Set for Oct. 10*

DALLAS - Lesbian Health Matters!, the bi-annual event sponsored by the Lesbian Health Initiative, was once a health fair and has grown to a day-long conference scheduled for next Saturday, October 10, from 9:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. at the Gay and Lesbian Community Center, 2701 Reagan Street. The conference takes place during National Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

The problem of finding a large enough location for the ever-growing health fair, which has been a concern in the past, has been solved by moving the event to the Community Center. The health fair atmosphere includes informational exhibits from local providers and women's organizations as well as services. Lesbian Health Matters! centers around a day of workshops and seminars featuring arts and crafts by women from the Dallas and North Central Texas community.

Free or low-cost health screenings will include mammograms, HIV testing, iron, diabetes and thyroid hormone tests, posture and blood pressure checks, massage therapy and more. Local health care providers and service organizations will dispense information on topics including wellness, fitness, STD and HIV education, holistic and alternative healing, breast self-exam, chiropractic education, podiatry information, mental health and substance abuse.

Admission to Lesbian Health Matters! will be a box of non-deodorized feminine hygiene products to benefit local women's shelter and street outreach programs. All conference attendees will be registered for a raffle with drawings every fifteen minutes for a wide array of prizes.

The gatherings offer women a space to interact and meet with other women who have similar interests. Scheduled meetings include topics of interest to lesbians who have had or desire insemination, lesbians of color, older lesbians and younger lesbians.

Mammogram appointments must be scheduled in advance by calling Starr Eaddy at (214) 528-9254, extension 115. For additional information, contact Emilia Menche at Oak Lawn Community Services, (214) 520-8108, extension 111. The Lesbian Health Initiative encompasses a diverse group of individuals and agencies dedicated to promoting physical and mental health and wellness among lesbians and all women in the Dallas-Fort Worth-Denton area. The Lesbian Health Initiative comprises representatives from the Foundation for Human Understanding, Gay & Lesbian Community Center, OLCS, Winkle Consulting & Research, Planned Parenthood of North Texas & Dallas, Cathedral of Hope, Hands for Health Chiropractic and Mobile Massage.

I Fall To Pieces

My early model Honda Accord has, for some time, been dying a very slow, painful death. It began just days after I made the last payment, of course. First the air conditioner began, a sort of, low emphysemic coughing that eventually lead to the total demise of any air circulation whatsoever. Which means that, regardless of the amount of preparation I go through to leave my house as a presentable human, I always arrive at my destination, sweat-soaked, looking as though I've just run a 10K marathon. The coin organizer/dispenser in the console jammed shut at a Jack-In-The-Box in Dallas with $37 inside. Which is sort of a blessing in disguise as it is now the only item of real value the car can claim. Renowned entertainer Hot Chocolate handed me the inside door lever, after it fell off in her lap, and begged me to please release her from the four-wheeled death-trap after trying in vain to exit my car at her hotel during a San Antonio visit. Fortunately, I'd just seen What's Love Got To Do With It, so watching someone who looks vaguely like Tina Turner doing a little over-acting didn't faze me.

The plus to having a heap for wheels is that I now have a detached disregard for it. I no longer run to the window during a rain storm to see if I've left the windows down. More often than not, I choose to ignore the constantly changing multitude of red blinking lights on my dashboard. It's far cheaper. I haven't spent a single dime on windshield washer fluid in 6 months and putting off those costly oil changes for up to a year can really add up in the savings department. I prefer, instead, to judge my maintenance requirements by how loud I have to play the radio to cover up the noise the problem is making.

The most recent noise to infect my auto was a kind of grinding and squeaking combo that intensified when the brakes were applied and grew worse with each application. Which was just fine with me. I switched to a classic rock radio station...problem solved. But when my brake pedal sank to the floor on a trip to the grocery and I continued through a four-way stop without so much as a hesitation, I decided it was time to break down (pun intended) and visit a mechanic.

After listing nearly 90 major mechanical defects, the Lithuanian car specialist now in my employ (at $7,245 per hour) informs me that my brakes are definitely shot and hands me an estimate for the parts and labor. I am revived, sometime later, from the lobby floor and escorted to my car. Jokingly, I request an estimate for having two holes cut into the floorboards so that I can bring the car to a stop Flinstone style. The mechanic smiles and points to line 48 on the estimate.

Using side streets and my emergency brake, I make my way to the nearest car stereo installation center and add a power booster to my car's radio. I'm still not able to stop, but you're sure to hear me coming.

the parade,
the Celebration in Lee Park and the trophy winners.

DALLAS TEA - One of the largest crowds in the fifteen-year history of the Alan Ross Texas Freedom Parade was on hand last Sunday as more than 100 floats and entries made their way down Cedar Springs, past the judges stand and ended up in Lee Park for the giant Celebration sponsored annually by the Dallas Tavern Guild. This year's parade included the most diverse group of participants in the event's decade-and-a-half history. Trophies awarded [left] in seven categories went to Grace Fellowship, Moby Dick, Cheer Dallas, Caven Enterprises, Krewe of Olympus-Texas, The Dallas Eagle and

"Anything Goes" every Sunday at JR's when zany emcee Wanda [l] hosts a no-holds-barred competition in which any type talent may compete. Wanda, better known as Jasper, really worked her ass off at last weekend's parade and received special recognition from the Tavern Guild for her efforts. Hats off to someone who's always there for the community,...

Fall may not yet be in the air but that doesn't mean you shouldn't be making your plans for the huge Texas-OU Street Party next Friday, October 9, this year in the 3000 block of Throckmorton. Lots of beer, great music, Cheer Dallas and a huge crowd of revelers guarantee an unforgettable celebration. Next up at the Crossroads is their annual Halloween Street Party on Saturday, October 31. This event has grown into unbelievable proportions and is not to be missed....

Crews Inn Tuesdays are a Dallas institution that nobody has ever been able to explain. Why is it that the biggest crowds in town choose to come to Crews Inn on Tuesday of all nights? It doesn't matter why - you can bet the club is packed wall-to-wall and a great time is guaranteed. Just ask Juan and Pedro [right, l-r] who were there this past weekend....

Right around the corner, you'll find the Hideaway, unique among Dallas watering holes. Two separate bars in one location, connected by Big D's most beautiful patio, add up to a piano bar unsurpassed in its friendliness and ambience. We ran into cute customer Chad [left] last Sunday but he's certainly not the only pretty thing to look at Hideaway....

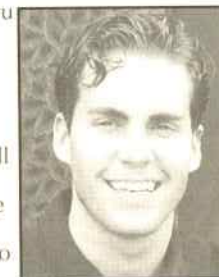

How do you plan to observe National Coming Out Day on Sunday, October 11? What better way than to be at the Band Shell at the State Fair of Texas from 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m.? You can bet that thousands of our gay and lesbian brothers and sisters will be there and you should be, too... The State Fair of Texas runs through Sunday, October 18....

Everyone loves TMC manager Frank Thompson [right], but what's not to love? We helped him celebrate his recent birthday and he invited everyone out for the club's Country Cruisin' Tuesdays which feature 100% country music all day and all night and their scandalous Cowboy Butts Drive Me Nuts contest, emceed by Jay Jasper, at 11 p.m....

There's no better place to while away the hours of a lazy, hazy Texas afternoon than in The Parlor, Round Up's fantastic new daytime bar. They feature happy hour prices until 10 p.m., drink specials Monday through Friday and beautiful customers like handsome Leo Ventrone [right] who visited the club one recent Sunday afternoon. Congratulations to the Round Up staff and management, all their generous customers and the huge crowd at last Sunday's parade who tossed a whopping $3,600 into Round Up's giant Texas flag. All that change really adds up and goes directly to the Hot Meals Program....

Some of Dallas' most gorgeous male dancers can be found at Moby Dick every Wednesday night beginning at 10pm and hunky Steve Cherry [left] is a prime example. Moby's weekly line-up of non-stop action includes Broadway Show Tunes with emcee Wayne Smith every Tuesday at 10 p.m. and Karaoke every Sunday and Thursday at 10 p.m., featuring emcee Stephen Andrews, who is pictured [right, l] with Moby regular David Marcus [r]....

Plan to be at The Brick tomorrow night, Saturday, October 3, for their Laser Party. You won't want to miss a minute of the action featuring hot boys, hot dancing and your chance to win free laser lights all night long. To double your party pleasure, catch the Moby/Brick shuttle from 9 p.m. until 4 a.m....

Are you 19 or 20 years old and looking for the hottest party in town on Wednesday and Thursday nights? Or, are you an admirer of beautiful people in that age bracket? Then it's a no-brainer as to where to go - because the Village Station once again welcomes this age group, but be warned -

two of the reasons that Village Station is so packed. In fact, it's the number one gay bar in the history of Texas. Enough said....

Both of Sue Ellen's patios are jammed to overflowing on Sundays when the most gorgeous individuals in North Texas converge on the club. Retro Wednesdays are also the rage with no cover and DJ Michael Yates spinning the favorite hits from the 70's and 80's for your listening and dancing pleasure. When you go, take a moment to stop and thank Kathy Jack for all she does for the community and especially the Parade, which literally would not happen without her efforts and those of Paul Lewis....

If your taste leans a little toward, shall we say, the exotic, (and whose doesn't?) you'll definitely want to be at the Dallas Eagle October 9-11 when NLA/Dallas celebrates it's thirteenth anniversary with Living In Leather XIII. Congratulations to Matt Miller, Mark Frazier and the men at the club who took home this year's trophy for the best non-professional float at the annual Alan Ross Texas Freedom Parade....

Looking for a place to go that's a little off the beaten path and away from the crowds, but nevertheless fun and entertaining? How about the Twisted Lemmon? Did you see their wild entry in the parade? If that's any indication of what goes on at the club, then we're ready to go. Add to that cute dancers like Cyrus [right] who appear Monday through Thursday and live piano and vocal performances Friday through Sunday, not to mention their Friday happy hour buffet and it all adds up to "Men, Music, Martinis and More,"...

Finally, pageantry is in the air as Jerry Bird presents the tenth annual Miss Gay USofA at-Large pageant. Final preliminary competition takes place tonight on the Main Floor of Village Station with the pageant finals scheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow night, Saturday, October 3, in the ballroom of the Dallas Grand Hotel, 1914 Commerce Street, Downtown. If you've never been to an "at-Large" event before, get ready to be impressed. These big girls really go all out - you've never seen such productions, gowns, pomp and pageantry. Dallas favorite Whitney Paige, the current Miss Gay USofA at-Large, will be on hand to personally crown this year's winner. If you want to see a great show, don't miss this one.

HOUSTON TEA — Once again, Toyz was the site of a spectacular pageant. For the first time in 20 years, the Miss Gay Texas Pageant returned to Houston for three days of glitz and glamour. At the end of this amazing competition, Miss Gay America Maya Montana [above, c] and last year's winner Kofi [r] congratulated this year's lucky lady, Charity Case [l]. Marina Moore, Essence DeVille, Lauren LeMasters and Aspen Tyler rounded out the top five. Gizelle Bevon-Ashton was named Miss Congeniality by her fellow contestants. For more competition and crowning photos, turn to page 65. Next Friday, October 9, a bevy of beautiful bodies are in store for you as Toyz welcomes adult film star Blake Callahan for a special and sensual show with dazzling divas Monique Johnson and Erica Andrews. There's no cover until 10 p.m.; showtime is 11 p.m....

Feelin' lucky? Dean, Jeff, Stormy and Frank [above, l-r] are, that's why they'll be at JR's tonight (October 2) for the 1998 Gold Eagle coin giveaway. One of them would love to take home a grand prize weighing in at one troy ounce of pure gold. The fun and excitement never stop at JR's. In addition to an awesome array of drink specials, the club's weeknight party lineup begins with Pump! Monday featuring a professional male dancer's pose off, a 2(x)ist underwear strip contest on Tuesday and Joe Boxer shorts contest on Wednesday. Kick start your week with three nights of body-baring action at JR's....

If the Houston heat doesn't make you sweat, weekends at the Montrose Mining Company will. Every Friday and Saturday, along with a wide variety of longneck and well drink specials, the men of the Mine throw in some super studly male dancers to make sure that hot men, great music and good times are guaranteed to be

dancers to satisfy your senses. And while you're there, be sure to ask doormen Bryan and Kenny [above, l-r] about the club's interesting lineup of no cover specials....

At the Houston Gay and Lesbian Political Caucus Awards Gala, HGLPC President Clarence Bagby [above, l] and National Gay and Lesbian Task Force Executive Director Kerry Lobel [r] presented Houston Mayor Lee Brown [c] with the Caucus' Harvey Milk Award for his support for gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgendered equality since his election. Keeping a campaign promise made to the Caucus, earlier this year, Brown issued an Executive Order banning discrimination in city hiring and employment on the basis of sexual ori-for San Antonio's Gay and Lesbian Community Center on October 9. Cruise in and support the local organization and enjoy cheap drinks and some of the sexiest bartenders to ever sling a cocktail in the Alamo City....

Sparks nightclub continues to offer you the chance to live the dream of being a star every Monday and Thursday. Come by and enjoy the hidden talents of your fellow karaoke partiers or grab the microphone and test your own songstress skills....

On October 5, Pegasus will host a "Meet the Candidates" open forum for the gay community where we may voice opinions and ask questions of a host of people seeking office. Guests scheduled to appear include Charles Gonzales, son of Henry B. Gonzales, who is running for his father's US Congressional seat; Gammon Guinn, Mary Ramon, Mario Del Prado and Bobby Perez. Everyone is encouraged to attend the event and become actively involved in River City's local government.

Pegasus customer David and staffer Bobby [above, l-r] invite everyone to join them at the 1999 Prince and Princess of Pegasus Benefit Pageant on Sunday, October 11 at 8 p.m. Miss TGRA 1998 Destiny Harper will host the event and all proceeds will benefit the very worthy Bullfrog Benevolence Fund. Applications and information are available at the club or by calling (210) 299-4222....

ritual hand tattooing. Join the staff and manager Niecy on Tuesdays for "My Way", a special evening of partying and low drink specials with an edge....

The folks at The Annex have finished the remodeling work on the back bar and it is now available for special events and private parties. The club generously supplies a bartender at no charge, so if you're planning a soiree, why not enjoy it yourself and leave the worrying to them? For availability, call the club at (210) 348-8791. Congrats to both the Firedancers and The Gay Dart League of San Antonio, whose combined efforts this past week raised over $600 for local charities.

AUSTINTeaCIOUS - We remind all of you about the LifeWalk this Sunday afternoon. As usual, the festivities will be at Waterloo Park. The activities begin at noon and the walk itself will begin at 2 p.m. Come out for a fun day in the sun and to show the world you are a gay person and are willing to stand and be counted. Our strength is in our numbers. Never forget that!...

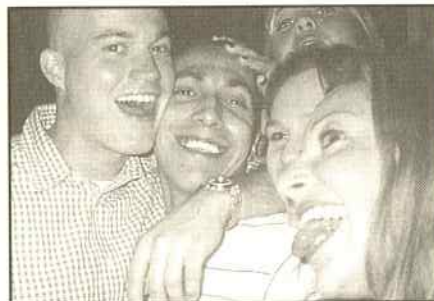

Charlie's has had to fend off the guys these days. Ever since the arrival of beautiful new bartender Joe, the front door looks more like a revolving door. As we can all see by the look on fellow bartender David's face, Joe [above, l] is quite the looker. Speaking of lookers, Kelly Kline was the special guest this past Sunday. Not only is she lovely and nice, but she's a great entertainer. The Manwatch dancers are there for your viewing enjoyment every Friday, Saturday and Sunday night. They are a great bunch of guys and they definitely do make your favorite cocktail taste better just by being there. Congratulations go out to Charlie's regulars Ashley Collins and Scarlett Leigh, who both made the top 10 at Miss Gay Texas last week in Houston....

Life on The Edge is as festive as ever. Between the boys who like boys, the girls who like girls and the boys and girls who like both, there is always something or someone to have fun with. The new showers are installed and fully functional. That means the shower dancers are keeping everyone's libidos even higher than they were to begin with. You would think that the straight girls who come in had never seen a wet man before. They stand there slack jawed and in awe. OK, we all stand there in awe of Momma's Boys. They are all so fine that we can't help it. Drag Soup was even more fun than usual last Sunday night! Kristen and Heather are a fierce combination. When they get together, you know you are in for a fun time....

Dick's Deja Disco was so hot this past week even the mirrors were steamed up! The only way the shower dancers could have possibly been any hotter was if we had been in there with them. They all decided that one at a time was far less fun than two or three. Needless to say, the crowd was on their knees begging to be next in the stall. We are told that there is a new and improved Kendyll. We can't figure out how they improved on someone so fabulous, but maybe they got her a cell phone so you can call ahead for your drink. It might be ready when you get there....if you are coming from Round Rock! Just kidding buddy!...

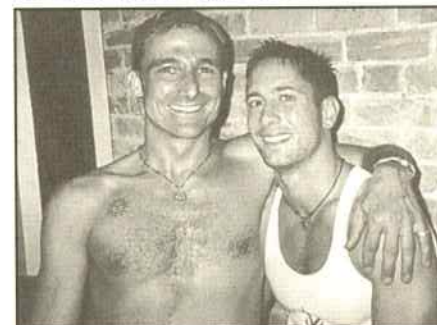

Splash Video Bar continues to show us a good time. Clearly the group of rowdies above feels the same. They may have been there for Melrose Monday, Thursday Showtune night or even Friday or Saturday cruise nights. Whichever night you go, you will have a great time. Don't forget, starting this Monday night, Murrah will be hosting talent night. If you can sing, play the guitar, twirl a baton or whatever...get on out and compete for the $75.00 cash prize. This Sunday (October 4), Carl will be showing Titanic on all 40 screens during Happy Hour. Stop in for Happy Hour on the 8th and say "hi" to Carlotta and Brucetta. They will be in drag and donating the money to charity for the day. Then Sunday the 11th, the bar presents The Austin Baptist Women in one of their trademark crazy performances....

The Rainbow Cattle Company is the place to be if you like cowboys, cowgirls, and good country music. In case you don't know how to dance, they have lessons every Tuesday night. Beginner lessons are at 8 with intermediate lessons at 9. All this follows Taco Tuesday, so you can dance on a full tummy. We hear through the grapevine that handsome David [right] is a married man these days. We also understand that the hubby works at another bar. Well at least they get off at the same time...so to speak! Don't forget about Thursday steak night. They have steak, ribs or chicken and a great spread for $5.00....

The Forum is Austin's pump party headquarters. Every Friday night, they have a new pump theme. Check with your favorite bartender for this week's theme. It would seem that Bobby has decided to swear undying love to his boyfriend, in front of witnesses. Is there a ring in the future? Keep us posted as to where you two will be registered. Darren and his hubby will be happy to tell you where they got the best deal on rings. Make sure to check out all the "fine as wine" men like these two [above] partying at the club until dawn every weekend. If you like them built and shirtless, then this is the place to hang out....

Up at 'Bout Time, they have been having quite the time with the T.G.R.A. carnival. Between the booths and the chance of rain, everyone was praying to get this off without a hitch. They were successful and raised several hundred dollars for charity. That night the benefit show was a hoot as always. All the girls came out and gave it up and a festive time was had by all. Especially Topaz, who had one too many and felt so real that she forgot to tuck.

Needless to say, "Free Willy" was the call of the night. This Saturday is daytime bartender Tom's last day to be with the 'Bout Time family. Stop in and wish him a fond farewell as he goes off to chase other dreams. Just a reminder: the bar will be having their annual Haunted House this year Wednesday through Saturday of Halloween week. All proceeds will be donated to a worthy cause. OOOOOO SCARY!!

LICENSED MASSEURS

STATE CERTIFICATION POLICY

Texas law clearly requires that only bona fide, state-certified masseurs can be listed in this category.
Therefore, TWT policy requires that all masseurs must publish their state-certification number within their advertisements and that a photocopy of their state masseur's license be on file at TWT.

prohibits non-licensed massage therapists from us-

OBITUARY

John Thomas Seawright
01/15/52 - 08/14/98

He was loud-mouth, foul-mouthed, acid-tongue, bitter, opinionated, outrageous, big-haired, overdressed, underdressed, demanding, grandstanding, energetic, romantic, compassionate and addicted to life.

He loved traveling, Tahoe, parties, cooking, rhinestones, camping in the woods and on the beach, camping in the malls and airports, entertaining, parties, women's shoes, hair, make-up, decorating, gift giving and his best friends Babs, Lotte Lenya, Kathie Lee and his devoted friend, David.

He said, "We'll have a good time, yessir!", "But I don't like Jewish men!", "My friends depend on me, now clean the bathroom, Kathryn!" and "There's always somebody worse off than you."

A large diverse family mourns the loss of his extraordinary presence. Some members include Jessie, Sonja and Roland, Lou and Margy, Sally and Mike, Nelson and Sandra, Kathryn, Dwana, Gene, Mark, Larry and Al, Mike, Jessica and Bob, Connell and J.B., Rebecca and Mark, Suki and of course, David.

Rita Dillard

Rita died peacefully at her home in Dallas, Sunday, September 27, 1998. She was born in Dallas, Texas on October 3, 1933, the daughter of Genevè and Ted Carter. She was a life-long Dallas resident and is survived by her immediate family, husband Charles and daughter Reesa. She was well known and loved by many people and worked at Dallas' Landing and at Buddies II for 12 years as a bookkeeper. She loved shows and was the show director for many years, as well as the bar's resident "psychiatrist.". She never met a stranger and will be missed by many people. There will be a special memorial service for Rita at Buddies II, 4025 Maple Avenue in Dallas, on Saturday, October 10 at 4:00 pm and all of her friends are invited to attend.
