ALL ABOUT HEALTH & FITNESS

"GYM ETIQUETTE"
BY M. KASTEN

Just yesterday, a member of our gym approached me with a concerned look. He wanted to know how he could lose some fat around his midsection. We got into a discussion about the nonsense of spot reduction, and blah, blah, blah. During our chat we were interrupted by a guy over in the "leg quadrant" of the gym. He was doing leg presses. See, we could tell 'cause he was grunting and moaning so loud, I thought the mirrors he was gazing into would crack! While he was leg pressing into the next dimension, the goon of course sweating profusely all over the machine. YUK! The poor guy waiting to use the leg press waiting forever behind him, was totally grossed out by the sweat and I think the smell.. and just then, while I looked at my friend in wonder, the goon stood up, and stepped off the machine. With his flip flops flopping, left the 6 pairs of plates hanging on the posts, shuffled over to grab his keys off the pegboard and skipped out!

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS PICTURE! OK, so my story above is just that, a story, but we all know that things like this do happen. Maybe not to this extent, but I bet we've all been guilty at one time or another of breaking at least one of the golden etiquette rules of the gym or at the very least noticing others committing gym blasphemy!

For those of you guys who know them, but don't practice them, and for those of you who have no idea what they are....I'm going to tell you. Get a pen.....no.. a permanent marker and write them on your hands, front and back, so when you are at the gym, you'll have no excuse not to remember them....

OK, here goes....

So back to the example above, the guys doing the leg presses and he's grunting and groaning. WRONG! It's bad etiquette to be so noisy and also totally unnecessary. First of all it's selfish (I'm gonna use this word a lot). Trust me, no one wants to be distracted from they're workouts and have Mr. Goon break they're concentration. Second if the guy would just breathe by exhaling when he exerts the most pressure and inhaling on the negative phase of the rep, he would be exercising the correct way. Watch these folks the next time you work out. They don't breathe correctly, that's why the grunt and groan...really unhealthy! Ok, so no moose mating calls in the gym.

Next, the sweating. OK we all sweat, some more than others. BRING A TOWEL! It's that simple. If your gym doesn't ask you to, do it anyway. Oh and by the way, please use it. It's really gross when you go to lay down on a bench and there are little puddles of perspiration...and it's not yours! YUK! WIPE!

Now the smell. This could be an uncomfortable issue with some so I'm just going to come right out and say what needs to be said. We all smell! Some however, stink much more than others. You may like the way you smell. Your boyfriend might find it arousing, and your mother might think it's cute....but trust me.....WE DON'T! Foul is foul, is foul! So I'm going to be real bold here and ask everyone to put on a little deodorant before coming to the gym, weather you think you need it or not. Let's keep the air at the gym clean. Oh, and lets not forget those that like to bathe in CK One....put it on after you leave the gym, not before. Anything I can smell that burns my nose hair (weather natural or man made) while working out in the gym is inappropriate! To prevent the need for everyone to bring clothes pins with them, please slide on some deodorant before coming to the gym. And speaking of smells, please walk to the bathroom or outside the gym when you need to pass gas. I know this is really gross to talk about, but I still can not believe how many guys step on ducks and lay eggs all over the gym. Come on guys, have some class! No gas passing!

And about those flip-flops. Not a good idea! If something were to fall on his feet, say a 45 LB weight plate, the money he spent on the pedicure would be a waste. Wear tennis shoes, sneaks or metal reinforced army boots....a personal favorite!

And leaving the weights on the pegs...WHAT A WEENIE! Come on guys, put things back where you found them! It's just plain selfish (there's that word again). Please re-rack and re-hang your weights. Also, if you move a bench to the other side of the gym...put it back where you found it. Ever look around the gym in search of something you thought should be someplace and you finally find it somewhere else? What a waste of time. Don't be a slob! Re-rack, re-stack!

OK, enough bitching. Thanks guys, in advance. We all need to wipe up and pick up after ourselves. If you leave stuff lying around your home, that's fine, but the gym is everyone's home away from home. We all have to share the environment. It's just common sense to keep the gym clean, safe and healthy for everyone! Oh and no skipping please!

With the way that electronic dance music has become so popular in the mainstream, leave it up the LA's RHINO label to whip up yet another one of their comprehensive CD collections. MACHINE SOUL: AN ODYSSEY INTO ELECTRONIC DANCE MUSIC distills some of the genre's greatest tracks for this 2-CD collection documenting the history of the electronic dance scene.

This 28-track escapade tells a tale of mavericks who broke down the barriers of sound to create a revolutionary new genre of music. From the electronic "godfathers" (KRAFTWERK), pioneering producers (GIORGIO MORODER) to the "proto-industrialists" (THROBBING GRISTLE), and the "techno-rappers" (AFRIKA BAMBATAA) all the way to mainstream successes like DEPECHE MODE, NEW ORDER, and PRODIGY...and club faves like CHEMICAL BROTHERS, THE ORB, and UNDERWORLD...it's all here in every degree and spanning the dawn of disco through the eras of house, techno, trance, and beyond. The series also sports tracks by MOBY, PAUL VAN DYK, FLUKE, FAT BOY SLIM, and more. Value-priced at about 30 dollars, you certainly can't go wrong!

Something very special to look out for this coming Tuesday is the sophomore album from Nervous' BYRON STINLY entitled CLUB STORIES. Last fall we were treated to the first track from this collection in the form of "That's The Way Love Is." This was actually a remake of a song done years earlier when Byron was with TEN CITY eleven years ago. This time out JOHNNY VICIOUS turned out the mix to end all mixes.

Club punters are currently basking in the glow of Byron's second single "Why Can't You Be Real" (release on 2/22). This jewel comes with DANNY TENAGLIA remixes that are sensational. Other tracks on the album are produced by the likes of Grammy-winner PETER RAUHOFFER,

Electronica Guru Moby

Another reworking of an oldie that's been making quite a bit of noise as of late is SHANNON's "Give Me Tonight 2000," revamped by none other than HEX HECTOR. We were glad to attend a listening party for Shannon's new album THE BEST IS YET TO COME. The album comes complete with 12 tracks. Fans will be thrilled that the original "Give Me Tonight" is also featured among the track listing. There's also "It's Over Love" produced and co-written with TODD TERRY, plus tracks produced by SASH!, TONY MORAN, GIUSEPPE D., JOHN POPPO and more. Shannon's team at BIG MANAGEMENT has delivered an album with both Club savvy and Pop sensibility, while satisfying her fans, old and new. And That Dance Music THIS WEEK IN TEXAS.

STARSCOPE

BY CHARLENE LICHTENSTEIN

The Sun changes signs this week moving from romantic Pisces to zesty Aries. If our lives receive a boost of new oomph, chalk it up to the energizing Aries pioneering push. There is no better time to step Out and wave the rainbow banner where all can see! Ya see that?!

PISCES (FEBRUARY 20 - MARCH 20)

Invest your pennies when the Sun ventures into Aries, Guppie. It's time to review the bottom line and begin to plan a cogent fiscal and retirement strategy. You have a particularly clear vision of what will and will not work for you financially, but the real secret to success is to not become too greedy and reckless. Bulls and bears make money but little piggies can lose their shirts.

ARIES (MARCH 21 - APRIL 20)

The Sun in your own sign gives you confidence and great stage presence. Gay Rams can use this affirming time to meet scads of new people as well as set their personal agenda for the next few months. Mount your marketing campaign and take it on the road, compadre. And while you're at it, be the diva of the day and fully enjoy your birthday celebration. Let 'em eat cake?

TAURUS (APRIL 21 - MAY 21)

Queer Bulls feel in the pink spiritually when the Sun traipses through Aries. A bright light shines in even the most hidden corners of your life. Breathe free, cousin, and empty out that rancid closet of yours. Aries takes no prisoners and neither should you. Remember that you have more to fear from the hidden, unknown and repressed than from what is freely Out and proud.

GEMINI (MAY 22 - JUNE 21)

The Arien Sun encourages all pink Twins to seek and strengthen friendships and the social ties that bind. You can feel your oats in any social endeavor (and with any luck, you'll feel someone else's too...). Gather the forces and launch a get together. But the Aries energy can be a bit selfish and proprietary. Don't let me hear "What's mine is mine and what's yours is mine".

CANCER (JUNE 22 - JULY 23)

The brilliant Sun moves into Aries and heightens and brightens your professional prospects. Although proud Crabs are usually content to play second fiddle to the big bass, the planets now encourage you to grab the baton and conduct the entire orchestra yourself. However you take control, I know that you will be a benevolent impresario when you get on top... Very impressive!

LEO (JULY 24 - AUGUST 23)

Rainbow Lions get itchy paws when the Sun traverses pioneering Aries. If you have an opportunity to travel in the next few weeks, do so; you will find it mentally invigorating. Open yourself up to all exotic stimuli; it will provide a new perspective on life. Have you considered going back to school and learning a thing or two or three? Well, maybe just take one class.

VIRGO (AUGUST 24 - SEPTEMBER 23)

Sun in Aries turns up the sexual soup to full boil and what proud Virgin can resist the aroma? It's time to try on that delicious outfit and see who feasts. Ah there is a method to this passionate madness; this solar energy also helps you examine what makes you tick. So, after you tire of looking deeply into someone else, turn that raw interest inward and gain a new personal insight.

LIBRA (SEPTEMBER 24 - OCTOBER 23)

You can strut and fret your hour upon the stage dear, queer Libra, but it's a helluva bore doing it without an appreciative audience. Thankfully, the Sun in Aries sheds a warm light on partnerships so you can at least expect an enthusiastic crowd of at least one to applaud your little scenes. Share the love and forge a commitment now. Don't they say

"I owe it all to my partner?" If not, they should!

SCORPIO (OCTOBER 24 - NOVEMBER 22)

Proud Scorps are in their element; Sun in Aries highlights work and any health related enterprises. The job will go much easier now and you can accomplish a great deal in a relatively short amount of time. Even more important however are the beneficial effects of a revamped diet or exercise regime. Get those potentially beautiful buns to a trainer. It's always g string season, buddy!

SAGITTARIUS (NOVEMBER 23 - DECEMBER 22)

As the festive Sun travels through Aries, queer Archers are encouraged to kick up their hooves and have a rollicking good time. You know how to make merry, but don't waste this valuable creative energy on silly nonsense, tempting as it may be. Try to rev up your artistic gay muse and create something beautiful, wonderful and fun. OK it can be the party of the year.

CAPRICORN (DECEMBER 23 - JANUARY 20)

Rainbow Caps should use the illuminating Sun in Aries to explore their genealogical roots and branches. Talk to your parents and see what you can discover about your background; you may be pleasantly surprised. While you're at it, give your family insight into the true lavender you. Venture Out, cousin; The robust Aries energy won't tolerate compromise or retreat. Why should you?

AQUARIUS (JANUARY 21 - FEBRUARY 19)

If the words don't come, take a deep breath try again after the optimistic Sun enters ram-bunctious Aries. Aqueerians have great oratory prowess as the sun unleashes their eloquence and makes communication go much smoother. Who knows; One of your manifestoes could launch the next lavender revolution. Not a moment too soon! Speak loud, proud and queer or forever hold your piece (sic!).

THAT WEEK IN TEXAS

BY ALAN GELLMAN

25 YEARS AGO
IN THE LONE STAR STATE

We are proud to report that we received a great deal of feedback—all positive—concerning our Silver Anniver-sary Issue. Over the next 51 weeks, we'll turn back your gay calendar one quarter of a century. To those of you who remember those days as vividly as we do, here's hoping you'll smile as we look back. To those of you reading all about it for the first time, perhaps you'll gain insight from the events that got the gay community of Texas where we are today.

In only four weeks, the magazine itself had doubled in size: from a mammoth eight page bar and entertainment guide to 16-pages of "gay history 101." Primus Studio's model of the week, Mr. Rand Carr, appeared as personality of the week in a pair of oh-so-'70's bell-bottoms. He may have purchased them at Fifteen Grand, "a unique men's boutique," located inside the Bayou Landing. While $4 cover got you in to see one-hit-wonder Carol Douglas, slated to belt out her hit Doctor's Orders at the Encore, 4516 McKinney Avenue. In Dallas, Crews Inn customers received wooden nickels during cock-tail hour. You could save them up and cash them in later at face value (5c). A 60-cent turn-pike toll would take you to Fort Worth, where Texas Starving Artists displayed their arts and

PRESENTING
Mr. Rand Carr, Personality of the Week
March 24, 1975

crafts at Seminary South Shopping Center, known today as Fort Worth Town Center.

Club Houston and Club Dallas had both recently been remodeled with bunkhouses, while busily preparing for the opening of their outdoor pool next month. Club Dallas was located on Swiss Avenue in those days, just as it is today; while Club Houston stood at 2205 Fannin. Have you heard the rumor yet that Club Houston is building a brand new facility? You'll read official confirmation soon right here in TWT; their "new address" won't come as any surprise.

"Houston's Number One Super Bar," The Farmhouse on Albany, had a 5-hour $1 beer bust on Sunday night, shows on Sundays and Wednesdays, as well as an amateur night every Monday in their Plantation Room, which even showed video taped movies on their "three large color television screens." The Locker on Westheimer billed itself as the club where "men meat men". If dancing the night away was your idea of a good time, there were numerous choices in the Bayou City: Exile featured live band music, while The Spur, 2400 Brazos, was about to be issued its liquor license, according to owner Bob Faircloth, who promised all the cowboys "you'll have a barrel of fun," thus forever dispelling the myth that "It's not true that cowboys only drink beer."

That promise still holds true at the same location, currently known as Brazos River Bottom. Applications to the third annual Miss Gay Texas Pageant were available at the Bayou Landing by contacting manager Paul Lewis, whose position and residential address have since changed. Today, he's even more popular, well known and respected.

There were big plans underway in preparation for Fiesta 1975 in San Antonio, which promised to "draw huge crowds to the Venice of the Texas Plains."

OAKLAWN AIDS AGENCIES RELOCATE

AIN Driving Force In Oak Cliff Caring Friends Heads Up North

DALLAS-Oaklawn area services are moving around as fast as the construction cranes in the vicinity. Since the December 31 closing of Oak Lawn Community Services, other HIV/AIDS service organizations have answered the call to keep the services provided to clients. The AIDS Interfaith Network, under the directorship of Steven Pace, has now permanently established the Daire Center and Care-A-Van programs within AIN. These two vital programs were operated temporarily through the Caring Friends Center located across Lemmon Avenue from the vacated OLCS offices. Caring Friends Center has now moved to 3601 Northwest Highway, Suite 186. The Center's phone number is the same, (214)219-7300.

AIDS Interfaith Network services office is located at 1005 W. Jefferson Street in Oak Cliff. The Daire Center and Care-A-Van program are now located a few blocks away in AIN's administrative office building at 329 Centre Street. The majority of the 1,200 clients served by the AIN are welcoming this location change as it is nearer to their residences. The Oaklawn area clients will be able to access the new location with bus passes that will be distributed at an agency in Oaklawn. For updates and information on services that AIDS Interfaith Network provides, call (214)941-7696.

Chris Carter of Atlanta graces this week's cover, thanks to the watchful eyes of former cover couple Ed and Felipe. We couldn't be more appreciative.

Chris dances at clubs all over the south and is one of the premiere acts at Atlanta's hottest all-male dance club, Swinging Richards. If you haven't ever been, be sure to make it a part of your next visit to Atlanta. The boys who dance there, do so wearing little more than a smile and body oil. Thankfully, birthday suits like Chris's are always in fashion.

As the sixth production in its Celebrate The Century Season, where all the plays represent select highlights of the twentieth century experience, Theatre Three presents a new production of a delightful George Bernard Shaw comedy through April 16. Major Barbara is set in 1906 London, where a munitions maker, makes a shambles of the morality of Liberalism. To him, the most shameful sin is poverty and the cardinal virtue, prosperity. He points to the generative power of his factories and the respectable residences of his workers, and then disdainfully contrasts them with the squalor of the poor, to whom his daughter, Barbara, has dedicated herself in the ranks of the Salvation Army. Tickets prices range from $12.50 to $17.50, for this weekend's previews, Friday through Monday, March 17-20. Regular performance tickets are $18-$30. The theatre is located at 2800 Routh Street, in the center courtyard of The Quadrangle. Tickets can be purchased by calling the box office at (214)871-3300. The box office opens daily at 12:00 noon.

The Gay Century

by Phil Johnson
Dallas Gay and Lesbian Historic Archives

1992

January 22

To justify discrimination in the employment of gay and lesbian police, Chief Mack Vines brought out that old, reliable bugaboo, Section 21.06 of the Texas Penal Code, that defines homosexual conduct as a Class C misdemeanor punishable by fines of up to $200. Although Section 21.06 is, admittedly, almost never enforced, it is kept on the books for just such discriminatory purposes.

March 10

The Third Court Of Appeals in Austin affirmed a lower court's ruling that said the state's sodomy law, which prohibits homosexual conduct, is unconstitutional. But some Dallas City Council members vowed to continue the fight to retain a ban against hiring lesbians and gays in the Police Department.

March 11

Dr. Simon LeVay released a biological study entitled, "The Gay Brain". In it, he suggested that homosexuality might be biologically determined, because the Hypothalamus Gland in gay men's brains is larger than in straight men's.

June 12

Despite her excellent record and a Bronze Star for service in Vietnam, Colonel Margarethe Cammermeyer, a 27-year veteran of the Army and National Guard and chief nurse of the Washington State National Guard, was discharged from the military because she was a Lesbian.

June

As the presidential campaign heated up, President George Bush, courting the conservative vote, condemned Gay and Lesbian parents as, "not normal," and expressed support for continuing the military's ban on Gay and Lesbian soldiers.

July 4

In contrast, and to show support for Gay and Lesbian soldiers who had served their country well, in all of American's wars, a "Veterans' Tribute" was held at Dallas' Majestic Theatre, sponsored by gay businesses and organizations. Veterans were encouraged to wear their old uniforms, if they could still get into them. Throngs of attendees walked past the few anti-gay picketers in front of the theatre.

Summer

Ever wonder who planted the beautiful trees that line the sidewalk in the 3900 block of Cedar Springs in Dallas? Caven Enterprises, Round-Up Saloon, Union Jack, Shades of Grey, Tapelenders and the Crossroadss Market (now the Crossroads Bookstore). Wouldn't it be a good idea to thank them for their efforts in beautifying the neighborhood? Wouldn't it be an even better idea to help preserve the beauty by not littering?

Summer

Texas Governor Ann Richards chaired the Democratic convention in New York. Notable was a strong Gay and Lesbian presence that including a speech by Bob Hattoy, an HIV-positive Gay man who served as Chief Environmental Advisor to the Bill Clinton campaign. Clinton continued to clarify and strengthen his positive stance on Gay, Lesbian and AIDS related issues.

The Republican Convention in Houston, catering to the conservative right, was strongly anti-gay. Gay Republican groups blasted the GOP for allegedly forcing a Gay man to resign from the campaign staff. Outside the Convention, Gay, Lesbian and AIDS activists protested the Bush Administration's lack of a platform on hate crimes.

September 22

The Advocate outed Louisiana "family values" Congressman Jim McCrery. The next month, k.d. lang outed herself in The Advocate.

October 9-11

With the election drawing nearer, activists kept the AIDS issue spotlighted with a display of the entire Names Memorial Quilt in Washington, DC. Also that weekend, AIDS activists encircled the White House with red ribbons in remembrance of those who had died while politicians twiddled their thumbs.

October 27

Allen Schindler was beaten to death in a public restroom near the homeport of his ship, the Belleau Wood, in Sasebo, Japan. His body was so disfigured that his face could not be identified. Airman Terry Helvey admitted hitting him in the face, stomping on his neck and kicking him in the groin. Helvey had no remorse two days after the beating. "I don't regret it. I'd do it again," he said.

November 3

Bill Clinton was elected President. Unofficial polls showed that an impressive share of Clinton's victory came from the gay community. In local politics, Glen Maxey, the only openly Gay member of the legislature, was reelected as State Representative from the 52nd district. Most importantly, Barbara Rosenberg defeated Judge Jack "I don't much care for gays" Hampton.

The election was less than a month old when Clinton re-affirmed his promise to end the U.S. military's ban on gays and lesbians in uniform, despite dire warnings from Senators Sam Nunn (D-Georgia) and Robert Dole (R-Kansas) and several Pentagon officials. Eventually, Congress forced the president to compromise his position with a "Don't Ask, Don't Tell" policy. Although Clinton meant well, his new policy made things worse for Gay and Lesbian soldiers.

December 20

A longstanding dream came true when more than 900 members overflowed the sanctuary of the new $3 million Cathedral of Hope for its premiere service. Reverend Piazza told his large congregation, his excellent choir, orchestra, hand bell ensemble and dedicated staff, "We sit in a space that is literally a dream come true, the dream of a home for people who have been spiritually homeless."

By coincidence, that space is about 100 yards north of where the 12 members of The Circle of Friends, the first gay organization in Texas, regularly met in secrecy a quarter of a century earlier. Take it from one who was there, those pioneers never dreamed of such community openness, of such gargantuan splendor and magnificence. At least, not in their lifetimes.

January

The new year began with the Christian Fundamentalists waging an all-out 'family values' war on Gays, by claiming, among other absurd things, that Gay rights ordinances were responsible for the murders committed by confessed serial killer Jeffrey Dahmer.

January 6

The celebrated and flamboyant Rudolf Nureyev died of AIDS in Paris. A peer remarked, "Nureyev could have been a great dancer, if he hadn't been so busy trying to be the Liberace of ballet."

January 20

The Gay community was ecstatic! It was President Clinton's Inauguration Day. He had actively sought the gay vote and we had delivered. For the first time ever, the combined Gay Bands of America marched in an Inaugural Parade.

March 22

The Gay issue reached the funny pages. For Better Or For Worse character Lawrence Poirier, came out to his best friend. Some 40 newspapers in the U.S. and Canada refused to run the four week story. Thousands of subscribers canceled their subscriptions to those papers that did. But, of the 2,500 letters cartoonist Lynn Johnston received, 70% were positive.

April 23

For three days and nights, the streets radiating from Dupont Circle were packed with celebrants for the third march on Washington. How many were there? Organizers said the number was a million, detractors claimed considerably less. Indisputable was the fact that about 1,500 Lesbian and Gay couples participated in a mass wedding ceremony, conducted by MCC's Reverend Troy Perry, held outside the IRS building.

Just before midnight, the Lesbian Avengers marched on the White House. Organizers said it was the biggest Lesbian demonstration ever.

Extensive media coverage made this the most widely publicized march yet.

May 7

Hawaii's Supreme Court ruled that the state must show a, "compelling interest," for denying same-sex partners a marriage license. Some were certain Hawaii would be the first state in the union to legalize same-sex marriage.

May 17

Saying that most Texans were against homosexual conduct, representatives of four groups, The American Family Association of Dallas County, The Dallas County Christian Coalition, The Concerned Women of America and Dallas Eagle Forum, called upon the Texas legislature to stand up for their constituents. The Third Court of Appeals in Austin had declared the sodomy statute unconstitutional and the issue would go before the Texas Supreme Court.

May 27

Russian President Boris Yeltsin published a decree decriminalizing consensual sex between adult men.

May 28

Craig McDaniel was elected to the Dallas City Council, our first openly Gay Council member.

August 4

Ken Jorns organized Cheer Dallas. At its premiere performance in the Gay Pride Parade of 1993, the crowds were electrified by the cheerleaders' daring acrobatics, original cheers and precision dance routines. During Cheer Dallas' brief existence, it performed in cities across the nation and for many AIDS and charitable fund-raisers, most notably, the Meyerson Symphony Hall Concert with the Turtle Creek Chorale. Cheer Dallas played to its largest audiences during the opening and closing ceremonies of Gay Games IV in New York, in the Stonewall Parade and the rally in Central Park the following day. This one-of-a-kind organization was featured in many national publications and also appeared in three movies. The team was dissolved on the 10th of March 1999. The world may never see its like again.

September 2

In spite of the protests of homophobic citizens, Austin became the first city in Texas to pass a Domestic Partners law.

September 16

President Clinton's "Don't Ask, Don't Tell" policy was initiated. It supposedly prohibited military officials from investigating homosexuality without prior cause. It didn't.

October 8

The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the ban discriminating against Gays and Lesbians in service.

November 30

Nicholus Ray West, a 23-year old medical records clerk in Tyler, was kidnapped, robbed and executed because he was gay. His bullet-ridden, half-clothed body was found in a clay pit about 10 miles outside of Tyler. A REVIEW BY
STEVEN LINDSEY

ALL ABOUT "ALL ABOUT EVE"

There's a strange rumor going around that Gay men are utterly fascinated with All About Eve. Well, stereotypes be damned, I am one of those gay men. Another member of this vast society is Dallas' Sam Staggs, author of the upcoming ALL ABOUT "ALL ABOUT EVE", a book ready to dish the most dirt this side of an E! True Hollywood Story. But don't worry, I'll spare you from a review full of obvious, half-witted seatbelt fastening, bumpy night puns and references however I will pour myself a martini to get in the spirit of things.

For those of you who didn't receive the complimentary copy of the 1950 classic, All About Eve, in your Gay Welcome Kit, or if you're too young to appreciate films that, God forbid, aren't in color, then I suppose a little history is in order. The film stars the infamous Bette Davis as Margo Channing, an aging stage actress who takes a young admirer named Eve (Anne Baxter) under her wing. Everything is just peachy until Margo discovers that Eve is taking over her career and life. Bitchiness ensues.

Flash forward fifty years to Staggs' book, and the attitude, backstabbing and over-the-top drama on screen and off are still as fresh and intriguing as ever. With years of research, interviews and an overall obsession with all things "Eve", he has created a literary work that exposes every wonderful detail of the making of (and impact since) the film. And believe me, once you read the book, you'll know it was no easy task.

Staggs knows so much about the subject matter, it's scary. Fortunately, he's disciplined and shrewd in his release of tasty morsels, just what it takes to keep you turning pages, chapter after chapter. Even better is the fact that what he keeps you waiting for, is definitely WORTH waiting for. I mean, who knew Bette Davis was a post-operative transsexual!? OK, so that's a flat-out lie, but the book's gossip is every bit as juicy. From Zsa Zsa Gabor's desperate attempt to get a part in the film to the real-life stage actress on whom the story is based, the making of All About Eve is far more dramatic than even the film itself. His detailed analysis of the careers of Eve's stars, proves his declaration that every actor's career hit an all-time high with this film, except for then-unknown Marilyn Monroe, whose career skyrocketed after its release.

Trivia buffs will also love Staggs' mother lode of useless, yet wonderful, facts. I always love reading about who DIDN'T get the parts in movies, so I was thrilled to read his laundry lists of names. Just imagine Joan Crawford as Margo and Elizabeth Taylor as Eve; Ronald Reagan as Bill Sampson and the future Mrs. Reagan as Karen Richards. Those were a few of the names thrown around in the film's early planning stages. But, as Staggs points out, hiring any of those actors would have most definitely resulted in a very different movie and perhaps a very different country. In an alternate universe, somewhere, Gary Merrill and Celeste Holm could've been President and First Lady of the United States. It's still fun to imagine.

Bottom line, hardcore fans of All About Eve, and die hard Bette Davis worshippers, will find the book a must-read. Others may not appreciate all the thoroughness Skaggs employed in capturing every angle of the story, but I'm sure they'll find it an equally enjoyable undertaking. The "characters" and events are so unbelievable at times, that a fictitious novel couldn't be any more compelling. I'm just waiting for the sequel: All About "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane".

Slow curtain. The End. (OK, I couldn't resist)

CLEOPATRA

Queen of the Bayou

She's here, fellas, and as advertised, one of the most anticipated events in the dance world recently. Houston Ballet Artistic Director Ben Stevenson's new full length ballet, Cleopatra, written especially for Houston's own Lauren Anderson, opened on Thursday, March 9 in a glittering world premiere at the Wortham. I gotta warn you, I may run out of superlatives, so bear with me.

First, some background. Mr. Stevenson was looking for something specifically for Anderson, and hit upon Cleopatra as the ideal vehicle. It seemed a perfect match for Lauren's talents, both dancing and acting. Stevenson says of Anderson, "She's a real fiery pistol of a personality.... who can bring her own imagination and creativity to the process."

Ballet, as all theatre, is a collaborative effort. Once the theme of the ballet was established, there was the question of music. Stevenson turned to British conductor John Lanchbery, who has worked with the Houston Ballet before, most recently on the scores of Dracula and The Snow Maiden. Mr. Lanchbery chose to draw from the works of the nineteenth century Russian composer Nicolai Rimsky-Korsakov. Costume Designer Judanna Lynn and Scenic Designer Thomas Boyd completed the artistic team.

The creative process, so exciting while it's happening, often looks cut and dried on the printed page and for that I apologize, as it's anything but. But, the proof is in the pudding, and what a pudding it is.

We might as well begin with the unabashed spectacle of it all. From the opening curtain, Cleopatra's bedchamber, the tone is set. Lavishly costumed handmaidens prepare a bath with, one imagines, perfumed oils, rose petals, all the trimmings. The choreography is heavily stylized, hands and arms at right angles, a deliberately naïve interpretation of those Egyptian tomb paintings we've all seen where everyone "walks like an Egyptian". Ms. Lynn's costumes are likewise interpretations of these paintings, altered for freedom of movement, but with a feeling of nineteenth century sensibilities. Although it is all very contemporary, one gets a strong sense of what it must have been like to attend such a premiere in Paris at the turn of the last century—the dark rich fabrics with a glint of gold, the heavy treatment of drapery by Boyd, and the drama of the lighting by Timothy Hunter.

Moving to the Throne Room we get another ingredient of the Belle Epoch-decadence. Here we find young King Ptolemy and his tutor, Pothinus, plotting against Cleopatra for the throne. In a steamy pas de deux, danced by Mauricio Canete as Ptolemy and Nicholas Leschke as Pothinus, the two express their lust for power—and not just power. Their attraction for each other is unmistakable. Together they banish Cleopatra and her servant Alcebiades, danced for this performance by Li Anlin, to the desert, where, Cleopatra convinces her guards to release her. Back in the Throne Room, an orgy worthy of Cecil B. at his best is in full sway. Caesar (Timothy O'Keefe, with a profile that looks as though it has just leapt from the face of a Roman coin) enters and demands to see Cleopatra. Well, you all know what happens next, but it's still a heart-stopping moment, Cleopatra's entrance rolled in a carpet, and Anderson does not disappoint. Unrolling the carpet, Cleopatra lands provocatively at Caesar's feet, and the audience goes wild. Act I ends where it began, in the queen's bedchamber, where Cleopatra dances for Caesar, and he succumbs, as the program coyly puts it, "under the charms of the queen".

Act II begins in the Streets of Rome, where Marc Antony, Cassius, Brutus and Octavian wait for Cleopatra's entrance into the city. This scene, as much as the carpet scene, has been indelibly imprinted on our public consciousness by the movies, and again, we are not disappointed. There is no giant sphinx, but the queen's infinitely more traffic-worthy litter isn't shabby, and the Roman crowd goes suitably wild. In contrast to the strong color and oriental influence of the Egyptian costumes, the designer has dressed the Romans in flowing, semi-transparent fabric that moves beautifully, and they take full advantage of it in a revel of their own. This is followed by a scene in Calpurnia's bedchamber, in which she dreams of Caesar's murder. In a solo wildly reminiscent of a painting by Blake, Kathryn Warakomsky conveys all the fear and anguish Calpurnia must have felt. It is a passionate moment.

Following Caesar's assassination in the Senate, danced with particular strength by Damian Schwiethale as Brutus, Cleopatra flees Rome. Marc Antony (Dominic Walsh) vows to follow her and force her to return. This brings us to the final moment of sheer spectacle, Cleopatra's barge. Almost literally sailing onto the stage, the brilliantly painted barge creates a jeweled setting for the queen, as she sits regally before the golden disc of her throne, waiting for Marc Antony. As she lands, the barge opens into the unfolded wings of the hawk god Horus, and Antony enters to confront her. You know what happens next. Walsh is all fire and energy as Antony, at first angry, then in love, and Anderson matches him step by step as they go quickly from passion to despair. The end, when it comes, is abrupt, almost a surprise, and it brought a breathless first-night audience to its feet.

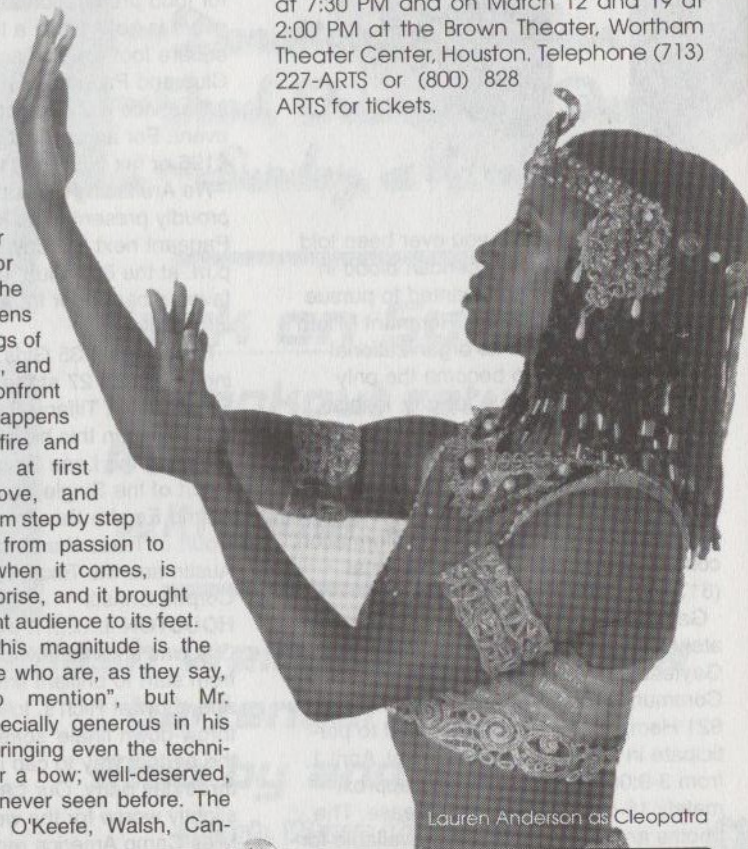

A production of this magnitude is the work of many people who are, as they say, "too numerous to mention", but Mr. Stevenson was especially generous in his acknowledgments, bringing even the technical crew onstage for a bow; well-deserved, and something I've never seen before. The principals—Anderson, O'Keefe, Walsh, Canete, Leschke, Anlin, Warakomsky, Schwiethale and Phillip Broomhead as Octavian—were all but flawless, and the company was superb.

Cleopatra is a resounding success; it could hardly fail, but it was a risk. Costing upwards of $1.2 million to produce, it will next be performed by the Boston Ballet in May 2000 and by the Pittsburgh Ballet in the fall. The Boston and Pittsburgh companies are co-producers of the work.

The final bouquet goes to Lauren Anderson. Other dancers will dance the title role, but Lauren inspired it, and will be remembered for her performance as long as the ballet is performed. Hers is just the right combination of beauty, dancing and acting talent needed to bring it off, and Houston has an accomplishment of which it can be proud.

Cleopatra plays March 16, 17, and 18 at 7:30 PM and on March 12 and 19 at 2:00 PM at the Brown Theater, Wortham Theater Center, Houston. Telephone (713) 227-ARTS or (800) 828 ARTS for tickets.

The Sentry Program provides volunteers to visit those who are homebound with HIV/AIDS to relieve the isolation that accompanies prolonged illness. The program is designed to relieve a caregiver from their regular care duties so that they can have a chance to shop, attend church, schedule a doctor visit, or just take a break. For clients without a primary caregiver, volunteers offer an important new source of social contact and support. For additional information about this program contact:

Joseph E. Holz

May 6, 1963 - February 8, 2000

After a long and courageous battle,
Joey finally passed into another life on February 8 at 6:12
PM. He fought with courage, dignity and determination for many years after his diagnosis. Any-one that knew him,
knows what a kind,
gentle, loving and strong man he was.

Joey is survived by his parents, Carl and Patricia Holz of Houston, his mother
Bobbie Jean, as well as his longtime life partner, Cliff Hildebrandt. He also leaves behind a host of friends in Dallas. All of us, are better for having him in our lives.

He will be missed forever by those who cared for him and our lives will never be the same again. Somehow, we should be glad that there is no more pain and suffering, although it doesn't make us miss him any less. A memorial service will be held in the future.
