ALL ABOUT HEALTH & FITNESS

"Can't Get it Up?"
BY M. KASTEN

To make it sound less scary, it's sometimes called "erectile dysfunction". Impotence is perhaps (in western society today) the most common ailment affecting men. Did you know that all cases of ED can be treated? Did you also know that most could be helped substantially and totally cured? Well it's true. So get over your issues about not being able to get it up. At some point in your life, you may be confronted with this issue and I would always like to be educated so I can do something about it than ignorant and find myself freaked out.

Normally, as you all know, the penis needs to be erect for sexual use. This process is called erection. Erection depends on two things. First, the ability of the millions of blood spaces within the penis to become swollen with a rapid inflow of blood. As air blown into a balloon makes it get firm, the blood does the same in the penis. Second, the emotional control like exciting visual signals, sensations from the mouth, ears fingers, etc. mix with the visualizations of sex. This overwhelming onslaught of sexual impulses causes the brain to send erection signals down the spinal cord and nerves and into the penis. Once these instructions have been received, thousands of tiny valves open or close channeling blood into the shaft of the penis and, sometimes in mere seconds, erecting it!

The whole system is quite complicated and can break down at several points. In diabetic men, the blood vessels may be too narrow to allow enough blood through. Failure can also result because of medications in the bloodstream. Tranquilizers, sedatives and alcohol can also cause impotence. Blood-pressure drugs are big offenders, as can hormone imbalances, infections and genetic abnormalities.

Most ED cases are however, emotional in origin. They usually are the result of misunderstandings, fears, depressions and guilt. I mean think about this: we grow up in a society that instills a tremendous artificial conflict in us about sex and sexual function. A man's natural sexual desire and the freedom to carry them out are two totally different things. Forget about it if the other person he wants to be sexual with is another man, WOW! The urge of nature is to have plenty of good, wholesome sex (whatever your definition of wholesome may be). But our conditioned fears that are built in during childhood make the penalty for satisfying such urges horrific. Men in the end become afraid of their sexuality. Women become similarly confused. Here's where the body is ok, but the mind is preventing the messages from getting to the penis. Then, you find your "member" afraid to have sex, remaining soft and, well, useless, retreating back into his cave. Whatever the cause, the result usually, is misery. Men become ashamed and humiliated. Come on, the measure of their manliness is NADA! Wow, what a blow (pardon the pun) to our machismo. If you are lucky enough to have a partner that doesn't make a big deal about it, you are fortunate. Most partners begin to feel inadequate also, thinking that they are unable to excite their partners. Their feelings of inadequacy just make the impotent partner even more ashamed and embarrassed. This vicious cycle could really get the both of you down, so to speak.

Ok so before you run to the doctor here are a few questions to help you sort out the diagnosis: 1) Does total ED happen every time there is an attempt to have sex? If so, then you may have a genuinely physical cause of impotence. 2) Did the ED come on gradually or rapidly? If it was rapid this could point to a psychological cause. 3) When you wake up in the morning, do you have a hard on? Do you remember having an erection during the night while you were sleeping? If not, you may also have a psychological cause to your ED.

It's also necessary to consider other known risk factors like we talked about above such as smoking, large alcohol consumption, blood pressure medication, diabetes, mental illness and above all, emotional problems within your relationship. Fear not my deflated friend, treatment is very effective. If medical care is chosen, there was never a better time when there are effective treatments as now. Viagra, Caverject and Muse and a brand new drug can all help you to have and maintain an erection. Viagra is an oral medication that helps you keep your erection by blocking the chemical that tells your penis to "deflate". For Viagra to work though, you need to want to and be able to get hard. Muse on the other hand is a drug that you inject into the urethra by small plastic syringe. The syringe displaces a pellet that dissolves and enters the blood vessels of the penis telling them to engorge with blood. Caverject is a prepared syringe that you directly inject with a needle into the soft, fleshy tissue on the underside of the shaft of the penis. The chemicals in Caverject are the same as in Muse and must be prescribed and demonstrated at the doctor's office. Usually you would see a urologist for this treatment. They would show you how to use the drug, find the correct dose, then send you home so you could inject yourself as necessary. I know guys who have used this and say they were hard for hours. Lucky them. A new drug, developed by Bristol-Meyers Squibb, acts like Viagra but appears to be much better at it by being more potent. It also seems to have fewer side effects than it's cousin, Viagra. Now, as you know, only a physician can prescribe these drugs for you so if you think you need it, please seek help. If you think your impotence may be emotional, then seek the help of a licensed psychotherapist. Ask your friends and colleagues whom they would recommend. You would be surprised how many people have seen psychotherapists for this and other emotional reasons. If you believe your condition is related to the medication you are taking, see your doctor. There may be other medicines for your ailment that may not have the same side effects.

If you still have no answers, see a physician who specializes in erectile dysfunction. There are many doctors now who just see patients for ED (usually urologists) so they may be the best ones to help you. Whatever happens remember this: ED is a common occurrence with men. Don't beat yourself up about it! If you need help, pick yourself up and reach out. There are many treatments available to you. Modern medicine has done a good job at providing us with a cure for erectile dysfunction. Best of luck to you in your quest for the best in yourself!

Last week we told you all about one star of ELTON JOHN's and TIM RICE's Aida, Sherie Rene Scott. This week we have to tell you about another... ADAM PASCAL. Direct from his award-winning role in RENT and critically-acclaimed nightly performances in Aida, Adam bursts forth with a full-throttle album entitled MODEL PRISONER filled with classic rock influences merged with his dynamic and passionate performance style.

MODEL PRISONER brilliantly showcases Adam's song writing talent. After over a year and a half on Rent he felt trapped between the worlds of Broadway and Rock. Shunned by Broadway for not being formally trained in theater and dubbed by the recording industry as Broadway Babe, he went from a big hit on the latter and the cover of Newsweek to the unemployment line. Devastated, he looked within and emerged with MODEL PRISONER...available via the internet at www.sh-k-boom.com.

And what better way to spend 30 bucks than for PIONEERS WHO GOT SCALPED, a DEVO anthology, two CDs an 50 tracks in all, including a brand new recording by the band just for this collection, "The Words Get Stuck In My Throat."

In addition to hits like "Whip It," "Freedom Of Choice," and "Uncontrollable Urge," the set is filled with tons of rare and never released recordings as well as many of their contributions to movie soundtracks such as, Fright Night, Revenge of the Nerds II, and other previously unavailable delectable collectibles. And let's not forget their off-center covers of "(I Can't Get No) Satisfaction", "Secret Agent Man", "Working In A Coal Mine", and "Head Like A Hole" to name a few. Manny was voted best "Circuit DJ" for 1999 and it's obvious why when you listen to Circuit Sessions. Noted for his mix of big room vocals AND hard edged beats in his ever-popular sets, Manny turns out this mix with tracks like ABIGAIL's "If It Don't Fit," MICHELLE WEEKS' "Rejoice," DAWN TALLMAN's "Be Encouraged," CE CE PENISTON's (whom he discovered when he was at A&M Records) "Lifetime to Love" and tons more.

If you ever get out to the WHITE PARTY in PALM SPRINGS then you know that he closes the party every year. CIRCUIT SESSIONS 00.1 hits the stores on June 6th, but you don't have to wait that long to hear Manny. He is scheduled to play at Austin's MELTDOWN on May 26th. Might be time for a little road trip, huh? And that's Dance Music THIS WEEK IN TEXAS.

STARSCOPE

BY CHARLENE LICHTENSTEIN

The Sun, Venus and Mercury changes signs this week moving from placid Taurus to flirtative, energetic Gemini. Personal missions take on a vibrancy and we may feel as if we could charm the world with one big smile. Show us your pearly whites and see how far the fluff takes you this week.

TAURUS (APRIL 21 - MAY 21)

Queer Bulls find that the Gemini zetz improves their financial prospects. Even some of your riskier investments may pay off monetarily now so keep an eye on the bottom line and know when to sell. The temptation may be to rest on your laurels, but it is the wise Bull that uses this good fortune to push one step further. It's never too late to plan for a fabulous retirement.

GEMINI (MAY 22 - JUNE 21)

Sun, Venus and Mercury in your own sign triples your usual portion of charm and charisma. Plan for your grand debut and outshine 'em all. Proud Twins have ample opportunity to make a magnificent first impression and set new projects into motion. Even the most neurotic Twins have an extra burst of self-confidence now. Pursue your dreams, cousin; they may just come true.

CANCER (JUNE 22 - JULY 23)

Sun, Venus and Mercury in Gemini provide intuitive inspiration to all lucky pink Crabs who can divine their inner voice through all the planetary static. They advise you to blow the door off your closet and live free and affirmed. Fear of fall out? Check out this added planetary bonus; Those who don't have your best interests at heart are thwarted in their vile and dastardly plans. Aha!

LEO (JULY 24 - AUGUST 23)

Proud Lions can surround themselves with good friends and jolly company when three planets enter sociable Gemini. If you're involved in any large social group, you may be able to sway members to your way of thinking. This may be particularly difficult if you find yourself in the Jesse Helms contingent, but I know that the proud and feisty lion can turn (almost) anyone around.

VIRGO (AUGUST 24 - SEPTEMBER 23)

If you're hankering for a chance to make your mark in the corporation, take aim and fire while Sun, Venus and Mercury are in Gemini. This creative energy provides you with enough fabulous ideas to keep the action rolling around senior management. Gay Virgins outshine all competition. Don't be in the chorus cousin; grab your pinstriped costume and put on a grand performance.

LIBRA (SEPTEMBER 24 - OCTOBER 23)

Planets in Gemini open the door to new adventures and exotic experiences. Go for the gusto; It's time to pack your bags and travel to parts unknown. Communication skills are heightened and it's possible to generate global support for any and all gay causes. Queer Libras provide the diplomacy and the Gemini the spark. Do what you're mandated to do for all of us.

SCORPIO (OCTOBER 24 - NOVEMBER 22)

Queer Scorps blossom and bloom sexually when the Sun, Venus and Mercury shine in Gemini. Prepare for Pride month now when the zesty Gemini energy draws bees to your honey. This energy can be rather fickle though; Don't dissipate the vibes by flirting with all and sundry. Try instead to set your sights on one particularly attractive trophy and go in for the kill.

SAGITARIUS (NOVEMBER 23 - DECEMBER 22)

Proud Archers may feel a little physically drained and spiritually dreary when Sun, Venus and Mercury are in the opposite sign of Gemini. It can be a down energy cycle as attention turns from the selfish to the sharing. Partners demand more of you, or you are so supportive that you go the extra mile for them. At any rate, all will go well so a little weary feeling is well worth the effort.

CAPRICORN (DECEMBER 23 - JANUARY 20)

Rewards come to those gay Goats who have put in the greatest effort at work. Cash in on the worker bee glory now that Sun, Venus and Mercury all enter Gemini. Use this time to make necessary improvements in any day to day job process or even in your diet or exercise regime. It is never too late to get that dry-docked body shipshape in time for cruise season.

AQUARIUS (JANUARY 21 - FEBRUARY 19)

Aqueerians can be forgiven if they go over the edge when three personal planets enter zany Gemini. They unleash your untamed gay muse and enable you to be all you can be musically, artistically, dramatically and just plain party-wise-ically. Pride month is around the corner so plan your dance card now while the charismatic Gemini energy rules; Can you smell the romance in the air?

PISCES (FEBRUARY 20 - MARCH 20)

A home is more than just four walls; Pink Fish need to feel mentally charged in order to make their personal living space feel like their own spiritual refuge. Thankfully the planetary push in Gemini fulfills this purpose and brings the forces together to create a homey harmony. Share this joy with close friends; Why not invite a few bosom buddies over for a chat and chew?

ARIES (MARCH 21 - APRIL 20)

If your speech has a certain verve and sparkle, give thanks to the planetary surge in Gemini. Gay Rams easily grasp ideas and high concepts and can talk their way through just about anything. Good; time is a wasting! Use that proud Aries mouth to plow the way for gay causes and our community needs. A solitary cry in the forest can be heard if a proud Ram bellows it.

Jack George

PHOTOGRAPHY BY JAMES FRANKLIN

This week's cover model is Houston's Jack George, a 28-year-old Virgo who is a very popular dancer around Texas and Louisiana. Born in New Orleans, Jack confesses that he loves the nightlife and will appear in the Oz 2001 calendar as Mr. November.

Many of our cover models insist that they love to work out, but Jack admits it's not his favorite activity. In fact, he hates it. He would much rather be traveling the world, adding to his collection of passport stamps.

You can catch Jack at many Texas clubs this month, where he'll be performing as one of the hot members of Marcy Fletcher's ManWatch Dancers. Enjoy.

AS BEES IN HONEY DROWN

by DOUGLAS CARTER BEANE

As Bees In Honey Drown is the critically acclaimed off-Broadway hit by Douglas Carter Beane, the author of To Wong Foo, Thanks For Everything, Julie Newmar. It is the hilarious story of a young novelist, seduced by an offer at instant fame from producer/socialite Alexa Vere de Vere. This play parodies the contemporary media and the hype that often highlights style over substance. Catch this brilliant work at The Alley Theatre (615 Texas Avenue) through May 28. Tickets range from $37 to $42. For more information, call the Box Office at (713)228-8421.

Theater LaB Houston will present the southwest premiere of the musical comedy Zombies From The Beyond—A Musical. A camp take-off of life in the 1950's, when Cold War hysteria and the space race were the top subjects of talk. At the fictional Milwaukee Space Center in 1955, life is jeopardized when a flying saucer lands carrying a buxom alien goddess bent on procuring male specimens to re-populate her planet. Taking it's cue from B sci-fi movies, popular at the time, Zombies From The Beyond brings the 1950's nostalgically and hilariously alive with a tuneful, toe-tapping score. The show runs through May 27. Friday and Saturday performances are at 8:00 p.m. and Sunday performances at 5:00 p.m. will be staged on May 21 and 28. Tickets range from $20 to $22 and are available by calling the theater Box Office at (713)868-7516. Theatre LaB Houston is located at 1706 Alamo.

WHEN PIGS FLY

The Masquerade Theatre proudly presents When Pigs Fly, a vaudevillian musical comedy by Howard Crabtree, who died just five days after completing the work. The story revolves around Howard, who is putting on a lavishly costumed, extravagant, over-the-top revue. When things go horribly, horribly wrong, Howard overcomes it all with a burst of clever ingenuity. It is a grab-bag of songs, dances, sketch comedy, brilliant word play and so much more. The Masquerade Theater is located at 1537 N. Shepherd Dr. in Houston and will showcase this premiere through June 17. Friday and Saturday performances are at 8:00 p.m., Thursdays, May 11 and 25 at 8:00 p.m. and Sundays, May 21 and June 5 at 7:00 p.m.

THAT WEEK IN TEXAS

BY ALAN GELLMAN

25 YEARS AGO
IN THE LONE STAR STATE

Twenty-five years ago This Week In Texas, the magazine, was whirling in it's effort to keep up with and report on the blossoming gay scene emerging across the state. Gay people were making their presence known and defining their own "turf", especially in Houston and Dallas, where people found safety in numbers and became a microcosm within the entire blur that defined the mid-70's lifestyle of carefree partying, casual sex, recreational drug use and the usual drinking and dancing until dawn.

Suddenly, there was a vehicle called This Week In Texas that boldly proclaimed and seemed to add legitimacy to the high jinx of the day. At Houston's Hi Kamp, they were gearing up for the second annual Miss Houston At-Large pageant - 200 lbs. minimum. The Galleon set sail in Houston and advertisers from across the state were soliciting the business of travelers to their cities. The bars and bath houses of the era served as "country clubs", custom-made for gay people. In Dallas, The Bachelor's Quarters Baths presented the winner of their contest with a trophy nearly as tall as the recipient and a title that ended up lost in time.

Each Friday, the magazine presented a "Personality of the Week", in photos that were quite risque for the day and reminiscent of Physique-ish magazines of the '50's and '60's. Chuck Seedback was named Mr. Swamp Trash - the location which now houses Dallas' Throckmorton Mining

Even we can't recall exactly what "The Naked Man" ad was all about. So, we'll simply print it and leave it to your imagination. Babbs and Baldy were packin' 'em in at Houston's Venture-N, a virtual den of gender confusion offering nostalgia back then. Just imagine...

The lack of regulation, as far as liquor laws were concerned, was outrageous compared to what today's rigid standards dictate. Check out the ad from The Detour on Westheimer in Houston. Take a close look - yes, you're reading right - draft beer actually cost a dime and each customer was limited to 100 glasses.

The couple lavished the 130 guests in celebratory style during a bash which included butlered hors d'oeuvres, an open bar, a sit down dinner and a towering anniversary cake. Seventeen attendants were also in the 'wedding' party, most of whom also wore bridesmaids' frocks. FAT MEN IN SKIRTS

It's always exciting when a new performance space opens in Houston, and although this is the Ashland St. Theatre Co.'s second production, there is still an air of expectancy. The forming of a new theatrical company requires a special kind of insanity, a schizophrenic sort of mindset characterized by an unbounded optimism combined with a total disregard for reality, and any such endeavor deserves applause. The venue is appropriately funky - a hastily converted church in the Heights, 2610 Ashland St., off 26th Street, between Yale and Shepherd. The play, directed by Unhinged Production's Chris Jimmerson, is Nicky Silver's FAT MEN IN SKIRTS.

Let me say at the outset that Nicky Silver has written one of the out and out funniest plays I've ever seen. This isn't it. The play to which I'm referring is THE FOOD CHAIN, which played at the Alley a couple of years ago. Two of Silver's other plays, PTERODACTYLS and MAIDEN'S PRAYER, have also played here, the first at Masquerade Theater and the second at Stages. Both were directed by Jimmerson. Silver's stock in trade is a first act bordering on slapstick, going dark in the second.

FAT MEN IN SKIRTS is the earliest play by Silver available, and in its construction one can see the beginnings of the formula, but it hasn't the polish and the discipline - if I may use that word in connection with this playwright - of his later work. FAT MEN concerns itself with the trials and vicissitudes of four main characters, Phyllis Hogan (Therese Kotara), the spoiled, whiny wife of film producer Howard Hogan (Michael Johnston), their son Bishop (Travis Ammons) and Howard's mistress, Pam (Shannon Eagle).

Travis Ammons and Therese Kotara

The action begins with a plane crash on a deserted island. The only survivors are Phyllis, her luggage, and her 11-year-old son, Bishop. Everyone else on the plane is dead. Bishop is hungry. See where this is going? Years pass. Bishop enters puberty. Bishop is horny. See where this is going? Of course you do. The question is, do you want to go there?

The program carries a warning: "This show is savage and brutal. It contains harsh language and adult subject matter. It will MOST ASSUREDLY offend some patrons." My question is "Is this a good reason to produce a play?" Offending someone isn't difficult; I've probably done it already. But when the offense is so heavy-handed that a child of four could do it, is it really still offensive? Bishop drags the bloody stumps of mannequins around, picking something out of them and munching away. Is this really offensive, or just silly? We don't believe it for a minute, so how can it be offensive? Bad taste, absolutely, but offensive, no. In a fit of raging hormones, he rapes his mother, but is this offensive? The character of Phyllis is so one-dimensional, such a caricature. How can we really be offended when there's nothing real in her? So the audience shrieks in mock-horror and we proceed to the next atrocity. It's been established that absolutely anything goes, so there's really no element of surprise left. All that remains is to get through the litany of "offenses", from cannibalism to incest to fornication to murder to insanity to, etc.

But now the playwright decides we need to know how all this came about. I didn't care, but for the sake of argument, we flash back to Phyllis and Howard and the early years of their marriage. Howard is an abusive philanderer, Phyllis is a kvetch, so naturally they have a baby, but - surprise - it doesn't help. Phyllis is cheated on; Baby Bishop is unwanted. See the scars? No wonder they become incestuous cannibals. Who wouldn't?

We get treated to a scene in which Pam, an "actress" type, vamps around in an animal-print mini. Animal print, get it? She and Howard rut a little, and Pam gets pregnant. Then Phyllis and Bishop get rescued, but Phyllis has gone off her nut, and things don't go well. More offenses. End of Act Two.

The denouement: In the "cleansing" last act, Bishop is committed, and an investigation ensues, in which pretty much everything is rehashed - no pun intended. Johnston returns as "Dr. Nestor" and Eagle does a turn as fellow inmate "Popo Martin". No, I have no idea where the name came from. Anyway, all is made clear.

"...We don't believe it for a minute, so how can it be offensive? Bad taste, absolutely, but offensive, no."

Everybody's a victim. Curtain, the end.

What else can I say? The actors struggled mightily against the script, and occasionally triumphed, but the deck was stacked. There was a lot of talent on that stage; I just kept wishing they had more worthwhile material to use it on. Director Jimmerson is becoming something of a resident expert on the playwright, and he does a good job here. Directing a Silver play is a little like directing air traffic at DFW during a power failure. You admire the expertise, but you wouldn't want to do it.

FAT MEN IN SKIRTS runs Friday and Saturday nights at 8 PM through June 3. There is a Sunday matinee on May 21 at 3 PM and one Monday night "Pay What You Want" performance on May 22. Call (713)426-3019 for information and reservations.

Let Them Eat Beefcake: A look at naked men and other points of interest at the 2000 Houston Gay and Lesbian Film Festival

Long before 976-HOT-MEAT and www.showmesomenakedgaysex.com, there was a slightly more innocent, if not equally erotic, medium for showcasing the beauty of the nude male body. This tantalizing bit of nostalgia is at the center of Beefcake, the docudrama opening the 2000 Houston Gay and Lesbian Film Festival on Friday, May 26 at Landmark's Greenway Theater.

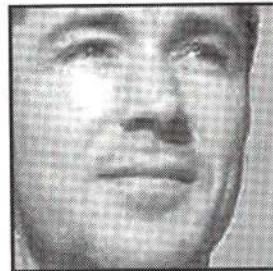

Beefcake is an interesting mix of real footage and photographs from the 1950s and 1960s at the height of an interesting phenomenon in gay history, the magazines and short films of The Athletic Model Guild. AMG operated under the guise that it showed mostly nude men for the benefit of America's youth who were supposedly fantasizing about looking like these studs, rather than "doing" them. But we all know the real truth. I suppose it's much like the excuse I gave my mom about my subscription to International Male: "They're really very high quality clothes that all the kids are wearing." Little did she know it wasn't the "Speakeasy Tux Shirt" I was interested in as much as the un-airbrushed photos of the guy modeling "The Sock". Pardon my digression.

In order to make the documentary footage take shape, writer/director Thom Fitzgerald has structured a partially true plot to bring life to the crazy characters involved in AMG. Neil O'Hara (Josh Peace) is a hot young bod who arrives in California hoping to be discovered for the movies, but discovers Bob Mizer (Daniel MacIvor) instead. Mizer runs an elaborate modeling studio with his at-first reluctant mother (Carroll Godsmen) who now helps out by sewing the thong-like posing pouches for the male hotties. Freud would have a field day with that situation, now wouldn't he? As the story progresses, we are treated to the rise and fall of a soft core empire, culminating in a trial brought about by a young model wanting to cause a little trouble.

Queer As Folk

To bring extra credibility to the festivities, Fitzgerald has assembled a veritable Who's Who among participants in the real-life magazines. Among the well-known men interviewed are fitness guru Jack LaLanne, photographers Russ Warner and Dave Martin, former models Jim Lassiter, Joe Lietel and Joe D'Allesandro, as well as author of the book Beefcake, Valentine Hooven.

As a whole, Beefcake is more than moderately entertaining, but by no means a masterpiece on any level. The fictionalized drama isn't quite juicy enough to make its mark, essentially falling short to the amazing real footage, some of which might knock the popcorn bucket off your lap if you aren't careful. Both artistic and highly homoerotic, the work of Mizer and AMG was brave and bold in its success in bringing the male nude form out of the closet. With naivete working in their favor, they helped open the doors for gay men everywhere to discover who they really were.

Grade: B

Opens May 26 and runs throughout the festival.

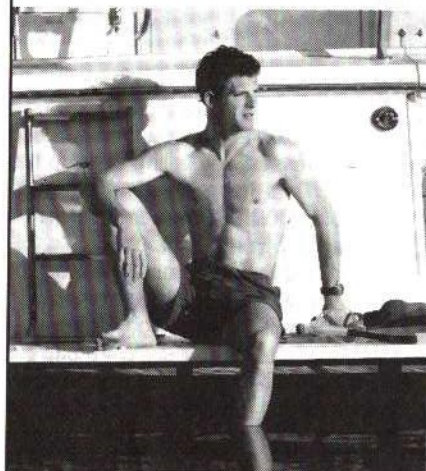

The Rest of the Fest

In addition to Beefcake, there are dozens of great titles at this year's film festival. The brilliant BBC series Queer as Folk (Parts 1 and 2); the short film collection School's Out: Gay & Lesbian Teen Portraits; the examination of female-to-male transsexuals, The Wrong Body; two more collections of short films, Forbidden Love in the Twilight World of the Third Sex and Eating in Bed is Good; the film version of The Night Larry Kramer Kissed Me and many, many more titles.

For complete information about the film festival's showtimes, titles and more, please call 713-225-5232 or log on to www.hglff.org.
