Does anyone remember Sharon Redd? Chances are, if you are over 40, (don't even try it bitch). Sharon Redd is practically synonymous with Prelude Records, the New York label that released some of the most thrilling dance music of the late '70s and early '80s. Redd released three albums on the label and racked up a number of club hits that have long since become classics with disco and house DJs who continue to rightly view the era with great reverence. While disco was dying during the early '80s, artists like Redd kept the flame alive and also took the form one step further by incorporating more song-based R&B elements. And I would have to say that my favorite by Redd is "In The Name of Love" and probably in my TOP 5 all-time favorites list as well.

At any rate there is a smart little Housy offering from Leisure Groove out of the UK that makes for a really nice filler track. The mix never actually goes into the full-blown vocal but the musical and vocal hooks are there and at the very least remind you of a great time and a fun record from the past.

There a fabulous 7th Heaven mix of the Air Supply classic "All Out of Love" by an act called 14th Precinct f. Jin Wilde from Boss Records, another UK label. If I were going to classify this record, I think I would have to put it in the Hi-NRG category. Yeah it's a little cheesy. Sister, I'll take a little dairy over ghetto any day. We're fags. We're supposed to be a bit fluffy anyway!

One of the greatest records of 1992 was Bizarre Inc.'s "I'm Gonna Get You." The record, with vocals by Angie Brown, took dance floors by storm and is truly a timeless classic. Well there is a lovely new version out by Brown as a solo act at the moment that you just shouldn't do without. And actually, if you really want to hear some really good shit, go dig up a copy of Bizarre Inc.'s debut album Energieque. Given the tendency toward neo-ambient on the one hand and the incipient hardcore/jungle underground on the other, when it came to modern electronic dance, Energieque found itself lost between two camps. The trio's kicky, funky house/techno stylings just connect perfectly, though; audiences enjoying the likes of Basement Jaxx won't have anything to complain about here.

Everyone remembers the 1974 classic from George McCrea "Rock Me Baby." Well know you can rock your grandbaby with a stunning cover by Babyroots on the DWA label out of Italy. The mix was done by the Club Junkies, whom I have really been feeling as of late. You make not realize this but the original version was written and produced by K. C. (of The Sunshine Band fame) It was after the success of "Rock Me Baby" that he went out on his own and made dance music history.

How about a cover of White Stripes "Seven Nation Army?" Well there's one out by Ibiza Voice on the Chic Flowerz label. I think the idea was good but the production is a bit simple and the vocal performance is a bit dry....nice try though. Good filler stuff.

Call me cheddar but there is a brilliant cover of the 1977 Paul Davis classic "I Go Crazy": all done up by DHT feat Edmee, on Robbins Entertainment. Let's face it. Some songs are a hit no matter what you do in the production department. The track is sort of a trance-tipped house styling with lovely guitar pieces throughout, which makes the whole thing feel much more organic. They get an A-plus from me!

Frankie Knuckles returns to the spotlight with his new album entitled DubJ's D'Light (a remixed reality). This long-awaited mixed album will be released worldwide on August 2006 and is available for download at TRAX-

SOURCE.com as an album. Knuckles will also be selling the dub mixed album at shows during his 2006 Summer Fall and Winter tour.

Knuckles' new label NOICE! music launched in May 2006 with the release of two singles, "The Whistle Song Revisited", a fresh reproduction of the House classic produced by Knuckles and Eric Kupper in 1991 and again late 2005. Gimme Gimme (Disco Shimmy), a piano-driven floor shaker featuring Nicki Richards who was introduced on Knuckles Motivation album, accents several dubs. Nicki is currently on the Madonna World Tour. That "Whistle Song" is seriously giving me a fever!

And that's music...THIS WEEK IN TEXAS.

HOMOSCOPIES

Aries March 21 April 19

Try not to judge or test your lover this upcoming week. Find a happy middle ground and go from there. I know you are used to getting your own way, but sometimes compromise is a good thing. Just make sure to be true to yourself before you go and do for others. Things will work out for all involved for the best.

Taurus April 20 May 20

Dreaming of the ideal partner is what you always have on your mind dear Taurus. Not wanting to settle for second best is not an option for you. You also place a high value on someone who is aware of what pleases you. But make sure you focus on the strengths of your chemistry rather than discussing your own demands.

Gemini May 21 June 21

Go out and enjoy your relationship in public this weekend. Take your partner out on a date and just live it up. Let your inner child out and be playful. Your other half is very roll with the punches and the two of you together compliment each other very well. Who knows, some dinner and dancing until dawn, or maybe look for a roller coaster and enjoy.

Cancer June 22 July 21

Ok Cancer, quit sniffing around in other peoples business. Don't believe everything that you hear or are being told. Someone may be putting you to the friendship test, so try to not fail it. The reason for your mistrust or hesitation of others is rooted somewhere in your past. Just get out there, enjoy the moment, understand risk and go out and live life to the fullest. Go with the flow!

Leo July 22 August 23

Oh to be young at heart again. I wish I was you right now my darling Leo. Living for happy times is what you are all about. Thank god you are a realist and love to lay your cards on the table. This is what makes you who you are and loved by many for it. You believe that two of you are great when it comes to love, but at least you are not dependant on lovers or friends.

Virgo August 24 September 22

If someone is planning a surprise for you, they will be in for one themselves. You hate surprises. What you prefer is someone who is as serious about the relationship and commitment as you are. Just don't go shying away from changes because they make you feel uncomfortable, sometimes some change is good. So venture out abit.

November 11 Leonardo DiCaprio 31
November 12 David Schwimmer 39
November 13 Whoopi Goldberg 50
November 16 Lisa Bonet 38

Libra September 23 October 22

Make sure you have a partner who enjoys social gatherings as much as you do. This is the week you will be invited to many. One who has radiant charm and personality, sometimes you have the other half who is quite the opposite of you. Your partner tends to get somewhat intimidated by you when your independant side shows.

Scorpio October 23 November 21

Many blessings upon you my Birthday Scorpio. One to be rather old fashioned and conservative. On your love side, you give plenty of room for your partners to prove themselves to you. Just make sure you know when enough is enough. You need someone in your life who is strong enough to be with you yet remain independant of you.

Sagittarius November 22 December 21

Oh my if it isn't Mr. Open Minded and humorous you coming at me. Easy going and why can't we all just get along is so you. How predicatable can you get? One for not liking loud mouth people, there are those times in your life that you just want to be left alone in your own solitude. So take a trip alone to the country or a nice bed and breakfast. Enjoy your alone time. With all approaching you will be glad you did this for yourself.

Capricorn December 22 January 19

Being pampered is what suits you best this weekend. I hope you have someone special in your life who will be willing to do this for you now. Make sure you leave this lying around to give your partner the idea. You will love the fact he/she picked up on the clue.

Aquarius January 20 February 18

When it comes to love and romance, you can go in either direction. You can either take it or leave it when it comes to having someone special in your life. You do have your moments, mood swings and an abundance of energy. I hope you have a partner who can keep up with you and also has the patience of a saint. If you are feeling low, they will know exactly what to do for you.

Pisces February 19 March 20

Have a little faith when it comes to finding the perfect mate for yourself. Stop doubting everything and everyone that comes across your path. I know you see things clear cut and in black and white. Let me clue you in, there are those gray shaded areas you have not even touched much less know about. Learn how to trust, just take baby steps.

DEAR DIVA

Dear Diva,

I was in Miami last weekend because of two of my gal pals getting the old ceremonial knot tied on the beach. While I was there I went to the Bachelorette-Bachelor party. It was in a gay strip club and it was fabulous. They had male and female dancers, full catering by the club, and all the furnishings were tres magnifique, n'est ce pas. This place was great - the dancers even served the food, in the nude! At the point the food was being served, I looked for salt and pepper shakers but was unable to find any on the tables. I then asked a handsome, bronze, and well-hung food server where the salt and pepper was. At that moment, he grabbed my plate of prime rib, spun around, placed the plate below his ass, and shook. This process, in turn, dispensed a fair amount of salt and pepper from a shaker that was wedged in his ass. I must say it was remarkable. I still don't know what to think about it, so would you be a dear and tell me what I should think. Love ya.

Showstopper on South Beach

Dear Neophyte:

First of all, thank you for sharing the love. The Diva just adores hearing from people that find her comments and opinions to be of value, and just loves to be loved. Now, as for the salt and pepper shakers....historically, such practices as dispensing spices from one's anal cavity can be traced all the way back to the Emperor Caligula, better known as Gaius Julius Caesar Augustus Germanicus, who ruled Rome from 37 to 41 CE and was immortalized in a 1979 film starring Malcolm McDowell as the shockingly decadent ruler. His feasts and banquets not only featured condiments displayed and dispensed in often macabre ways, but also boasted stews and roasts prepared with the body parts of those people that the monstrous monarch deemed a threat to his despotic reign. Perhaps because of the bad press that old Augie received, the charming habit of using the perky posteriors of pumped-up and pulchritudinous princes fell out of fashion....or, perhaps, some fascist health inspector decided that he or she simply couldn't rate that particular establishment above an "F." Whatever the reason, such methods of service in the food industry have fallen by the way side, much to the chagrin of those butt-lovers amongst us, so the fact that you were treated to such a marvelous experience only enhances the quality of the event, and compels the Diva to ask you the name of the caterer so that she can employ them for her upcoming holiday soirees. D.

Dear Diva,

Let's do the time warp again.....Isn't Tim Curry the best transy ever?

Brad and Janet in Denton

Dear B&J:

First of all, dahling, Tim Curry didn't play a transy - transy being a term that is applied to people that are going through sexual reassignment surgery, or that live as a woman. Tim Curry played a transvestite, and lord knows there are a plethora of cutesie little terms that apply to that sub-set of the community. Now, as for whether or not Tim Curry is the best transvestite that I've ever witnessed, I would have to say, "No, he's not." His drag is what we in the biz call camp, and though it certainly has its place, I'm not a particular fan of it. I much prefer the old school of drag - the Naomi Sims and Hot Chocolates and Tasha Kohls and Pauletta Leighs and Tandy Andrews of the world, since they were the ones that introduced me to the art form. But, of course, to each his own, I always say.

D.

Dear Diva,

If Martha Stewart and Rachael Rae were to toe up and get in to the domestic rumble, whom do you think would win?

Just-a Wondering in Weslaco

Dear Justa:

Rachael Rae, hands down. She's beautiful, fresh and completely real - unlike Ms. Stewart, who I've always thought embodies everything that is wrong with snobby WASP ice princesses whose sole purpose in life is to denigrate and belittle anyone that doesn't have the proper pedigree. All of that attitude from someone who just got out of the slammer. PUHLEEZE, Myrna.

Take the trip.

10 Years Ago This Week in Texas

We decided to bring a bit of international flare to the magazine ten years ago This Week in Texas, by revealing the oh-so-desirable assets and attributes of the divinely delicious Daniel Deleo, who started his life in Buenos Aires before moving to Dallas to pursue a career in medicine. While completing his education, the tempting and toned Mr. D could be seen in the almost altogether on stages and dance boxes throughout the state.

Talk about your anatomy lessons...

While many of us flocked to those stages and dance boxes to witness perfection, others found joy, rapture and bliss by attending such entertainment extravaganzas as A Salute to the Legendary Donna Day at Village Station in Dallas; the Joe Boxer Shorts Contest at JR's Video Bar in Houston; the exclusive Texas appearance of gay comedian Jason Stuart at the Laff Stop, also in Houston; the live, not Memorex, performance of Jellyhead Crush at the Ice Factory, back in Dallas; the 1 Year Anniversary Celebration for the Wild Club in San Antonio; the This Week in Texas Cover Model of the Year Contest, back at Heaven in Houston; The Garage, an Evening of Levi and Leather at the Midtowne Spas in Austin, Dallas and Houston; and, the Oh My God, It's Purple Balls fundraiser at Gentry, yet again in Houston.

And, for those of us that may not have been aware, Gaymedia mogul Bruce Williams informed us of What's Out of Interest to Gays and Lesbians by providing us with details of Elizabeth Taylor's presentation of the Rand Schrader Distinguished Achievement Award to Elton John at the LA Gay and Lesbian Ball; the release of Rita Mae Brown's fifth installment in her Mrs. Murphy mystery series; the availability of The Kama Sutra of Gay Sex on video, complete with "six exquisite men (who) mix well and make clear that safer sex between intimate, loving partners can take on very exciting, thrilling forms;" and the announcement by Alluvial Publishing that they were beginning distribution of two erotic wall calendars dubbed Kuhagen - featuring full frontal photos of international (there's that theme again!) model and actor, Scott Kuhagen, as photographed by renowned lens-man, George Machado - and Jay Eff, featuring the highly-charged sexual images captured by London-based photographer, Jay Eff.

So, who needs a gay planner, I ask you?

SAY, WASN'T THAT...oh-so-scantly clad dancer de dique, swinging his projecting penile at The Zone in Dallas; Rich Sould, Mary XTC, Licorice Girl and Booker, ratting their hair at the Hairball at Starck, still in Dallas; head honchos Michael and Paul, preparing for the grand opening of their new club, Kolors, once again in Dallas; Four Seasons big-wigs Ray Price, Michael Carney, Rod Rodricks and Nick Rogers saluting all the top brass at its annual Military Ball at Rich's, in Houston; beefy beau Kenneth Williamson, welcoming the boot-scooters to the BRB, again in Houston; Texas Cowgirls Ova Ewe, Liza Round, Thumper Knight-Leigh and Cherry Maraschino, raising funds for the Bering Care Center, Steven's House and the Gay & Lesbian Switchboard at the Venture-N, yet still in Houston; Lucas Lopez and John Chavez, verifying credentials at the front door of the Saint, in San Antonio; mix-master Matthew and owner Lee, being peaceful at Mick's Hideaway, also in San Antonio; too-too-gorgeous potent potable pourer JD Smith, reigning supreme over happy hour at Oilcan Harry's in Austin; Peter Megallanez, $4600 richer after winning the Blackjack Tournament at 'Bout Time, again

Miss Gay Metroplex pageant at Magnolia Station in Ft. Worth.

Finally, our Fresh Beats columnist, Jimmy Smith, was so moved to tears by the soundtrack to Madonna's much-ballyhooed performance as Evita Peron in the hugely-popular film, Evita, that he was forced to compile the Texas Top Ten based on lists faxed to him by DJs from around the state. The list included Living in Ecstasy, by Fonda Rae; Sugar is Sweeter, by CJ Bolland; Cunt, by Kevin Aviance; Touch, by France Joli; and, Soul to Bare, by Joe Caldwell.

There's that bare word, again....

And that's the way it was, 10 Years Ago This Week in Texas.

NERVOUS RECORDS RECORDING ARTIST

KIM ENGLISH

TO PERFORM AT HOUSTON'S SOUTH BEACH

Since house music first appeared as a genre, there has always been a delicate relationship between the dj/producer and the artist. On the club level, as the dj became increasingly more prominent, and started demanding higher fees, there has been less money left over for the artist. So we see that there are now less and less artists performing in clubs. And this trend soon took over the studio as well. The dj superstar soon became the producer superstar, often using his club appearances to blow up his own records. And the club world has been beneficiary of all the great music that has come from the countless dj's that currently dominate the industry.

But haven't we lost something by losing the power of the vocal artist? Can you really compare the experience of seeing a celebrity dj play some innovative, sonically fresh bleeps, to that of seeing a live performance of Crystal Waters sing "Gypsy Woman," or Ultra Nate singing "Free," or Kim English singing "Unspeakable Joy" And we're not even going to go into experiences like seeing Alicia Myers singing "I Want To Thank You" or Sylvester performing "Mighty Real."

Kim English continues to stay true to her own vision and talent. She has a message to deliver, and refuses to compromise, even if that may mean unintended conflict with producers, promoters, radio stations, and even her record label! But that is what makes her an "artist," as opposed to just another vocalist trying to abide by a producer's whim.

She has been with Nervous since 1995. That is a century in this business. Through that time they've had numerous number one Billboard records together, a couple top 40 UK pop records, and countless tunes that were played peak hour at both big room clubs and soulful clubs, as well as on radio.

Kim's most recent album, just released this summer, is called "My Destiny" and again demonstrates more of her versatility. Included on this album are slammin' tracks produced by some of the greatest names in the industry such as Kenny Dope, Maurice Joshua, Hex Hector, Kyle Smith and Tony Moran. Already this year (2006) English earned her sixth and seventh Billboard dance chart number-ones with "It Makes a Difference" and "C'est La Vie" Both of these songs are featured on her newest album, "My Destiny," which is in stores now. So, what are you waitin' for? Get yours today!!!

See Kim English perform live this Sunday in Houston for South Beach's 5th Anniversary Party!

Mark Tewksbury

interview by Bob Dineen

INSIDE OUT

STRAIGHT TALK FROM A GAY JOCK
MARK TEWKSBUURY

Olympic gold medal swimmer, lecturer and author Mark Tewksbury returns to Dallas, Texas to begin his US book signing tour.

"Inside Out: Straight Talk From A Gay Jock" his latest book is just one of many endeavors for Mark this year. He recently completed a five-year campaign and completion of a dream to bring the 1st World OutGames to Montreal this past summer. Co-president with Marielle Dupéré, Mark and co-media host Martina Navratilova hosted a fabulous week of sport with athletes from 131 countries participating in more than 30 different venues.

Mark's current focus is promoting his second book, the first since being completely out in sport and to the media. He will be in Dallas for three days of parties, speaking engagements and the first public book signing in the US.

We had a chance to speak with Mark recently:

TWT: First and foremost - the almost requisite question - what is it like being a gay athlete?

MT: Being in the Olympic world it was like being every other athlete - but with a twist. Unfortunately I was swimmer and not a diver.

TWT: How do you deal with the reality of gays and lesbians in sports versus the seemingly unrelenting vitriol of those that would rather see us dead than in competition?

MT: Good question. I didn't deal with it for a long time. I hid my sexuality, largely because of that attitude of virility and masculinity that prevails in sport. Thankfully I am not seeing that same attitude at sport tournaments at the master's level. These people tend to be more like the weekend warriors with live and let live outlooks. Then again, I live in Montreal so everything is pretty mixed and open.

TWT: You are arguably one of the most-decorated sports figures of all time (21 national titles, Canadian swimmer of the year 4 times, induction into the International Swimming Hall of Fame.) How does that fit into your own self-image...can you believe all that you have accomplished?

MT: I remember being inducted into the Canadian Sports Hall of Fame (where I come from, a big deal because you are with tons of hockey players). All I could think as I stood before the crowd was "oh, if you saw me throw, or skate, you would take this honor away in a heartbeat." Thankfully I only had to speak. It is a bit surreal that I turned out to be a "jock". That is part of the fun in naming the book Inside Out: Straight Talk from a Gay Jock. I guess I finally own both the gay and the jock.

TWT: The World OutGames: Do you see its formation - a split from the Gay Games movement - as indicative of the gay community's inability to unite within itself?

MT: Not necessarily. I see it more of a time of evolution, when we have so much happening on a global level at different speeds that perhaps there needs to be different ways for a global LGBT community to come together. Both events this summer had thousands of people, but there were also some big differences. Some people went to one or the other, some went to both. This might actually turn out to be a very good thing. It was most likely time for two events, each having their own vision that offers more possibilities for our community to gather.

TWT: We have to ask: What's it like being an undisputed sex symbol and role model?

MT: "Undisputed!" Ha! Haven't you ever heard of the religious right where you come from (wink, wink)?

TWT: Since you, yourself, are an accomplished photographer, a question that you asked renowned lens-man Pierre Aresenault: Many people take pictures as a hobby. When does it turn from casual to professional - and has it done so for you, yet?

MT: Taking pictures for me remains, at least at the time of this interview, as a hobby. It is something I like to do to relax. The leaves are changing color up here. It is gorgeous to shoot.

TWT: How was your coming-out experience in 1992?

MT: You know the expression 'the good, the bad and the ugly'? That was my day. Sister was good. Parents were bad. And then it just got ugly.

TWT: You stated, in 1998, that you hoped in 10 years time that "it would be no big deal to be gay in sport," and have since remarked that "sadly, in 2006, it is still an issue." Honestly, do you think that there is any hope for your earlier statement to become a reality?

MT: I actually do. This year, for example, the CEO of the Olympic Committee had a meeting on diversity in sport, and personally gave me a sport award at a Toronto Pride gala. One of the old boys coming out to a LGBT night, and proudly part of it. Attitudes, although slow to change, are shifting. Now if we could just get one of those hockey boys to come out...

TWT: In an interview in Out in America, you stated "I was built around a certain image, people had a certain perception of me, which is why the news of me being gay was so big." How do you think people perceive you now?

MT: Probably how they always did - an enthusiastic bundle of gayness, but older, and wiser. The difference is not that we don't have to skirt around issues. We can be open. What has changed most is how I see myself. I am comfortable in my own skin. Makes me wonder what I was waiting for?

TWT: What's next for Mark Tewksbury?

MT: How about a good night's sleep. Mmmm. To get rested for my big trip to Dallas.

Wednesday, Nov. 15: 8:00pm The Round Up Welcomes Mark Tewksbury to Dallas with a special meet-and-greet reception. Win a copy of "Inside Out", and get it autographed by Mark!

Also on Mark's Agenda:
Friday, November 17th Crossroads Market on Cedar Springs with host a book signing with Mark. The event begins at 6:30 pm and continues until all the books are signed and gone.

Capital CiTEA

Austin has always attracted movers and shakers from around the world and, when those movin' and shakin' folks descend on the city, one of the places that they always seem to gravitate to is Charlie's, the venerable libation lounge and party palace over on Lavaca where oh-so-hot head honcho, David Green, holds sway over a crowd of admirers that includes some of the most breathtaking men and women in the city. As proof of just how popular the club is to the glitterati de monde, we offer two images from our Cruise Camera of David with the inimitable Marcy Fletcher - she of the chapeau and mogul set - and study singer/songwriter extraordinaire, Michael Clay, as well as with buffed beefcake Big Brother star, Bucky Covington, whose muscles almost crowded David out of the picture. For those of you that want to be welcomed into the glamorous world of the famous, we are pleased to report that you have two opportunities each week to do just that. On Monday nights, the club hosts its ever-popular amateur night, while on Tuesdays there's the renowned strip contest, a chance for all you penile projectionist wannabes to reveal your assets for cold, hard (tee hee) cash. And, considering the cost of school books and the requisite frat partying, we expect to see a dram of drag and a bevy of buffed beaus each night on the appointed nights!

While we're on the subject of appointed nights, the tantalizing TJ at the Rainbow Cattle Company has his appointed nights - Fridays and Saturdays - to play a mix of music that keeps the town's toes tapping, and since we love to tap our toes, we always make sure that we drop by to visit him. It doesn't hurt that he happens to be a sexy little son-of-a-gun, on top of it...and, he takes requests. We'll keep our requests to ourselves, for now...

Speaking of requests, the staff over at Lobo Gifts and Entertainment is more than happy to satisfy yours, and they have a plethora of pleasing paraphernalia to do so. From specialty books and magazines to music and clothing - and a brand new emporium for all the lovely ladies who lunch, lounge and otherwise love - Lobo's got just what you need to satisfy whatever itch you're currently experiencing.

One of the things we love about Austin - and, TRUST, there's so very much to love about our capital, doncha know - is the fact that, unlike so many other places around the country, everyone seems to get along. Just witness the image of Charlie's very own David-Green, getting up close and personal recently with David, Oilcan Harry's beefy big-wig, during a recent visit to the 4th Street frolic room. Needless to say, we were all made to feel welcome - and, we all got along! We're too embarrassed to say a long what....

Trumormongers are mongering about the magnificence of a certain manly-man over at Cockpit Club - a certain dancer by the name of Gilbert - who is so massively muscular that they've had to reinforce the dance box upon which he performs. Needless to say, we found our interest - and other more physical items - piqued, and dashed right over to witness the magnificence firsthand. We are pleased to report both that the rumors are true, and that the massive development of Gilbert's pectoral region has in no way affected the enormity of his talents below the belt. Isn't that a comfort?

Did you know that on both Wednesday and Sunday, you can play with your balls and have a few brewskies, to boot? Well, you certainly can, if you dash out to 'Bout Time, the wondrous watering hole on North I-35 that has both volleyball and fantastic beer busts on those nights. And, on Sunday, you can even add meat to your balls, with the addition of buster burgers to the menu of food and fun. Now if we can just convince Gilbert to bring his meat to the barbecue... Volley for serve, anyone? Oh, and please don't forget that Robert from Austin Travis County Health Department is at the club on the second and fourth Monday of every month to do free anonymous HIV/AIDS/STD testing and results. Just thought we'd slip that in there...ahem.

Okay, what is it that everyone thinks of when they think of Austin? Nooooo.... it's not corrupt politicians. It's the frat boys from UT, that's what everyone thinks of - well, everyone in our circle anyway. And, if you want to see the finest frat boys that the city has to offer, well you just may want to go to Rain, where any one of the staff and customers could easily be poster boys for what everyone thinks of when they think of Austin. From macho mix-masters such as divine deejay Dallas to sexy staffers like the four in our cruizy CC photo to cutie-patootie customers like the four in our other cruizy CC photo, you're sure to find just what you're looking for at the club whose name means wet to those in the know. And wet is a very good thing....

Alamo CITEA

Ya know when you're having those days when you just need a little pick-me-up to help you to realize that life is pretty damn good after all? Well, if you're anything like us, then you probably get up, as it were, with a healthy dose of massage oils; a couple of really, really good glossy magazines; some x-rated DVDs; and, a little bauble or two or three for when we're done with the visuals. Well, babies, you can find all of that - and so much more - at Zebraz, the everything under one roof shopping emporium located right on the Main Avenue Strip. We have a tendency of losing all track of time whenever we're on a spree, so we're sure we'll see each other there at some point - hell, we see our friends more there than we ever do at the clubs....

Speaking of clubs (and dontcha just love that segue?) who knew that we could celebrate our birthdays - complete with cake and crudite, doncha know - in one, and have so bloody much fun doing it. Well, mucho mag- nifico Manny did at the Saint recently, and based on our Cruise Camera photo of the event, he was definitely having fun. Of course, as sexy as he is, we don't think he'd have anything but fun - we have fun just looking at him! While at the Saint, one can also partake of the glorious goddesses that take to the stage of the famed dance hall virtually every night of the week. Goddesses such as Miss Gay Texas US of A, Sasha Andrews; Miss Gay San Antonio US of A, Odysea Raven; and, former Miss Gay Texas US of A, Tersa Matthews, all of whom we captured just before the recent Oz-themed production number that wowed the assembled Munchkins and our little dogs, too.

Meanwhile, over at the 2015, we've been told that the club has been experiencing a major upswing in the crowds that are flocking to the potent potable palace - not that it hasn't always been a major magnet for those seeking a good time - and that part of the reason for that is the simply stupendous staff that the divine Dick has in place to attend to all of your needs. And you faithful readers of this column will know just who we're talking about now won't you?

For those My Spacers out there, we thought that you'd like to know that the Heat currently has way-into-the-triple digits friends, and that those friends are some of the most talented, successful and beautiful people in the land. From DJ's to recording artists and from adult entertainers to your very own TWT, there are more stars than there are in heaven - as Louise B. Mayer used to say - that count the club as one of their fave nitespots. Someone else that counts Heat as a must for his nighttime adventures is last week's cover model, Max, seen in the foyer of the libation lounge revealing just a few of the attributes that made him such a natural for our glossy pages. We have to admit that we have a soft spot in our hearts and a hard spot elsewhere for anyone that so readily reveals his undies in a public forum. Is it hot in here? Yum-my!

While we're on the subject of hot, that's the only way you can describe Jason, the hunky new staffer that Bob Fogg has brought to the Essence to titillate, tempt and otherwise tease us as we sip on our refreshing adult beverages. So, what? That makes, like, number 365 of the 185,000 reasons the club is the peppy, popular place to mix with friends and family members. And, certainly, reason 366, seen in the cruizy CC photo with Jason, is the ever-popular and always Dapper Dan, who reigns supreme over San Antonio happy hours. We'd kill to see the other photos that our lens-man snapped, wouldn't you?

During our many years on the road, we often found ourselves in Japan, where the biggest sport (in many ways) is Sumo wrestling. Well, we are pleased to report that the powers that be at the Bermuda Triangle have imported the world-famous clash of the Titans to San Antonio for their upcoming Zen party next Saturday night. Now, trumormongers are mongering that club PR maven, the delightful Deb Browning, might actually be participating in this spectacular spectacle. So, where will we be on the 18th, we ask you?

For you jocks out there - and you know who you are - the Annex has NFL games on all six of its screens each and every Monday night so that we can ogle all those beefy butts in tight pants while we snack on our Goldfish/pretzel combo. Now, we don't necessarily follow the standings, nor do we particularly care, but there's just something about those bloody quarterbacks that makes us want to order a double...and makes us want to care. So, suit up, getcher pom-poms out of the attic and run, don't walk, to the club that is synonymous with hot, sweaty men in the Alamo City. You may just score a touchdown.

Finally, we absolutely doubt that it's possible, but in case one or two of you have forgotten, the Bonham Exchange hosts the Chic-n-Dic show each and every Thursday night, and it's your chance to see some fab femme mimicry, often flown in at great expense from parts known and unknown, in addition to some pretty perfect examples of pulchritudinous pectorals of the usually local variety. Why, just the other night....oh, no, can't tell you about that one. Instead, simply ask the lovely ladies - captured by our lavish lens right after we experienced what we can't share with you - the very next time you see them. And, for the record, they've been sworn to secrecy...

Big "D" Tea

Everyone's talking about the Wednesday night Little Deal or Big Deal at Mickey's. What fun! And it's also You Call It drinks and video night with hostess Wayne Smith in da house. Next Tuesday you can win Golden Girls DVD's...we know where the Tea Bitch will be hangin'!

If you're a total DVD whore you need to also make your way down to Woody's this Tuesday and try to win the Poster Boy DVDs. We at Tea have also learned that Miss Wanda is bringing down the house each and every Wednesday. Don't forget that Hurry Date hit's Woody's on the 15th....get info at www.hurrydate.com.

Don't forget that Eagle is hosting Bear of the Month on Thursday the 16th. And speaking of contests, Mr. Dallas Eagle is on the books for Saturday, December 9th. Mr. Mark has let us know that applications are now available at the door. There's always some hotness going on at Eagle. Our party cam caught up with Jason last time we were in.

We hopped into Rose Room recently where we were able to catch a glimpse of the lovely Cassie Nova. Diva was working to room as usual. This week you can see Cassie with the rest of the rose cast plus special guest Tommie Ross formerly from Houston....GOD-DESS!

Last week the Teamobile had a blowout going down Lemmon Ave. near the Whole Foods. SO we did what any self-respectin' princess would and walked over to the Hidden Door for a bit of drink therapy. While there we ran into Shane, a fellow therapy-seeker. After an hour and HD, the flat tire seemed like no big deal

Over on Maple we've learned that Joe's is now offering Latino night on Saturdays. The DJ is spinning tejano, cumbias, latin hip-hop, & much much more...kinda festive up in there.

On the other end of the spectrum, we decided to make a run over to Hideaway for bit of regrouping and caught some great entertainment. We also ran into Michael, Kelly, Randall, and Valerie while there.

Changes has let Hot Tea know that starting on Monday Nov 20th, every Monday will be a new talent show called "Mamma's Party." Hosted by Amy Stevenson and Mark Mullino, this will be a time for you to hear some new up-and-comers to the Dallas music scene. Each evening will feature three, thirty minute performances by new, soon-to-be stars.

And make sure you hit the Round-up next Wednesday as Mark Tewksbury will be on hand to sign copies of his latest book at a special meet and greet shindig to welcome the Olympic Medalist to Dallas.....ooooooooooooooooooooo baby!

Cowtown Tea

The party bois of Ft. Worth will be on-hand tomorrow night as Rhonda Mae hosts her Veteran's Day Salute over at the Stampede. All Vets and friends of Vets are encouraged to bring photos to share. The festivities begin at 2PM and there's a special show at 10pm. Make sure you wander to the patio for a refreshing beverage with Chris. Sister will have you under the table!

James has also reminded Hot Tea that DJ Jimmy Smith will be back in the Stampede DJ booth this Sunday after a 2 week absence and trip to New York to gather more hot music to play....should be quite a hoedown!

Space CITEA

When we heard that the unbelievably hot, sexy, studly, gorgeous, breathtaking magnificent and musically-gifted deejay Brett Henrichsen was going to be spinning at SoBe over the Halloween weekend, we passed-out from the sheer anticipation of seeing him in person. Once we were revived, we dashed to MaleUWear for a new outfit - well, we couldn't let Brett see us in some old thing, now could we? - then ran to the club to see the most gorgeous thing to occupy a booth since Clark Kent. And, oh honeys, we were so not disappointed. All that deliciousness in one human being...and so bloody talented, too. And that was with his clothes on! And, if we have anyone to thank for allowing us to get so very up close and personal with our new private idol, it's the terrific triumvirate of mega-manager Andy, god-like GM Jose and diva door staffer Mikey, who always take such good care of us whenever we arrive at the club. And isn't Jose a little bit of heaven right here on earth? Suffice it to say that we are currently recuperating from a massive overdose of male pulchritude. Is there a pill for that? If you want to see even more examples of the beautiful men that continuously populate the Pacific Street party palace, we suggest that you go to the club's My Space site at <http://www.myspace.com/sobehouston>, where 795 bits of beauty will tempt you into becoming one of the club's friends, too. Okay, back to recovery....

but, before we go, let us tell you about the great time we had at the Montrose Mining Company the other night. As you know, the club is just populated with hot and hunky manly men seven nights a week, and we frequently find ourselves gasping for air and slightly faint when we enter the testosterone-laden libation lounge. Well, the other night we ran into our very dear friends Jim and Phillip, who were themselves there to view the awesome attributes of one of the club's many penile projectionists, and we got so...hmmmm, may not want to reveal that, since this is a family magazine, and all. Oh well, let's just leave it at we always leave the MMC sated...ahem.

Across the street at JR's, we spotted another of our very dear friends, the beautiful Scott, during the fab festi-ties over the Halloween weekend. In addition to his love of beavers, he also seemed to be quite infatuated with his new-found friend, whose name we're keeping a secret in case Scott ever decides to share. Well, we've got to protect our interests, right? And, Scott's such a giving person... Next time you're at the club, be sure to say howdy to club semi-head honcho, Bryan Adams, who is similarly disposed to being a giving human being. Gotta love Bryan!

Back in Montrose, we happened to swing by Chances the other night for one of the club's extra special events, and who should we run into but newlyweds Kathy and Christine, who visited the club after exchanging vows earlier in the day.

Meanwhile, over at Tony's Corner Pocket, we ran into the always awesome Tony himself, as he was attending to the liquid needs of his many customers. For those with different needs, the club just happens to have amateur strip contests each Friday and Saturday, and we just know that there's a plethora of pleasing pulchritude out there just waiting to strip down to their tighty whities. And, there's definitely a crowd just waiting for you to do so! So, whether you're a viewer or a stripper - or both - you're bound to find exactly what you're looking for at Tony's place.

Knowing our predilection for Latinos, you know that there's just no way that we ever have our fill, so we consider ourselves supremely-blessed that there's La Academia out on Gessner, a club that always tempts us with tantalizing hot tamales. Everyone has a smile on their face at the club, as evidenced by our cruizy CC photo taken in one of the hotspots many passion pits. Just makes us crave our salchicha, doncha know!

Don't forget to head over to Club INergy for Craig Henderson's Miss Gay USofA at Large pageant! It is Final night and many fantastic stars will be onhand! We will be right there with you some come say Howdy!

LICENSED MASSEURS

STATE CERTIFICATION POLICY

Texas law clearly requires that only bona fide, state-certified masseurs can be listed in this category. Therefore, TWT policy requires that all masseurs must publish their state-certification number within their advertisements and that a photocopy of such license be on file at TWT.

TWT POLICY

Because prostitution is illegal in Texas, State Law prohibits the placement of any such ads. Therefore, TWT policy stipulates that we will not and cannot knowingly accept any advertisements suggesting solicitation. It's the law. Also State Law prohibits nonlicensed massage therapists from using terms such as "massage," "Swedish," "acupressure," "ashiatsu," "reflexology," "body rub," "back rub," "body massage," or any term which indicates bodily contact.
